SPRING FASHIONS IN MILLINERY.

OPENING DAYS

Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, March 27th, 28th, 29th.

We have far outdone any previous effort in getting together this season an assortment of trimmed Hats, which for beauty and style cannot be excelled anywhere. The soft, beautiful materials, the delicate shades so popular this season, and the use of flowers, and the fruit effects are combined so as to make the prettiest hats ever shown. There are some exact copies of the famous Parisian models, the utmost care being used in the color combinations and the workmanship. These, of course, are the most expensive hats, but they are wondrously handsome.

Special attention has been paid to the designing of

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, March 24—Edson Warner, father of Mrs. W. G. Larrabee, died yesterday about noon. Mr. Warner had been an invalid for a number of years. Recently he sustained a stroke of paralysis from which he never recovered. A wife and several children survive Mr. Warner. The deceased was a member of the Seventh-Day Baptist church. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon.

Chas. H. English, who by his genial disposition has made many friends, has been reappointed Borough Clerk. This compliment on the part of Mayor Swackhamer is creditable to the efficiency of Mr. English, who is a capable officer.

The recent report of District Clerk Frederick shows that there are 296 children of school age in the district and 230 attending school. In the two schools there are seven teachers employed, including Superintendent Meseroll.

The Dunellen Building and Loan Association having proven such a complete success since its existence of 13 years, it is now proposed to open the sixth series on or about April 1st.

The Piscataway Board of Education has decided to build a new schoolhouse at South Plainfield. A meeting will soon be called to take measures toward the erection of the building.

Eugene Runyon has made application for letters of administration on the estate of the late Wm. D. Kitchen The personal effects of the deceased are to be disposed of in a few days.

The surprise tendered to Mrs. Chas. Wyhuskey Wednesday evening was attended by about twenty people who enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

The many friends of Percy Cannon gave him a donation last evening, which netted the unfortunate man many good things.

Mr. and Mrs. John Manning, of New Market, are the parents of a son born to them last week.

A special meeting of the board of stewards of the M. E. church will be held Monday night.

John Higgins, of New Market, has secured a job on the College farm at New Brunswick.

Mrs. William H. Terry has been entertaining her cousin, Miss Ethel Gray, of Irvington.

J. Emmens Henry has returned from a business trip to Staten Island.

William Wyckoff has been entertaining his sister Kate for a few days.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, March 24—A great deal of interest has been stirred up in Fanwood borough over the trouble in the Borough Council about the appointment of a Borough Clerk. The recent article in this correspondence gave a fair idea of the situation, but the following communication from Wm. E. Collins, the Clerk, explaining the situation in detail, will prove very interesting reading:

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Seeing an account in your paper of the annual meeting of the Council of this borough, in which allusion has been made to my actions as Clerk, I feel that in justice to myself I should answer same.

I emphatically deny that I ever refused to obey the instructions of the Borough Council as stated. Councilman Ellis took upon himself the task of publishing the annual statement of the borough finances after the Council had (by resolution adopted Feb 7th, 1900,) instructed the Collector so to do. The borough law requires that such a statement shall be published at least one week prior to the municipal election, which took place this year March 13th.

About 5 o'clock March 6th last, (the day this statement should have been published) a messenger left a package and letter addressed to me at my place of business in New York. The letter was rather a dictatorial one, addressed to me by Councilman Ellis, requesting me to carry this package which contained a few copies of printed matter, claimed by this gentleman to be the annual statement, out to Fanwood, post copies of same in several prominent points in the borough and to request the postmistress to mail copies to all the voters. Business detained me in New York and I did not arrive at Fanwood until about 10:30 p. m That hour was rather late to obey the instructions given me by Councilman Ellis and as the statement, according to my interpretation of the law, was not in detail, several names in the list of delinquent taxpayers being incorrect and the name of "Gus. Sheelen, Collector" printed thereon, instead of Charles Sheelen, Collector, I could not come to any other conclusion than that the statement was incorrect and therefore should not be published. Consequently I turned the package over to our Collector.

Up to the present writing, I have seen no statement published. As I stated in the Council meeting of March 7th last, I am in the office of Borough Clerk, to obey the instructions of the Council, but I fail to see why I should obey the instructions of an individual, even if he is a member of the Council, especially when an other officer was instructed to carry out the will of the Council.

Last year, and the year previous, the printing committee of the Borough Council published this statement and it met with general approval This year, for the purpose of saving a small amount of expense in printing, Councilman Ellis usurps his authority, makes a muddle of it and then tries to throw the responsibility on my shoulders, which to say the least is rather mean.

From a taxpayer's view of the matter, it seems to me that somebody is liable for neglect in not publishing this statement as required by law. From the course of events, it is evident, to use a common expression, that Councilman Ellis has "gotten himself into a hole" and I do not propose to be the ladder by which he will climb out.

I hope Councilman Ellis will see the error of his ways and repent. Under the circumstances, whose fault is it? The Council's, Collector's, Councilman Ellis' or myself.

Pardon me for taking up so much space in your valuable paper, but the circumstances of the situation make it requisite that I write at length, in justification to myself.

Very truly yours,
Wm. E. Collins.

Rev. G. M. Shott will occupy his pulpit tomorrow morning, but in the evening will exchange with Rev. W. E. Needham, who is conducting a series of revival meetings in the church. Mr. Needham by request will illustrate his Sunday evening sermon with crayon sketches.

The Junior Society of the Baptist church held an interesting meeting in the parlors of the Baptist church yesterday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Needham addressed the members of the society and pleased both young and old with his crayon work.

The Township Committee will meet in the town rooms this evening. The recently-elected officials will be sworn in and routine business transacted.

Ernest Marsh, who recently underwent a dangerous operation at Muhlenberg Hospital, is improving very nicely.

David R. Clark, of Montclair, has been visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benj. Clark.

John Allen, who has been west for a number of years, is visiting his mother, Mrs. D. L. Allen.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., held an important meeting in their rooms last evening.

A workingman living on Maple street, Camden, N. J., relates how he passed through a crisis which he justly terms "terrible." "I don't believe that any one ever suffered more than I did for two years," he declares. "I would start for work in the morning and would feel so bad that I would quit at 9 o'clock and go home. My heart would beat so fast that I thought I would die. I had given up all hopes of ever getting well. I never had a day go over my head without that terrible feeling and dread of dying. I spent a considerable sum of money doctoring. My friends all remarked how bad I looked and made all kinds of suggestions. Some said change doctors, others said go away for a change, but one friend who had been sick with the same thing, said he was completely cured by the use of Ripans Tabules. This encouraged me and I made up my mind to try them. I did so, and after using them two months I have not had an attack. My heart seems to be O. K., and I have not lost a day's work since I began to use the Tabules. I feel in fact I might say well; still I take one Tabule now and then. I don't believe I would have been here to-day if I had not used this medicine. I am willing to tell any one what Ripans Tabules have done for me if they will write to me."

The GLORY of the EASTER HAT.

MILLINERY openings for the spring of 1900 are a thing of the past. Easter hats are now a choice topic of conversation wherever women congregate, and this year the subject is certainly a fascinating one, for never before have hats been more beautiful or more varied. In the millinery of the day the latest Paris fad for ribbons is well utilized, but with the ribbons come great masses of flowers in their natural colors, with roses well in the lead, and after them the green foliage. Of this a novelty has been introduced in the form of gauze-like leaves that are prepared by a chemical process from tobacco and palm leaves.

Then in addition to flowers and ribbons fruit has made its appearance as a millinery trimming. It may not be decidedly new, in fact it was used to some extent in Paris as early as last year, but it is just as pretty as though it were a decided novelty. The luscious looking cherries which are being laid flatly on the brims of some of the low crowned hats look tempting enough to eat.

Of the popular shapes the majority have tall crowns and large brims twisted into all sorts of fantastic shapes with numerous bends at the sides, and in many of them one side of the crown is much higher than the other. In toques there are natty little affairs made of fancy braids, and lace effect braids. In these some are seen in which two, three and sometimes four different styles of braid are used. At times one may find them with crown of ecru braid, and a border of fancy black edged at one side with a lacy braid of Nile green or other equally startling color. Then, again, one may find the crown of a red braid with a wide brim of fancy black, and edged with two rows of white lacy braid.

Green is a popular color. It is utilized in foliage, in ribbons and in the grassy-green braids that are quite popular. Yellow is also a popular color made up in combination with white. A hat showing these combinations was a large affair of yellow Swiss braid curled high at one side and lined with a white lacy-braid.

One of the pattern hats that attracted attention in a New York store was a lovely affair of white silk gauze made over a wire frame, and filled in at the top with pink roses and loops of green lacy-effect ribbon, having the loops of the ribbon and pink roses resting on the hair at one side.

Another model hat was of fancy yellow straw trimmed with masses of white mousseline de soie and red cherries with their foliage mingled with red velvet ribbon.

A hat of black straw of an open work pattern turned high at one side had a lovely white ostrich feather sweeping over the brim, and caught with a paste buckle in front.

One of the prettiest of the small toques was of white shirred tulle with high loops of black velvet ribbon dotted with white silk and bordered at one edge with a very narrow ruching of white satin ribbon. White crushed roses at one side.

A large hat of Italian braid in a deep straw color had four pipings of scarlet velvet on the inside, and rosettes of scarlet chiffon mingled with white under the brim. Three black tips caught in front and drooping gracefully over the brim.

For children's hats nothing is prettier than the high peaked crowns with rolling brims and novel trimmings of straw braids in all colors. The braids are made into rosettes in some and in large loose loops in others. In many of the children's hats this is the only trimming.

And so one might go on through almost endless variety. Truly the Easter hat of the closing century is a glorious affair.

FACTS ABOUT MINDANAO

Indiana Man Tells of Life on the Philippine Island.

MORO RULERS WHO ARE DESPOTS.

President Mindel, Whose Authority Is Recognized by the United States, Decapitates His Subjects on Slight Provocation — Island's Queer Mixture of Races.

Max Baruth of Butler, Ind., who is traveling in the Philippines, sends the following interesting communication to the Chicago Record from the island of Mindanao and city of Zamboanga:

"'Off with his head' is the most frequent legal judgment rendered by President Mindel, who exercises jurisdiction throughout the island of Mindanao. He possesses greater power than any known ruler of the world, being the absolute dictator of the executive, judiciary and military branches of his peculiar government. He makes his own laws after his own ideas, and decapitation is usually the method adopted to satisfy outraged justice. The first American troops—a battalion of the Twenty-third infantry—landed in Mindanao Nov. 29, 1899, and were relieved by a full regiment of the Thirty-first infantry the following December. It is doubtful if any American had ever stepped foot on this island prior to that time, and they are still regarded as novelties by the savage tribes that reside on the island. After the departure of the Spanish soldiers the Americans were invited to assume control upon the condition that if Aguinaldo should be victorious in Luzon they were to leave, but should the result prove otherwise they were to remain indefinitely. This peculiar and novel proposition was made to the commander of the Castine of the mosquito fleet, which, together with the Manila, was maintaining an effective blockade in Zamboanga. The commander of the Castine could not accept the proposition and suggested that the arms and ammunition of the natives be delivered to a convenient point in the islands and that he would send a detachment of marines to guard them, after which the natives were to assemble in mass convention and choose one from among their number to serve in the capacity of governor of the district.

"The commander of the Castine was a diplomat, and in showing that a centralization of the prerogative in one individual was necessary to prevent clashing of minor officials he accomplished his purpose. The arms were delivered to a central point, the convention was duly held and resulted in the selection of Isidoro Mindel. He is a native Filipino, born in Tetuan, near Zamboanga, and possesses the respect of his people to a strong degree. Decapitation is about the only punishment he recognizes, and the culprit who is brought before him usually loses his head unless able to establish his innocence of the charges preferred. The authorities are now preparing to curtail his powers by establishing military jurisdiction and abolishing capital punishment for minor violations of his self made laws.

"Next in authority to Mindel is Dato Mandi, who rules the Moros in the same absolute manner. This tribe is an exact counterpart of the Apache Indian. His war weapon is the bolo, and he is never seen unless the weapon is with him. It is shaped similar to a razor, with an edge as keen, and he handles it with a dexterity that is wonderful. He seldom works, prefers to fight, and his chief occupation is head hunting. His ancestors were pirates.

"The American troops found the city in ruins. Desolation and destruction were rampant, and the majority of the population had fled to the mountains to await the outcome of what they believed was to be their annihilation, as was told them by the fleeing Spaniards. The soldiers took hold in earnest and cleaned the city, starting such an era of prosperity as to quickly win the confidence of hundreds of natives, who returned to the city to lend a hand in the rebuilding. The construction of new homes was inaugurated almost simultaneously, and the transformation was truly marvelous to behold. Even the shiftless Moro, the eastern counterpart of the Apache Indian of the western plains of the United States, gave grunts of approval and marveled at the sudden change. The Moro is always the enemy, however, of all who deny Mohammed, and the possibility of his civilization is not flattering. He delights in fantastic robes, gorgeous jewelry, rich personal adornment, and, while he does not imbibe fire water or gamble, he steals and shuns work of any nature. He accepts it only as a last resort and then in homeopathic doses. His life is spent upon the water, and he handles his boat in a manner that would shame the experts of America.

"The other race of natives on the island is known as the Filipino of Mindanao, and he is the reverse of the lazy Moro. He is devoted to home accomplishments, and the height of his ambition is to see that his wife or daughters do not go astray. He neither gambles, drinks nor steals, is very religious, musically inclined and skilled in many of the arts of his people. From this tribe come the mechanics that are building up the ruin, havoc and destruction left by the Spanish. These people are rapidly becoming Americanized and have participated in several strikes for higher wages. They are not friendly to Aguinaldo and the Tagalos. They have no desire to engage in warfare and have never commenced a war except when driven to it by their foes, the Moros. Their language is pure Spanish, and they are quick to imitate and recognize the advantages of education. Their women are virtuous and modest, very plain and unpretentious, and beauty is seldom recognized in any of them.

"The merchants of the island are nearly all Chinese, who possess the Yankee instinct to a strong degree. The city has 50 stores, and 48 of them are owned by the Chinese. They are a shrewd class and have an absolute monopoly of trade, secured from a Chinese captain, who is supreme monarch of the mercantile field. He determines who may hire coolies, what they are to receive, who can open stores and in what location, and the Chinaman who enjoys the strongest pull with the captain reaps the greatest profits from the business world. Several opium joints are running in full blast, some are licensed, and others are not, but all do a heavy business, and the vice is fast undermining the health of its thousands of devotees throughout the island. Spanish laws and royal decrees continue to be in effect in the collection of customs duties, and the restricted emigration laws of the United States in relation to the Chinese are being enforced, much to the disgust of the oriental John, who chafes under it and complains to the powers at Peking, who are helpless in the matter and unable to aid him in the least.

"The American authorities will have to face a serious problem in the quieting of titles to property. From time immemorial it has been the custom to recognize the rights of squatters, and possession has been more than nine points of the law in nearly every case. Many buildings are claimed and occupied by the Chinese that were Spanish property before the war, and the chains of title necessary to follow will be a task that will puzzle the most expert abstractors of the country. Agriculture is one of the lost arts and what vegetables are used are found growing wild. The climate is excellent, the water is remarkably good and earthquakes are unknown. The rainfall is considerably less than in Luzon. December, January and February are the hot months. Three or four crops can be raised each year and vegetation is continuous.

"Zamboanga occupies a magnificent site for a large eastern city. From the foothills to the coast it is seven miles and the fort marks the eastern limits. It was erected 300 years ago and has walls 50 feet in thickness, making it a safe retreat against all foes who should attack it. The north part of the island is as yet unexplored and is the part to which the fabulous tales of rich goldfields refer. That gold exists in this part of the island in generous amounts is now accepted by all acquainted with the situation. Prospectors are here awaiting military protection before venturing among the savage tribes, who become warlike when an invasion of that part of the country is contemplated. This island is beyond question the richest of the entire group. The natives are peacefully inclined and no trouble is anticipated at this time. They build their huts from bamboo and use thousands of feet of mahogany, rosewood and ebony in their construction without a thought of its princely value when exported."

FOG SIGNAL EXPERIMENTS.

Manner of Using Large Megaphones With Sirens.

The United States lighthouse board is engaged in a series of experiments to determine the advisability of using large megaphones with sirens as fog signals, says the New York Post. It has been found that the direct rays of sound can be focused and projected with a powerful megaphone so that they can be heard at a distance of eight or ten miles. In the experiments which have been carried on at the Falkner's Island lighthouse station a megaphone 17 feet in length and 7 feet in diameter at the mouth has been employed.

The apparatus is mounted upon a circular platform 28 feet in diameter, upon which it revolves. There are different signals for the different directions, the signals being 15 seconds apart and the entire revolution occupying two minutes. When the megaphone points to the west, the appropriate signal is three short blasts, and this is heard by a ship in that direction. The western signals are longer than those for the east, while those for the south are shorter than those indicating north. It is stated that it is now possible to project the sound of a siren in any given direction with the same accuracy and certainty as is obtained with a searchlight.

House of Commons' New Jester.

A new jester to the house of commons has appointed himself gradually, says the London Court Journal. Sir Wilfrid Lawson and Mr. Labouchere are resigning their positions, and Mr. Birrell is the natural successor to these. Of course he does not intend to take his parliamentary career seriously. To be once accepted as a buffoon (we use the word with all respect to and acknowledgment of Mr. Birrell's erudition and his charm as an author) he will have no weight with his party or prospect of place. Still the member for Fifeshire is welcome. He is less of the clown than his predecessors have been, and a bookish wit is, it is to be hoped, received with favor by an assemblage, every unit of which is presumably educated. Mr. Birrell is an industrious humorist, and, though some of the jesters of the past may be retreating to the role of Pantaloon, he has some competitors yet with whom to cope.

Indian School Band For Paris Fair.

The Carlisle Indian School band will soon leave for the Paris exposition. It has recently been augmented by the addition of a number of soloists from the various Indian schools, says the New York Tribune. Among these is an Indian girl who is a graduate of the Boston Conservatory of Music and who is said to be an excellent performer on the violin.

The Doors of the Far East Opening Wider

American Trade With Japan, China and Hong Kong is Growing Rapidly

ONE of the most striking features of the foreign trade growth recently enjoyed by the United States has been the wonderful development of the commerce with Japan and China. During the fiscal year 1899 the value of the merchandise exchanged with these two countries, including the port of Hong-Kong, reached as high as $87,305,688. These figures were decidedly in excess of any previous record. The value for 1889, ten years before, was little more than half as large, amounting to only $46,294,167. The four years following 1889 witnessed a steady increase that finally culminated in 1893 with a record of $60,281,386, the highest up to that time. In the fiscal year 1894, during which our importations were greatly curtailed as a result of the prevailing financial depression, the trade dropped to $51,513,149. During 1895 there was a recovery to $57,509,859, and for each subsequent year the returns showed an important increase. The value amounted in 1896 to $68,281,985, in 1897 to $76,577,410 and in 1898 to $82,943,077, while in 1899 the record-breaking figures already quoted were reported.

Of the $87,305,688 valuation placed upon our trade with Japan, China and Hong-Kong during 1899, $47,815,035 represented the imports into the United States and $39,490,653 the exports from this country. The excess of imports over exports amounted to $8,324,382. Formerly the excess was much larger, as, for instance, in 1889, when the imports were valued at $35,196,670 and the exports at $11,097,497, a difference of $24,099,173.

By comparing the figures for 1889 and 1899 it will be seen that the exports have increased much more rapidly than the imports. In the decade ending with 1899 there was a gain of $28,393,156, or 256 per cent., in exportation, while the increase in importation amounted to only $12,618,365, or 36 per cent. During the last few years, in fact, the imports disclosed an actual falling off, the value for 1899 being $1,164,131 less than that for 1896, which was recorded at $48,979,166. Our exports, on the other hand, amounting to $19,302,819 in 1896, were more than doubled during the next three years, showing a gain of $20,187,834.

The commerce carried on with Japan during 1899 amounted in value to $43,981,181, and was slightly larger than the combined trade with China and Hong-Kong, which had a value of $43,324,507. Of the trade recorded with Hong-Kong, amounting to $10,211,799, a considerable portion should undoubtedly be credited to China. The value of the direct trade with China was $33,112,708.

During the years 1889-1899 our trade with Japan showed an increase of $22,673,204. The imports advanced from $16,687,992 to $26,716,493, and the exports from $4,619,985 to $17,264,688. In the last few years there was a remarkable growth of exports. From $7,689,685 in 1896, the value of exported merchandise rose to $13,255,478 in 1897, and to $20,388,420 in 1898. The value for 1899, $17,264,688, although somewhat less than that for 1898, was larger than any previous record.

In our commerce with China during 1889-1899 there was a gain of $13,293,168. The increase occurred almost entirely in the export trade, which advanced from $2,791,128 in 1889 to $14,493,440 in 1899. Our imports for 1899, amounting to $18,619,268, were only slightly larger than in 1889, when a value of $17,028,412 was reported. The exports to China, like those to Japan, showed an exceptional growth in 1897, 1898 and 1899, the records for these years being $11,924,433, $9,992,894 and $14,493,440, respectively.

Our trade with the port of Hong-Kong, although less important than that credited directly to China, was nearly doubled during 1889-1899, making a gain of $5,045,149. The exports for 1899 had a value of $7,732,525, as compared with only $2,686,384 for 1889. The imports were considerably smaller and showed marked fluctuations. In 1889 they were valued at $1,480,266, but these figures were not equaled again until 1899, when a value of $2,479,274 was recorded.

Of the domestic merchandise shipped from the United States to Japan, China and Hong-Kong during the fiscal year 1898, nearly 40 per cent. consisted of agricultural products. In 1889, the first year of the decade, products of the farm constituted only about 25 per cent. Proportionately the agricultural exports have increased even more rapidly than the nonagricultural. In 1898 they attained a value of $14,356,614, as against $2,782,914 in 1889. This remarkable growth occurred chiefly during the four years 1895-1898. The value for 1894 was only $3,601,140.

Statistics show that the principal gain in agricultural exports occurred in the shipments to Japan, which advanced from $300,609 in 1889 to $8,969,816 in 1898. The sum quoted for the former year constituted only 6.5 per cent. of the value of the total exports to Japan, while that for 1898 formed about 44 per cent.

The agricultural exports to China, although much smaller than those to Japan, likewise made a noticeable gain during the decade, the value for 1898 amounting to $695,549, as compared with only $108,757 for 1889. The part of our total shipments to China formed by products of the farm was inconsiderable, averaging less than five per cent. for the ten years. During the latter half of the decade, however, the percentage of agricultural exports showed a material increase.

In the exports to Hong-Kong farm products comprised the principal part, forming about 65 per cent. of the total in 1889, and increasing to 75 per cent. in 1898. The value advanced from $2,373,548 in the former year to $4,691,249 in the latter.

Our exports to Japan, China and Hong-Kong consist largely of five leading items—cotton, cotton manufactures, kerosene oil, wheat flour and manufactures of iron and steel. In 1898 these five items formed nearly 80 per cent. of the total exports to the three destinations mentioned, their combined value amounting to $28,859,635. Of this sum $14,923,371 represented the shipments to Japan, $8,889,374 those to China and $5,046,890 those to Hong-Kong.

Of cotton we shipped to these countries a total value of $7,870,896, and of this amount Japan took $7,428,226. Of manufactured cotton we shipped to these countries a total value of $5,307,252, and of this China took $5,203,427. Both Japan and China bought liberally of our kerosene oil, our total sales to these two countries and to Hong-Kong being $7,398,449, and of this amount Japan took $3,592,587 and China $2,839,345. Hong-Kong is the principal eastern purchaser of our wheat flour. Out of a total of $4,569,071 sold to the three countries, Hong-Kong took $3,835,727. Of iron and steel products we sold to the three $3,713,967 worth, and of this amount Japan took $3,195,152.

Right Word Still Missing.

Now that bicycles, motor tricycles and motor cars are jumping into popularity, one of the difficulties is to find a comprehensive word applicable to horseless vehicles. We Americans, who are ever sharp in this sort of thing, have racked our brains and searched dictionaries to find something. Our series of words for selection, though none of them is particularly pleasant-sounding, are: "Horseless," "steedless," "ahippon," "mobile," "mob," "dyname-cycle," "dynamotor," "cyclarette," "vehiclette," "locomotor," "machine car," "loke," "sponto-mobile," "sponto-carette," "spontocycle," "sponter" and many others.

LIVED OVER NINETY YEARS.

Death of Mrs. Mary Cadmus, One of the Oldest Residents in This City.

The death of Mrs. Mary Cadmus, widow of the late Andrew A. Cadmus, aged 91 years, occurred this morning at her home on Myrtle avenue, North Plainfield. Owing to her advanced age and feebleness her death was not unexpected. She was ninety-one years old and the daughter of Stephen Deeds, a pioneer in New Jersey, who was prominently identified with good works. Mrs. Cadmus was one of the organizers of the First Presbyterian church in this vicinity and has always been closely associated with the work in that denomination. She was a woman of rare Christian qualities and attainments and lived a life of devotion to her church and home.

When Mrs. Cadmus first saw the light of day there was very little to mark this place which has grown to such large proportions. She was born on the Cadmus estate near Grant avenue and lived within a half mile of that place all her life. For some time past she was unable to leave her home and was closely confined. Early in life she gave much toward the church of which she was a member and to her efforts is due much of the success gained by that denomination in this vicinity.

She leaves two children—A. L. Cadmus and Susan W. She also leaves two grandchildren and five great goand children.

The funeral will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

THEATRICAL.

The next attraction booked at Music Hall is Ah Foon, the famous Chinese magician, and his great troupe of specialty artists, who will appear Friday and Saturday of next week. Have You Ever Used It?

S. and R. Chocolate Jelly for cake filling and icing, it is always ready. No sugar; no boiling. Ladies who have used this jelly will have no other chocolate, or try to prepare a cake filling themselves, as in almost every case they find it very unsatisfactory, usually rough and gritty, and while the cake is still soft and nice, the filling will be hard. Cakes made with this jelly are decidedly to the contrary. When the cake is dry and hard (if kept long) you will find the jelly still smooth and soft. You will like the flavor. It is made from the finest chocolate of special blending. It makes delicious hot chocolate at a cost of about one cent a cup. A teaspoonful is the ordinary quantity used, but people's tastes differ—some may want a little more and some less. All that is necessary is hot water and cream or milk (whipped cream is best). Nothing so convenient for afternoon teas. Everybody is invited to visit S. Scheuer & Co., West Front street grocers, and try a cup of this chocolate served with whipped cream. Free to all. 3 22 3

ROOT MAKES REPLY.

Senate Resolution About Gold Dredging Answered.

NO CONCESSIONS OR GRANTS MADE.

Permits Already Made Issued Within the Meaning of the Law and Confer No Rights Whatever Save Immunity From Prosecution.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Secretary Root has transmitted to the senate his reply to the resolution of March 21 requesting information on the war department practice of grating permits for gold dredging off the Alaskan coast. He says:

"No concession or grants to excavate the gold bearing bed of the sea at or in the vicinity of Cape Nome, in Alaska, or in other Alaskan waters, have been made by the secretary of war or any official of the war department. Numerous applications have been received by the war department for permits to excavate in the bed of the ocean in the vicinity of Cape Nome, in Alaska, in the exercise of authority conferred upon the chief of engineers and the secretary of war by section 10 of the act of congress approved March 3, 1899, which provides: 'It shall not be lawful to excavate or fill or in any manner to alter or modify the course, location, condition or capacity of any port, roadstead, haven, harbor, canal, lake, harbor of refuge or inclosure within the limits of any breakwater or of the channel of any navigable water of the United States unless the work has been recommended by the chief of engineers and authorized by the secretary of war prior to beginning the same.'

"Section 12 of the same statute makes it a criminal offense to excavate without the required authority, however lawful the work may otherwise be, and provides that the offender on conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $2,500 nor less than $500 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year or by both such punishments in the discretion of the court.' As this statute was designed solely for the protection of navigation it has been the practice of the war department to grant permits to persons desiring to excavate for any purpose when the work is not such as to injuriously affect navigation and is otherwise lawful. Permits thus granted are not exclusive; they do not preclude any number of similar permits applicable to the same territory; they are not grants or concessions, and they confer no rights whatever except immunity from prosecution under the statute above quoted secured in accordance with the terms of the statute and by reason of a compliance with the provisions thereof.

"As there seems to be no legal reason why all citizens of the United States should not have the same opportunity to prospect for gold and acquire mining rights under the mining laws upon land under water as they have upon lands not under water, the department determined as a general policy in the exercise of the discretion vested in the chief of engineers and secretary of war by this statute to relieve all citizens applying from the obstacle interposed by this statute as long as their proposed operations do not in fact interfere with navigation.

"All applications made under this statute have accordingly, so far as it has been possible to dispose of them, received favorable action. No application of this description has been denied. Upon two permits have been granted. Upon a third papers had been prepared and were waiting the secretary of war's signature at the time of the passage of your resolution. Three others were approved by the chief of engineers and were in the hands of the judge advocate general for the preparation of the necessary papers. Eleven others are still in the office of the chief of engineers in process of examination upon the question whether they interfere with navigation. Four more just received are in the office of the secretary of war and will today be sent to the chief of engineers.

"Unless otherwise directed by congress, the secretary of war will deem it his duty in the exercise of the discretion vested in him by law to grant permits in all of these cases and upon all other similar applications by citizens of the United States, provided that the work proposed does not injuriously affect navigation."

Erne Whips Gans.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Frank Erne of Buffalo still retains the title of lightweight champion pugilist of the world. He won this from "Kid" Lavigne at Cheektowaga, N. Y., last July in a 25 round bout. Erne is a clever two handed boxer, so is Gans, but the Caucasian proved to be the better man at the Broadway Athletic club last night, as he punished Gans so badly that the Baltimore negro had to quit. Erne blinded Gans with a left and right hand punch in the twelfth round, and Gans' left eye started from its socket. He was absolutely helpless, when Referee Charley White saw that the negro was unable to continue and with good judgment stopped the bout, awarding the honors to Erne.

Eaten by Cannibals.

VANCOUVER, B. C., March 24.—The steamer Warrimoo brings from Dutch New Guiana the shocking account of the devouring of three officers of the steamer General Pell by cannibals who caught them while on shore taking photographs Ernest Wiegan, one of the party, was wounded by arrows and while hiding saw the barbarians tie his three companions to trees, cut off portions of their living flesh and finally cook and eat it.

Next Trial In Ontario County.

BUFFALO, March 24.—The Commercial says Justice Lambert, who heard the motion for a change of venue in the case of Howard C. Benham, the Batavia wife murderer, stated to a Commercial reporter late yesterday that he had decided to send the case to Ontario county the county seat of which is Canandaigua for trial.

Bonds Received.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Up to the hour of closing the department yesterday the bonds offered to the treasury for exchange into the new 2 per cents amounted to $138,001,200, of which $11,359,950 came from individuals or institutions other than national banks.

Big Prices For Polled Cattle.

CHICAGO, March 24.—The Wallace Estill of Aberdeen Angus breeding cattle at Dexter park amphitheater, Union stockyards, closed yesterday, and the prices broke all previous records. Seventy-two head brought a general average of $579 each.

BANKS BENEFITED.

New Financial Law Works Favorably—Unusually Heavy Exports.

NEW YORK, March 24.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

In its first week of operation the new monetary bill has given satisfaction at the treasury and to banks. Applications for new 2 per cents have exceeded $106,000,000, and the net increase in bank circulation is already over $10,000,000.

The release of millions employed in preparation for action under the new measure has caused in bank returns considerable changes which are nominal rather than real, and the money markets are undisturbed. The extraordinary exports in three weeks from this port alone, $43,916,895, exceeding last year's by $7,098,026, or 19.3 per cent, have rendered the exchange market weaker, in spite of an increase of $996,000, or 2.7 per cent, in imports at New York for three weeks.

Cotton holds at 9⅞ cents for spot, with heavy export demand, though futures are weaker. European stocks in sight with mill stocks reported by Ellison cover consumption at the rate he reports for a large part, but not for the whole of the crop year remaining, and the visible supply in this country is being sold at terms which make the 450,000 bales exported this month worth more than 670,000 would have been worth a year ago, when only 244,000 went abroad in the same week. Receipts have exceeded last year's for the week, though not much for the month.

The advance in wheat which followed statements of the quantity in farmers' hands has not been maintained, and the decline the past week has been 1⅜ cents, corn also yielding about as much. Atlantic exports were but 1,753,028 bushels for the week and for three weeks only 4,762,482 against 8,730,374 last year.

Striking machinists at Cleveland declared that 1,700 men had joined the movement.

A lone robber held up a Kansas City, St. Joseph and Council Bluffs train near Hamburg, Ia., got money and a watch and then escaped.

Michael Mellegin, boatswain's mate of the United States gunboat Machias, was killed, and his brother Edward, fireman on the cruiser New York, was shot in the hip at Galveston.

Senator Coffey Expelled.

NEW YORK, March 24.—The report of the subcommittee of the Democratic executive committee of Kings county, after many hearings on the charges of disloyalty preferred by Democrats of the Ninth assembly district against the Hon. Michael J. Coffey, was presented last night first to the executive committee and then to the county committee at meetings held in Brooklyn. Chairman John L. Shea of the executive committee read the report. The complaints charge that at the last general election Senator Coffey had been guilty of acts of hostility and perfidy to the Democratic organization; that he had not only refused to co-operate with the general committee, but had conspired to barter away 2,000 or 2,500 Democratic votes to the Republican party, and the Ninth assembly district demanded the expulsion of Senator Coffey from the councils of the party. The report was adopted.

Mr. Sheldon's Profits.

TOPEKA, March 24.—The Daily Capital company has not yet paid to the Rev. Mr. Sheldon his share of the profits of the recent Christian newspaper experiment, the total amount of which is said to be $65,000. The Capital's managers told Mr. Sheldon that they would give him a good share of the profits for such charitable uses as he might suggest. Just how much of the net proceeds Mr. Sheldon is to have no one knows, not even Mr. Sheldon himself. He said yesterday that he had not yet received anything. It is understood that Mr. Sheldon will use whatever sum he gets in beautifying a negro settlement known as "Tennesseetown," which is surrounded by fine houses. Mr. Sheldon has already made a great change in Tennesseetown.

Negro Murderer Caught.

RICHMOND, March 24.—The negro who, with a white man, was concerned in the killing of Justice of the Peace Saunders and Mr. Welton at Skippers, in Greensville county, Thursday, after an all night chase was captured at Stony Creek, Sussex county. He confessed to the shooting of Saunders and Welton and to several robberies, among them that of the Gizzards, at Emporia, but denied the killing of George W. Black, who was murdered in his store some weeks ago and of which he was also suspected.

Eleven Lives Lost.

VICTORIA, B. C., March 24.—The steamer Warrimoo, which arrived from Australia yesterday, brought news of a hurricane which had done great damage at Niuafou, in the Friendly islands. In the hurricane the cutter Espiegle, owned by Mr. Krause of Nukualof, was lost with 11 persons on board, including the master, Captain John Castles. Only two persons, a Tongan man and woman, managed to reach the shore.

Dead In Jerusalem.

CLEVELAND, March 24.—Captain Thomas Wilen, president of the Central National bank of this city and a widely known vessel owner, is dead. A private cablegram received from Jerusalem announced that Captain Wilson had died there of pneumonia. He left Cleveland several weeks ago for an extended trip abroad.

BRIDGE WORK
in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

BOOK OF HIS DREAMS.

It Took Quaritch, the Bibliophile, Forty Years to Make Money Enough to Buy It.

Bernard Quaritch, the celebrated London bibliophile, recently deceased, was the son of a German officer, and was born at Wordis, Prussia, in 1807.

When he settled permanently in London, 55 years ago, he accepted humble employment under the late Mr. Bohn, the famous bookseller, with the avowed determination to become in time the first bookseller in Europe. Step by step, by perseverance and unremitting toil, he built up a business which made his name and reputation world-wide. Looked at from the point of view of the ordinary bookbuyer, however, Mr. Quaritch was really not a bookseller. He did not deal in current publications, and his great reputation was due, not to the greatness of his sales, but to the limited number of them and to high prices. His exertions were devoted chiefly to supplying libraries and a few private collectors with bibliographical curiosities. He dealt in missals, early Bibles, illuminated books, manuscripts, and similar rarities, wherever they might be found or in whatever language they were printed. He was always found as a competitor whenever a Mazarin Bible or a first-folio Shakespeare or a collection of Alduses or Elzevirs was offered for sale.

Mr. Quaritch would scarcely so much as look at a modern collection of first editions, and very few books of the present century had any special attraction for him. He was especially attracted toward early Americana, and in 1890 he sent his son to New York with a noble collection of old books and manuscripts, to dazzle the eyes and gladden the hearts of American bibliophiles. It is related of him that, while still a struggling youth, he formed a firm determination to buy for himself, at whatever price, if he should at any time have the opportunity and ability, a copy of the "Book of St. Albans." It was only after 40 years of patient toil that he had acquired the means, and a sale at Christie's presented him with the chance of carrying out his long-cherished resolve. Then, amidst restless silence, the hammer fell to his bid of 600 guineas, and at last he bore off his long-desired prize.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

An American Reporter.

They have a reporter on one of the Williamsburg papers who may not be much on style, but for placid, nervy "get there" he is a jewel. A little while ago he was assigned to a political meeting and asked to give a good report of it. Now, it happened that the festivities were conducted entirely in Polish, a language of which the young man knows nothing. This fact, however, did not phase him a bit. He made his way through the hall, pushed up to the platform, and sat down with the secretary. For several minutes he industriously took notes, and finally the secretary, turning to him, pumped out a volley of Polish.

"I am not in it, dear boy," retorted the young man, as he turned again to listen to the speaker.

The secretary looked surprised. Finally he went out and brought in a man who asked in English:

"Are you a Polish reporter?"

"Nope," was the reply. "I am an American one."

"Do you understand our language?"

"I never heard it before," retorted the scribbler, "but I think I have picked up enough since I have been here to give a rattling good story."

And he did.—N. Y. Press.

RELIEF PLANS FAIL.

Colonel Plumer Forced Back to Former Position.

METHUEN MAY RAISE THE SIEGE.

Cavalry Leader French Fighting East of Bloemfontein—Buller Still Quiet In Natal—Joubert at Kroonstadt Ready to Fight.

LONDON, March 24.—Lord Roberts' main army continues waiting at Bloemfontein. The sentimental interest in the fate of Mafeking has intensified with Colonel Plumer's forced retirement to Crocodile Pools, where he was two months ago. Relief from the north now dwindles to improbability.

Lord Methuen is skirmishing with the Boers at Warrenton, 167 miles away. Although seemingly in force sufficient to do pretty much as he likes, he has not advanced these five days. It is hoped that his military administration has a pleasant surprise in preparation for the Britishers by raising the siege with a strong column of cavalry and artillery detouring to Mafeking while Commandant Snyman is drawn off to engage Colonel Plumer.

General French's cavalry and mounted infantry, according to a rumor, are fighting somewhere east of Bloemfontein. This suggests more Boer bad news, as Commandant Olivier's commando, with 2,000 wagons, is reported on the Basutoland frontier toiling northward toward Kroonstadt via Ladybrand. This enormous wagon train is supposed to be moving 25 miles a day. General French's cavalry posts stretch from Bloemfontein eastward to the mountains.

General Buller has not yet moved in Natal. The Eighth division will go direct to Bloemfontein. Lord Roberts' effective disposable at the front ten days hence will be, it is estimated, 70,000 men, with the easy possibility of moving eastward, forcing the Boers to evacuate the Biggarsberg range and joining hands with General Buller before continuing the promenade to Pretoria.

The Delagoa Bay railway arbitration award is editorially considered in the morning papers. The approaching declaration of the findings of the arbitrators is welcomed as coming at an appropriate moment and as bringing the acquisition of Delagoa Bay appreciably nearer.

The war office has issued the following from Colonel Plumer, dated Lobatsi, March 14:

"The Boers advanced from the south in considerable force this morning. They first advanced from Goode's Siding. After a sharp little engagement Lieutenant Colonel Bodie's advanced post was compelled to retreat. The retirement was excellently carried out to our main position. The casualties include Lieutenant Chapman and a corporal, prisoners, and two missing, probably prisoners. Five troopers were wounded. Chapman's horse fell with him close to the enemy, who immediately surrounded him.

"The exact Boer casualties are unknown, but several were shot at short range.

"In the afternoon the Boers advanced further north and shelled our position from a ridge on our left. Our 12½ pounder replied, the artillery duel continuing until sunset.

"Lieutenant A. J. Tyler has since died of wounds. One native was killed."

A dispatch to The Daily News from Warrenton, dated Thursday, describing Lord Methuen's position there, says:

"A small flanking force sent through Boshof secured an important crossing, where the pont or ferry had been destroyed, but foreseeing this Lord Methuen had another pont built, which is ready to be sent thither when an advance is considered opportune.

"The cavalry and infantry column is en route for this point. Thus the position of the Boers at Fourteen Streams is formidably threatened.

"Lord Methuen's advance has not been hurried to the relief of Mafeking, where the pressure apparently has been relaxed as a result of operations elsewhere, but he is confident of his ability to push aside the opposition on the Vaal river when the proper time comes."

A Bloemfontein correspondent of The Daily News, telegraphing Thursday, says:

"A letter from Mr. Poulteney, an interpreter in the Free State courts, has been received by his wife here, in which the writer declares that General Joubert is commanding the combined forces at Kroonstadt, where there is plenty of men, guns and foodstuffs for a determined resistance."

A dispatch to The Daily News from Lourenço Marques, dated Friday, says:

"It is reported from Pretoria that Commandant Eloff is isolating Colonel Plumer's forces near Gaberones."

A dispatch from Bloemfontein, dated March 22, says:

The Boers Still Determined.

BOER CAMP, Kroonstadt, March 24.—Affairs are being put in proper shape, and the Free Staters who had to leave are returning in crowds. The president's proclamation has shown the burghers that the government is standing firm. The commands are mobilizing in great numbers, and the men are more determined than ever. President Steyn has issued a proclamation in which he warns the burghers who lay down their arms and help the English that they are liable to the utmost punishment as traitors.

Sir Alfred Milner's Mission.

CAPE TOWN, March 24.—It is understood that Sir Alfred Milner's mission northward is connected with the enforcement of martial law. He will use his personal influence toward the pacification of disaffected centers. The Cape ministry is loyally supporting him. Martial law, in response to requests from loyalists, has been proclaimed in the Gordonia district.

Killed In an Elevator.

CAMDEN, N. J., March 24.—Daniel Breslin, 16 years old, was killed while operating an elevator in the Pries-Beslin factory. The top of his head was cut off between the car and a floor and fell three stories to where 200 girls were working two of whom were his sisters.

A New Atlantic Cable Started.

HALIFAX, March 24.—The cable steamers Faraday and Mackay-Bennett laid the shore end of a new Atlantic cable at Canso yesterday, and the Faraday proceeded to sea, reeling out the cable as she went. The line will touch at the Azores.

HAVANA SEWERAGE.

General Wood Orders Appraisers For Dady Matter.

HAVANA, March 24.—Governor General Wood has issued an order appointing three appraisers to settle the amount due Mr. Michael J. Dady on his contract. One of the appraisers will be chosen by General Wood, another by the municipality of Havana and the third by Mr. Dady. Their decision will be final.

Another commission consisting of three engineers will be appointed to prepare a plan of sewerage for the entire city. This will be as far as the American authorities in Cuba will concern themselves, and General Wood's action settles a question which for a long time has prevented the carrying out of city improvements.

The reports that were prepared by the three engineering experts who were appointed at various times last year by General Ludlow to prepare plans and to submit opinions on the proposed sewerage schemes will be laid before the new board, which will meet in the early part of April.

An order will issue early next week giving the mayors much more extensive powers than they formerly had quite irrespective of the civil governors. By its terms permits for amusements and public meetings are to be applied for to the mayors, and the police administration and other civil affairs of the municipalities will likewise be exclusively under mayoral control. The order goes into effect immediately.

The members of the senate commission have left for Matanzas, from which point they will proceed today to Cienfuegos, returning Tuesday. A special train will be at their disposal the entire time, so that if they decide to visit Santa Clara they can do so comfortably.

FALLOWS BILL KILLED.

Insertion of One Word Makes the Antipolicy Measure Valueless.

ALBANY, March 24.—The senate yesterday practically killed the Fallows antipolicy bill by amendment. When the bill was reported, it was in amended form so as to provide that a person knowingly having policy slips in his possession should be subject to punishment under the act. The senate in committee of the whole voted to strike out the word "knowingly," making the bill more effective. Yesterday when the bill was reached on the order of final passage Senator Grady moved to insert the word "knowingly." He said the amendment had been suggested by Anthony Comstock. Senator Elsberg contended that the enactment clause might as well be stricken out as the word "knowingly," as the amendment practically killed the bill. Senator Humphrey said that despite the threats and the alleged use of money he must stand by the amendment, which was carried by a vote of 30 to 17.

Senator Grady attempted to further amend the bill by providing that the court may use discretion in the punishment of those convicted, but the amendment was voted down by a vote of 24 to 24.

An amendment offered by Senator Brown to make the possession of policy slips prima facie evidence of criminal intent was also lost by the same vote. The bill was then recommitted for reprinting.

PORTO RICANS STARVING.

Distressing Conditions In the Island Caused by Congressional Delay.

PONCE, Porto Rico, March 24.—The situation here is now more serious than it has been at any time before since the terrible hurricane. In many places the poor are starving. The price of rice, beans and codfish has increased from 50 to 100 per cent.

Demonstrations against the delay of the United States government in settling open questions have recently been held not only at San Juan, but at Mayaguez, Yauco, Arecibo, Aguacilla, Fajardo, Juana Diaz, Guayama and many other towns. The people are unable to understand the delay, and they condemn all Americans indiscriminately. Bad feeling is arising which it will take years to overcome. Even riots are threatened. Trouble is almost inevitable unless the tension is relieved.

Even wealthy land owners cannot command ready cash, and many Americans are penniless, being glad to work for their board.

Must Be Loyal to Bryan.

ALBANY, March 24.—The executive committee of the Chicago platform Democrats of the state met here last night and after adopting the platform as adopted out west last week resolved that the rank and file of the Democracy of the state of New York demand that the delegates selected to attend the state and national conventions be men that are known, above suspicion and loyal to the platform and ticket of 1896 and that such delegation be instructed to vote for the reaffirmation of the Chicago platform and for the nomination of William J. Bryan of Nebraska as the Empire state's choice for president.

Large Cotton Receipts.

SAVANNAH, March 24.—For the fifth time Savannah cotton receipts will pass the million mark today. The net total at the close of business yesterday was 998,641 bales since Sept. 1. Last year the million mark was reached on March 17 and year before last on Feb. 10. Statisticians say that the later date at which the million was reached this year was indicative of the shortness of the crop. It is not believed that over 100,000 bales more will reach this port of this year's crop.

Worse and Worse For Bundy.

ELMIRA, N. Y., March 24.—The report of former City Chamberlain Frank E. Bundy, dated Feb. 6, 1900, stated that the city was solvent and had a balance to its credit of $3,500. Instead, the common council committee of investigation finds that the city is in debt between $75,000 and $100,000 because of overdrafts. This is outside of Bundy's shortage and has caused as great a surprise as did the news of his defalcation.

New Charity Building In Paris.

PARIS, March 24.—The Galeries de la Charite, intended as a permanent building for holding charity bazaars, is now completed and will be opened on May 1. Two hundred charitable institutions have already announced that they intend to hold sales this year. The structure was built by Comtesse Boni de Castellane whose generous idea was prompted by the charity bazaar fire.

BY A PARTY VOTE.

Conference Report on Porto Rico Relief Bill Adopted by the Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—The senate yesterday adopted the conference report on the Porto Rican relief bill by a vote of 35 to 15, practically a strict party expression. No Democrat voted for the report, but Mr. Stewart of Nevada voted with the Republicans.

The time of discussion was consumed principally by Mr. Tillman (Dem.) of South Carolina, who made a fierce attack upon the measure, as agreed upon in conference, and accused the Republican senators and the Republican party of indirection, hypocrisy and "dirty work." His speech was quite characteristic and was listened to with interest by his colleagues on the floor and the people in the galleries.

Mr. Gallinger (Rep.) of New Hampshire closed the debate with a forceful statement in opposition to Mr. Tillman's speech, in the course of which he took occasion sharply to criticise the South Carolina senator for dragging the measure into politics. His colloquial tilts with Mr. Tillman were immensely enjoyed by the auditors.

The house gave its time to private pension bills, passing 142 of these measures. Late in the day Mr. Talbert of South Carolina raised a point of no quorum, and as the attendance was small a quorum was secured only after a call of the house and some delay. The conference report on the Porto Rican relief bill was presented and 1 p. m. today set as the time for voting on it.

NEW JERSEY LEGISLATURE.

Final Adjournment Taken Late at Night—Bills Signed by Governor.

TRENTON, March 24.—It was after midnight when the legislature adjourned sine die, although the official time of the adjournment was 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The afternoon session of both houses was devoted to the passage of bills, and then after a short recess evening sessions were resumed, but very little business was transacted. The purpose of these sessions was to give the governor time to consider the bills that had been sent to him for approval. The governor sat behind closed doors all day poring over bills and adding his signature to those that met with his approval. Among the bills signed by the governor were the house bill codifying the national guard laws of the state and the senate bill codifying the school laws.

The usual complimentary resolutions were passed in both houses, and in the assembly Speaker Jones was presented with a handsome gold watch and chain by the members of the house. The presentation speech was made by Assemblyman Benny, the minority leader, who praised Speaker Jones for the impartial manner in which he had presided during the session.

Sergeant-at-Arms Frank Tantum and Bill Clerk George Powell also received presents, and Assemblyman Wright of Burlington, one of the oldest members of the house, received a gold watch charm with diamond setting from the Hudson county delegation.

National Convention Preparations.

PHILADELPHIA, March 24.—Several important matters appertaining to the Republican convention received the attention of the subcommittee of the national executive committee yesterday. Fourteen thousand admission tickets for each day of the convention were apportioned, arrangements for the dissemination of the proceedings were made, and the convention badges, 9,000 in all, were ordered. The committee adjourned to meet about the middle of April. Sergeant-at-Arms Wiswell will have the appointment of 500 assistants, 300 doorkeepers, 250 pages and 1,000 additional employees, besides issuing permits to the press, messengers and telegraph operators.

Big Railroad Consolidation.

KANSAS CITY, March 24.—The Star says: "There are rumors of the consolidation of the Union Pacific, Chicago and Alton, Illinois Central and the Kansas City Southern railroads. The latter road is the successor of the Kansas City, Pittsburg and Gulf. The probability of effecting such a combination is denied by the men in a position to consummate it, but it is undeniable that the closest of traffic and other relations are to be formed between the transportation lines named."

The Kodak Man's Princely Gift.

ROCHESTER, March 24.—In a letter dated Feb. 20, 1900, to L. P. Ross, president of the Rochester Athenæum and Mechanics' institute, George Eastman, treasurer of the Eastman Kodak company, makes known his intention to purchase and turn over to that institution property situated on the west side of Plymouth avenue valued at $200,000. The gift has been accepted by the institute.

FOR KILLING GOEBEL

Examination of Suspects Begun at Frankfort.

COURTROOM GUARDED INSIDE AND OUT

Rumored Invasion of Mountaineers Failed to Occur—Secretary of State Powers Examined First. An Amusing Incident.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 24.—The preliminary examination of Secretary of State Caleb Powers, charged with abetting the assassination of William Goebel, began yesterday before Judge Moore. The courthouse was guarded inside and out by militia and scores of deputy sheriffs, armed with Winchester rifles, to prevent possible interference from mountaineers who were reported on their way to Frankfort, but their presence was unnecessary, as the mountaineers failed to appear and no disorder occurred.

The witnesses included Warden Eph Lillard, Detective D. E. Armstrong, Sheriff Bosworth of Fayette county, who arrested Secretary Powers and Captain John Davis, and Silas Jones, who is now under bonds charged with complicity in the murder. The testimony tended to show that the shots came from that section of the executive building in which Secretary Powers' office is located, although no one swore that the shots were from the secretary's office. The strongest evidence, perhaps, was given by Silas Jones, who was in Governor Taylor's anteroom when the shooting took place.

No evidence was adduced tending to show that the defendant was implicated in any conspiracy, but in one of the frequent wordy disputes between the attorneys for the defense and the commonwealth the fact was brought out that F. Wharton Golden, who is said to have made a confession, will be put on the witness stand before the hearing ends. Prosecuting Attorney Polsgrove said last night that sufficient evidence had already been heard to warrant holding Powers, but that the case would be much stronger before he was through. On the other hand former Governor Brown for the defense expressed himself as well pleased with the situation, regarding the evidence so far as decidedly weak. It is probable that all of the witnesses for the prosecution will be heard today.

An incident occurred during the afternoon that showed the feeling and also how the people are prepared for emergencies. A soldier in the rear courtyard dropped his revolver on the stone flagging, and it exploded. In an instant every man in the crowded courtroom was on his feet, fully a third of them with their hands to their rear pockets.

Embezzler Arrested.

CHESTER, Pa., March 24.—Howard Smith, who is charged with the embezzlement of a large amount of money from the American Lithograph company of New York, was arrested last evening in this city by Detective Tobin of the Pinkerton agency and Chief of Police Berry of this city. Smith was cashier of the company. He had been in the employ of the concern since boyhood and had the entire confidence of his employers. He worked until 6 o'clock on the evening of March 13, but as he did not return the next morning the suspicion of the officers of the company were excited, and an investigation of Smith's accounts led to the discovery that he was an embezzler to a large amount.

Trouble In Samoa.

VICTORIA, B. C., March 24.—From Samoa the steamer Warrimoo brings news of fresh trouble among the natives. Lepaa, one of the followers of Mataafa, and a party went to Leon, or Tutuila. There were no chiefs to welcome them, and during the night they were set upon, and seven were seriously wounded. After some time the chiefs stopped the fighting and told the visitors to leave. The real reason of the attack is said to be that the Mataafa men had come to enslave the Leon villagers, and the latter, being warned, surprised them.

Brisk Call For Lumber.

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., March 24.—Prominent lumber men from Clearfield here yesterday stated that about 300 rafts will be sent to the eastern markets this spring. A greater number of rafts they say, have already been purchased by eastern buyers than last year and at higher prices than prevailed then. There is a great demand for timber, and eastern purchasers are growing impatient at the slow opening of the season.

MARCONNIER UNDER THE WING OF TRINITY

Official Adoption of the Oak Tree Society Completed by Church Officers.

HISTORY OF THE CHAPEL.

ITS MEMBERS ACCEPTED IN THE OLDER RELIGIOUS FOLD.

Rev. Cornelius Schenck in Charge of the Services, Which Were Very Impressive—Mrs. Schwenk Given a Bible.

One of the most important changes in religious circles in this vicinity took place yesterday afternoon, when the members of Marconnier chapel and the property as well became a branch of Trinity Reformed church in this city It was an event of more than passing interest and it conveyed happiness not only to Trinity church but to the members of the chapel at Oak Tree, where such a good work has been carried on for some time past.

This change has been in preparation for some time and its complete consummation yesterday promises greater usefulness in the future. A large delegation from Trinity church went to Oak Tree, where exercises appropriate to the occasion were held. The official transfer of the property to the church was made, members were received into the chapel and the Lord's Supper observed. The chapel was filled with worshippers and the services throughout were very impressive. The members had everything in readiness for the services, which took place at 4 o'clock. A pleasing decoration of flowers added to the attractiveness of the place of worship.

Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph.D., pastor of Trinity Reformed church, was in charge and opened the services. After the singing of a hymn he read appropriate Scripture selections from a Bible which was presented by he members of the Sunday-school to Mrs Schwenk, one of the very earnest workers, as a slight token of their love for her and in recognition of her many years of faithful services. This was followed with prayer by Pastor Schenck, after which Rev. Henry T. Jones, formerly pastor of the chapel, presented a short history of the chapel. In doing this he transferred the papers to Mr. Schenck, which gives to Trinity Reformed church the property

The history in brief is as follows: "In December, 1890, Miss Helen Vail extended an invitation to the children of the neighborhood to meet at her residence every Sunday afternoon where Sunday-school services were held. Mrs. Mai Marconnier Schwenk was a coadjutor in this work, and when in January, 1891, owing to serious illness, Miss Vail was obliged to give up the work, Mrs. Schwenk took charge, and the Sunday-school met at her home, Holly Grove Farm. Interest having grown and numbers increased it was thought best to organize a Sunday-school and hold the sessions in the Oak Tree schoolhouse. Then the Marconnier Union Sunday-school was organized and the first meeting was held in the schoolhouse April 12th, 1891. The following officers were elected: Superintendent, D. W. DeForest; assistant superintendent, Charles W. Sargent; treasurer, Mrs. Mai Marconnier Schwenk; secretary, W. E. VanCourt; librarian, Edward Morris.

"In May, 1891, the trustees requested the Sunday-school to vacate the schoolhouse, and after that up to October 11th, 1891, the sessions were held at Mrs. Schwenk's home. After that sessions were held in the waiting room of the Lehigh Valley Railroad station at Oak Tree until April 2d, 1893, when the school returned again to Mrs. Schwenk's home.

"This constant changing about led to a desire to have a chapel, and through earnest efforts the present chapel was erected and July 21, 1895, the Marconnier Union chapel was dedicated The Christian Endeavor Society was organized at the home of Mrs. Schwenk April 20, 1894, with four active and eleven associate members. February 2, 1896, W. D. DeForest resigned as superintendent, and Rev. Henry T. Jones, of Bayonne, was chosen for the place. He remained in that position until April 30, 1899, when he resigned. A. E. Metler then took charge. In January, 1900, an application was made to the Trinity Reformed church, of this city, for adoption. February, 4, 1900, a committee, consisting of Horace J. Martin, F. E. Smith and A. L. Force, from the consistory of said church, visited the chapel and recommended its adoption. February 11th, of the CITY HALL SITE.

Councilmanic Committee Unable to Agree as a Whole to What to Recommend.

A meeting of the special committee of the Common Council on the City Hall question will be held in the Council chambers Wednesday evening. The committee seems just as far from an agreement concerning the best available site for the City Hall as ever so it is probable that a majority and a minority report will be made. The majority report will probably be in favor of the Park avenue site. An East Front street site, the Gardner property probably, will be the suggestion of the minority. The three members of the Council who are not members of the committee are understood to favor the latter site so it will be the minority report that is likely to be accepted by the entire Council.

OPEN TROLLEY CARS.

PLAINFIELD ROAD TO BE WELL EQUIPPED WITH THEM.

New and Large Cars Have Been Ordered for Use on the Various Lines.

According to Superintendent John Adelmann, the local trolley system and the Elizabeth-Plainfield line is to be well equipped for the summer traffic. This equipment is to be ready in May, he says, and the people of Plainfield will not have to wait at all. All of which is very pleasant news, if it only comes up to the expectations of Superintendent Adelmann.

The Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company has, he says, ordered enough double truck open cars to run for all the through traffic. They are to be thirty-four feet long, six and eight feet longer than the present cars and are to be of the most improved pattern.

A number of bodies for open cars have been purchased and they will be used with the trucks and motors of the second hand brown cars now in use. The present rolling stock of the Plainfield company is large enough to supply the city lines with cars that are in fairly good condition. The extra open cars with the trucks and motors of the "brown" cars will be used on the Rahway branch and on the Arlington avenue extension.

The new double track cars and the bodies for the others will be here, Superintendent Adelmann says, in May and the system will then be entirely equipped for summer traffic.

OLD POLITICIAN'S BIRTHDAY.

George W. Sayres Has Passed His Sixty-Seventh Milestone in Life.

Many of George W. Sayer's friends met at his home near Mt. Bethel Friday evening to celebrate his sixty-seventh birthday. The celebration of his birthday is one of the festival days in the calendar of Warren township, looked forward to and observed with delight by those who know him. For many years he was a political light in Newark, in the bitter fights and palmiest days of Mayors Long and Haynes. But the struggles of today are too quiet for so old a veteran who voted for Fremont.

George Washington Sayers lives on his farm near Mt. Bethel where his friends partook of his hospitality. Tables were loaded with good things to which everybody helped themselves. Letters of regret were read from United States Senator Sewell and State Senator Charles A. Reed who were unable to be present.

John K. Large's Mother Dead.

Mrs. John K. Large, Sr., died at the home of former Senator George H. Large at Flemington at 4 o'clock Friday morning after a brief illness. Among her sons are former Senator George H. Large, of Flemington; John K. Large, of Plainfield, and Stephen K. Large, of Whitehouse, internal revenue collector. She was eighty-two years of age. The funeral services were held at the house in Flemington this morning.

Mr. Squire Denies a Report.

Former Assemblyman George A. Squire told a reporter Saturday that there was absolutely nothing in the report published in several New York papers to the effect that he was to start a theatrical enterprise in New York to provide continuous vaudeville entertainment for the downtown people of that city. He denies all alleged interviews with him on the subject.

BUILDING GOOD ROADS.

THE WORK EXPLAINED TO SOMERSET FARMERS.

Address Delivered by E. G. Harrison, an Expert Employed by the Government.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 26—The quarterly meeting of the Somerset County Board of Agriculture was held at the Courthouse Saturday and was largely attended. E. G. Harrison, a special road agent and expert in the employ of the Government, delivered an interesting, instructive and practical address on "Road Improvement." He said New Jersey had 59,000 miles of roads and only about 1,200 miles of stone roads. Burlington county led with 100 miles of stone roads. Somerset had been rather slow in building stone roads. He then told the farmers how to improve their dirt roads, saying that they must underdrain them, putting tile drains about eight feet apart and using two where they could afford it. About every 400 feet run road drainage into ditches along road and keep ditches open. Then use road scraper, cleaning out ditches and carting away sod, weeds and loose stones. Then shape up road with good dirt and roll it, never putting on over three inches of dirt before rolling. The tighter you can pack the earth the harder and better road you will have.

Mr. Harrison talked for an hour and then was plied with questions for fifteen minutes by the farmers present, who elicited much valuable information.

Arthur F. Randolph, representative to the State Horticultural Society at Trenton, then read an interesting report of the sessions of that body held recently.

A vote of thanks was extended to both speakers.

Mr. Osborne, superintendent of the fertilizer department of the Somerset Chemical Company at Bound Brook, was introduced and spoke of the fertilizers manufactured by their company, exhibiting samples. He invited the farmers to call and inspect the works.

INSANE OVER CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

Woman Says Her Husband's Mind Was Affected by Mrs. Eddy's Book.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Montclair, March 26—It is believed that Charles Rawstrom, a carpenter, twenty-eight years old, has gone insane over Christian science. He has been missing from his home here since Monday. He left a letter to his wife saying that he was going to prepare himself for God's work, and asking her to bring up their children, with God's help, to be good persons. He added that God would provide for her wants, and asked her not to search for him, as the Lord had called him.

Mrs. Rawstrom says that her husband's mind was affected by studying "Science and Health, With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, president of the Massachusetts Metaphysical College.

NEWARK TO HAVE A SHOW.

Business Men Favor an Industrial Exposition in 1902.

The Newark Board of Trade at a largely attended meeting has decided that Newark should have an industrial exposition in 1902. The entire State will take part, and outsiders will be invited to send exhibits. Nearly all the representative business men of the city have expressed themselves as heartily in favor of the show.

President R. O. Jenkinson has been authorized to appoint a committee on scope and finance. This committee will call a meeting of Mayors and representatives of Boards of Trade throughout the State to co-operate.

Came From Colonial Stock.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 26.—Anna F. TenEyck, wife of Dr. S. C. Frontman, died Saturday from cancer of the stomach, after a lingering illness, during which she suffered intensely. Mrs. Frontman was a daughter of Richard and Jane TenEyck, of Millstone, and a grand daughter of Frederick and Anna TenEyck, who were among the first settlers of that place. Mrs. Frontman is a descendant from the old Dutch stock, first settlers of New York, and a lady of refinement and high moral Christian worth. Her husband was at one time a prominent physician in New York city, where he amassed considerable wealth. He is a large property owner in Somerville, where he has resided since relinquishing his practice in New York.

EPIDEMIC OF MEASLES.

Seventy-Five Cases Reported to be Prevalent Among Pupils in Borough Schools.

The work in the Borough Public Schools has been greatly hindered of late through a mild epidemic of measles among the scholars in the lower grades. There is reported to be about seventy-five cases of the disease among the children, and while none are in a serious condition the attack is of a sufficient severity to keep the children at home. Just how it started no one knows, but it spread very rapidly among the lower grades comprising the youngest children. There is no danger, however, of it spreading among the other children for all cases are now out of the school and those who have the disease are closely watched and cared for. The epidemic has caused no alarm among the members of the School Board or Board of Health, as it is in a very light form.

PRAISED THE AUDUBONS.

Rev. Henry VanDyke Says He Will Become a Vice-President of the New Jersey Society.

The New Jersey Audubon Society is in receipt of the following letter from Rev. Henry VanDyke, D. D, of Princeton, in reply to an invitation to attend their annual meeting:

"Your favor of the 28th was duly received and I beg you to pardon my delay in replying; I have been out of town.

A double engagement for next Thursday will prevent me from having the pleasure of attending your meeting.

"I shall be very glad indeed to have you use my name as a vice-president of your society. Our 'little brothers of the air' have done so much to enrich my life that I should be indeed an ungrateful man if I were not willing to do anything in my power for their protection.

"Cordially yours,
"Henry VanDyke."

WELLES A WINNER.

His Majority Increased From One to Seven by Recount of Westfield Votes.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, March 26.—The recount of the votes by the Union County Board of Elections in the case of the offices of Township Committeemen in Westfield has resulted in increasing the majority of Martin Welles, Republican, from one to seven over H. P. Sergeant, the Democratic candidate. On the recout it was shown that the vote for Welles was as follows: First district, 204; second district, 193; total, 297. Sergeant's vote was as follows: First district, 148; second district, 242; total, 390. The increase in the vote for Welles was made by several ballots being counted for Sergeant that should have been thrown out. The recount of the vote in the contested cases in Cranford will be held tomorrow.

DR. YERKES ON SHELDON

VENERABLE MINISTER DOES NOT THINK MUCH OF EXPERIMENT.

He Does Not Believe That if Christ was on Earth He Would Edit a Newspaper.

Yesterday morning at the First Baptist church the pastor, Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, delivered a very interesting sermon in which he referred to Rev. Mr. Sheldon and his recent work of editing a paper as Christ would if He were on earth. He characterized the incident as a passing one, soon to be forgotten, although it might accomplish the purpose for which it was intended. The speaker believed that anyone who followed in Christ's steps would do as He does. He also said that Christ would only do those things which are right. He was sure that He would not open a saloon, establish a gambling house, a race course, or take a job as a political boss. If He was in business He would deal honestly. He would not make a corner in the market and crowd out everyone else.

In reply to the question as "How would Christ edit a newspaper?' Dr. Yerkes said that he was not sure that Christ would conduct a newspaper if He was on earth. If He did the paper would contain nothing but truth, righteousness and morality, and it would be the best paper ever published whether the people bought it or not, and he doubted if they would patronize it. He contended that the people cannot tell whether Christ would reject this advertisement or that piece of news, because the minds of the people are too small to conceive it. He thought the attempt to conduct a paper as Christ would showed a lack of apprehension of the fitness of things, with all due respect to the motive of the person who was making the attempt.

"It would be presumptious for me to ask God when to sow seed or how to build a house, when He has given us judgment and capacity to judge for ourselves," said Dr. Yerkes. "The fact that Sheldon rejected or accepted certain advertisements was in accordance with his thought, and he believed that Christ would think the same. Christ wants our lives to be governed by Christian principle, and whether its a newspaper or any other kind of work it should be done according to Christian principle. We should imitate Christ by Christian principle, virtue, and do all in the name of Christ, giving thanks to Him, and then we will follow 'In His Steps.'"

COFFIN TOO BIG FOR STAIRS.

Wilcox's Body Had to be Taken Out Through a Window.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, March 26—The funeral of Augustus M. Wilcox, "the big man" of this city, took place Friday afternoon. The body was inclosed in a specially constructed coffin. It was of the usual length, six feet, but was twenty-seven inches wide and twenty inches deep.

The coffin could not be taken down the stairs from a front room on the second floor, so a sash was taken out of the front window and the coffin, hung in a sling, was lowed by straps to the sidewalk below, where the undertaker's assistants placed it in the hearse. The body was interred in the Episcopal cemetery at Piscataway-town.

HIGH WORDS.

They Attracted Patrolman Myers and He Arrested Scrappers, Who Were Fined $3 Each.

High words and shouting attracted Patrolman Myers to Liberty street Saturday night. He found James Saunderson and Michael Crowley clinching. They broke away when the policeman came. Myers says several blows were struck. Both men were locked up.

Both men were arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning. Crowley didn't remember much about it but was willing to abide by the officer's statement. Saunderson claimed that Crowley was responsible for all the trouble while Myers divided the blame. The Judge took the latter view and fined the men $3 each. Crowley and his friends paid both fines.

GOOD TIME FOR SHOPMEN

MACHINISTS ENTERTAINED AT Y. M. C. A. BUILDING.

They Were Guests of the Association Officers—Music Pleasant Feature of the Affair.

One of the pleasant events in the history of the local Y. M C. A. proved to be the reception and entertainment promised for the machinists Saturday evening. A large number of the employes of the shops of Plainfield were the guests of President Cahoone and the officers of the association. It was intended to make the ocassion a visit from the machinists alone, but there were other employes present who also enjoyed the affair hugely. The handsome rooms of the association were made the more inviting by log fires that had been lighted to give cheerfulness to the scene. The guests were received by a reception committee composed of some of the employes of the shops.

Previous to a highly interesting and clever musical entertainment, given in the large hall, consisting of vocal and whistling solos, recitations, etc., the young men were given an opportunity to inspect the building. In the "gym" there was given an exhibition of the physical work of the association under direction of Director C. E Heywood. This was thoroughly enjoyed. The entertainment in the large hall of course was the principal feature of the evening's pleasure. It was so thoroughly appreciated that the efforts of the ladies and gentlemen who were responsible for the merrymaking were liberally applauded. Before the entertainment began President Cahoone made a brief address. The committee in charge of the affair did not forget to provide for the wants of the inner man by serving an abundance of delicious coffee and cake of the finest make. The affair was such a pronounced success that it may be repeated.

CHARLES SEBRING ELECTED.

Tie Vote in North Plainfield Decided in His Favor.

A meeting of the North Plainfield Township Committee was held Saturday afternoon last when Charles P. Sebring was elected a third member of the Committee. It will be remembered that Mr. Sebring and Goldson each received the same number of votes at election, and it lay in the power of the two members elected to chose the third member. He could only be elected for one year, and at the end of that time a general election will be necessary according to law.

CHASING AGUINALDO IN THE PHILIPPINES

Dr. Simpson's Thrilling Experiences in the Army in the Mountains of Luzon.

NEAR DEATH MANY TIMES.

TALKING WITH A MAN WHOSE HEAD WAS SHOT OFF.

Was Critically Ill and Fell Unconscious by the Wayside—Now in Best of Health and Expects to Rejoin His Command.

Advices have just been received here from Dr. M. S. Simpson, formerly of Plainfield, who, during the Spanish War, was the surgeon of the New Jersey Naval Reserves, Battalion of the East, but who is now an army surgeon in the Philippine Islands, stating that he is now the surgeon in charge of the famous "Macabebee Scouts," and is hot on the trail of Aguinaldo, the President of the Insurgent Government. Dr. Simpson writes that the "Scouts" have had some very thrilling experiences in chasing the Filipino leader, and several times have been so close to him in the mountains of northern Luzon that they almost captured him. Continuing the doctor writes:

"We had some very severe fights. My dear friend, Lieut. Boutelle, was killed by my side in one fight after he had killed two of the enemy and captured a captain and a lieutenant. We lost several men—one having his head shot off while I was talking with him. Our commander, Lieut. Batson, was shot in another fight and while I was dressing his wound I was nearly hit. General Young has given me honorable mention for dressing wounds in the midst of the hottest fighting.

"Following this, I fell, but I had to go on and in the next fight I was in a high fever. I had to swim my horse back and forth across the river to get the wounded away, and the next day followed over the mountain with the sick till 1 o'clock in the morning, when I again had to swim a river. I lay ill in the grass all night. The next day we came to the sea coast and here at San Ferando I was so ill that I fell from my horse unconscious and was not missed till later an officer found me and removed me to the house of the Spanish Governor of the Province when a spanish surgeon took care of me. I was reported dead at Manila. As soon as I learned this I proceeded to prove this was not so by reporting for duty. I went to Mannapacan, Province de la Union, and established a camp hospital and am now well and hearty. I expect soon to advance with all the soldiers under my care and join the command again."

The appointment of Fred H. Parselles as postmaster at Deal Beach has also been recommended by Mr. Howell. He was notified recently that the present incumbent must be removed.

A HALT IN THE WAR.

Four British Officers Cut Off by the Boers.

MAFEKING'S RELIEF STILL DELAYED.

At Latest Reports the Town Was Being Heavily Shelled and Food Was Scarce—British Loss Reaches 16,418.

LONDON, March 26.—Except for the "unfortunate occurrence," as Lord Roberts calls it, which resulted in the killing of Lieutenant Lygon and the wounding and capture of Lieutenant Colonel Crabbe, Lieutenant Colonel Codrington and Captain Trotter, the campaign presents no new features. The mishap to the guards' officers is a testimony to their bravery, but not to their discretion. They met a party of five Boers, whom they tried to capture. The Boers took refuge on a kopje where three of their comrades were hidden, and within five minutes every member of the British party was hit.

Apparently little progress is being made toward the relief of Mafeking. A private telegram from a lieutenant at Kimberley, dated March 21, announces that he was on the point of starting for Mafeking, presumably with the relief column.

General Sir Forestier-Walker and Prince Alexander of Teck have left Cape Town for Bloemfontein. It is reported from Ladysmith that Van Reenen's pass bristles with guns.

The Times has the following from Rouxville, dated Saturday:

"Commandant Olivier, with a strong force and 15 guns, is moving north to Ladybrand.

"A large Boer convoy has been seen from Basutoland proceeding toward Clocolan. General French may intercept it."

A dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from Kimberley, dated Sunday, March 25, says:

"Prisoners brought in here report that a force of British cavalry has entered the Transvaal and penetrated to a point 18 miles north of Christiana. The British forces at Fourteen Streams are being strengthened. A movement northward is expected soon."

A Bloemfontein correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, in a dispatch dated Friday, March 23, says:

"The late allies are now bitter foes. So strong is the popular feeling here that, were it desirable, a large body of Free Staters would take the field and fight immediately against the Transvaalers."

The Daily Mail publishes the following from Mafeking, dated Wednesday, March 14:

"We are still being heavily shelled. There have been several casualties. Skirmishing continues in the trenches. The native food question is becoming a difficulty. The Boers have broken the arrangement to respect the Sabbath by not firing and have seized the opportunity to extend their trenches."

The war office has received the following dispatch from Lord Roberts:

"A telegram from Nicholson at Bulawayo states that Baden-Powell reports: 'All well to March 13. During past few days enemy's cordon much relaxed.'"

The total British losses, exclusive of the invalids sent home, are 16,418 in killed, wounded and missing.

A dispatch from Barkly West, dated March 24, says:

"Griquatown was reoccupied Thursday by 400 Boers. A column left Kimberley yesterday to drive them out.

"It is reported that all the loyalists there, including the women, have been imprisoned."

Mr. Winston Churchill in a dispatch to The Morning Post says:

"It is imperative to continue shipping troops to South Africa. The stream should never cease until the Boers surrender unconditionally. At the end of the war Great Britain will possess the finest army in her history. This, however, must not lure the nation from the fertile fields of trade and commerce into the stony wastes of militarism."

Clements Enters Philippolis.

PHILIPPOLIS via Norval's Pont, March 26.—General Clements entered Philippolis at noon Friday. He assembled the burghers, addressed them and read Lord Roberts' proclamation in Dutch and English. The future of the Free State, he declared, would have to be decided by her majesty's advisers, but the burghers might be certain that the late government at Bloemfontein would never be restored. He advised all the inhabitants to accept the inevitable and to obey all the orders of the military and other authorities duly appointed, intimating that the landdrost and sheriffs had been reappointed under the queen. The burghers began taking the oath of allegiance and surrendering their arms.

The Fate of Four Officers.

BLOEMFONTEIN, March 26.—The Boers who killed Lieutenant the Hon. E. Lygon of the Grenadier guards and wounded Lieutenant Colonel Crabbe, Lieutenant Colonel Codrington and Captain Trotter of the Coldstream guards, who had ridden eight or nine miles beyond their camp on the Modder river without escort except one trooper, were members of the Johannesburg mounted police. After dressing the wounded they sent them to the British camp in an ambulance.

Across the Continent on Foot.

OMAHA, March 26.—Philip Miller and his wife have arrived here, having made the entire distance of 1,400 miles on foot from Stroudsburg, Pa., pushing a baby carriage containing their infant child before them. They inquired their way from station to station, obtained their food by working for people along their path and slept in section houses. Father, mother and babe are in excellent health.

Bicycling on the Yukon.

TACOMA, March 26.—The mighty Yukon river has been converted into a winter bicycle path. The most wonderful trip of the arctic cycling season was made in February by Morris Levy between Dawson and Circle City. The distance between the two points is 365 miles. Levy made it in 3 days and 4 hours, or at a gait of better than 100 miles a day.

A Fortune In a Faro Game.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., March 26.—In an hour and ten minutes last night Matt Hogan of Chicago won $37,500 from Dan Stuart, former prizefight promoter, now promoter of the Southern club. The game was faro. Hogan bought $2,000 worth of chips and agreed to keep them in action during the deal.

RAPID TRANSIT SURE.

Ground Broken For New York City's Great Subway.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Ground was broken for the $35,000,000 rapid transit tunnel Saturday afternoon, and that important event in the city's history was celebrated with appropriate ceremonies in City Hall park. There were in attendance as many thousands of persons as could squeeze themselves within that part of the park which is south of the city hall and more than could find standing room on the steps of the city hall or places at the windows, but it is safe to say that not more than a few scores of persons heard the speechmaking and saw what was going on. The crush both within and without the city hall began long before 1 o'clock, the hour set for the opening of the ceremonies, and at one time it looked as if the mass of people would break through the police lines and invade even the inner space that was reserved for the official celebrants of the occasion.

At the conclusion of the speechmaking Mr. Belmont handed the silver spade to Mayor Van Wyck. The mayor took off his silk hat, placed it beside the hole in the ground, sprang in and, sending the spade deep into the earth, took up a big spadeful and dumped it into his hat. Those sightseers who crowded the windows of the city hall and overflowed even upon the cornices were first to recognize that earth had actually been broken, and they started the handclapping, which extended to the big crowd. The mayor picked up the hatful of earth and handed the spade to Councilman Wise.

President Orr took out the second spadeful of earth. Vice President John H. Starin was next, and he was followed by August Belmont and John B. McDonald. Then in turn the silver spade was wielded by Commissioners Rives, Langdon and Jesup and Comptroller Coler.

Although this ended the set ceremonies, the crowds both inside and outside the hall lingered for hours. As soon as the official party had left workmen took their places and filled the hole with cement preparatory to placing in position the commemorative bronze slab which is hereafter to mark the spot. It was about 3 o'clock when the slab was finally set.

OTIS AND THE PRESS.

Spanish Organ Suppressed—Filipinos Make Night Attacks.

MANILA, March 26.—La Patria and El Liberal, Spanish organs of the extreme Filipino party, have recently been publishing articles inimical to the military government. General Otis has suppressed the former journal for sedition and imprisoned the editor, at the same time issuing a warning to the members of the extreme party that they should observe greater moderation.

Senor Paterno, at one time president of the so called Filipino cabinet, having received permission from the authorities to come to Manila, is expected to present himself this week at San Fernando, province of Union.

The rebels in General Young's district are becoming aggressive. The American battalion garrisoning the town of Namacapachan was attacked on four consecutive nights recently. Re-enforcements are now arriving there.

General Young purposes to pursue the rebels aggressively before the rainy season sets in.

Coal Miners Get an Advance.

PHILADELPHIA, March 26.—In accordance with their notice posted shortly after Jan. 1 promising an advance to their employees to take effect April 1, the Berwind-White Coal Mining company yesterday notified all its miners of a general average advance of 20 per cent. The miners are now placed upon a basis of 60 cents per gross ton and all day labor increased accordingly. This advance will make the wages paid the highest paid during the past 30 years and in some instances the highest that have ever existed by nearly 7 per cent. The Berwind-White company have made their advances voluntarily, starting with the upper tendencies of the market in January, 1899. Since that time and including this advance they have advanced the general mining rate 33 1-3 per cent and the machine mining rate 50 per cent. The company has over 10,000 employees.

Stranded Colonists Arrive.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Among the passengers who arrived per steamer Olinda from Cuban ports and Fortune island were 30 stranded colonists from La Gloria and 25 shipwrecked seamen. Twenty of the latter are from the Norwegian steamer Framnes, which was swept ashore by currents on Hogely reef, in the Bahamas, on the night of March 2 and became a total loss. The crew landed on the reef with provisions, and the chief officer and four seamen put off in a boat to go to Inagua for assistance. They were picked up by the Steamer Admiral Schley and landed at Fortune island.

Yaquis In a Trap.

SONORA, Mexico, March 26.—General Torres' force of Mexican troops has a large body of Yaqui Indians surrounded north of Torin, and the early surrender or complete annihilation of the rebels is considered certain to take place. The Indians were neatly caught in a trap and have no means of escaping except to cut their way through the ranks of the government troops. This body of Yaquis is said to number fully 800 braves.

Good News For Cotton Workers.

CHARLESTON, March 26.—The York Cotton mills of Yorkville, this state, have announced that they would on next pay day chip 3 per cent from the annual dividend and add it to the wages of operatives. The wages of some of the employees had recently been increased 33 per cent. These were not included in the increase.

A New Cunarder.

LIVERPOOL, March 26.—The trials of the new Cunard steamer Ivernia, built for the Liverpool-Boston service, which were made Saturday, proved every way satisfactory. The Ivernia will sail for New York on April 14.

in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. ESTIMATE OF STEYN.

Orange President Viewed Through Pro-British Spectacles.

Educated in Holland and England and a Lawyer of Some Note—Not So Self-Poised or Resourceful as Oom Paul.

Marthinius Theunis Steyn, president of the Orange Free State, who finds his forces, under the Transvaal leader Cronje, now largely captives in the hands of the British, and his capital and the very existence of his republic threatened, if not practically wiped out, has not appeared to the best advantage in the history of Boer independence in South Africa.

Steyn has had liberal contact with the English. He was educated in Holland and the law schools of London, and has not remained uninfluenced by this association. As a statesman of the Orange republic, says the Chicago Times-Herald, he has been not unwilling to grant such reforms in the way of the franchise as have been asked by the outlanders. His liberality was in large measure caused by the lack of that egotistic motive in the Free State which has dominated President Kruger in the Transvaal. The outlanders had not so much to gain in the one republic as in the other.

Although President Steyn has far more culture than President Kruger he is by no means so self-poised and so mentally resourceful as his neighbor to the north. Friendly to the British before the war, he proved a very pliable instrument in the hands of the strong Oom Paul when that illustrious Boer saw fit to use him. In this levity of character and vacillation of purpose President Steyn has found the way to lose the independence of his state and to bring ruin upon himself.

Steyn is a thorough Boer by breed if not by education. His father was a wagon-maker and a farmer. His mother was a daughter of the well-known Boer leader Wessels, who learned his early lessons of heroism and self-conquest in the "Great Trek" just after Queen Victoria came to her throne. On both sides the Free State president was bred out of the patriarchal, sheep-raising, English-hating, Dutch Afrikander stock. It is doubtful if his father was as patriotic as his mother, who used to say to her boys: "You are free men; see to it that you remain free."

MARTHINIUS T. STEYN.
(President of the Orange Free State.)

The future president was reared on a farm and labored in the open air—an occupation which gave him the powerful and healthy physique he now enjoys. While attending the academy at Bloemfontein he was a good football player, expert with his fists, a capital rider and a fine marksman. At 11 he was a young giant, and when he had reached his full maturity he was six feet high and able-bodied in proportion. At 19 he was sent to study law in Europe, and remained abroad for six years, the major part of which was spent in London.

Soon after his return to Bloemfontein Mr. Steyn was made chief justice of the Orange Free State and drew to himself the attention and friendship of President Kruger. In 1896 he ran for president, and his campaign was aided by his powerful friend of the Transvaal. In his public utterances he has always stood for Boer independence. His wife is the daughter of an English clergyman. Mr. Steyn is 43 years old.

Another Story About Funston.

Stories about Brig. Gen. Funston are still in order. Just before the battle of Caloocan he was in bad shape, having had no sleep for two days. He therefore rolled himself in some leaves and went to sleep. Meanwhile the division received orders to advance, but Funston could not be found. Many scouts had been killed, and it was feared that the colonel's curiosity—for he was a colonel then—had led him into trouble. Presently, however, a glimpse was caught of his head, and later they found him shrouded in leaves. As this is the way bodies are prepared for burial in that part of the world, the finders got more apprehensive with each step, until, at length, some one shouted: "Colonel, are you dead or alive?" "Neither," grunted the colonel, as he rolled over for another nap; "I'm sleeping."

PROBLEMS IN CUBA.

Taxation of Valuable Properties Urged.

WORK OF ELECTORAL COMMISSION.

Plans For the Coming Election Aim to Give Fair Play to All—Cubans, Accustomed to Central Government, Yet Need a Head.

HAVANA, March 26.—Governor General Wood has recently had interviews with persons of influence who have strenuously urged the taxation of valuable properties rather than each bag of sugar as it is manufactured. Those who hold this view contend that under the present system impediments are thrown in the way of production. They point out that many valuable estates have been lying idle and unproductive for years, some even having complete sugar plants. The owners, who are rich men, are living in Paris, Madrid and other European cities, quite untaxed for their property in Cuba. General Wood feels that if these properties are taxed their owners will be forced either to sell them or to make them productive.

Senor Pierra, a member of the subcommittee which drew up the majority report on the electoral commission, discussing the matter, said:

"In our report we have endeavored to arrange for the elections in such a way as to secure fair play for all concerned. The plan proposed by the minority drawn up by Senor Tamayo and General Rivera, which suggests that the board of registry be elected by suffrage, has the drawback of leaving too much power in the hands of the civil governors. Under the minority scheme the civil governors would nominate election officers in the various provincial districts. These officers, being charged with the conduct of the elections, would choose the electoral boards of three. In this way the civil governors would have too much individual influence in conducting the elections, as all the officers controlling them would be their nominees."

With regard to the representation of minorities Senor Pierra said:

"Although no political parties have been formed, there are two well marked political tendencies, the Radical and the Conservative. Moreover, local interests will play a prominent part in the elections. For instance, in Havana the principal issue will lie between the workingmen and the landholders. The former are a majority. Nevertheless the committee has arranged so that the landholders will not be left unrepresented. The votes are to be taken according to the ten existing sections into which Havana is now divided.

"Personally I feel that the municipalities should not have unlimited autonomy at once, but only in the course of time. At first there should be a strong central control. There is a great difference between Cuba and the United States. Cubans have been accustomed to look to the central government for all initiative and also for the support of new enterprises. It would be impossible to change all that in one day."

The meeting called yesterday of those favoring universal suffrage resulted in failure. The only persons present were about 50 negroes and several small boys.

Korean Minister Transferred.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Mr. Chin Pom Ye, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of Korea to this government, will sail from New York next Saturday for Paris to begin his new duties abroad. He has been transferred to Paris, Vienna and St. Petersburg, at which capitals he will represent his government in the future. He will call on the president early this week to take final leave and to present Mr. Tam E. Ye, secretary of the legation, as charge d'affaires for Korea in the interim between the minister's departure and the arrival of a successor, not yet definitely known. Mr. Ye has been here since October, 1896, and was the first Korean delegate to a universal peace congress, executing a treaty by which since last January Korean stamps are recognized for transmission of mail throughout the world for the first time in their history. Accredited to three European governments, he will divide his time between the capitals.

The Delagoa Bay Arbitration.

BERN, Switzerland, March 26.—The Delagoa Bay arbitration judgment, which had been announced for today, has been postponed for a few days. This is not because the amount of the indemnity has not been fixed, but because of difficulties which arose at the moment of signing the award with respect to the distribution of the indemnity among the different groups of claimants. The amount of the indemnity has been settled, and the question of division is one of secondary importance, which will speedily be settled. It is thought almost certain that the court of arbitration will finally leave the decision to the parties themselves.

Germany's Coal Famine Continues.

BERLIN, March 26.—The coal famine continues very acute. The factories have lost millions of marks, and many are now operating on short time or without profit. Numerous chambers of commerce have discussed the situation. The Solingen chamber declares that a continuance of the famine will mean the complete shutting down of many factories and the discharge of thousands of workingmen. The Barmen chamber has addressed a communication to the coal syndicate threatening to ask the government to prohibit coal exports.

A Large Catch of Seals.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 26.—The sealing steamer Leopard, which took shelter at Wesleyville in consequence of the storm, is due here today, and other successful steamers are also expected. Judging from reports thus far received, the total number of seals actually taken by the fleet is about 296,000, and the prospect is that as four weeks of the fishing season have yet to run this total will be increased by some 60,000. As the entire catch last year was only 247,000, this year's figures promise to be the best within 20 years.

Large Department Store Burned.

KNOXVILLE, Ia., March 26.—Culver & Co.'s department store was burned yesterday. The loss is $85,000; insurance, $26,000. The fire is supposed to have been caused by crossed electric wires.

Americans Win at Chess.

A PECULIAR SESSION

Little Political Legislation at Albany This Year.

TAX REVISION A COMPLETE FAILURE

The Mortgage Tax Bill, the Result of the Governor's Urgings, Fails, and Educational Unification Is Also In Danger.

ALBANY, March 26.—But two weeks more of the legislative session of 1899-1900 remain, and the situation is one of the most remarkable of a remarkable session. Not in many years has a session closed with so little legislation of a political character attempted as during this winter. Although the calendars of both houses are still crowded with bills awaiting passage but three or four measures are among them either of a partisan character or of great public interest. A great majority of them are local measures desired only by localities affected and which will occasion little dispute in either house.

One of the most remarkable incidents of this session is the failure of any remedial tax legislation. In his first annual message Governor Roosevelt devoted much time to a discussion of the necessity for a revision of the tax laws, and upon his recommendation he was authorized to appoint a special commission to investigate the subject during the recess and to recommend proper legislation for enactment this winter. The result of that commission's investigations was the mortgage tax bill which has been pending throughout the whole session and is now to perish among the great mass of legislation proposed, but unenacted.

Another measure for which a special commission was appointed to prepare legislation was the unification of the public school system. Innumerable hearings have been had upon this question, but the matter still remains in abeyance. So conflicting are the various interests involved that there seems little prospect of definite action within the remaining two weeks.

Of the other measures of great importance and possibly the one of greatest political significance the question of New York's water supply and the nullification of the Ramapo charter has occupied a great deal of attention, and out of it the only legislation probable is the passage of the Fallows bill, which neither grants to New York city power to extend its water system nor to nullify the Ramapo charter except to the extent that the appellate division of the supreme court may review any contract made by the city officials.

A measure that is now probably of the greatest interest to all the citizens of the state will come up for consideration in the senate. This is the bill to place the state fair under the control of the state commissioner of agriculture, the proposition having been indorsed by the state agricultural society, the state association of county fair societies, the state grange and other agricultural societies of the state and earnestly urged by Lieutenant Governor Woodruff. The bill has passed the assembly and now comes up for consideration in the senate. It is now proposed to amend the bill to place the fair under a state commission to be composed of 11 members appointed by the governor, with the commissioner of agriculture and the lieutenant governor acting ex officio. This proposition is approved by Senator White and doubtless indorsed by the people of Syracuse, where the fair is located. Other interests, however, will vigorously oppose this proposition, and a lengthy argument may be expected upon it.

Another bill which will occasion a fight in the senate is the Horton law repeal bill, which was permitted to pass to the order of final reading without opposition with the understanding that the fight will be made upon the order of its third reading. The bill is now upon the calendar and may be reached at any time.

Florida's Health Movement.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The marine hospital officials are confident there need be no serious trouble growing out of the decision of the Florida state board of health to maintain an independent system of inspection and quarantine of vessels arriving from Cuba or other ports to prevent the introduction of yellow fever. The states have the right to impose such additional precautions as they may deem fit and proper to those prescribed by the national government to prevent the introduction of diseases, and this, it is presumed, will be the course adopted by the state of Florida if the decision of the board of health is carried out. The disinfection and inspection of the marine hospital service, it is said, is complete and thorough, and the officials assert there is no basis for the allegation that the yellow fever epidemic of last summer was due to its negligence.

Cotton's Remains to Be Dissected.

NORFOLK, March 26.—The body of Walter Cotton, the murderer who was lynched at Emporia, Va., Saturday, arrived here late Sunday afternoon in the custody of Sheriff Smith of Norfolk county. Hundreds of people viewed the body the first few hours after its arrival. Today it was taken to Richmond for dissection. O'Grady, the white tramp who was lynched with Cotton, was responsible for the negro's escape from jail while under sentence of death three months ago. Sheriff Smith identified his body as that of the man who was imprisoned here at the same time Cotton was.

Aid Thankfully Received.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The secretary of state is informed by the viceroy of India with reference to offers of aid to the sufferers from the famine in India which have generously been communicated to him by charitably disposed persons in this country that, while the Indian government is devoting its energies to fulfilling its duty to save 5,000,000 souls from starvation, contributions from any American friends of India will be thankfully received and will be devoted to the material relief of the suffering.

Revolutionists on the Offensive.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, March 26.—Mail advices received from Colombia report that the revolutionists have been pressing the government forces and that a large number of political prisoners taken last week from Panama have been banished to San Andrea.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The following fourth class postmasters have been appointed: Connecticut—Stanwich, William E. Close. New York—Willwood, Eben Orser. Pennsylvania—Shelly, Emma B. Roberts.

SCHOOL BUILDING BURNED.

Well Known Clinton Liberal Institute at Fort Plain, N. Y., Destroyed.

FORT PLAIN, N. Y., March 26.—The most disastrous fire that has occurred in this section of the Mohawk valley in years yesterday afternoon destroyed Clinton Liberal institute, a college preparatory school and military academy. The fire, which began about 4 o'clock, broke out in the building while it was being fumigated and disinfected, which is usually done about this time of the year. The building was comparatively empty, as all of the students and most of the faculty left yesterday for their homes to spend the regular Easter vacation.

The institute was situated in a high portion of the town, and the flames started in a portion of the building which the wind struck first. The fire department made an effort to extinguish the fire, but it had got too good a start. In less than a half hour the entire five story building was a mass of flames.

In two hours everything that the flames could reach had been burned, and a great mass of smoldering, smoking debris marked the site of the institution.

Clinton Liberal institute was owned by the Universalists of the state of New York and was conducted under their supervision. The principal is Dr. William Cary Joslin and the detailed United States military commandant Colonel Edward H. Barber. The building was a five story structure, 100 feet wide and 216 feet deep. In 1879 the institute removed from Clinton, this state, to Fort Plain and years ago was transformed into a military academy.

It very probably will be rebuilt at once, as the armory was saved and the endowment fund for the maintenance of the school aggregates $80,000.

The loss is estimated at between $90,000 and $100,000 and the insurance about $90,000. Owing to the absence of the faculty and students their personal losses will be heavy, as most of their effects were left in the building when they left for their vacations.

LABOR STATISTICS.

The Percentage of Unemployed Increases—Building Prospects.

ALBANY, March 26.—The quarterly bulletin of the state bureau of labor statistics says:

"The review of the report of labor organizations in New York state for the quarter that ended on Dec. 31 discloses a larger number of unemployed than in the previous quarters of 1899, but smaller than at the corresponding period of 1897 and 1898. The percentage of union members unemployed at the end of December was 22.6 in 1897, 27.2 in 1898 and 19.6 in 1899. Earnings were also generally larger in this period in 1899 than in the previous years.

"The indications are that the building operations in New York city in 1900 will be very bright. In Buffalo and Rochester the building statistics for the quarter indicate a dimunition in the scale of building operations. Syracuse, on the other hand, expects to embark on more extensive operations than in 1898. Although the number of buildings for which permits were issued fell off, their estimated cost increased very considerably.

"The tide of immigration to the United States continues to rise, and in the last quarter of 1899 the number of arrivals at the port of New York was 74,892, which is 23,012 more than in the corresponding quarter of 1898."

Died on Reaching Detroit.

DETROIT, March 26.—Charles H. Preston of Detroit, who attempted suicide in Vicksburg, Miss., where he was manager of the Diamond Match company's plant, March 14, died here yesterday one hour after his arrival from the south. Mr. Preston was recovering from the shock of the shooting and came here to be treated by a specialist in the hope of saving the sight of one of his eyes through which the bullet went. He began to sink shortly before the train arrived and died one hour after arriving at Harper hospital.

Body Under Engine.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., March 26.—When Engineer Fosdick of the Erie railroad stopped at Greycourt yesterday he discovered the lower half of a human body wedged under the engine. The head and remaining portions were found scattered along the track for a distance of five miles. The man was identified as John Donohue of Farmingdale, who had been walking on the track.

NEW YORK PRISONS.

Interesting Facts Regarding the Secret Changes in System.

ALBANY, March 26.—Secretary of State John T. McDonough, who was the father in the constitutional convention of 1894 of the amendment to the state constitution which prohibits the contract labor system in the state prisons or the sale in the open market of the products of prison industries, has prepared an interesting paper on the decrease in the population of the state prisons. He says:

"Since 1895 there has been a falling off in penitentiary prisoners of 2,387. The falling off in the state prisons since 1895 is 347, making a total of 2,734. In the penitentiary of New York county, in which the contract system had no existence, there has been no decrease of prisoners.

"Before the new prison system went into effect it was claimed by prison officials and prison reformers that it would not furnish work enough for the prisoners and that on that account insanity among them would increase to a frightful extent.

"The new system has now been in effect long enough to fairly test this question. The result is in favor of the present system, showing only 45 cases in the three prisons last year. In 1895 the number was 54; in 1896, 48; in 1897, 54; in 1898, 51.

"While the sales of the three state prisons in 1898 amounted to $494,720.15, in 1899 they fell off to the sum of $394,501.61 owing to the completion of other penal institutions and the insane asylums."

Secretary McDonough objects to the use of so much machinery in the prisons and recommends that the amount be lessened. In Pennsylvania all machinery except such as is operated by hand is prohibited in the prisons, and he adds:

"If this plan were adopted in the prisons of this state, there would be no question about keeping all the prisoners employed in useful occupations. Of the 3,161 prisoners in the three state prisons 1,752, or more than half of them, are under 30 years of age. These young men are not all utterly bad, and earnest and persistent efforts should be made to make good citizens of them. If the parole system tends to their betterment, it ought to be adopted."

THE KENTUCKY TROUBLES.

Reports of Mines Around the Capitol Denied—Golden's Testimony.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 26.—The Republican adjutant general, Collier, denies that mines are being laid around the arsenal and capitol grounds, and in an explanatory letter to the Democratic assistant adjutant general, Murray, Collier said that some indiscreet men at the arsenal had dug trenches and made a pretense of laying mines to create a sensation, but the work was entirely without the sanction or knowledge of General Collier, and the men engaged have been sharply reprimanded.

The examining trial of the Republican secretary of state, Caleb Powers, was resumed this morning. Sergeant F. Wharton Golden, who, it is alleged, turned state's evidence, continued on the witness stand for cross examination, his direct testimony having been completed Saturday. When his examination is completed, Mrs. Golden, his wife, will be examined as a witness also for the prosecution, and it is reported that she will corroborate her husband's testimony on many important points. The physicians who made the autopsy on the body of the late Governor Goebel will also probably be introduced as witnesses.

"John Powers told me they had two niggers here to kill Goebel. They were Herker Smith and Nick Coombs."

This statement was made by F. Wharton Golden, a frail, consumptive looking Kentucky mountaineer, while on the witness stand in the preliminary examination of Secretary of State Caleb Powers, charged with conspiracy to kill Goebel. Golden told a story of the events leading up to the murder that, if substantiated, will, in the minds of those connected with the prosecution at least, probably go far toward proving the contentions of the commonwealth that the murder was the result of a plan in which several prominent men were involved. Whether the defense will seek to impeach Golden's testimony in the preliminary examination is not known, as the attorneys for the defense will not talk on the subject, but unless such attempt is made the commonwealth will rest its case, both County Attorney Polsgrove and Attorney Campbell being satisfied that enough evidence has been presented to hold the de-

The City Hall Site.

For all practical purposes of arriving at a decision as to where the proposed City Hall building shall be located, the available sites have been narrowed down to two—the Gardner property on East Front street and the property at the corner of Park avenue and East Fifth street. It is accepted as a fact that the Council will decide on either one of these places for the City Hall.

Taking all things into consideration—the central location to the business and professional men of the city; the fact that in time the city and borough will be consolidated, and the City Hall should be located with that end in view, so as to make it as adjacent to present borough lines as possible; the diffence of $5,000 in the prices of property in favor of the Gardner property, and many other details that it is not necessary to rehearse—it would seem as though the East Front street site should be chosen by the Council.

A City Hall will be built to serve Plainfield—and in time the Greater Plainfield—for years and years, and it would be a grievious wrong for the Council to select the site for the structure without taking in every consideration that in the future will determine its accommodation, convenience and service to not only the municipal government itself, but to the pepole who have constant dealings with it.

Saturday last was "rapid transit day" in New York. "On to Harlem in Fifteen Minutes" is the cry. Shall means of transit to New Jersey stand still? Let Our slogan and effort be: "On to the Jersey Shore in Two Minutes." This is entirely possible with the completion of the North river tunnel. Thence with diverging railways over the beautiful hills and valleys of New Jersey we would be placed in a position to defy competition in the offering of beautiful home sites to the tired citizens of the great metropolis. Rapid transit and very much lower fares will be needed if New Jersey is to hold her own against the great movement now started in New York. It is worse than folly to delay this step until the tide has set in against us. Rapid and frequent trains and lower fares will multiply the receipts of railroads and bring thrift and wealth to all within a radius of twenty-five miles of New York. Let the slogan be, "On to the Jersey Shore in Two Minutes."

An agitation has started among the department stores of Philadelphia for the issue by the government of a new coin of the denomination of a half-cent. A petition in favor of it has been numerously signed in Philadelphia, and an effort is being made to arouse interest in other cities. The merchants claim that in these days of keen competition, when large sales and small profits are the rule, some such plan is necessary. Several individual firms in Chicago have issued their own half-cent pieces, which, of course, are only redeemable in their own establishments. The use of a half-cent coin might be of advantage in a small way to the small purchaser, who now has to surrender the half-cent when he buys one article which sells two for a quarter, two for fifteen cents, and so on.

A pack of playing cards has been patented in the west in which the faces on the face cards are portraits of Dewey, Miles and other navy and army officers. The queens are Columbias.—Philadelphia Times.

What's the matter with the classic face of our esteemed friend, Mr. Bunion, being used for the "little joker." He is the funniest thing we know of, and it is hard to tell which side he will turn up on.

The Philadelphia Record sarcastically asks if Congress has power to levy duties on Puerto Rico's exports in trade with the mainland, how comes it that some Protectionist Oxnard did not long ago persuade the House ways and means committee to bring in a bill to impose duties on the products of Arizona or New Mexico? New Mexico is engaged in a lively competition with the Ohio shepherds in the production of wool.

Let the Common Council respect itself and honor the people of this city by summarily declining to grant a wholesale liquor license simply because the applicant is backed by a coterie of politicians whose interests will be served by favorable action.

There were 548 bills introduced in the Legislature at the late session, and of these less than 200 were passed.

The earth cannot talk, but that won't prevent its being full of garden "sass" very soon.

With Carnegie and Frick it assuredly seems to be a case of money talks.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

After fourteen successive years of oration and peroration, the stentorian voice of ex-Assemblyman J. Martin Roll will cease for a time to be heard in the Union County Board of Freeholders. For the first time in twenty-two years the Democrats of Mr. Roll's township have elected a Chosen Freeholder. The cause of this change politically is said to be the belief that Mr. Roll had been spending too much time in Trenton recently.—New York Tribune.

Our English Cousins

Are peculiar in many ways.

They like to drink water without ice.

They would rather walk upstairs than take an elevator.

They use ordinary portable bath tubs in place of stationary porcelain or metal ones such as we have.

What seems to us the funniest thing of all is that they absolutely prefer chicory in their coffee.

It is easy enough for any one to get adulterated coffee in this country. But the good housewife watches carefully that she is not thus imposed upon.

Those who have learned by experience and wish to be absolutely sure that they are getting pure coffee and the best coffee, without a grain of adulteration, ask for and insist upon having Chase & Sanborn's Coffees.

There is none better on the market. Every bean has been carefully selected from plantations, famous for their coffee crops.

The fact that these coffees bear the seal of Chase & Sanborn is in itself a sufficient guarantee that they are full weight and in every way perfect.

Seal Brand Coffee comes in one and two-pound tin cans, and their other high grades in richly colored parchment-lined imported bags.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, March 26.—Mrs. John Nelson, the venerable mother of Dr. Wm. Nelson, died at her home below New Market Saturday morning. Mrs. Nelson was past 70 years of age and until recently enjoyed fairly good health. She is survived by a husband and four children—Frank O Nelson, Mrs. Charles VanHise, Dr. Nelson and Miss Phoebe Nelson.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. church will hold a social at the lecture room of the church next Thursday evening. The Epworth League will have a table where articles left from the recent fair will be placed on sale. The big quilt will also be on exhibition. Admission, one dime. Light refreshments will be served.

There was a large attendance yesterday afternoon at the funeral of the late Edson Warner, held from the family residence in New Market. Rev. Martin Sindall, pastor of the Seventh Day Baptist church, officiated. The interment was at Hillside cemetery.

A trophy from the wrecked warship, Infanto Marie, in the shape of a Spanish silver peseta, is in the possession of Stanley Day.

George W. Richardson has rented the house recently occupied by John Lloyd at Lincoln and Dunellen avenues.

Mrs. Marshall Pettenger, who has been spending a few days with Postmaster Dealaman, has returned home.

Many of the sidewalks on the Bound Brook road need curbing. They are in a dilapidated condition.

William Gaddis, of New York, has bought of N. C Sears the house and lot on Grove street.

A. W. Randolph is to occupy the house he recently bought of Mrs. Gussie Johnson.

Mahlon Mulford has moved his family from New Market to this borough.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, March 26.—The gypsy encampment on Mountain avenue was thronged with visitors Sunday afternoon, the pleasant weather bringing people from the surrounding towns. The women members of the tribe were kept busy telling the fortunes of those who were willing to part with their 50 cents for a peep into the future.

No meeting of the Baptist Young People's Association was held last evening, the time being devoted to a song and praise service led by Dr. Parks. This was merged into the evening revival meeting in charge of Rev. W. E. Needham. Mr. Needham was greeted by a large and interested audience and his unique way of preaching to the eye and ear at the same time held the attention of his audience throughout the sermon.

The first of the month will see a number of changes in town by moving. But this annual affair will not leave any empty houses. Anyone desiring to move into town would be unable to do so on account of the scarcity of houses to rent.

Rev. G M. Shott made a strong plea from his pulpit yesterday morning for better support for the revival meetings which are being held in the church under the direction of Rev. W. E Needham, "The Artist Preacher."

There will be no revival meeting in the Baptist church this evening owing to previous engagement of the evangelist, Rev. W. E. Needham. The meetings will be resumed Tuesday evening and continued during the week.

The Park avenue sidewalk, in the borough, from the station to the top of Kytes hill, has received a covering of crushed stone and sand and when packed well this will make a serviceable walk.

Ernest Marsh, who recently underwent a dangerous operation at Muhlenberg Hospital, is recovering very nicely and it is expected that he will be able to return home during this week.

Robert Johnston, of Plainfield, was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Johnston, yesterday.

Miss Mazie Collins, of Westfield, has been visiting at the home of her friend Miss Edith Marsh.

Wm. Hosinger, of Netherwood, spent yesterday with his mother, Mrs. Frank Hosinger.

POSTAGE STAMP BOOKS.

Convenient Device Issued by the U. S Mail Department.

Ever since a postoffice was established in this city, those in charge have been more or less bothered by patrons coming to them complaining that postage stamps they purchased had become stuck together, and asking that these stamps, of practically no use to the purchasers, be redeemed by others, a request which could not be granted.

The postoffice in this city was not the only one bothered by such complaints. Every office in the United States had to listen to them. Various expedients to prevent the stamps adhering to each other, such as rubbing the sticky side of the stamps on one's hair, or of placing the stamps between sheets of oiled paper, were suggested, but none has proved as satisfactory as could be desired.

For this reason the United States Government has decided to place on sale, on and after May 1st, in all postoffices in this country, books containing small quantities of 2 cent postage stamps, so arranged that it will be impossible for them to stick together.

There will be three sizes of books issued. One will have 12 2 cent stamps, the next 24 2 cent stamps, and the third 48 2 cent stamps. The first book will sell for 25 cents, the second for 49 cents, and the third for 97 cents. The extra penny charged over cost of stamps will pay the cost of binding.

CURRENT ATTRACTIONS THAT PLAINFIELDERS MAY WITNESS.

Local and Metropolitan Performances That Will Please Those Who Delight in the Art of Thespis and Mimic World

The last week of the gay musical comedy "Mam'selle 'awkins," at Hammerstein's Victoria, New York, begins tonight. During her stay in New York "Mam'selle 'awkins" has been a great favorite with the theatre going public. Miss Josephine Hall is as pretty and graceful as ever in the title role while a large company gives her the best of support. There is nothing heavy to the plot, just enough to form the framework for lots of fun and many catchy songs. A well trained chorus with elaborate and fetching costumes has found much favor. The comedy came to New York after making a great hit on its preliminary trip. The reputation has been fully sustained.

Today ushers the second week of "The Great Ruby" at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, New York. This big Drury Lane melodrama nas made one of the most positive successes ever known at Manager Rosenquest's playhouse, and not since the days of "The Old Homestead" and "Blue Jeans" have such large audiences been seen in this theatre. The reason for this success is easy to explain. The scenes of the play are elaborate, notably the balloon scene and the battle in the clouds, which is sensational and thrilling. This realistic episode calls forth vigorous and enthusiastic applause and several curtain calls at every performance. Rose Coghlan has made the expected hit as Lady Garnett and Minnie Seligman has scored a notable success as the countess. John T. Sullivan, Cuyler Hastings, Louis Massen and the other principals in the cast have also made individual successes. "The Great Ruby" is doing such a large business that it is almost certain to run the season out. Seats are now on sale four weeks in advance.

Comedy forms the chief features in the bills at both the Proctor continuous theatres for the coming week and none more pleasing in every way have been presented this season. At Proctor's Palace the top-liners for the week of March 26th are: McIntyre and Heath, the famous burnt-cork comedians, in a furiously funny skit; Sager, Ridgley and Gertie Carlisle, in their rural sketch of juvenile life, "After School"; Smith and Cook, grotesque acrobatic comedians; Morell and Evans, operatic sketch; kalatechnoscope, showing moving pictures of scenes in South Africa and the Philippines. At Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre, week of March 26th, the head-liners are: Francesca Redding & Co., in her latest comedietta, "Her Friend From Texas," by Will M. Crossey; Caron and Herbert, the clown and the acrobat; Jane Whitbeck, singing comedienne; W. H. Clemart, the English ventriloquist; Josephine Harvey, trombone soloists; Wilson and Leicester, refined singing sketch; Rae and Brosche, German comedy; kalatechnoscope and a score more.

It is Something

to have the name of always presenting good values in a store. You know some stores get to be called "high price" places, true they get trade, but only from the over cautious. Other stores win a reputation for always having something good to offer day in and day out throughout the year, that's the kind of a store this is, a comfortable, cheerful, homelike place that seems always to be giving what we should call "bargains," if the word wasn't so much abused, but instead we'll call it rich values. Remember this on shopping day when you come down town and wonder why they are always so busy at the Crosby & Hill store.

A retired sea captain, sixty years of age, well known to the reputable citizens of New Haven, suffered from an overworked and worn-out digestive apparatus. He had no faith in patent medicines as a cure for dyspepsia, but was induced by a friend to try Ripans Tabules. This he did with but little hope of benefit. After trying them for some time he said to the friend who had directed his attention to them: "Those Ripans Tabules were so effective from the start that I was amazed at the result. They are wizards. All the dyspeptic misery endured by me since becoming a landlubber has disappeared. IDEAS FOR THE HOSTESS

Some Unique Methods of Making Evening Parties Successful Affairs. Human Documents as an Aid to Social Merriment. . . . . .

BY ETHEL DE VERE.

Recently we received invitations to an evening party. At the foot of the cards were a few lines conspicuously underscored which read, "Please send all the pictures that you have of yourself which were taken during babyhood days not later than the 16th."

Of course we complied with the request and were very curious to know what part our funny, old fashioned photographs were to take in the entertainment.

As we entered the little drawing room our host provided us with orders. They were dainty little folding affairs, just like cotillion programmes, with numerals ranging from 1 to 30. On the face of each card the hostess had sketched an infant in water colors, and across the top in gilt letters was the enigmatical inscription, "Human Documents."

The mystery was soon cleared. We learned that it was a guessing game. On the small tables, placed here and there about the room, were the pictures which we had contributed two days before, and to each, held in place by an elastic band, was appended a tag with a large number thereon.

We were told that the figures corresponded with those on our orders and that the purpose of the evening was to guess the originals of the photographs. Fully two hours were consumed in this way.

One of the guests was particularly clever, guessing correctly 29 out of the 30 pictures.

The first prize was a porcelain photograph frame into which the owner's own infantile likeness was placed, and the booby prize was a minute magnifying glass.

But the fun came when the identity of the various photographs was announced. Here was a tall, dignified lady with a 28 inch waist who acknowledged as one of her own likenesses the photograph of a chubby 2-year-old girl who had assumed an attitude anything but decorous when the camera had been in operation. A tintype of a freckled faced boy with hair "slicked" back and staring eyes which gazed eagerly for "the bird to come out of the box" was admitted by a spectacled professional man.

"WHEN I WAS SIX."

There were peals of laughter as the names which corresponded to the numbers were read, and remarks of the most personal nature, all kindly, of course, were exchanged. Then the guests told most entertaining stories about events which happened "when I looked like that."

The ice of formality with which the evening began was soon melted. Everybody joked and laughed and agreed in voting the "human document party" to be a most unique and entertaining affair.

Some Variations of the Progressive Dinner Party.

Chicago is taking up the progressive dinner party with much zest. The idea has spread beyond the portals of the Windy City and is being universally introduced. It is particularly interesting when adopted as a club entertainment, and it is bound to be a success.

In small towns where the club members live in close proximity the contingent expense is very trifling, but in more outspreading neighborhoods one large coach or single carriages are necessary.

Where the coach is employed the party becomes unusually interesting. The pleasure derived from the five or ten minute trips is only equaled by that consequent to the novel meal.

The mistress of the house presides as host in her own home, so that the unusual feature of dining at, say, six or eight houses in one evening would assure a very entertaining programme.

There is a good chance to employ originality, both in the table arrangements and the entertainment offered by each house.

The oysters having been served in the dining room of hostess No. 1, the party passes on by foot or carriage, as occasion may demand, to the home of Mme. No. 2, "la personne qui est a notre service," and so on until all of the numerous viands, from oysters to coffee, have been sampled.

This sort of an entertainment can be made as simple or as elaborate as the club or private funds will permit. The cost of each course may be limited, thus taxing the mental resources of the host rather than the purse.

If the scheme is undertaken by clever people, they will be the tonic that aids in the digestion of pleasures incidental to the trip between houses and the new settings for each course. A prize may be awarded to the host who has been voted the most successful entertainer of the evening.

"NOW, WHERE HAVE I SEEN THAT AD. BEFORE?"

How to Give an Advertisement Guessing Party.

Well known advertisements cut from magazines and periodicals and pinned on a large sheet hanging against the wall will supply entertainment for an evening gathering.

The object is to correctly name each picture. All identifying marks should be removed, and pictures that have printing suggestive of the title across the face should not be used. Number each picture in large figures. About 50 clippings form a good collection.

Prepare scores with numerals corresponding to those on the clippings and provide each of your guests with one of them, also a pencil. Instruct them to observe each picture and to place its name beside the corresponding number on the score. The person having the most correct answers wins in the game.

A tiny hat brush would be a suggestive "booby," while almost anything would answer for the first prize.

FOR SHIPWRECKED WOMEN.

A New Life Saving Buoy Especially Designed For Them.

A new and useful protective buoy has been invented by Lieutenant C. H. McLellan, inspector of the life saving service on the Jersey coast. The old fashioned breeches buoy, consisted of a large cork life preserver and a pair of short canvas trousers, or trunks.

Though this buoy has done good work, it has nevertheless been adversely criticised by many people. The chief criticism resulted from the delays which occurred at times when great haste was of life importance, because women frequently hesitated to use these buoys.

This new protective buoy is intended to overcome all the objections of the breeches buoy. It consists of a large life preserver, to which is attached the pair of canvas trousers, or trunks, and in addition to that there is a tar covered canvas sack, or bag.

Teaching Patriotism by Means of Colored Paper in Chicago

Not the least important duty of the public school teacher in America is to inspire the pupil with love of country. Any method which tends to enliven the dull routine of school work with a touch of genuine sentiment, whose mission is to embellish a bare rule or principle with an outward beauty that will appeal to the sensitive child, comes the nearest to being in accord with the real science of pedagogy. The individualities of the children are too often ignored, and it is little wonder that the latter do not all fit into the same mold. There are few teachers who have not on their rolls the names of some few pupils who are dragging at the foot of their classes and who seem to take little interest in their daily work. It is now being more universally recognized that the fault is not entirely with the pupil, but often with the system. This fact has put every teacher on his mettle to discover just the thing which will make the sharpest appeal to pupils of this class.

Little Hands Making the Window.

A certain teacher whose province it is to mold a portion of the youthful mind of a foreign settlement of Chicago and to see her charges well started on the highway of American citizenship, has discovered by a chance observation, that strawboard and colored tissue paper may be made into something of real value as an educational aid. She has seen in them a chance to replace the dismal and cheerless views from her schoolroom windows with a bit of cheer and comfort, a gayety of color more nearly approaching the hues of a bright autumn day in the country. This discovery has been the cause of beautifying and enlivening many school rooms in the crowded portions of the city. The scheme is receiving recognition among Chicago teachers as a happy expedient.

An Adjunct to Regular Lessons.

By the use of strawboard and tissue paper the children in the lower grades of the Chicago schools have learned to make beautiful and artistic illuminated windows, and this work is proving a valuable adjunct to the regular lessons. It has been found that almost every study may be graphically illustrated by a clever use of these transparencies. The scheme is simple but effective. A design is drawn upon a sheet of strawboard and that portion of it which represents the body of the picture is then cut out, leaving a skeleton, the lines of which correspond to the lead joinings in a real illuminated window. Colored tissue papers are then pasted on the back of the skeleton over the apertures.

George Washington, a Favorite Subject.

When skillfully made these transparencies, except on close examination, may be mistaken for the real leaded and stained glass windows, particularly when the former are lit up by a flood of sunlight. Many of the windows made by the Chicago school children are marvels of accuracy. Such interest has been taken in this work by the children of the foreign districts that the windows of many homes in this portion of the metropolis have been decorated by them, and many a gloomy and commonplace living-room has been blessed with a baptism of glowing light and color. It is unnecessary to add that the effect upon the whole household is a most salutary one. Lessons in patriotism are brought naturally and clearly to the child's attention through the medium of this new art work. The showy masses of color are what appeal most strongly to the average child. Consequently, many a pupil finds in these creations of his own lessons that he might never gain from a study of bare, uninviting facts.

Some Athletic Productions.

The fact that children between the ages of six and nine years can produce anything really artistic and worth exhibiting may be regarded by many people with incredulity. However, examination of the exhibits of illuminated windows made by children within these ages who attend the public schools of Chicago will convince the most skeptical that the ability of the youngsters in this line is marked. Some of the windows show elaborate and intricate figures similar to carpet and oilcloth designs, many of them being original. In the choice of a subject a wide latitude is allowed and all sorts of queer studies from life are worked out with the colored tissue papers and strawboard.

A Queer Study from Street Life.

One feature of this illuminated construction work which makes the scheme of practical value in the poorer districts is the inexpensiveness of the materials used. For three cents and a little labor a large window looking upon some dingy court may be transformed into a thing of art and beauty. Thus the cost of beautifying at least one small window at home is brought within the means of the poorest child, and the labor involved is performed with an enthusiasm that speaks volumes for success of the plan. So eager are the pupils to get the scissors into their hands and to experiment with the bright-colored papers that this privilege is held out, in many instances, as a reward of merit. With this reward in view the pupils apply themselves to their studies with increased zeal. In numerous instances the work has proved of lasting benefit to the pupil in that it has aroused within him a dormant liking for his school work.

A Happy Medium.

Pictorial effects in colored tissue paper and strawboard, as illustrated by the illuminated window work executed by the children of the Chicago schools, are becoming more and more widely appreciated as happy mediums by which quick and lasting impressions may be presented to the pupil's mind. Many children who are dull and slow in their regular studies seem readily to catch the meaning conveyed by these transparencies. Subjects of a patriotic nature predominate to a large extent in exhibitions of this work. "Barbara Frietchie" was the theme for a most impressive example of this style. It was made by one of the pupils after he had heard the thrilling story of how she defied and shamed the confederate soldiers with these words: "Shoot, if you must, this old gray head."

Barbara Frietchie, an Inspiring Theme.

Invariably American history lessons are more amply illustrated than others by the pupils, for the reason that they present better opportunities for the delineation of soldiers and war scenes. Pictures of this character seem to have even a greater fascination for the pupils of the settlements than for the children from the better portions of the city. Geography, literature, science and manual training are some of the studies which lend themselves readily to this style of illustration. Many of the figures and outlines used are, of course, copied from other pictures. By the use of these simple materials well-known paintings have been reproduced with striking effect. A splendid example of this is the "Immaculate Conception," which was made by the pupils of one of the higher grades. In the execution of this full-length window transparency the pupils took their own measurements and did their own cutting and pasting. The school to which this window belongs exhibits it with warrantable pride.

"The Stars and Stripes."

To the true American the most pleasing feature of the illuminated construction work done by some of the Chicago schools is the fact that the children, in all departments where the new art is used, are taught to make graceful representations of the stars and stripes. In this manner the national flag finds its way into the homes and hearts of the residents of the foreign districts. So beautiful are some of the windows made by some of the children at home that passers-by often stop to inspect them. Here, also, views of the national capitol and other buildings at Washington are frequently to be found. It is cheering, to say the least, to find within these districts even such slight evidences of the wholesome influence which is being exerted by the public schools of the city.

Passers-By Stop to Inspect Them.

Children, whether foreign or American, are susceptible to lessons that are presented to them through a medium which they can understand. And herein lies the whole secret of the success of the illuminated construction work. The "aids" which have crept into the work of the public school teacher have done so, not by the authority of school officials, but as a natural growth—the result of long experience with the vexatious problems of the schoolroom. They have arisen, oftentimes, from little incidents of no significance in themselves, but which have pointed out to the alert teacher the only satisfactory means by which dull scholars might be made to enter into the true spirit of their school work.

GRAND MILITARY SHOW.

Stirring Drills Planned For Tournament In New York.

FINE EXHIBITION OF ROUGH RIDING

Army Life In the Philippines Will Have a Vivid Presentation by Fifteenth Infantry Men—Fusillade of Gatling Guns Will Awaken Memories of Santiago—Other Features.

Nearly 1,500 soldiers will take part in the grand military tournament which will begin in Madison Square Garden, in New York, on March 26. One thousand of them will be members of the state militia. The remainder will represent the various arms of the United States service. The Military Athletic league will spend $20,000 this year in making the enterprise a success, and it hopes to take in about $30,000 in all. The tournament will be opened with a review by Governor Roosevelt, in which all the participating soldiers will march past, says the New York Herald. Admiral Dewey and General Miles will hold reviews.

Each organization in the league will send a detachment in full dress uniform. The army will be represented by a troop of the Third cavalry from Fort Myer, under Captain Francis H. Hardie; a platoon of the Seventh artillery from Washington barracks, under Captain M. M. Macomb; a battalion of the Fifteenth infantry, under Major George A. Cornish, and a detachment of cavalry from West Point, under Captain George H. Sands. The navy will be represented by details from the marines and seamen at the navy yard.

Among the most striking features of the tournament will be the light-artillery drill by the men of the regular army. There will be 40 of these, with six guns and 24 horses. They will perform their evolutions at full gallop. The effect viewed from the benches could be compared to that which a quadrille of giants might produce. The horses dragging the heavy cannon will dash around the arena at breakneck speed. The teams will gallop two abreast and then four abreast. They will cross over and go in opposite directions. Every moment a collision will seem certain and seemingly be avoided only by a hairbreadth. After the regular drill has been performed blocks will be placed at intervals in the arena, allowing barely room for the guns to roll between them and obliging the drivers to make turns that are seemingly impossible. But if the artillerymen are up to their usual form not a block will be touched, and the turns will be made as if by a miracle.

The rough riding by the men of the Third cavalry will also be a great attraction. A troop from the same regiment did stunts at the Garden last year, and Captain Hardie's men have been working hard in hopes of surpassing their brothers in arms. These men do tricks of riding which outshine those of the Cossacks and would make a circus rider tremble for his laurels. They will enter the arena clad only in shirts, trousers and shoes and riding bareback. They will circle the arena at top speed, taking hurdles with as great ease as though in their saddles. They will jump off and on their mounts without slackening their pace. They will dismount on one side of a hurdle, leap it neck and neck with their horses and then mount without pausing. They will stand on their horses' backs at a hard gallop. They will stand on one horse while driving another. They will stand on two horses and drive a third. They will stand on one horse each, with another man sitting astride his shoulders. They will stand astride on two horses, with men sitting on their shoulders and the horses galloping. A man will drive three horses around the arena, dismount, leap a hurdle and then throw himself over two of his animals and astride the third.

A vivid idea of army life in the Philippines will be given by two companies of the Fifteenth infantry. They will march into the arena in fatigue dress, with guns, knapsacks and baggage wagon, as though just finishing a long day's march. They will break ranks, unpack their haversacks and cook their rations over little campfires. At last they will put up their dog tents, place their sentries and turn in, as if for a night's sleep.

Several exhibition drills will be participated in by different companies in the league, and the men of the First and Second signal corps will build signal towers and send messages by heliograph in competition for a prize of $50. Several of the regular army corps will perform their setting up drills, giving a fine effect of unison in rapid and intricate movements.

Another vivid impression of real warfare will be afforded by the Second battery, with four Gatling guns and 50 men. They will drive their pieces into the arena, take them to pieces, set them up again and then begin one of those terrible fusillades which made the Spaniards quail at Santiago. There will be no hail of lead, however, for the cartridges will be blank. But while the Gatling guns are carrying imaginary death and devastation among the arena boxes a terrible discharge of nonexistent Mauser bullets will come singing among them, and the men will fall to the ground as if dead. When most of them are dead or wounded, the Gatling guns will be limbered up, and the men will withdraw, carrying their wounded with them. This scene is sure to be popular with the spectators. Besides these features there will be the usual pistol practice, musical ride, saber contests and all the other turns which make military tournaments interesting. An effort is being made to arrange a melee in which mounted officers in masks and padded jackets will fight with basket hilted wooden swords.

The chief feature of the decorations will be a reproduction of a big 16 inch gun done in paper. The decorations will be chiefly in red, white and blue bunting, with effective trophies of guns and bayonets. The entire net proceeds of the tournament will be devoted to the objects of the Military Athletic league, which are as follows: The promotion of athletic sports in the national guard, naval militia and the regular army and navy of the United States; the holding of an annual championship meeting and of meetings at the armories of the several members, and the general encouragement, development and regulation of athletics among organized military bodies.

NEW STYLES IN HATS.

Crowns Will Be Lower, and Black Will Be Popular.

Now that Lent is here and the winter's social functions are over the devotee of fashion is at leisure to ponder upon garments for spring.

The spring styles in men's hats are rapidly coming in. A well known Broadway hatter who caters especially to young men shows a line that is extremely interesting, says the New York Mail and Express. "Our derbys are inclined to be lower for spring," said the manager of the concern. "A favorite shade will be creole. It is a light coffee color or fawn. The binding and band are in contrasting silk darker in shade. For blond men these are just the thing, but they are not always becoming to brunettes nor to a man whose complexion is not clear.

"Though young men's hats are likely to be lower in the crown than those in vogue during the winter, still styles in color and shape should not be laid down too definitely in hats or clothing of other kinds. The primary consideration should be to find something becoming. The black derby is likely to be popular year in and year out and in spite of lighter shades will hold its own this season.

"Alpines will also be worn. The popular shade will be the familiar pearl gray, with band and bindings of the same color—not black. Fancy tucked bands are also likely to be worn with the pearl gray alpines. Browns, light and dark, will also be seen.

"The young man's silk hat for Easter time will be a style very becoming to the majority—a low bell crown and narrow brim. The bands will be the conventional silk ribbon of similar texture to that used in the binding. Cloth bands are no longer in style. A 5½ inch crown and 1¾ inch brim are becoming to the average man of youthful appearance. For older men a 5¾ crown and brim varying from 2 to 2⅛ inches is more appropriate.

"The opera hat should be practically identical with the beaver in shape. It should be made of heavy ribbed silk. Neither silk nor opera hat may with propriety be worn with a tuxedo or dinner coat. This rule is violated so frequently that it is perhaps losing its force, but the man who dresses properly will adhere to it. The tuxedo is a semidress coat of the sack variety and as such cannot be combined with a full dress hat. A high hat is always out of place where coattails are absent.

"The old English tourist cap with the peak fore and aft will be stylish this year. The Paris exposition is largely responsible for this. The pattern is the same as the leather hat known as the deer stalker.

"The outing or golf cap will retain its popularity, however. It will be worn with a very full English crown and made in attractive plaids."

SACRIFICES TO FASHION.

Twenty Thousand Birds to Be Killed For Their Feathers.

Twenty thousand birds in the vicinity of Milford, Del., are to die during the next few weeks. Contracts have been signed, and the work of slaughter has already begun. A New York house placed the order.

The birds are to be killed for their feathers, which will decorate the hats of milady, says the Philadelphia Press. Eight cents per bird is the contract rate, and that is why the woods and fields swarm with gunners.

The contract is supposed to be strictly within the law. It calls for owls, blackbirds, sea gulls, red winged blackbirds and crows. Upon its face it is irreproachable, but somehow, strange to say, the tip has gone out that while 8 cents apiece is paid for these birds higher prices will be in store for the bodies of other birds which may be found hidden in the hunter's game string.

Prominent sportsmen at Milford have undertaken this gigantic slaughter, and they are subletting the contract throughout Kent county. Birds are being snared as well as shot.

Thirteen Blacksmiths Combine.

The 13 blacksmiths of Kokomo, Ind., have gone into a combine, the 33 journeymen and apprentices joining them. The purpose of the organization, according to the Indianapolis Journal, is to raise prices of work in consonance with the rise in the cost of iron as engineered by the iron and steel trust. The advanced price of all kinds of structural metal has compelled the smiths to make a marked advance in the price of smithing. The farmer is the worst sufferer on account of the increase in the cost of horseshoeing. The city teamsters are also objecting on the same grounds.

Flying Batteries.

John Bull is pleased to see that the Boer is trekking toward the interior, but he would be much better satisfied, says the Pittsburg Times, if he did not in nearly every case take all of his guns along.

HIS SENSE OF JUSTICE.

He Was Tired of Hearing Folks Run Down the Wife of Mr. Socrates.

Mr. Blykins' wife had looked at him a long time in silence before she exclaimed, with a tremor of pathos in her voice:

"Am I ever so very cross, dear?"

"I don't know what 'so very cross' is," answered her husband. "You ain't anybody's fool, though, I can tell you that. You can be just as prompt in getting back with a pungent repartee as anybody."

"But I'm never a scold, am I?" she persisted, apprehensively.

"What's worrying you, anyhow?" he demanded, imperiously. "Are you getting uneasy and discontented because I'm not loading you with reproaches and harsh epithets?"

"No. But I was reading about Xantippe and Socrates to-day, and I should dislike to resemble Xantippe."

"That's it!" he ejaculated. "Jump at conclusions. Take it for granted that she was all in the wrong. Everybody that has ever lived since her day has heaved a rock at the lady. Don't you spare her."

"But, you know—"

"No, I don't know; and neither do you know. It got to be the fashion to pat Socrates on the back and call him a good fellow while his wife was staying at home tending to the family troubles. What did he ever do? From all I can hear, Socrates wouldn't have turned his hand over to keep Xantippe from doing her own housework and taking in boarders. He merely went around town talking wise and affecting to despise money. He used to loaf around the market place passing out conversation and thinking he was the greatest man on earth, while Xantippe was bargaining for provisions at a stall around the corner. I defy you to find any place in history where he cut the grass in the front yard or whitewashed the cellar. My chivalrous nature revolts at the injustice that has been heaped upon that woman all these centuries. If she stod him up and told him the eternal truth once in awhile, it was for his own good. I don't pretend to know the exact merits of the Sampson-Schley controversy, nor the Anglo-Boer differences, nor who wrote 'Laugh and the World Laughs With You,' but when it comes to this Socrates-Xantippe question, I know right where I stand every time. And I give you fair warning, Mrs. Blykins, I won't hear the lady abused."—Washington Star.

ATE THE BUTTONS.

They Were of Candy and Fooled Grandma, Who Had Sewn Them on the Clothes.

Grandma could not believe her eyes! She had herself sewed buttons on Margaret's and Dorothy's new clothes. And now here they were, come to have their little waists and petticoats buttoned, and not a button to be seen!

Grandma was sure they were good buttons, for she had taken them out of the package mamma brought home with a lot of shopping.

The little girls, with laughing faces, stood in front of her, holding up their little clothes from dropping down, watching her astonishment. Then Dorothy said: "I'm going to 'fess, grandma."

"And I will, too," said Margaret. "We ate the buttons, grandma!"

"Ate buttons! Oh, Margaret, you'll die! When did you do it? Answer quickly!"

"Oh, grandma, they were candy, and so good!" and Margaret smacked her rosy lips. "Dorothy wetted her finger to rub a speck of black off one, and it tasted sweet, and then we bit one, and it was just like yellow taffy, and we ate them all up before we thought, and our clothes fell down, and please won't you forgive us?"

Dear, white-haired grandma laughed till the tears ran down her cheeks. For mamma said she had bought the candy buttons for a joke, never dreaming grandma would be caught.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Competent Heads of the Five CENSUS DEPARTMENTS

Five men hold five important positions in the census office at Washington. These are the five chief statisticians of the different departments into which the census taking and tabulating is divided. They are experts in the work which has been intrusted to them.

WM. C. HUNT.

The chief statistician of the division of population is William C. Hunt. He was born a statistician at Charlestown, Mass., December 20, 1856. In 1875, at 18, he was employed on the Massachusetts census under Carroll D. Wright. When that was completed (and he was one of the last three clerks engaged on it) he became connected with the Boston Herald.

In April, 1883, he returned to the Massachusetts bureau of labor, and in January, 1884, was appointed to the newly created position of second clerk, which he retained until 1889, when he resigned to become special agent in charge of the population work of the eleventh census under Superintendent Robert P. Porter.

In 1895 he became a statistical expert in the United States department of labor under Carroll D. Wright, which position he held until appointed one of the five chief statisticians provided for by the census act of March 3, 1899, to have charge of the intensely interesting division of population.

It is his duty to conceive and prepare the blanks, schedules and general equipment of supervisors and enumerators for the field work of the twelfth census, and to prepare for and make the pending great count of population so that the totals necessary for reapportioning the country into congressional districts shall be ready to submit to congress upon the date of assembling next December.

To accomplish this will require, during the midsummer months, a force of 1,800 clerks in connection with the Hollerith system of electrical machine tabulation—1,050 "punching" machines and 150 large "tabulators."

Division of Manufactures.

S. Newton Dexter North, of Boston, is the chief of the division of manufacturers. He was born at Clinton, N. Y., November 29, 1849, and received a thorough education, his father (Dr. Edward North) having for nearly three score years occupied the chair of Greek at Hamilton college, from which the son graduated in 1869.

S. N. D. NORTH.

Young North began his career of uninterrupted activity the day after graduation, on the Utica Herald, of which from 1873 to 1886, he was part owner and managing editor, acting a portion of the time also as Washington correspondent. From 1886 to 1889 he was part owner and manager of the Albany Express, of which, as with the Herald, he made a great success, acting at the same time also as one of the trusted leaders and counselors of his party.

In 1880 he took charge of the statistics of newspapers for the tenth census; in 1885 completed the preparations for taking the state census of New York; in 1889 was elected secretary of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, which position he still holds; in 1890 made the special report on wool manufactures for the eleventh census; in 1894 was secretary of the republican branch of the senate committee on finance; in 1898 was appointed by President McKinley a member of the United States industrial commission, and in 1899 was made chief of the census division of manufactures by Director Merriam.

Undoubtedly Prof. North is the best-posted man in America on textile fabrics and their production. He has investigated the subject in every possibly direction and written politically and as an authority upon that and kindred subjects for 25 years.

Division of Agriculture.

The chief statistician of this division is Le Grand Powers, of Minnesota, who was born at Preston, N. Y., in 1847. His early life was passed on a farm and in a sawmill. His preliminary education was received at Oxford (N. Y.) Academy and Clinton (N. Y.) Liberal institute.

L. G. POWERS.

After two years at Tuffts college he removed to Iowa and graduated from the Iowa State university in 1872. He was at once ordained to the ministry of the Universalist church and placed in charge of the State school carried on under the auspices of that denomination in Iowa in which he was markedly successful.

At the end of some years of school work he entered upon pastoral labors at Oak Park and at Joliet, Ill., later serving four years as superintendent of churches for Illinois. He was then called to Minneapolis, where he erected one of the largest church edifices of that city and for five years attracted much attention by the strength, originality and progressive character of his sermons and lectures.

In 1891 he was appointed by Gov. (now director of the census) Merriam to be commissioner of labor of Minnesota, which position he held for eight years and until appointed by the same hand to his present responsible office.

While serving as commissioner of labor Mr. Powers made some special investigations which attracted national and European attention, the first of which related to farm mortgages and their foreclosures. Others related to the safety of machinery in factories, management of trades unions, apprenticeship in the United States, farm conditions in Minnesota, prices of agricultural products, taxation, etc., etc.

Division of Vital Statistics.

The chief of this department is William A. King. He was born at Utica, O., May 7, 1855; removed to Indianapolis at the age of seven, where he was educated in the public schools.

WM. A. KING.

His first employment was in the public library of that city, and next as reporter on the Indianapolis Journal—both practical schools of a high grade for the industrious young Buckeye.

In 1879 he entered the census office under Francis A. Walker, at $60 per month. In a few months he was promoted to $150 per month, and placed in charge of the division of vital statistics. At the close of the census work he was transferred to the land office, where promotions came with equal ease and swiftness.

In 1889 Superintendent of Census Robert P. Porter gave to him his old position as chief of the division of vital statistics, and at the close of the eleventh census he was retained in the interior department, as clerk in charge of census records. He was the first appointee when Gov. Merriam became director of the twelfth census, receiving, for the third time, supervision of the division of vital statistics, this time as chief statistician.

He can set up or run any typewriting, counting or tabulating machine; repair or make a watch; plan and construct a complicated document or schedule cabinet; tell how the most elaborate blank will look when printed, and "cast up" a volume of tabulations so it will "come out" as desired. Frequently he may be seen on his knees on the floor of the office, with a maze of material scattered about him, solving some intricate problem that has come to him from the director or in due course of business.

There is absolutely no branch of his work of which he is not master. In short he is without a superior in the general or technical domain of vital statistics.

Division of Methods and Results.

Walter Francis Willcox, chief statistician in charge of methods and results, was born in Reading, Mass., March 22, 1861; educated in the local schools and at Phillips academy, Amherst college, Columbia university law school and school of political science, Yale university and Berlin.

W. F. WILLCOX.

He is professor of social science and statistics at Cornell university and is now on leave to carry on his present work. He is also a member of the New York state board of health and of the New York bar, American Social Science association, American Statistical association, and American Economic association (serving as secretary of the latter for three years), and likewise advisory editor of the American Journal of Sociology.

He is essentially a thinker, an analyst, rather than a projector. He gathers the loose and frequently meaningless fragments of knowledge under appropriate heads and indexes them—renders them intelligent, useful and valuable. He draws conclusions and forecasts results.

His work in the census office, for which he is admirably fitted, is therefore critical and advisory, and his careful methods have contributed to the maintenance and improvement of the high character of census work. He permits no subject to pass without the most thorough examination and never acts until perfectly satisfied that he is right—so he never will be president.

With a maul is more effective than a dozen tack hammers. Big things are generally best. A big business can almost always give you better goods for your money than a small business.

One of the chief reasons why we can give you better goods at lower prices is that our larger sales enable us to maintain our own buying offices and Grain Handling and Cleaning Plants, thus avoiding intermediate profits while improving the quality.

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND.

A generous response was made to the appeal of the management of the Plainfield High School baseball team for financial assistance from the Athletic Association of the High School. A special meeting of the athletic association was held Friday and Walter Squires, the president, told of the need of aid for the nine. According to the new constitution, all funds have to be raised by voluntary subscription or by entertainment. Liberal amounts were pledged and the total reached nearly $90, which will be more than sufficient to carry the team through the season. Last season the expenses of the team reached $150, but they will be considerably reduced this year.

Dr. James Douglas, physician to the Morristown Board of Health, believes in calling a spade a spade, despite the persistency of some of the local weekly papers in reference to smallpox there as "Philippine rash" and "Cuban measles." These names, Dr. Douglas says, are only new ones, coined to mean common, every-day smallpox.

A Plainfield resident returned home the other evening rather late. His wife had just returned from the nearest postbox, two blocks away, where she had gone to mail an important letter. She still had her shawl around her shoulders when the Plainfielder entered the hall and he naturally inquired as to where she had been. She explained her errand. Knowing her timidity at venturing out on the street alone at night, the husband asked if she was not afraid. Yes, the wife admitted, but then she went on to say that she had taken some means of protection along and she showed the nickled bicycle wrench taken from the tool bag of her husband's bicycle. Then the Plainfielder laughed at his wife's novel weapon of defence.

Nome City, the new mining town on the Alaskan coast, already has a newspaper, a four page sheet, which measures about twelve by sixteen inches, but which sells at 50 cents a copy. The new journal styles itself "The Nome Gold Digger," and its first issue contains some interesting advertisements. The bill of fare of the principal restaurant includes tenderloin steak at $3; reindeer steak, $3; ptarmigan, $3; boiled mackerel, $1.50; coffee and doughnuts, 50 cents; corned beef hash, $1; sausage, $1.50; fried ham, $1; salmon, $1; three eggs, $2; loaf of bread, 25 cents; toasted cheese, $1. Two-story seven room dwellings are advertised for rent at $200 a month; wagons and teams for hauling are hired out at $10 an hour; a shave costs $1 and a hair cut $1.50.

It would be wise for the officials of the Plainfield Street Railway Company to post notices in some of their cars. Something like this is suggested: "Hold fast!" Evidently some of the motormen have been used to riding horses of the broncho type, judging from the way they start and stop the cars. A few days ago several persons had an experience that made them feel as though they had been riding bronchos themselves. Every time the car would stop or start they would almost be taken from their feet (they being compelled to stand on account of the crowd). It is not known how many persons had their feet trampled upon, but there was more than one person who uttered words beneath their breath that would not have sounded well spoken in public.

Sergeant Kiely, of the city police force, is now the owner of a little fox terrier. The puppy was given to him at police headquarters the other evening by one of his admirers and the Sergeant kept it there until he should return home. Although the dog was small he possessed the faculty of making a lot of noise. He was particularly fond of society and refused to be comforted when left alone. Not anxious for a canine concert all the evening, the Sergeant locked his newly acquired pet in the cell with a stranger who hed come to the jail for a night's lodging. The dog promptly climbed into the lodger's lap and went to sleep there. There was much discussion regarding the proper name for the canine. A number of the policemen declared that it ought to be "Cronje." Another suggested "Oom Paul." "Bobs," as Lord Roberts is sometimes called, found the most favor with the Sergeant and "Bobs" the dog will be called hereafter.

MARCONNIER UNDER THE WING OF TRINITY.

present year, the same committee, accompanied by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph D., called during the session of the Sunday-school and formally announced the acceptance of the chapel to be known as the Marconnier chapel of the Trinity Reformed church, of Plainfield."

According to the agreements the chapel is to be under the control and guidance of Trinity church, until such a time as the membership grows and they feel able to support themselves. When that time arrives the church is then to be known as the Marconnier Reformed church of Oak Tree.

Mr. Jones in giving the history made some very pleasant remarks. He spoke of the hard struggle, the many prayers and sacrifices made to get the chapel and maintain it. He spoke of the 300 children who had gone in and out since the chapel was built, and of the seed sown which will bear fruit. To him under the present change it seemed as though a great cable had been stretched from the chapel to a stronger organization, which makes the members feel as though their anchorage is more sure and safe. He then turned the papers over to Mr. Schenck.

In accepting the papers, Pastor Schenck said that he and the members of the church knew something of the sufferings and trials attendant upon the building of the chapel, and they were not unmindful of them. He referred to the hard, laborious work of digging the cellar, carting the materials for construction, etc., but assured all that anything done for Christ was never lost. He told the members that Trinity church had come to help share with them in their work. He hoped that all would feel the call to duty in a stronger sense, and he wanted them to feel as though he was their pastor, and that the elders of the church stood willing to help them at all times. He then received the papers on behalf of the church.

This part of the service was followed by the baptism of those members who had been received and who had not observed that rite. Rev. Mr. Jones performed this rite and read the service. Those who were baptized were Miss Ida May Bowers, Miss Julia Burns, Miss Eveline Randolph, Miss Leonora VanCourt, Miss Emeline Giles and Stephen Augustus Stover.

Rev. Mr. Schenck then took charge and delivered the address of welcome to all of the members. They include the above mentioned and the following who were received by letter: S. K. Schwenk, Mrs. Mai Marconnier Schwenk, Mrs Esther L. Giles, W. E. VanCourt, E P. VanCourt and W. H. Randolph. In addition to the above mentioned who were baptized the following were received on confession of faith: Manley J. Giles, Miss Mary S. VanCourt and Mrs. Esther Giles, making a total of fifteen, nine on confession, six by letter.

After the reception of members the Lord's Supper was observed, and Pastor Schenck was assisted by Rev. Henry T. Jones and Rev. W. T. Griffin, of this city. The elders and deacons from Trinity Reformed church were also present and officiated in their customary capacity. After the communion service a few words of congratulation and encouragement were spoken by Mr. Schenck. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Griffin.

A pleasing and helpful part of the service was the singing of two solos by Mrs. Rosa Marconnier Fleury, of Jamaica, L I., accompanied by Miss Genevive Brown, of the same place. Mrs. Fleury is a sister of Mrs. Schwenk. Rev. George T. Cain, pastor of the M. E. church at Dover, again assisted in the services by presiding at the piano for the congregational singing. At the close of the services all remained and became acquainted with each other and a general season of thanksgiving was enjoyed.

The Ernest Gabler piano used for the occasion is the old Marconnier family piano, and was many years ago bought by the late Alexandre Marconnier, of Evansville, Indiana, father of Mrs. Schwenk and Mrs. Fleury. It was taken to the chapel for the Christmas entertainment and has since remained there.

A marble top pulpit that was used in the Sunday-school of Trinity church for many years, but which was abandoned when the church was altered two years ago, was presented to the chapel and used for the first time yesterday.

—All bills against the city must be in by Thursday of this week.

BOARD OF TRADE SCORES TROLLEY.

The Wretched Service of Street Railway Company Is Roundly Condemned.

WAITING STATION WANTED.

AT THE WATCHUNG AND NORTH AVENUE SWITCH.

Sufficient Consents Secured to Ensure Extension of Line to Watchung — Nothing Done Yet About Cheaper Railroad Fares.

After several unsuccessful attempts to hold a meeting, which heretofore has failed owing to the absence of a quorum, the Board of Trade last night got together a sufficient number of members to make a meeting possible. There were present besides President L. B. Woolston, William A. Woodruff, John D. Runyon, James C. Pope, Eugene Laing, Herman Schwed, Chas. W. Runyon, and Harry C. Runyon, the secretary. It was expected that F. C. Lounsbury, the former president of the Board, and chairman of the committee having in hand the matter of attempting to bring about a reduction of fares on the Central Railroad, would be present. Mr. Lounsbury was detained at home, however, and the Board had to do without the report of the committee. Mr. Lounsbury sent word by Mr. Woolston that the committee had nothing of importance to report, no progress having been made toward the desired end.

President Woolston stated that Mr. Lounsbury had told him that he would visit Elizabeth in a few days and ascertain what action had been taken by the Board of Trade of that city. It is also expected that something will soon be learned from Cranford, Westfield and Roselle.

The next matter discussed was in relation to the proposed extension of the trolley line up to Watchung. Secretary Runyon informed the Board that nearly all the consents of the property owners had been secured for the right of way and that the people were anxious to have the road built as soon as possible as far as Demler's Corner. James Y. Wilson was the principal objector to the road. He now wants $7,500 for what he considers will be a damage to him. As a sufficient number of signatures have been secured without Mr. Wilson, there is no further obstacle to the construction of the road.

Considerable of the Board's time was then taken up in a discussion of the Plainfield Street Railway and the wretched service and poor accommodations supplied the public. The road was roundly denounced for not providing a waiting room at the transfer station at Watchung and North avenues and also for not maintaining a light at the waiting room so kindly supplied gratituously by Messrs. Woodhull & Martin at the terminus to the road at Dunellen.

All the members were of decided opinions regarding the waiting room at the transfer station. President Woolston said the public was not being fairly treated by the trolley company. After nearly every member had passed anything but complimentary opinions regarding the miserable service afforded the public at the hands of the Street Railway Company, Mr. Pope offered a resolution, that was unanimously adopted, to the effect that the Board respectfully requests the Plainfield Street Railway Company to at once provide a suitable waiting room at or near the transfer station at Watchung and North avenues and also to place a light in the waiting room at Dunellen.

Secretary Runyon was requested to apprise Supt. Adlemann of the Board's action. It was suggested that if the superintendent did not give the desired relief, the matter should be brought to the attention of Col. Hine.

It is understood that a room now vacant, where formerly a barber shop was located, can be rented for 50 cents a day.

After some further discussion regarding a firm that desired to locate a cigar factory in Plainfield and the much-talked-of trolley to South Plainfield, the Board adjourned.

PEDDLERS ON PARADE.

NOVEL FEATURE OF THE ODD LADIES' ENTERTAINMENT.

Women Essayed the Parts and Were Grotesquely Attired — Music and Recitations.

The independence characteristic of the ladies composing Mizpah Lodge, No. 1, United Order of Independent Odd Ladies, was fully displayed last night on the occasion of the entertainment which this organization provided for their many friends. It was the ladies first attempt at as complete a programme as they furnished and it was a perfect success. For more than three hours the fun predominated. It was a novel affair to say the least, and it was all gotten up by the women, although they did call in a few of their gentlemen friends to assist them.

There were recitations by Mrs. Fred Bock, Mrs. John Manley, little Miss Anderson, and John Carney. The latter kept the guests convulsed by his droll German dialect stories, and he was frequently compelled to respond to encores. There was also a solo by Mrs. Strigloes and selections on the phonograph in charge of Mr. Brady.

Not the least feature of the evening's entertainment was the peddler's parade, during which some of the ladies, grotesquely attired, passed among the visitors and sold them products. Mrs. Westphal was provided with lemonade; Mrs. Bush, fruits; Mrs. Cox, notions; Mrs. Waldron, popcorn, and Mrs. Angleman, hot cocoa. The sales were brisk.

After the parade of the peddlers there was a clipping contest that pleased some of the older folks as well as the juniors. Some of the prizes captured was as startling as they were amusing.

During the evening a handsome rocking chair was drawn at ten cents a number. Ticket No. 115, held by W. E Koyer, of 257 East Third street, won the prize. The ladies then served delicious cake and an abundance of hot coffee.

The entire affair was successfully brought off under the management of Miss Kate Cortright as chairman; assisted by Mrs Agnes Randolph, treasurer; Mrs. Tillie Biker, secretary; Mrs. Henry Angleman, Mrs. P. Sweeney, Mrs. A. K. Mattis, Mrs. David Bush and Mrs. Daniel Page.

DEATH ENDED HER CLAIM

MRS. SARAH PANGBORN DIED IN PENURY YESTERDAY.

She was a Claimant for the Property of Late W. S. Allen, Who was Said to be Her Husband.

Mrs. Sarah Pangborn, who has been contesting in the Pennsylvania courts to gain control of the property of the late W. S. Allen, of Williamsport, Pa., on the ground that Allen was none other than Stephen Pangborn, who deserted her thirty years ago and assumed the name of Allen, died in penury at her home on Lake street yesterday.

Mrs. Pangborn's husband left her after a quarrel one year after they were married. She never heard of him after until the death of the man known as Winfield S. Allen in Williamsport. Then Mrs. Pangborn secured evidence which led her to believe that it was her husband. Lawyers looked the matter up and claimed that there was no doubt but what Allen's real name was Pangborn Allen left a wife and two children in Williamsport, and when he died was wealthy.

Several months ago Mrs. Pangborn commenced action to get control of the property he left on the ground that she was his lawful widow, he having never secured a divorce from her. Mrs. Pangborn was fifty-eight years of age and since the desertion of her husband she has supported herself by taking in washing and doing other manual labor.

She leaves one daughter, Mrs. L. Miller, who will continue to prosecute the claim for the property left by Allen, on the ground that she is now the only lawful heir.

This morning it was learned that Mellick is very sick and not expected to live.

UNDERGROUND WIRES IN THE BOROUGH, TOO

Telephone Company Will Build Conduits Along Various Streets in the Borough.

CITY ORDINANCE A MODEL.

IT IS EQUITABLE TO COMPANY AND MUNICIPALITY, TOO.

Draft of Proposed Ordinance is Now in Hands of Senator Reed and Will be Presented to the Borough Council.

Another year is likely to see the wires of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company underground in the borough as well as in the city. A draft of an ordinance providing for the laying of underground conduits for the telephone wires in Somerset street and the other principal thoroughfares of the borough has been prepared by representatives and is now in the hands of Borough Counsel Charles A Reed. It is likely to be presented at the meeting of the Borough Council next week.

This present agitation in favor of underground wires in the borough is one of the results of the proposed plan of widening Somerset street When Mayor N. B. Smalley first considered the matter he interviewed Manager Charles W. Runyon, of the telephone company, and the matter was referred to headquarters. As a result the draft of an ordinance was prepared on the same lines as the one adopted some time ago by the Plainfield Council. This is not the first time that the Plainfield ordinance has been used as an ideal one by the company. The ordinance was originally prepared by the company's legal representatives and then revised by Corporation Counsel Marsh. It is considered a model ordinance in giving equitable rights to city and to corporation.

The company proposes, in the ordinance submitted to the borough, to put the wires underground on Somerset street as far as the improvements are made, which is likely to be Jackson avenue or further. Another line of conduits will carry the numerous wires that are distributed through Washington Park. There will be two to two and a half miles of underground conduits laid to start with. Later the company hopes to extend its underground line in the borough as well as in the city.

DRESSED IN CALICO.

Ridiculous Garb Attired by Those Who Participated in Affair at Saengerbund Hall.

The annual calico hop was given last night at Saengerbund Hall under the auspices of the women, and as usual, there was a very large attendance of members and friends. Everyone who appeared on the floor for dancing wore a calico costume of some kind, and everyone attempted to present themselves in ridiculous fashion. Prizes were offered for the man and women wearing the most comical costume, and these were won by Superintendent John Adlemann, of the street railway company, and Mrs. Melcher. Their costumes were so comical that words fail to describe them.

The dancing was continued till the early hours of this morning and no one complained of not having a good time. About midnight supper was served. The affair was one of the most successful of the kind ever held under the auspices of the women.

ENOUGH MONEY RAISED

TO ENSURE THE EXTENSION OF DUER STREET TO CITY.

All But $55 of the Requisite $500 Has Been Pledged—Fifty-One Contributors.

The opening of Duer street is now an assured fact as $445 of the necessary $500 has been raised toward the project. The condition was that if the sum of $500 was raised in the borough to open the street to the brook the balance of the work would be done without any further expense to property owners. The balance of $55 will be raised in a short time and this will guarantee the success of the scheme. There are now fifty-one contributors on the subscription list, mostly all boroughites and those who will be benefitted by the opening. There are several Plainfielders on the list and some who are indirectly benefitted.

There is no doubt as to the great benefit to be derived from this improvement and the work will probably be started within a few weeks. The work of securing a suitable bridge across Green brook will not be hard, as the Freeholders on both sides of the stream are said to be willing to erect it.

LATEST IN MILLINERY.

Beautiful Display That Can be Seen at Lederer's Store.

The display of millinery being made this week by Lederer is possibly superior to anything this well known and reliable firm has ever made. The latest creations in the millinery art are shown in all designs and styles. Many of this year's hats are trimmed with ornaments of rich design, fruits and soft material predominating, while of course the usual conceits in flower effects are to be found at Lederer's in endless profusion. The store is most artistically decorated for the Easter display, making an attractive showing as inviting to the eye as it is rich in design. The millinery department is in charge of Miss Mamie Casey, a young woman noted for her excellent taste in the way of producing pretty effects that are popular with the lady's many friends and the firm's numerous customers.

TO BE USED AS AN ORPHANAGE.

Catholic Club will Relinquish Claim on Building it Has Been Occupying.

At last night's meeting of the Plainfield Catholic Club it was decided to relinquish claim to the club-house at Liberty and Sixth streets. The building will be turned into an orphanage to be used by St. Mary's church. The Catholic Club found that the expense of maintaining so expensive an establishment was too heavy for the club to longer continue under. Suitable quarters will be secured near the business centre of the city.

SITE FOR THE CITY HALL.

A CORRESPONDENT WANTS A CORNER LOT SELECTED.

Advises the Council to Plan for the Future and to Allow for Growth of Years.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—I read with interest your editorial on "City Hall Site." You say for all practical purposes the committee have decided on two sites, and that there will be a majority and minority report, and that the three Councilmen not on the committee will vote with the minority committee, making the Gardner property the place. I agree with the minority, and your editorial in part. I think it should be built on East Front street, for every reason set forth by you, except two. The first is economy—the saving of a few thousand dollars—which leads to the second, the taking of inside property.

This is certainly false economy—to buy cheap property to place so noble a structure as a City Hall on. In what town or city that you go in will you find that their City Hall or any public building is placed anywhere but on the most prominent corner in the city that is available and at whatever cost may be necessary within reason. You say also in your article that we are building for years and years to come, not for today only. True, that is what we are doing, and we should not be narrow but broad minded. Looking well into the future, the present cost is little or nothing to us. If I understand correctly the bonds will extend over a period of some fifty years. Look back fifty years and what Plainfield was then—a mere handful, with narrow streets and everything else of the small proportion. What are we saying today—"Why did not those old fogies when land was cheap lay out wide streets, a park, etc." They might have known we would be a big town some day.

Now look what it cost us to widen a street to the needs of today. Won't the young people that are growing up and upon whose shoulders the burden of paying off a greater portion of these bonds, be saying the same things about us? Won't they say, "what a narrow-minded set that committee of 1900 was—they might have known if they had looked at the growth in the past what to expect in the future. Here we are with bonds on our hands yet to pay, and our City Hall shut in with tall buildings on either side, and the people asking for a new site—one to which they can point with pride?"

Let me say to the gentlemen of the committee: Be more than up to-date, plan for the future, plan broadly and well, select a site that can never be shut in, and lay a foundation that will be a monument to you in the future for your wisdom and forethought. There are three old corners at East Front street and Watchung avenue near the spot selected. True they will cost more money, but the people will praise you for selecting what always will be a business centre.

An Old Citizen Who Has Seen Many Changes In Our City.

BROKE HORSE'S BACK.

Dump Cart Fell Into Green Brook, Dragging Horse With It—Animal Had to Be Shot.

While carting dirt and refuse from the streets for the city, a horse and cart belonging to Thomas Brennan, of Arlington avenue, tumbled into Green brook near the Watchung avenue bridge this noon. The horse's back was broken and it had to be shot, while the cart was wrecked.

Brennan, with his horse and cart, is employed by the street department to collect and cart the refuse to the dumping grounds near Watchung avenue along the brook. In backing the cart into position he went too near the edge and the cart turned over, throwing the horse into the brook. Patrolman Flanagan was summoned and finding the horse's back broken shot the animal to end its sufferings.

$13,000 NEEDED FOR NEW HOSPITAL SITE.

Board of Governors Decide to Try and Raise That Amount of Money.

THEY HAVE A SITE IN VIEW.

BUT WON'T DIVULGE IT TILL MONEY IS PLEDGED.

Committee of Nine Members to Undertake the Work—Routine Work Transacted at Board Meeting Last Evening.

The new quarters for the Muhlenberg Hospital is in sight. Steps have been taken toward the raising of $13,000 for the purchase of the site for the new hospital buildings. The board of governors of the hospital decline to make public as yet the proposed location except to state that the site in view is eminently suited for the purpose. As soon as the funds are forthcoming, the lot will be purchased and the movement started for the new buildings.

The regular meeting of the board of governors was held last evening and there was a lengthy discussion of the proposed new hospital and its site. The committee appointed some months ago to select a site and look into the financial end of the question reported progress. The committee was continued and instructed to see if the necessary $13,000 to purchase a lot for the new hospital could be raised. The committee will proceed immediately.

The old committee was composed of five members, George W. Goddard, chairman; Charles J. Fisk, Ernest R. Ackerman, H. P. Reynolds and W. R. Cock. It was decided to increase the committee to nine. The four extra members will be appointed by J. Evarts Tracy, who acted as chairman pro tem of the meeting.

Then there was the usual amount of routine business to be transacted by the board. The financial report of the month showed that the hospital is being conducted on a very economical basis. For the month the receipts from the usual sources were within $40 of the expenditures, which is an excellent record.

NOT TO PURCHASE ORGAN.

All Souls Officials Will Not Take the Grace P. E. Instrument.

The officers of All Souls' church, Park avenue, have decided not to purchase the organ for their church which is now owned and in use by Grace P. E. church. It is found to be too large for the Unitarian church and for that reason would be useless. Other arrangements for securing an organ will be made soon. The members have about raised the amount of money needed for the purchase of an organ, but it will be impossible to have the organ for use by Easter Sunday as intended.

SUCCOR OF MAFEKING

Londoners Puzzled at the Present Situation.

STRONG FORCE LEAVES KIMBERLEY.

Its Final Destination Remains In Doubt—English Warned Against Overconfidence—Boers May Prolong War Months.

LONDON, March 27.—Military observers here and even those in close affiliation with the war office are considerably confused as to what is being done for the succor of Mafeking. Some 5,000 or 6,000 men are engaged with Lord Methuen at Warrenton and Fourteen Streams, and now another column is about leaving Kimberley if it has not already started for Griquatown, 106 miles westward. Its ostensible purpose is to drive out the Boers. The force is described as "a strong one" and the expedition as "likely to attract much attention."

General French is reported from Bloemfontein Sunday as having returned from Thaba Nchu, having failed to engage the Boers who are trekking northward.

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Morning Post, telegraphing Saturday, says:

"I learn that Mr. Steyn fled against his own judgment and on the persuasion of Mr. Fischer that duty to his country required that he should remain uncaptured as long as resistance was possible."

The Cape Town correspondent of The Daily Mail, telegraphing March 26, says:

"A strong expedition will leave Kimberley today primarily for Griquatown. Its movements are likely to attract considerable notice."

Mr. Spenser Wilkinson, in The Morning Post today, warns the public against blinding themselves to the magnitude of the task which has yet to be performed in South Africa. He then refers to the fact that an immense distance has to be traversed and points out that only the smaller portion of the Free State has yet been touched by the British advance.

"It is quite possible," he says, "that the Boers may be able to prolong the campaign several months, and the British advance, though it must have a crushing effect, can be carried on only by the persistent exertions of those in the field and those at home."

Mr. Winston Churchill, in a dispatch this morning from Cape Town, again urges a generous and forgiving policy toward the rebels instead of yielding to the demands of the loyalists for severe treatment. He says:

"The Dutch traitor is less black than the renegade British born burgher, but both are the results of our own mistakes and of crimes in Africa in former years. Unless actually caught fighting rebels should be treated with the utmost leniency and generosity."

HOSPITAL SHIP MAINE.

Major Cabell Tells of Good Service Done.

LONDON, March 27.—Major Julian M. Cabell, former chief surgeon of the American hospital ship Maine, is now in London on his way back to Columbia hospital, Washington, his leave of absence having expired. In an interview with a press representative he said;

"Nothing could have exceeded the hospitality and warmth with which the American doctors, nurses and attendants were received in South Africa. The stories of internal dissensions on the Maine are quite unbased. Lady Randolph Churchill antagonized no one. On the contrary, it was owing to her tact that several little threatened annoyances were avoided. She wished the Maine to stay at the seat of warfare, and I agreed with her, but it had been arranged by the British army authorities that she was to leave after the relief of Ladysmith, and though Lady Randolph believed this action would diminish the ship's sphere of usefulness she was too good a disciplinarian and diplomat to question the decision of the commander in chief. Another reason prompting the sending of the Maine home is that the troopships returning are not well equipped to take wounded soldiers. The British government is much behind our own in this respect, for, while the hospital ships at Manila and in Cuba were able to transfer the wounded to transports and remain on the scene of action, those in South African waters must needs return themselves with their human cargoes.

"We were very fortunate on the Maine with cases. Only one man died before I left, and I believe this number has not been increased since.

"Perhaps our most remarkable case was that of an officer of the Gordon highlanders who was shot clean through the brain and who completely recovered on board the American hospital ship.

"Mauser wounds in the intestines which from the Springfield or Remington would surely have been fatal healed up without operation. I had seen some similar cases in the Philippine Islands and avoided operations upon such wounds with complete success, the Mauser wound being so clean and small that it heals better when left alone.

"I much regretted leaving the ship, but my leave is up, and I had to come home."

The Maine will return to South Africa immediately after landing her wounded here.

To Make American Clocks.

BERLIN, March 27.—The clockmakers of the Black forest have taken the preliminary steps to turn the entire industry there into a large company, with capital supplied by Berlin financiers, and to devote especial attention to the manufacture of American clocks. The Wurtemberg clock industry has been already capitalized at 1,000,000 marks by Berlin capitalists.

ROW IN A COURT.

Kentucky Lawyers Almost Come to Blows.

FRANKFORT, March 27.—The most thrilling event of the examining trial of Republican Secretary of State Caleb Powers occurred yesterday shortly after 3 o'clock, and for a few minutes it looked as though serious trouble could not be prevented. Colonel George Denny, for the defense, on the competency of a question said: "It is perfectly lawful for people to come here and come armed. I came here several times myself."

He was referring to the crowd that was present at the mass meeting held in the statehouse yard just prior to Governor Goebel's assassination.

Colonel Campbell, for the prosecution, replied that he did not consider it lawful and was surprised to know that Mr. Denny had come here armed. Denny denied having made such a statement and said that he did not come armed. Campbell insisted that he had made the statement. Both men were very much excited and spoke with vehemence and with arms shaking commenced to advance toward each other. The courtroom was crowded, and the audience evidently thought a fight was on and made a mad rush for the doors and windows, people falling over each other in their efforts to get out of the room. Several policemen and deputy sheriffs were crying for order, and Judge Moore was bringing his gavel down with terrific force and urging the people to take their seats. After five or ten minutes of the most exciting scenes quiet was restored.

Just as the room began to grow orderly ex-Governor Brown, one of the attorneys for the defense, whispered to Colonel Campbell, who promptly arose and apologized to Denny and to the court, Colonel Denny replying in a very happy speech.

On an inspection of the record it was found that Colonel Campbell had misconstrued Colonel Denny's statement.

Disturbance In a Tagalog Theater.

MANILA, March 27.—During the production of an incendiary play entitled "For Love of Country," presented in the Tagalog language at the Tagalog theater, the natives, under the influence of repeated references to independence, became disorderly. Finally, quite carried away at the sight of the rebel flag on the stage, they cried, "Vive Filipinas!" and "Vive Aguinaldo!" The police, who were summoned, restored order and arrested the manager of the theater and the author of the play. The latter is the proprietor of a Tagalog newspaper which was recently warned to moderate its radical utterances. The American authorities had forbidden the production of the play.

Lead Ore Discovered.

HELENA, Mon., March 27.—A strike of considerable value was made at the Jasper mine, just inside the southern city limits, last week, when an immense body of crystallized lead ore was encountered. Assays just completed show an average of 13 per cent lead, or a value exceeding $42 per 2,000 pounds. The ore body is said to be practically inexhaustible. The mine is owned by Alexander Barret and others of this city. The discovery of such rich ore inside the city limits has created great surprise among mining men.

NEW YORK, March 27.—The Tribune prints the following: "The control of the Norfolk and Western railway has passed into the hands of the Pennsylvania railroad. The Tribune is able to say this on the authority of one of the most influential men in the Pennsylvania corporation. The Pennsylvania people first bought the stock in the open market, succeeded in making a few private purchases, and now it is said they own the property."

A New Back for An Old One—How It Is Done In Plainfield.

Sometimes the back aches with a dull indescribable feeling making you weary and restless; sometimes pain shoots across the region of the kidneys and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No use plastering the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. To exchange a bad back for a new and stronger one follow the example of this Plainfield citizen.

Mr. Charles Giese, cigar manufacturer of 25 Elm place says;—"I was subject to attacks of kidney complaint for 2 or 3 years. Most of the pain was in my back and hips and I could not stoop or straighten without feeling sharp, shooting twinges. When I sat for any length of time I grew stiff and sore and was compelled to get up and move about. I grew so bad I had to do something for it. I had read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills being such good medicine for kidney troubles so I got a box of them at L. W. Randolph's drug store. I used them according to directions and after 2 or 3 days I felt better. I continued their use until the pain disappeared."

For sale by all dealers, price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. Failure of Mortgage Tax Bill Blasts Some Hopes.

MANY MEASURES DOOMED TO DEATH

New York Legislature Had Been Liberal In Expectation of Increased Revenues, but Costly Enterprises Must Be Abandoned.

ALBANY, March 27.—The failure of the mortgage tax bill has caused consternation in the finance committees of both houses of the legislature and will perish the hopes of many individuals and of localities scattered throughout the state.

The mortgage tax bill was depended upon to yield a large revenue, in fact so large that the state tax would be reduced to the lowest percentage in many years. In anticipation of this the treasury watchdogs have been extremely liberal in their distribution of public funds, and more large appropriations have been recommended for passage than in many years. Some of these have already been passed and have gone to the governor, but a majority of the larger appropriations for special purposes are still upon the calendars of the different houses.

The death of the mortgage tax bill has caused a careful review of these measures, and a great number have already been marked for reconsideration and eventual death. It has become apparent that if all were to be permitted to pass the tax rate would be far in excess of that of last year, and no consideration of legislation is so sacredly guarded by the dominant political party as the state tax rate, especially upon the eve of a state and national election.

To prevent this increased tax rate many contemplated enterprises will have to be abandoned and new institutions sacrificed. Conspicuous among these is the $200,000 appropriation for the survey of the canals and the different routes proposed for the enlarged barge canal. No appropriation except for the actual maintenance of the canals may now be expected at this session.

New Trustees For Bath Home.

ALBANY, March 27.—Governor Roosevelt has nominated as trustees of the New York State Soldiers and Soldiers' home at Bath the following: Benjamin Flagler of Niagara Falls, vice George R. Sutherland; Benton McConnell of Hornellsville, vice Frank Campbell; Clinton D. Macdougall of Auburn, vice Hotchkiss S. Finch; Thomas W. Ford of Rochester, vice Joseph P. Cleary; Charles A. Orr of Buffalo, vice John Palmer; Thomas R. Proctor of Utica, vice J. Monroe Shoemaker; George W. Dunn of Binghamton, vice Daniel E. Sickles, and Joseph W. Kay of Brooklyn, vice Horatio C. King.

Maryland's Most Distinguished.

ANNAPOLIS, March 27.—The Maryland house of delegates, after a protracted fight, by a vote of 35 to 29, decided to substitute the name of John Eager Howard for that of John Hanson as one of the distinguished Marylanders whose statue shall grace statuary hall in Washington. Two years ago the general assembly appropriated $24,000 for the purpose mentioned and designated Charles Carroll of Carrollton and John Hanson, one of Maryland's early governors and the first president of the Continental congress, as the recipients of the honor, and a commission appointed for that purpose awarded the contract to Brooks, the Brooklyn sculptor. An attempt was recently made to revoke the contract in order to permit several Maryland sculptors to file designs, but this was defeated, and the Maryland Historical association and a number of kindred associations kept up the agitation with the result mentioned. The bill must pass the senate before it becomes a law.

Explosion of Fireworks.

HAMILTON, Ont., March 27.—A terrific explosion occurred at the factory of Hand & Co., fireworks manufacturers, late yesterday afternoon. Mr. Walter Teale, a son-in-law of Professor Hand, one of the partners in the concern, was blown to atoms. The explosion was in one of the largest buildings. Half of the building was blown off in fragments. Portions of Teale's remains were found all over the grounds, which cover a large area. One part of the trunk was found fully 100 yards from where the explosion occurred. The windows in many of the buildings in the surrounding district were shattered by the force of the explosion.

Fighting In Morocco.

PARIS, March 27.—News of a disquieting nature was received from Morocco yesterday. Two thousand men of the Foreign legion who had been ordered to embark at Oran for Madagascar received orders to remain where they were and await instructions. It is reported that a serious engagement has taken place on the Oran frontier and that 40 men of the Foreign legion have been killed. In military circles it is said that the peculations of officials in Morocco have caused the present trouble.

The "Divine Healer" In Jail.

KOKOMO, Ind., March 27.—Francis Schlatter, the "divine healer," occupies a cell in the county jail here. He is charged with disorderly conduct. His wife caused his arrest. Schlatter has been doing a large business here for four months, and Mrs. Schlatter says he was broken down from overwork and took brandy and opium as a stimulant.

Fatal Mine Explosion.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., March 27.—An explosion of mine gas occurred at Packer No. 3 colliery, near here, fatally burning Peter Bobromosk, aged 33 years, married, and Joseph Povokovis, 24 years old. One of the men, with a naked lamp, went into a part of the mine that had been worked out, and the gas igniting caused an explosion.

Nova Scotia's Famine Relief.

HALIFAX, March 27.—Six hundred pounds sterling has been cabled Lord Curzon, viceroy of India, as the first installment of the famine relief fund being raised in Nova Scotia.

Boston Printing House Burned.

Loss by Floods In Prussia.

BERLIN, March 27.—An official estimate of the damage to property in Prussia last year from flood shows an approximate total of 21,000,000 marks.

MISS GOULD'S CHAPLAINS.

He Maintains Several In the Army on the Quiet.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The Star says:

"A visitor at the White House, referring to the lack of chaplains with the volunteer regiments in the Philippines and elsewhere, says that Miss Helen Gould of New York is maintaining nine or ten chaplains in the army at her own expense.

"These men are not officially recognized as chaplains, but as ministers and Young Men's Christian association workers they voluntarily and unofficially do practically the same work. Miss Gould, it is stated, pays each of these men $90 a month and their expenses. The latter amount to more than the salaries in the Philippines. It is thought that Miss Gould's monthly payment is something like $2,000. She has been maintaining these Christian workers since last fall, when the regiments first began to go to the Philippines, and attention was called to the failure of congress to provide for chaplains. Her great work is not generally known, as all of her deeds of this kind are done in this most quiet way."

A Gift to Tarrytown, N. Y.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., March 27.—Miss Helen M. Gould has agreed to give $700 to the village of North Tarrytown toward purchasing a town clock to be placed on its new school building.

To Take Up Hawaii's Silver.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—The house committee on territories yesterday heard Secretary Gage and Director of the Mint Preston on the bill of Representative Knox to take up the Hawaiian silver circulation. There is about $1,000,000 in coin and $272,500 in silver certificates outstanding. The coins were minted in the United States and are practically the same as our coins except in the imprint. The certificates are issued on coin held by Hawaii. The treasury officials approved the bill, and the committee directed its favorable report.

United Socialist Parties.

NEW YORK, March 27.—The committees of the Socialist Labor party and of the Social Democrats that were appointed at the recent conventions of those parties for the purpose of effecting a union between them met again in conference yesterday at the Labor lyceum, on East Fourth street. Most of the business done during the day was discussing what the name of the new united party and where the headquarters of the national executive committee should be.

How the Keys Will Be Presented.

LONDON, March 27.—Mr. John Parnell, brother of the famous Irish statesman, is city marshal of Dublin, and in this capacity it would devolve upon him to present the keys of the city to the queen on her forthcoming visit. As he might feel some awkwardness in executing this duty, it has been arranged that he shall carry the keys on a cushion to the lord mayor of Dublin, who will take them for presentation to her majesty.

A Change In Judges' Salaries.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Senator Hoar has reported from the judiciary committee a bill fixing the annual salaries of the chief justice of the supreme court at $15,500 and associate justices at $15,000, circuit judges at $9,000 and district judges at $7,000. The bill provides that after the passage of the act no payment shall be made to any of the judges for expenses.

RACE WAR IN CUBA.

Meeting In Santiago to Nominate Candidates Ends In a Row.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, March 27.—A meeting convened by the various political factions Sunday evening with a view of effecting an agreement on candidates for the approaching elections broke up in a riot. At a caucus held a week ago a closely drawn color line was developed, but the political aspirants had worked hard to harmonize the warring sections, and they had called the meeting in the expectation of being able to nominate a satisfactory ticket.

There was an immense crowd in attendance, and the proceedings at the outset were intensely patriotic.

The speakers repeatedly called attention to the reports of distress in Porto Rico and exaggerated the conditions there under American administration.

When the time came for nominating candidates, it became apparent that the colored element was largely predominant and would absolutely control the meeting. The whites then became personal, and a fight was started, which the police had difficulty in suppressing. Ultimately the meeting broke up in disorder.

Many white Cubans announce their intention of organizing an annexation party. They say they would prefer the Cuban flag, but they are not willing to submit to negro control.

Much disappointment is felt in the American colony at the news that the Dolphin, with the senatorial commission, will not visit Santiago.

DOWN ON UNIONS.

A Chicago Contractor Says Trades Unions Cause Tramps and Trusts.

CHICAGO, March 27.—The industrial subcommission yesterday began hearing testimony in regard to the labor situation in Chicago from the point of view of the workingman and the labor leader. Few representatives of labor were present, however, and Commissioner Kennedy said subpœnas probably would be issued for persons able to furnish the desired information.

Michael Hovey of Glencoe, a contractor, but for years a member of the Gas Fitters' union in Chicago, took the stand. Mr. Hovey said he withdrew from the union because of its arbitrary and senseless methods with its men and because he believed unions to be the worst enemies workmen ever had. "A workman who becomes a member of a union," said Mr. Hovey, "endangers the existence of his family, for through the restrictions of the union his own son is not allowed to learn the father's trade."

Unions, said Mr. Hovey, were made up of three classes of workmen—first, men who were always able to secure work at best wages; second, men who did occasional work, and third, a nomadic class which, through lack of ability, were forced to wander from town to town, and for this reason many of them became tramps and thieves. Hovey also said that trades unions made more tramps and more inmates of penitentiaries than any other agency and that the trades union was father of all trusts.

The Candy Poisoning Case.

HASTINGS, Neb., March 27.—In the trial of Viola Horlocker, charged with sending poisoned candy to Mrs. Morey, only three witnesses were heard. One was the sister of the accused, who testified as to the disturbed mental condition of the defendant during the holidays of 1898. Dr. Cooke was the only important witness. He testified that the defendant was of unsound mind and gave it as his professional opinion that if she sent the poison she was insane when she did it. It is expected that much, if not all, of the testimony of the defense from this on will be expert evidence on the question of the sanity of the accused.

Strike In Shoe Factory.

AUBURN, N. Y., March 27.—The employees of the bottoming department of Dunn & McCarthy's shoe factory, numbering 250 men and boys, quit work in a body yesterday morning. What they are out for the employees and employers profess not to know. A change in superintendents occurred in the bottoming department. Several attempts have been made to hold a meeting, but the strikers were without a leader. Several of the strikers when asked why they were out all answered "don't know" and stated they had no grievance.

A School of Diplomacy.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Representative Aldrich of Alabama has introduced a bill for the establishment of a "diplomatic, consular and civil service college of the United States" at or near Washington. The purpose of the college as set forth is to educate young men and women not over 21 years of age for the civil service and men not over 25 for the diplomatic and consular service. Appointments to the college are to be made like appointments to West Point and Annapolis.

Bishop Anzer In Berlin.

BERLIN, March 27.—Bishop Anzer of Shangtung has arrived here from Rome, where he had reported fully to the pope regarding the Chinese missions and their prospects. Yesterday he was received by Count von Bulow and Prince Hohenlohe, to whom he described the present situation in Shangtung and at Peking. He predicts a great future for Tsing-tou and the whole of Kiao-Chou.

Named After General Henry.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—By direction of the president the military post at Cayey, Porto Rico, will hereafter be known and designated as Henry Barracks in honor of the late Brigadier General Guy V. Henry, U. S. A., who was military governor of Porto Rico from Dec. 6, 1898, to May 8, 1899, and who died on Oct. 24, 1899.

Cotton Weavers Strike.

BURLINGTON, Vt., March 27.—One hundred and fifty weavers of the Queen City Cotton mill have struck against a new scale of wages based on piecework instead of weekly payments. The operatives hold that it will be impossible for them to earn as much under the new system.

The Influenza's Ravages.

BERLIN, March 27.—Baron von Mittnacht, the Wurttemberg premier, is seriously ill with the influenza at Stuttgart. Dr. William Areuse, the well known physiologist of this city, and Herr Schliekmann, a leading jurist at Halle, have both died of this disease.

Cardinal Mazzella Dead.

ROME, March 27.—Cardinal Camillo Mazzella, bishop of Palestrina and prefect of the congregation of sacred rites, is dead. He was born in Italy in 1833 and was created a cardinal in 1886.

NO DEAL, SAYS HANNA

The Porto Rico Bill Story Declared False.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS FAILS TO AGREE

The Measure to Be Pushed as It Stands, and the Harmony Committee Is Discharged—House Discusses Army Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Senator Foraker, in charge of the Porto Rican bill, announced at yesterday's session of the senate that, beginning with today's session, he would press the measure to a vote as soon as possible. Senator Hanna, chairman of the Republican national committee, speaking to a question of personal privilege, vigorously denied an interview with a Republican member of the house of representatives whose name was not given, published in a Washington newspaper, alleging that the passage of the Porto Rican tariff bill would be in pursuance of a "deal" by which the Republican national committee was to get a big contribution. Mr. Hanna denounced the statement as a "malicious lie" and hoped it would be investigated.

The Alaskan civil code bill was under consideration during a greater part of the session. An amendment was agreed to fixing a license upon almost every kind of trade and commerce in the district of Alaska, the licenses ranging from $10 to $500 per annum. The measure had not been disposed of at the conclusion of the session.

The Republican members of the senate spent two and a half hours in caucus in an effort to reach an agreement upon the

SENATOR HANNA.

Porto Rican legislation now pending in the senate. The caucus was apparently, however, without material result, the only accomplishment being a decision to proceed with the general bill as it now stands without separating the tariff feature and to discharge the harmony committee from further efforts.

The house began consideration of the army appropriation bill. The debate was without exciting incident.

Death of Rabbi Wise.

CINCINNATI, March 27.—Rabbi Isaac M. Wise, probably the most distinguished rabbi in the reformed Jewish church, died last evening at 6 o'clock of a stroke of paralysis which made its first appearance last Saturday evening. His end was painless and peaceful. On Saturday he delivered his usual discourse at the temple. In apparent good spirits he started out in the afternoon for the Hebrew Union college, where at half past 4 o'clock he concluded the hearing of a recitation. When he started home, he complained of a feeling of faintness which grew so rapidly that he had to be conveyed to his home in an ambulance, where a number of physicians were summoned. The trouble developed into paralysis of the left side. From Saturday until his death his case was an alternation of sinking spells and rallying.

Lieutenant Gillmore at Washington.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Lieutenant Commander J. C. Gillmore, U. S. N., whose captivity in the hands of the Filipinos made him an object of intense interest to the American people for eight months last year, arrived in Washington yesterday from San Francisco. He was accompanied across the continent by Mrs. Gillmore, who went to San Francisco to meet him on his arrival there on the transport Solace. Immediately after reporting to the bureau of navigation Mr. Gillmore paid his respects to Secretary Long, who gave him a warm greeting. At the secretary's suggestion Mr. Gillmore accompanied him to the White House. Most of the 10 or 15 minutes that Mr. Gillmore spent in the president's office was given up to a recital of the story of his capture and escape.

Mr. Bryan on the Pacific Coast.

SACRAMENTO, March 27.—Colonel W. J. Bryan arrived yesterday afternoon from Salt Lake and was welcomed heartily by a large delegation of members of the Democratic organization. At the depot he was escorted to a carriage and driven to his hotel, where a reception was held, and Mr. Bryan was greeted by hundreds of citizens. At night Mr. Bryan spoke to a large audience at the Old Pavilion. Mr. Bryan then left for the north to visit cities in Oregon and Washington.

Brakeman Killed.

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y., March 27.—A. D. Dunham of Elmira, a brakeman on the Northern Central railroad, was instantly killed in the yards here last night by slipping from a freight car and falling beneath the wheels. Snow and sleet made uncertain footing on the cars. He had met with a similar accident within 100 feet of the same spot, in which his head was crushed, only a few months ago. He was to have been married in April.

Sharkey to Meet Ruhlin.

NEW YORK, March 27.—Billy Madden and Tom O'Rourke met and agreed to match Gus Ruhlin and Tom Sharkey in a 25 round bout, the fight to come off at the Seaside Athletic club on or about June 1. No articles were signed, but they will be in a few days. The managers agreed on rules, conditions and purse. The Coney Island club is to give 60 per cent of the gate receipts.

Dewey In Florida.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 27.—Admiral and Mrs. Dewey yesterday attended a reception in their honor given by Major J. C. Scantling at his residence in St. Francis Barracks. A salute of 17 guns was fired. One thousand people called during the half hour of the reception.

To Break the Paper Trust.

The American Newspaper Publishers' Association, representing the newspapers of this country—some 22,000 in number—has passed resolutions calling upon Congress to make inquiry into the reasons why the price of print paper has been arbitrarily increased from sixty to one hundred per cent. without warrant to be found in the conditions of the industry itself.

The newspaper publishers of this country would not complain if there had been a reasonable increase in the cost of paper, of which they consume millions of tons every year, but when there has been such an extraordinary and unnecessary rise in rates it is regarded as time to object. The sentiment among newspaper publishers finds concrete and able presentment in the following brief statement of facts issued by the Publishers' Association in connection with the resolutions demanding an investigation:

The attention of Congress is directed to five bills now in the hands of the ways and means committee, not necessarily to aid the passage of them specifically, but as evidence of a great demand for some form of remedial legislation, to which the inquiry we requst would be preliminary. We believe that the entire agitation against trusts presents no more concrete example than this, and your petitioners, relying upon the desire of Congress to legislate in the interests of the people, believe you will accept the opportunity to make this inquiry in the spirit in which it is demanded.

The newspaper, it is fair to state, unlike most forms of industry, sells at a fixed price, and has no means of putting the increased cost on to the consumer. In many instances it means the complete confiscation of profits and in many others creates an actual loss.

The apparently sincere desire of all parties to deal with the trust question removes this inquiry from the charge of partisanship, and makes it what it is intended to be, an inquiry in the public interest.

In the whole United States there is no such powerful influence as the newspapers working unanimously and aggressively towards one point, and now that this result is evidenced in the determination to curb the selfish practices of the Paper Trust, the breaking down of this monopoly may be predicted.

Even though his political principles are violently antagonistic to Col. Bryan, it is evident that Lieutenant-Governor Woodruff, of New York, like the Nebraskan, proposes to do some traveling on his own account in the hope of gaining a place on the National ticket—the G. O. P. Vice-Presidential honor being his goal. Last week Mr. Woodruff made a flying trip of 3,000 miles just for the sake of delivering a speech and widening his acquaintance in Nebraska with a view of strengthening his candidacy. He arrived in Lincoln just in time to deliver his oration at a Republican affair, and after the effort was completed he jumped on a return train and went speeding towards home. If anyone of the numerous Jerseymen who have been mentioned as likely running mates with McKinley should earnestly desire to land the nomination, it would be well for them to get a bunch of railroad passes in order to keep up with the pace which the Honorable Tim has set.

A Washington correspondent has been investigating the wealth of the various members of the United States Senate. According to careful estimate Senator John Kean, of New Jersey, is rated as the second wealthiest member of that august body. His wealth is put at $10,000,000 and his income at $2,000 per day. The only member quoted as being richer than the Sage of Ursino is Senator Clark, of Montana. Of course, there is a grave question as to whether he will be permitted to retain his seat on account of the fraud and bribery in connection with his election, and in case he should be unseated that would put the New Jersey junior Senator at the top of the list, so far as money goes. Senator Sewell's wealth is said to be somewhat less than $1,000,000, but what the latter lacks in money he makes up in influence in Washington.

One of the most pernicious pieces of legislation which was passed by both the Senate and Assembly was the bill providing that any corporation could at any time prior to the expiration of its charter extend the same for a period not exceeding fifty years by simply filing a certificate with the Secretary of State, thus obviating the likelihood of being compelled by the authorities to adjust its terms for future operations in a more equitable manner than prevailed under charters granted before public privileges were regarded with as much value as nowadays. It is gratifying, however, to see that Governor Voorhees recognized the perniciousness of the bill and promptly vetoed it. Its passage was a big blot upon the record of the Legislature.

In a review of the record of the Union county Assemblymen in the Legislature during the recent session the Elizabeth Journal says that "Assemblyman Foote, of Plainfield, has proved a thoughtful and conservative legislator, not given overmuch to oratory, but well able to advocate or oppose in forceful and convincing language whenever occasion required. Very few in the Legislature have had a more thorough knowledge of every measure before that body than has Mr. Foote. He has been a creditable and valuable addition the Union county representation."

It is worth while noting that some of the measures which fell by the wayside in the late Legislature were as follows: Providing for a five per cent. interest law; for the construction of an ocean boulevard; for the erection of a new Senate chamber; the Abbett resolution calling for the election of United States Senators by the popular vote, and various anti-Trust bills and others of a similar character which were fathered by the Hudson county delegation.

Former Assemblyman Squire, of Elizabeth, is bobbing up serenely in the political ring again. Having recovered his breath after receiving a solar plexus blow from the News editor last fall, Mr. Squire is "out" for the nomination of Alderman-at-large at the hands of the Republicans in Elizabeth. His chances for securing the nomination are said to be excellent.

The decision of the Councilmanic street committee to ask for a smaller appropriation this year than was granted last, will be welcome news to property owners whose resources will be severely taxed this year by the contemplated municipal expenses of a special character.

For acting as peacemaker between Messrs. Carnegie and Frick, James B. Dill, the well-known corporation lawyer of New Jersey, is said to have received a fee of $1,000,000. And yet we wonder why so many young men want to become lawyers in New Jersey.

Our esteemed friend, Mr. Bunion, calls us "a gang of North avenue fakirs" now. Heretofore it has been only one so direfully accused by Bunion. Our genial and kind-hearted contemporary is affording a beautiful example of the growth of an idea.

Political influence is all right in its place, but its place is not to induce the granting of liquor licenses in this city when there is no need for them.

The young fellow who has sown his wild oats and decided to settle down in life generally has to settle up first before he succeeds in his resolve.

The publication of the schedule of games in the National League is evidence that the base bawling season is upon us.

Some people call Aguinaldo a leader of a race. Yes, sort of a foot-race just now.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Depew, of East Ninth street, have returned after spending the winter in New York.

Our English Cousins

Are peculiar in many ways.

They like to drink water without ice.

They would rather walk upstairs than take an elevator.

They use ordinary portable bath tubs in place of stationary porcelain or metal ones such as we have.

What seems to us the funniest thing of all is that they absolutely prefer chicory in their coffee.

It is easy enough for any one to get adulterated coffee in this country. But the good housewife watches carefully that she is not thus imposed upon.

Those who have learned by experience and wish to be absolutely sure that they are getting pure coffee and the best coffee, without a grain of adulteration, ask for and insist upon having Chase & Sanborn's Coffees.

There is none better on the market. Every bean has been carefully selected from plantations, famous for their coffee crops.

The fact that these coffees bear the seal of Chase & Sanborn is in itself a sufficient guarantee that they are full weight and in every way perfect.

Seal Brand Coffee comes in one and two-pound tin cans, and their other high grades in richly colored parchment-lined imported bags.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, March 27.—Mrs. Abram C. Bennett, an aged woman who occupied apartments with her husband in the same house with William Larkins on Walnut street, died suddenly yesterday morning about 8 o'clock. Although Mrs. Bennett had been ill for some time with the grip, of late her condition had somewhat improved. She was about the house Sunday and feeling fairly well. During the night Mrs. Bennett was taken worse and gradually sank until death released her from her sufferings. Her husband and two or three children survive her. No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral, which will be in charge of W. G. Runyon.

The new Board of Education organized Saturday evening. William Hamilton was re-elected president and F. T. Dickerson clerk. There was quite a contest for the latter office. A vote was taken, which resulted in a tie. Then the two candidates "drew straws." Mr. Dickerson being the lucky man, he was decided the choice of the Board by a unanimous vote.

At last night's meeting of Court Dunellen, Independent Order of Foresters, an interesting debate took place on the question: "Resolved, That the Boers Should be Given Their Independence." John Peters and Fred T. Dickerson took the affimative and S. O. Sutton and Wilson Fredericks the negative.

Ernest Peters, the genial baggagemaster at the Central station, visited Bellevue Hospital in New York Sunday and was shown through the institution by his friend Walter Moore, a former employe of his father in this place, who is in charge of the alcoholic ward.

Mr. Mayo, of Camden, made an address at the Presbyterian and Methodist churches Sunday on the Children's Home. There were no services in the Presbyterian church in the evening, the Rev. A. I Martine, the pastor, being absent from town.

William W. Walters, who has occupied rooms over Garrettson & Gray's office, is moving to Washington, N. J., where he will follow the vocation of a farmer.

Squire A. W. Warden, the venerable Justice of the Peace, is again able to be out after a severe attack of grip, much to the gratification of his many friends.

William Dellinger, of Front street, a trusted clerk in the Central Railroad office in New York, has been confined to his home with a severe cold.

T. J. Ronayne, the courteous ticket agent at the Central station, has returned from a short visit with his parents at Rahway.

A traveling moving-picture company is to hold forth at Apgar Hall Thursday evening.

Some of the young folks are to give a private hop at Apgar Hall on the night of April 22d.

Mrs. P. W. Brakeley and daughter Louise spent yesterday in New York.

Those who visited the gypsy camp Sunday were treated to an insight into "sporting life." There was a fight at the camp while just outside a crap game was in full swing.

The revival meetings, under the direction of Evangelist Needham, the "Artist Preacher," will be resumed in the Baptist church this evening.

Fanwood Council, R. A., will hold their semi-monthly meeting in their rooms this evening.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, March 27—McDonough Bros. are tearing the board roof off of their icehouse and replacing it with shingles. The board roof was a failure.

We are promised a new macadam road from town to Park avenue. It will probably be the road past Dan Randolph's.

George Conover's vans were here yesterday unloading household goods off the cars for Plainfield parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Terral gave a party last night in honor of their daughter Grace's sixteenth birthday.

The gift and inclination for some particular work which are born with everybody happened in the case of Miss Susan Coxhead of the isle of Jersey to be a genius for wood carving. When a child, she whittled in wood instead of playing with dolls. At 8 years of age she did fretwork.

As she grew to womanhood her ideality found expression, not in frills and fashions and netting and darned work, those soap bubble trifles which girls waste their time over and imagine meanwhile that they are doing something. The picture visions of beauty that impressed themselves on her brain she sought to express outwardly in wood.

The girl was one of those fortunate young women who have their own living to earn. For her there was nothing except to utilize the gift with which nature had dowered her. To perfect herself in the occupation on which her heart was set she went up to London and placed herself under the tuition of Mr. Rogers, the distinguished sculptor in wood. A fine picture of this beloved teacher occupies a prominent place in her shop, whence he seems to look down and still encourage his brave girl pupil.

Three years Miss Coxhead remained with Mr. Rogers, doing her best steadily and enthusiastically to train her brain, eye and strong, nimble fingers for her trade. Then she returned to Jersey and opened her shop. Let us be artistic and call it a studio.

When she began business on her own account, she made the discovery that in order to carve furniture to the best advantage it is well to know something of the making of furniture. That was the next step in her education. She took a course of lessons in cabinet making. She designs and fashions chairs, tables and cupboards, and the four legs, for a rarity and a wonder, are all of the same length—do not "teeter" the slightest. It is not often a man cabinet maker does that.

In her studio Miss Coxhead has a regulation carpenter's bench and set of tools. You see the bench in the picture. The lady standing at the bench is one of the girl carver's pupils. A lively and likely young man is among the most promising of her students at present. When she chooses, this cool headed, firm nerved young woman can saw out from the rough wood and fit and join any piece of furniture required, then smooth and polish it and cover it with chiseled designs as beautiful as imagination can picture.

A panel for a screen especially attracted my attention. It was of American walnut. The carving represented a conventionalized poppy design. Toward the top sat a wide eyed, slumberous owl, the owl suggestive of night, the poppies of sleep. Plainly here was to be a screen for a bedroom.

Near the panel was a carved chair of massive white oak, standing upon its legs as level and solid as an honest man, strong enough to bear the weight of an Ajax or the fat woman in a show. It was intended for a hall seat or a dining room chair for the heavy and important head of a family.

Beside the oaken chair of state was another of a very different pattern, what fashionable ladies call a spinning chair. Very rich and fashionable women of these days sometimes play at spinning flax. They would lift their white hands in horror at the thought of doing so in earnest, as their great-grandmothers had to do. But so soon as an occupation ceases to be of any earthly use then it may become fashionable. The pretty woman sits in a chair consisting of a stool with a single board nailed to it for a back. In front of her is a little wheel, the lineal descendant of that on which our women ancestors many times removed spun the thread wherewith to weave their wedding garments, twining into every yard of it some sweet thought or hope for the future.

But now the woman who spins is dressed like a fashion plate. The wheel and the spinning chair are exquisitely carved. At the top of the branchlike arrangement which holds the flax—I forget what it is called—is tied a knot of glistening satin ribbons that cost more than the fair spinner's great-great-grandmother would have paid for the stool she sat on while she spun and sang. Oh, yes, it is fine to play at spinning flax, and a pretty picture a fair, fashionably dressed woman makes at her wheel. But what's the good of it? The only good I know is that it gives the work of making the wheel and chair to an illustrious and deserving artist like Miss Coxhead.

In her studio she has a collection of several pieces of her work. There is a cabinet which represents one of her most successful achievements. It is of Italian oak, designed in the renaissance style, and is carved at the top, front and sides. For this piece Miss Coxhead obtained over $200, even in this island, out of the way, though beautiful as any spot on earth. She works for the leading furniture houses here, receiving orders for their best articles.

Some admirable specimens of her skill were wrought out in an order she executed for the governing body of the island. It ordained that the names of all the mayors, "constables" they are called here, a list dating back to the year 1400, should be graven upon brass—very properly—and be framed and put on exhibition permanently in the town hall as a perpetual remembrance, or warning, to their successors. The frames were seven feet high and were carved out of oak. This carving their young and talented fellow townswoman executed to the great credit of both herself and the eminent body that gave her the order.

To me, however, the fine girl wood carver and cabinet maker herself is far more interesting than her work, handsome, honest and solid as that is. As with most artists, there is something occult and mystical in the way her designs come to her. Who can tell how it is? A picture appears before her closed eyes. Sometimes it is a complete design. Again it is only a hint. She takes it up, thinks over it, studies it out and adapts it in her mind to the wood in which she must materialize it.

Like the poet Goethe, she has the rare faculty of visualizing objects she is thinking of strongly. When the design for a piece of carving is fully finished in her mind, she can sit quietly and reproduce it exactly, not as a mere mental image, but as an actual picture hanging in the air before her.

And yet there is nothing the least moony or mystical about the wood carver girl. She has a merry sense of humor. She loves her work with perfect devotion. To her it takes the place of almost all that other girls care for, novel reading, gossip, fashions and flirting. She does not read a novel a year. It is lucky that her work takes the place of a sweetheart, for in Jersey there is no more than one sweetheart to six girls, and most must therefore do without.

But Miss Coxhead has plenty of recreation. She is perfectly healthy and loves rowing, cycling, walking and all athletic exercises. She has never worn a corset in her life and never known an illness. She has strong, splendid arms and hands and not an ounce of pulpy, flabby flesh upon her active, graceful body. I wish there were thousands more like her.

When she looks at you out of her clear, direct, honest eyes, you know she cannot help doing conscientious work. She thinks girls and boys are pampered too much physically and brought up in a way oversoft and luxurious, and perhaps she is right. I wonder, too, when I see her work why girls not obliged to earn their living do not learn wood carving oftener and construct artistic furniture for their homes. Such occupation would be both more useful and more healthful than reading novels and thumping a piano with indifferent success.

And all the time Miss Coxhead was talking to me I was thinking, What a grand American girl you would make!

FLOWER GARDEN CITY.

Sketch of Bloemfontein, Capital of the Orange Free State.

NAMED BY AN EMIGRANT WOMAN.

Its Elevation Is About 4,500 Feet Above Sea Level—Climate Is Healthiest In South Africa—Residents Are a Sport Loving People—Have a Race Course and Golf Links.

Nearly 65 years ago a party of Boer emigrants from Cape Colony came upon a little plain in the territory north of the Orange river, and as it first burst upon their eyes a woman in the party exclaimed, "It's a bloemfontein" (flower garden). And such indeed it was. The plain was covered with wild flowers and presented a glorious appearance to these, the first white people that had ever looked upon it. "Here we shall camp," the leader of the emigrants said, and thus was Bloemfontein, the pretty little capital of the Orange Free State, which recently passed into the hands of the British, founded and named.

The little plain was already well known to the natives for its salubrious climate, and the first white people found it inhabited by many thousands of blacks, but the negroes were kindly disposed toward the whites and allowed them to take the choicest land in the plain and erect their homes thereon with no demur. The first buildings were erected on what is now Douglas street in Bloemfontein, and the first church built is still standing and is pointed out to the visitor as one of the sights of the capital. And a building 65 years old is entitled to great respect and consideration in South Africa, where everything that bears the handiwork of man is so garish.

The site of Bloemfontein is lovely and it is admirably adapted for defense. The little plain is bordered by a range of hills some 2,000 or 3,000 feet in height. The plain is well watered, and the climate is the healthiest in South Africa. On one of the hills to the south stands the little fort erected by the British when they took possession of the country in 1848. It is a quaint little structure, built of stone, and would offer but small resistance to modern guns. But the Boers have added to its strength by building earthworks around it and have mounted some fine pieces of artillery there. In front of it is a handsome monument to the Boers who fell in the Basuto war.

From Modder hill, on the northern side, the largest hill in the range, a magnificent view of the plains to the north may be obtained. The atmosphere is so clear that the naked eye can see for a distance of nearly 30 miles, and with a telescope the view is uninterrupted for nearly 100 miles. The ridge of these hills today is surmounted by earthworks, and the passes fairly bristle with artillery.

The residents of Bloemfontein are a sport loving people, and cricket, racing and golf are among their favorite diversions. They have established a handsome golf links just beyond the government hospital, where even the high government officers come to engage in this game. Nearer the town is a race course a full mile around, with a large grand stand, and cricket grounds, with a good sized pavilion. These grounds are frequently used by the students from the various colleges for football games, which are quite popular here, though the game is comparatively new in the country.

To borrow a few facts from the gazetteers and guidebooks: Bloemfontein is about 300 miles from Durban and about twice that distance from Cape Town. It is on one of the trunk lines running from Cape Town to the north and has four or five large and handsome hotels. Its population is now about 11,000, of which about 4,000 are negroes. Its elevation is about 4,500 feet above sea level. It has three daily newspapers and is the seat of Anglican and Roman Catholic bishoprics and is also a center of Wesleyan learning.

The Zoology of the Upper Nile.

An expedition has just left England with the object of ascending the Nile as far up as possible beyond Khartum and exploring the country on both sides of the river south of Fashoda, which is said to teem with big game of all kinds. Almost nothing is known of the zoology of the region of the upper Nile, and the expedition will devote most of its collections to this subject, making extensive collections as it works its way up, says the London Globe. The services of two experienced naturalists who were with Mr. Mackinder in his recent expedition to Mount Kenija have been secured, and they will be aided by a number of native collectors.

They Certainly Need It.

It looks as if a complete outfit of American fire fighting apparatus would be a paying exhibit at the Paris show.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

GOOD USE FOR TREES.

Many of Them Will Be Planted In the Conemaugh Valley.

The Johnstown flood of May 31, 1889, will probably soon be recalled to the public by an attempt to reforest a large portion of the Conemaugh watershed to prevent further damage from freshets, says the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Inter Ocean. The Johnstown Water company, which controls 5,000 acres of mountain land, has asked the division of forestry to devise a plan by which the area can be covered with timber and the too rapid run off of the rainfall prevented.

The region is peculiarly liable to freshets, owing to its geological character and the removal of its timber. The now historic catastrophe, which swept away $10,000,000 in property and half as many lives as the battle of Gettysburg, was but an exaggerated instance of many similar floods. This tendency has been increased by logging off the timber and clearing numerous farms, so that the rainfall flows quickly from the surface, causing high water at one time and the drying up of springs later.

The Johnstown Water company has bought up many of these farms and torn down their buildings and now wishes to expedite their return to the forest. The tract is in a sandstone region, much broken, with valleys averaging 350 feet in depth. The timber consists of hemlock, oak, locust and ash, with some beech and poplar. The openings are from 20 to 50 acres.

As soon as the weather permits J. W. Toumey, superintendent of tree planting, and another working plan expert of the division of forestry will examine the region and decide on a plan of reforestation. In the clearings tree planting will be required. An attempt will probably be made to increase the stand over the whole area by skillfully assisting natural reproduction. Protection from fire and cattle will also be required. The expense will be shared by the government and the water company, the former furnishing the expert work and possibly some of the material for planting.

OLD GLORY IN PHILIPPINES.

Gift of Flags From a Grand Army Post Greatly Appreciated.

The flags for the schools of the Philippine Islands which were forwarded by Lafayette post, No. 140, department of New York, Grand Army of the Republic, in November last to the care of General Otis for distribution under orders from the war department have been heard from.

It was in the line of the patriotic work of this active post that these flags were sent and, in connection with the 600 bunting flags, 4 by 6, taken to Porto Rico by Commander Allan C. Bakewell and the 160 sent to Hawaii more recently, completes the outfit for all the schools of the three colonial possessions recently acquired by the United States.

Two hundred of these bunting flags, together with an equal number of silk flags for the salutation exercises of the schools, sent to the Philippines to be distributed by Colonel J. W. French of the Twenty-second infantry, a member of Lafayette post on duty at Candaba, Luzon, have been acknowledged by George P. Anderson, superintendent of public instruction at Manila, who says in a letter dated Jan. 23: "I desire to extend the thanks of the teachers, pupils and myself of this city for the flags received through your benevolence. I can state that for the rest of the islands wherever the flags are placed there will be grateful Americans. As for the native people, they may not at present appreciate the great kindness of your post, but as we know them better and gain their confidence more fully and understand each other's speech better they shall learn to appreciate this gift as we do.

"The school work is progressing as well as might be expected under the circumstances, and as I make my daily rounds I shall enjoy saluting Old Glory as I enter the school buildings and feel my work to be now in the fullest sense American."

EXHIBITION OF PICTURES.

A Scheme to Have a Yearly Display at Washington.

A plan, already well formulated, to have a yearly display of pictures in Washington on the lines of the Paris salon is now under consideration, and the first exhibit will begin the 15th of April at the Corcoran Art gallery, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger. The promoters of this undertaking are a number of leading society women, prominent among whom are Mrs. F. D. McGuire and Mrs. John B. Henderson. Only works of Washington artists will be admitted this year, but it is hoped that by another year the exhibition will include all American artists. In addition to pictures, there will be miniatures on ivory, of which Washington can boast an unusually large and fine collection.

Twelve competent persons will pass judgment upon the pictures before they are admitted, and every effort will be made to keep the standard up to the highest degree of excellence. The directors of the Corcoran Art gallery are greatly interested in the movement and already have taken action upon the matter. This step will go far toward proving that the national capital is alive to the necessity of developing its artistic side, which has been thought by many to be less advanced than in other large American cities. That it will be a success if properly managed is almost certain, and the plan is meeting with much interest on all sides and great enthusiasm among artists, to whom it will be an especial boon.

VALET GOT THE PISTOL.

Then Made His Debut in Texas Colored Society with Becoming Trappings.

The recent tragedy in Kentucky has brought Col. Jack Chinn once more into prominence. He was with Gov. Goebel when the latter was shot and, disdaining the stream of bullets which continued to come from that mysterious window, he leaned over and ministered to the wants of his friend. Col. Chinn is known all over the United States as one of the best race starters in the country and as a man of unquestioned personal courage.

"Col. Jack Chinn's knife," a murderous-looking blade, is also pretty well known. It is said that Chinn never permits this weapon to leave his possession.

Several years ago Col. Chinn visited Texas. He took with him a negro valet, Sam. The negro had been a slave in the Chinn family before the war and idolized his young master. One night while in Houston, Tex., the darky went to Chinn and said:

"Massah Jack, I'se goin' out in cullud society heah to-night, an' I'd like to borrow dat ivory-handled six shooter of yours to take along."

"Why, you black rascal," returned the colonel, "some of these Houston coons will take that gun away from you and break it over your head."

The darky straightened up. Like his master, he was a man of unquestioned nerve and there was a peculiar glitter in his eye as he said:

"Massah Jack, you let me hab dat gun an' if I don't show up heah wid it in de mawnin' you go down to de morgue an' throwh down de sheet an' say: 'Lawd! don't he look nacherl.'"

Col. Chinn's body servant was that night armed in a manner that entitled him to move in the best circles of Afro-American society in Houston.—Chicago Chronicle.

Household Hints.

Marble may be cleaned by simply rubbing it with dry salt and a rag.

A piece of pointed whalebone is a good thing with which to clean out the corners of window sashes.

Grass toweling is the best for dish towels and dish cloths, as the coarse, open mesh will not hold grease and water.

Rubbing with coal ashes will remove the unsightly yellow stains which often appear in cups and saucers that have been used for a long time.

Mirrors should never be placed where the sun's rays fall directly upon them, as the sunlight affects the metallic coating, and often cracks the reflecting surface.—Housewife.

Statistical and Historical Data Bearing on the News of the Day from Foreign Lands

Public Improvements in Siam.

Siam is receiving considerable attention from all portions of Europe at the present time. Surplus capital from England, Germany, France, Italy and other nations is seeking an outlet in this little kingdom.

There is a great amount of building going on in Bangkok, a conservative estimate placing the number of permanent buildings that have been erected during the last year and are now in process of construction at 2,500. These do not include the temporary structures of the natives, but represent all styles of more permanent buildings, from the rented shop and humble dwelling to the new palace at Tusit park and the most pretentious modern dwelling house. The materials used in the construction of these buildings are wood, brick, corrugated iron and tile. A few years ago teak wood was the most common building material, but the great advance in the price of teak has led to the importation of cheaper woods and an endeavor to obtain other lumber from the forests of Siam. Several large fires have given rise to ordinances prohibiting "attap" (thatched) roofs or bamboo structures in the city in future. These circumstances, on the whole, have proved beneficial, for the city now rising is for a large part made up of brick, iron and tile.

The sanitary department has also taken advantage of these fires to broaden the streets in the burned districts, so as to give room for sidewalks of brick and cement and open brick sewers between the sidewalks and the streets. These improvements are now being pushed beyond the confines of the burned districts; and the temporary structures that have encroached upon the streets, as time has gone by, are gradually giving way to sidewalks and sewers throughout the city.

Thirty-five years ago there were no streets in Bangkok. All traffic was carried on by boats, and the numerous canals still compete with the street traffic. As late as ten years ago there were no more than nine miles of paved streets in the whole city. To-day there are over 47 miles, and many new streets are being opened up each year, on which the old iron and wooden bridges are being replaced by modern steel bridges. The king himself builds one steel bridge each year out of his private funds as a gift to the city, and this is opened to the public with some ceremony on his birthday. The government imports from England every year considerable quantities of bridge materials.

Seventy-five miles of canals traverse the city of Bangkok, a large percentage of which has been added in recent years. The tendency, however, is to make streets instead.

There is an 8,000-light (incandescent) central station in Bangkok which was purchased in 1890 from the English Brush company by a Siamese company, for the purpose of lighting the king's palace and for the use of the public. The plant was not operated until 1894, as the company met with financial difficulties, and finally it was turned over to Mr. L. E. Bennett, an American engineer, under a 20-year exclusive franchise to furnish light for the government and the public. Since that time it has been operated fairly well by an American syndicate.

Rice cultivation is the principal industry of Siam. There are 26 steam rice mills in Bangkok, and, although the first one in the country was started by an American, none are owned by Americans to-day. Four are European and the rest are owned or managed by Chinese. Some of the Chinese firms have a very large capital. Seven of the mills have their own electric light plants, one of which was furnished by an American house; all the other supplies and the rice-milling machinery used here have come from England and Scotland.

A few years ago the paddy or rice husk, which is used for fuel, was so cheap that much waste was permitted in its consumption; now, however, the rapidly increasing price of fuel has created a good market for this husk, and efforts are being made to economize by introducing more improved methods of combustion.

Teak wood is the next most important industry of the country, and there are ten large steam sawmills and many smaller handmills in the city for the manufacture of teak lumber. Three of the mills have their own electric light plants, and all of them get their machinery and supplies from Great Britain.

The Railroad Mileage of Asia.

From various sources United States Consul General Richard Guenther, at Frankfort, Germany, has gathered the following interesting figures regarding the railroad mileage of Asia:

The lines now in existence have a total length of about 30,000 miles, of which two-thirds belong to British India. The portions of the Trans-Caspian and Trans-Siberian railways already constructed have a length of 3,200 miles. A number of European syndicates have obtained concessions for 3,600 miles of railroads in China, which will traverse regions rich in minerals and agriculture; many of these lines are already in process of construction. The Chinese government owns about 300 miles of railway. The lines are very remunerative, especially that from Peking to Tientsin. Japan is well provided with railroads, the present length being 3,200 miles. French Indo China has at present only 120 miles, but the French possessions in Cochin-China, Anam and Tonquin will soon have 2,400 miles, which will greatly help to develop their mineral and agricultural resources. The Dutch Indies are well supplied. Java alone has 1,000 miles. There are as yet no railroads in Persia of any consequence; but Turkey operates 1,500 miles in Asia, and 600 miles more are in construction or projected.

The Russian commission which for months past has been busy with the preliminaries for the construction of a railroad from Astrakhan up the River Volga has completed its labors. The plan is to lay the track on the left shore of the Volga and to connect with the general Russian railway system. This railroad will become of the utmost importance for the whole commerce of Russia with Central Asia and Persia—the more so because at the same time the Volga channel through the Caspian sea will be deepened to enable steamers to proceed directly to Astrakhan without being compelled to reload on flat-bottomed lighters.

Cotton Crop Short in India.

Conditions in India during the present season have proven disastrous to the cotton crop. From northern, central, western and southern India alike the reports are most discouraging. In the beginning of the season the rain fell in some tracts in such quantity as to interfere with sowings, while in others there was not enough to permit of sowings being freely made. There followed throughout the country an interruption in the rain, and the young plants withered and died under the drought and heat.

For the whole of India it may be said that the area and yield compare with those of 1898, so far as an estimate can be made, as follows:

	Area. Acres.	Yield. Bales.*

Strikes in Bohemia and Germany.

Strikes are not any more of an unusual occurrence in Europe than they are in America. During the year 1899, many strikes occurred in Bohemian textile factories against the 11-hour and for a 10-hour day. In some cases they were successfull; in others, concessions were made; on the whole, the strikers gained a material advantage.

The chief objection of the Bohemian manufacturers to decreasing the hours of labor was that in Germany, in similar establishments, the 11-hour day prevailed, and that to cut off one-eleventh of the daily working time would seriously handicap them in the race for business.

But now comes the news from the great textile center of Germany that more than 20,000 workers, stimulated by the victory of their colaborers in Bohemia, are agitating for the ten-hour day, and that they propose to organize the entire textile working force of Saxony in furthering this movement.

It therefore looks as if the ruinous competition from Germany, feared by the Bohemian manufacturers, would be checked.

SPORTING.

POOL.

Unless there is a tie at the wind-up, which seems quite likely, the handicap pool tournament at Krewson's pool rooms will end this week. There are still some exciting matches to be played on which the final positions of the leaders will be decided. Two games were scheduled for last night. Sutterline gained another victory by defeating DeNise in a hard fought game. Sutterline won 75 to 82, DeNise playing at scratch. Sutterline's victory put him in the lead with sixteen wins and two defeats. Rushmore is second with fifteen wins and two defeats.

WHIST

The match Saturday evening for the American Whist League challenge trophy, between the New Jersey Whist Club and the Albany Chess and Whist Club resulted in the defeat of the Jerseymen by a score of Albany 21, to New Jersey 18. The games were played at the Roseville club rooms. The Jerseymen were quite confident, as they were ahead seven tricks at the thirty-sixth deal, with only twelve more to play. But they lost their grip somehow, and at the conclusion were three points behind their opponents.

GOLF

Lewis E. Waring, chairman of golf at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, requests the members to keep off the course until April 21st, when the formal opening for the season will take place. The course is now being rolled and prepared for the season, and if players use the grounds it will retard very much the work.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The famous Chinese magician and shadowist, Ah Foon, and his great company of specialists, appear at Music Hall Friday night and also Saturday matinee and Saturday night. Much has been said by the New York city and State press in praise of the individual work of Ah Foon, who is said to be one of the most expert sleight-of-hand performers that has ever been seen in the United States. He has been meeting with great success on his late tour, his performances being likened to Hermann and Kellar's, and he is evidently a man of ability. Chinese legerdemain and magic are leading features at the present time in all the leading vaudeville houses, but Ah Foon does not believe in surfeiting his audience with too much of that class of entertainment, so has surrounded himself with a splendid company of vaudeville artists, all "headliners" from the Keith and Proctor circuit, who will add much to the evening's enjoyment. Reserved seats for either night can now be secured at the box office.

Truck to Take Millions.

George D. Rockefeller, an old resident of Somerville, presented a check at the Second National Bank there yesterday for $2,000,200. Rockefeller said that the amount had been placed to his credit in the bank by John D. Rockefeller. The paying teller accepted the check and persuaded Rockefeller to go in search of a truck to carry off the money. He has disappeared.

SHOT FOR $100 A SIDE

"KID" CALLOWAY MET WITH DEFEAT YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

L. G. James the Winner by Three Points—Several Friendly Contests Also Shot.

"Kid" Calloway met with defeat at the traps yesterday afternoon, when L. G. James won out by three birds in a 50-bird shoot for $100 a side, held at Campbell's roadhouse during the afternoon. Calloway has been winning right along lately and his defeat was a surprise to his friends. Considerable money changed hands on the result.

James took the lead at the very start, the "Kid" missing his first bird. James shot well and did not miss until the eighth. He used his second barrel most of the time, however. Both failed to drop their fifteenth and their twentieth, while Calloway let his twenty-first get away as well.

The first twenty-five birds showed James one bird in the lead, having killed twenty-two to Calloway's twenty-one. In beginning the second twenty-five, the "Kid" weakened. He missed the twenty-seventh, the thirty-second, the thirty-fourth, fortieth and the forty-eighth. James only missed three of the twenty five.

The total score showed James victor by a score of 44 to 41. The referee was T. H. Brantingham, of South Plainfield.

Two friendly shoots followed in which John Adelmann defeated C. C. Howard in a five-bird match and J. A. Staats won from Edward White in a match of ten birds.

Harshburger, of Pennington, is now scheduled to shoot with "Kid" Calloway Friday afternoon in a match of fifty birds for $50 a side.

—To the Editor of The Press: Dear Sir—Please convey through your columns my heartfelt thanks to Mr. F. L. Bathmann, 608 East Sixth street, for services rendered me. I was troubled with rheumatism in my arms, hands and lower limbs for over 10 years and used many remedies, which however, did not cure me, but sometimes gave me a little relief. At times I could not do any work and often was perfectly helpless and could not sleep from pain. I took electric treatment of Mr. F. L. Bathmann and in 2 weeks was completely cured without any medicine. Mrs. Jane Whykhoff, 43 Summit avenue.

NOT FASTIDIOUS THIEVES.

They Steal Anything From Church Bells to Chickens.

Thieves have been visiting the section between Union and Roselle, and got away with bells on them. They broke into the Kypling chapel, ascended the belfry, and got away with a brass bell weighing over three hundred pounds. The chapel was built by Richard Kypling, a New York diamond broker, twenty-five years ago. After getting the bell they stole two sets of harness from Louis Wenz and one hundred and fifty chickens from Wenz and other farmers in the vicinity.

WILL VISIT DUBLIN.

Queen Victoria Has Decided to Honor Her Irish Subjects.

During Her Visit to the Emerald Isle She Will Be Entertained by the Earl of Cadogan, Lord Lieutenant of the Kingdom.

George Henry, earl of Cadogan, lord lieutenant of Ireland, who will act as the official host of Victoria during her majesty's visit to Ireland in April, is probably the one individual in the Emerald Isle who is properly equipped for so lofty a service as entertainer of the queen of England and empress of India. Personally the earl has done much to distinguish himself. His high rank in the nobility has given him a certain prominence in conservative politics, but he is by no means as great a man as some of his predecessors in the office he now holds. That office is tremendously greater than the man, and few Americans know the extent of its dignity, its retinue and its largess.

Lord Cadogan's establishment is more regal than those of more than half of the kings of Europe. This is as it should be—from the standpoint of royalty—for he is vice regent of Ireland and the official name of his seat is the "vice regal lodge," situated in the most pleasant part of Phoenix park, Dublin, and upheld by a state as magnificent as the impoverished country which supports it is squalid. The household of the lord lieutenant is really a royal court, and no small court at that. A glance at its composition will show that the queen will be subjected to no mean entertainment when she lodges at the palace in Phoenix park.

The salary of the lord lieutenant is $100,000 a year. This sum he is supposed to spend annually with the lavish hand of royalty. He has a private secretary, who is paid as much as is the president of the United States. He has an "additional private secretary" and two assistant private secretaries, who receive large stipends. Among other officers of the court, many of whom are perfectly useless retainers whose functions have long since lapsed, are the Ulster king of arms, the state steward, the comptroller, the gentleman usher, the chamberlain, the master of the horse, several gentlemen in waiting, four aids-de-camp, six "extra" aids-de-camp, physician in ordinary, two surgeons in ordinary, one surgeon to the household, a surgeon oculist, a surgeon dentist, a first chaplain and a subdean. All of these officers of the household are under salaries more or less liberal, the least useful officials receiving the highest pay.

Entertainments at the vice-regal lodge are on a scale commensurate with the dignity of the office. How much this natural dignity will be increased while the queen resides in the lodge may be easily imagined.

Earl Cadogan has been lord lieutenant since 1895. He is descended from a long line of illustrious ancestors, and he is the fifth earl of his title, which was created in 1800. He was born in 1840, and married in 1865 Beatrix Jane, the daughter of the second earl of Craven. His eldest son, Albert, has as sponsor the prince of Wales, and his granddaughter, Sibyl Louise Beatrix, child of his second son, Henry Arthur, is the goddaughter of the duchess of Fife, the eldest daughter of the prince of Wales.

Before his appointment to the vice regency in Ireland Lord Cadogan's places had been under secretary for war, chief secretary for Ireland, lord privy seal and chairman of the grand committees.

FOR PRESIDENT, EUGENE VICTOR DEBS.

The Socialists are not only "advanced thinkers," but are early risers when it comes to action. The Social Democratic party has its candidate for president of the United States, to be voted for in November next, already in the field. Eugene Victor Debs is the man. The party's platform is as radically socialistic as the English language could make it.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Richard Williamson has been in charge of the Rosemont cemetery at Flemington for the past eighteen years, and during that time has dug 400 graves. His father, Mahlon Williamson, preceded him, and occupied the position for forty-five years, digging 1,025 graves. The oldest date on a headstone is 1774, though there is evidence that many bodies found a resting place in the cemetery before that time. Sophiah Stewart was the oldest person buried in the cemetery. She died at the age of 103 years.

A perfect model of the British first-class battleship Magnificent is now being displayed in Curtis M. Thorpe's establishment on Park avenue. The model is the work of Berthold Audsley, of Grove street, and has been in the course of construction for eleven months. It is made of wood, cardboard and paper, with some fine wire. It is built on the scale of an eighth of an inch to the foot. The model is a perfect one and shows all the armament, boats, rigging and everything complete.

CHANCE FOR ESSEX IN BERGEN'S BOOM

Discord in Union County Ranks May Lose Nomination For This County.

BERGEN'S CHANCES SMALL.

TROUBLE IS CONTINUATION OF QUARREL AMONG ELIZABETH LEADERS.

Much Interest in Plainfield Over the Republican Congressional Nomination—This City Might Supply A Compromise Candidate.

Every day brings forth fresh assurances that Frank Bergen is really in earnest in his attempt to secure the Republican nomination for Congressman in the Eighth Congressional district. Every local politician of the Republican party is interested as it means opposition for Charles N. Fowler, the present Congressman, and further troubles in the Republican camp at the county seat. The difficulties that may arise from this split in the ranks are far more reaching than appear on the surface.

The Eighth district includes all of Union county, Essex county, except the city of Newark, and the city of Bayonne in Hudson county. The delegates at the Republican Congressional convention are divided so that Union county receives 95; Essex, 88, and Hudson, 18.

Knowing ones say that this fight for the Congressional nomination that has just come to the surface is merely a new phase of the old split that has existed for some time in the Republican ranks at Elizabeth. The fight at the last county convention, when the upper wards of the county seat were lined up against the rest of the city, showed how deep was the feeling. This same undercurrent has existed since Former Mayor Rankin and Senator Kean came to an issue on the question of county leadership.

Although the statement has been made that Senator Kean is not behind Frank Bergen's boom, it is a well understood fact that Mr. Kean and Mr. Fowler are not the best of political friends. Then it is also known that Mr. Bergen is in very intimate relations with the Senator. The inference is that, even if Senator Kean gives no open support to the Bergen boom, he will not offer any opposition.

What is Frank Bergen's object in thus opposing Mr. Fowler, is a question that the Republicans are discussing. Is it a real desire to go to Washington, or has the Elizabeth lawyer an ulterior motive in putting up his name as a candidate for the nomination?

A prominent Republican made the statement yesterday that just as sure as Frank Bergen continued to push his candidacy then would the next Republican nominee for Congress from this district be a resident of Essex county. Bergen can not capture all of the Union county delegates. Neither can Fowler if Bergen continues in the race with even the passive support of Senator Kean. That would mean a split in the Union county delegation. Congressman Fowler has many friends in Essex county who would support him if he came as the unanimous choice of Union. A squabble in the Union county delegation would present such an opening, however, that the Essex county people would not fail to take advantage of the opportunity, select a candidate and nominate him with the help of Bayonne while the Union countyites fought among themselves.

The opinion seems to prevail among the rank and file in this city that Congressman Fowler cannot be renominated if the fight goes on. Bergen, they say, cannot be nominated unless Senator Kean should come out strongly for him and possibly not then. The fight means practically the surrendering of Union county's chances for representation in the House of Representatives. With an Essex county man once in Congress, it would be many years before the coveted honor would return to Union.

This contest in Elizabeth will have its effect on Plainfield. So far the Plainfield leaders have refused to express their opinion on the fight. One prominent local Republican declared that this city would be united. Another believed that the city would be divided as it was at the county convention.

There is still another opportunity for Plainfield as suggested by a local worker. With the two Elizabeth factions quarrelling over a candidate, Plainfield might step forward with a compromise candidate to be supported by the county delegation. Such a course, while possible, is hardly probable. Plainfield has several citi-

EASTER MUSIC.

Special Programme is Being Arranged —Fine Singers Will be Heard.

The Easter music at the First Presbyterian church this year will be of special interest and grandeur. A quartette composed of three well-known singers from New York, and Miss Blanche Fellows, of this city, will take part at the morning and evening services, and there will be vocal solos by Miss Fellows. A special service will be held in the afternoon under the auspices of the Sunday-school, at which time there will be a presentation of carols by the school, and a vocal solo by Miss Fellows, accompanied by Miss Charlotte Cave, with violin obligato. The regular church choir will be augmented by soloists from the late Messiah chorus.

QUARRY BLAST WAS DEADLY

Premature Explosion Killed One Man and Fatally Hurt Two.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, March 28.—By the premature explosion of a blast of dynamite in Allen & Russell's quarry, near Waterloo, yesterday, George Lord, the foreman of the quarry, was killed, and Frederick Mooney and Emil Lozier, laborers, were so seriously hurt that it is possible both will die.

It is believed that the explosion occurred through the adjusting of the firing cap, for the main body of the men had hardly got a safe distance when the explosion came.

To Visit Brothers After Seventeen Years.

Miss Anna Johnson and her sister, Miss Alfrida Johnson, who have been residents of this city for some time past, left Monday for California, where they will take up their residence with their brothers, whom they have not seen in seventeen years. It was only recently that they learned of the whereabouts of the brothers. A correspondence followed and the young women finally decided to make their home with them in the future. They expect to reach California by next Sunday. Their many friends in this city will regret to learn of their departure for they were very popular.

Country Homes.

Every one is interested in a pretty home, and The Ladies' Home Journal is going to picture a number of the best houses—artistically and architecturally—in this country. Each will be shown in sufficient detail to make it serve as a model for any one wishing to build a home—either like the original or with such modifications as existing circumstances may necessitate. Only houses that really stand for the best results in architecture will enter into the series, which will start in the April Journal.

Plans to Better the Negro Race.

An entertainment will be given at the Filmore Baptist church, Filmore avenue, tomorrow evening, which will include a debate on the subject: "What is the Best Method to be Adopted to Better the Condition of Our Race." This question will be debated by the pastors of the local colored churches and several from out of town. There will also be special music and at the close refreshments will be served under the direction of a committee of women from the church.

MR. RANDOLPH AT REST.

LARGE TURNOUT OF FRIENDS AT THE SERVICES YESTERDAY.

Sermon Preached by Revd D J. Yerkes—Remains Interred in Cemetery of Friends' Society.

A large number of the friends of the late George W. F. Randolph and of his family were present at the home of the deceased yesterday afternoon to pay their last respects to his memory. The funeral services were held at 4 o'clock at the family residence, 909 West Front street. Besides the relatives and immediate friends of the family many of the neighbors were present, as were also three gentlemen from the quartermaster's department in New York, where for so many years Mr. Randolph was a faithful and efficient clerk. They were Captain Sutorious and Messrs. Edward McLaughlin and M. B Lovejoy. Chief Clerk Ballinger and Major Ewald, from the transportation department, also sent regrets.

The body of the deceased reposed in a handsome black cloth-covered casket, with silver extensions, that occupied a position at the west side of the front parlor. At the head of the casket was placed a beautiful flora anchor, while a bunch of lilies and another set piece were beside the body, which was exposed to view. The floral offerings were all from relatives.

A large framed portrait of the deceased, which occupied a position on the wall directly over the casket, was draped with the American flag caught up with crepe. During the services, which were very simple but impressive, the family remained in an upper apartment.

The services were begun by singing "Some Time We'll Understand," after which the Rev. Dr. Yerkes, pastor of the First Baptist church, made an address in which he dwelt at some length upon the uncertainties of life, and the fact that those who were fully prepared for that "Land that is Fairer Than Day" need have no fear of death, which comes to us all and from which none escape. Dr. Yerkes also touched feelingly upon the exemplary life of the deceased and of his generous, noble characteristics, that so endeared him to not only his bereaved family but also to his neighbors and many friends.

Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph.D., pastor of Trinity Reformed church, and a near neighbor and dear friend of Mr. Randolph and his afflicted family, made a most effective prayer, eloquent in utterance, sublime in its Christian invocation and particularly touching in its commendation to Almighty God to Whose gracious goodness he intrusted the spirit of the departed.

Previous to viewing the body was sung most touchingly "Christian, Good Night!" Dr. Yerkes pronounced the benediction.

The pallbearers were J. F. Hubbard, J. B. Coward, J. C Pope, John Smith, H. C. Compton and George W. Rockfellow.

The interment was made this morning in the burying ground adjoining the Friends' meeting-house on Watchung avenue.

THE GIRLS' SCHOOL INVESTIGATION.

Assemblyman Meeker Thinks it Has Gone About Far Enough.

In reply to a question, Assemblyman Meeker, the Union county member of the special committee appointed by the Legislature to investigate the conduct and management of the State Industrial School for Girls, said to a reporter yesterday that the committee probably would not hold a session this week.

Mr. Meeker thought that beyond looking carefully over the testimony already taken and holding one more session the work of the committee was about completed. He said he thought it "had already gone about far enough."

Must Study More.

John Scott, a well-known ash carter, applied to the officers of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, recently, for a license to preach, believing that he was called to the work. Last Monday night there was a meeting of the church and it was decided unanimously to recommend that Mr. Scott take up a course of studies in school and prepare himself for the work of preaching. Mr. Scott has not yet decided whether to take up a course of studies or not.

Jury to Determine Property Rights.

A jury trial to determine the title to some property claimed by Nettie L. Moore, which has been levied on to satisfy a claim held by William W. Connolly, will be held this afternoon before Justice Nash. Murphy & Blatz appear for Mrs. Moore, and Paul Q Oliver, of Westfield, for Connolly. The property consists of a horse and a quantity of harness, blankets, etc.

STIRRING UP THINGS.

Rev. Arthur Crane Makes Sensational Charges in His Pulpit in Charleston, S. C.

It is evident that Rev. Arthur Crane, formerly of this city, who recently accepted a pastorate in Charleston, S.C., is stirring up things in that southern town, as the following despatch in the New York Sun indicates:

"Charleston, S. C., March 25—Rev. Arthur Crane, pastor of the First Baptist church, preached a sensational sermon today on vice and sin in Charleston. Last week he visited the 'blind tigers,' gambling houses and questionable resorts, and his sermon was a tirade against these places. He made statements in the pulpit about the city not altogether true, and some of his stories and jokes had the congregation in a flutter of laughter and merriment. It was a sensational day for a church. A great many people here are not in sympathy with the movement."

A FAREWELL RECEPTION

MONROE AVENUE METHODISTS SAY GOODBY TO REV. W. C. O'DONNELL.

He Will be Transferred to the Flemington Church by the Conference That Meets Next Week.

A farewell reception was tendered to Rev. and Mrs. William C. O'Donnell at Epworth House last evening by the congregation of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, of which Rev. Mr. O'Donnell is pastor. Next Sunday will be his last in this city and he will then be transferred by conference to Flemington. Such, at least, is the expectation.

There was a large turnout of the congregation to say goodby to their first pastor. During the years that he has been in Plainfield Rev. Mr. O'Donnell has made himself very popular not only with his congregation but with all those with whom he has come in contact. His wife has equally shared in his popularity.

There was a general expression of regret from all those present last evening that they were to lose their pastor and his wife and all united in wishing them the best of success in their new field and promising them a hearty welcome should they ever have the opportunity of visiting Plainfield again.

Epworth House was prettily decorated with palms and potted plants. During the evening several instrumental selections were given by Mr. Wallender, violin, and Miss Husselton, piano. Walter M. McGee, superintendent of the Sunday-school, made a short speech, telling of the great esteem in which the young couple are held and wishing them the best of success.

A committee from the Ladies' Aid Society, with Mrs. I. P. LaRue as chairman, served refreshments.

TOLD OF THE HOLY LAND.

LECTURE OF DR. RICHARDS ON WHAT HE SAW IN PALESTINE.

Supplemented With Pictures Taken by the Reverend Gentleman During the Trip.

The chapel of the Crescent Avenue church was filled to its utmost capacity last evening when Dr. Richards gave an interesting lecture on Palestine, through which country he traveled with the Honeyman party about a year ago. While on this trip Dr. Richards took a number of pictures, and these, together with a few others, were used last evening to depict the country which is of such great interest to all Bible students. The pictures were about the best that have been seen on the subject, and the thorough and complete knowledge of the speaker on the subject made the lecture one of peculiar interest to all.

In traveling from one place to another through the Holy Land, Dr. Richards showed the principal points of interest and related the Bible stories concerning them. The chief events in the life of Christ were dwelt upon and places that He made memorable by visiting and performing some special deed were given an especially prominent place in the lecture. To the many Bible students present the lecture freshened their minds and gave them further interest in their study, and to those present who are not students the lecture was very helpful, and no doubt will tend to excite an interest for the study of this country.

Dr. Richards did not go into detail very much as the time would not permit, but he covered all that was of importance and in this respect the lecture was a great success, as well from a financial standpoint.

OCTOGENARIAN'S BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Betsy French Celebrated Her Eighty-sixth Year in a Pleasant Way Yesterday.

A very pleasant home gathering took place yesterday afternoon and evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Frank French, Washington avenue, in honor of the birthday anniversary of Mr. French's mother, Mrs. Betsy French, who was 86 years old. The occasion was one of great pleasure to the celebrant and the children and grandchildren who gathered to do her honor. Mrs. French is hale and hearty and entered into the festivities with a zest characteristic of one much younger in years. During the affair there was vocal and instrumental music and speaking by the young folks, all of which added to the enjoyment of those present. There were sixteen members of the family present, and one of the features was the bountiful supper served during the early part of the evening. All wished the celebrant many happy returns of the day.

SEYMOUR AND SMITH BATTLE.

Newark Democrats Involved in Bitter Factional Quarrel.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, March 28—The bitterest fight ever known in the Democratic party in this city is on, and the primaries tonight are likely to be lively, as is the convention to be held Thursday night.

Because Mayor Seymour, who is seeking renomination, refused to permit former Senator Smith to dictate appointments, the latter, it is said, has passed the word along the line to defeat the Mayor at all hazards.

The first gun in the battle was fired when the Common Council, which has been called upon to confirm the nomination of Frederick T. Leonard for City Comptroller, failed of a quorum.

Little McLaren Girl Will Plead Again for Pardon for Her Father in Prison.

Little Jennie McLaren is about to make another attempt to secure a pardon for her father, who is now in State Prison, serving twenty years for the murder of his common law wife, the girl's mother. Jennie comes from Hoboken, where she awakened much interest in the case. She appeared before the Court of Pardons last term Last week she filed a new petition with several hundred signatures, many of the signers being well known officials and citizens of Hudson county. The petition reopens the case, and today the investigating committee of the Court of Pardons will go to the State Prison and will examine all petitions. Runyon & Bruce, of this city, are her attorney.

WHIST AND EUCHRE.

Card Playing Clubs Entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Rogers and Miss Force.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B Rogers, of Westervelt avenue, entertained the Tuesday Night Whist Club, of which they are members, last evening, for Miss Moser, of Somerville, who was to have entertained. This was the last meeting of the club for the present series, but the members unanimously agreed to reorganize and play another series. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Angleman, Somerset street.

The prize winners last evening were Mrs. Walter Apgar and Mrs. W. H. Angleman for the women, and R. B. Rogers and W. H. Angleman for the men. After the games a social time was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

The Tuesday Evening Euchre Club was pleasantly entertained last evening by Miss Minnie Force, of Carlton avenue. The house was tastily decorated with palms, potted plants, and a pretty effect was obtained through the use of colored lights. There were five tables, usual number, and the playing was close and exciting. After the game a collation was served and the members furnished vocal and instrumental music.

Miss Margaret Somers and Mrs. Harry Coddington won the prizes for the women, while Dennis E. Gavin and J. P. D. Kirch won the honors for the men. Miss May MacLaughlin, of Somerset street, will entertain the club in two weeks.

AGED WOMAN'S FUNERAL.

Impressive Services Held Over the Remains of the Late Mary Cadmus Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral services of the late Mrs Mary Cadmus were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the homestead on Myrtle avenue. There was a very large attendance of relatives and friends. Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated, and spoke of the exemplary Christian life of the departed. He referred to her great usefulness in church work and outside of the church, and also said she was the oldest member of the church at the time of her death. Words of comfort were spoken to the bereaved ones and they were helped by the words of praise of the aged woman.

During the illness of Mrs. Cadmus it was the custom for Miss Abbott and Miss Burrows to visit her and sing favorite hymns. They were present at the services yesterday and sang two hymns effectively. There was a beautiful display of floral tributes, including a large wreath.

Interment took place in the North Plainfield cemetery and those who acted as pall-bearers were R. V. Cadmus, A. V. Searing, J. A. Burrows and W. H. Shotwell, all of whom were intimately acquainted with the departed.

Ann Byrne, of Summit, to Receive $35,000 From Aunt's Estate.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Summit, March 28.—Miss Ann Byrne, about thirty years of age, who is employed in the family of Prof. James A. Heard, of the Summit Academy, has been notified that she is one of three heirs to a fortune of $125,000 left by an aunt who died in New York several months ago. Miss Bryne was unaware of her aunt's wealth until an examination of her affairs showed that she had about that amount of money invested in real estate in New York. Miss Byrne's share of the fortune will be about $35,000.

Recount Not Finished

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, March 28.—The County Board of Election was unable to finish the recount of the vote taken in Cranford, over which there is a contest, and yesterday afternoon the work was suspended until tomorrow, when it will be finished.

DUMONT WOULD DELAY BUILDING CITY HALL.

He Will Lead Opposition in the Common Council to the Project.

SAYS IT WILL COST TOO MUCH

PRICE OF BUILDING MATERIAL IS VERY HIGH JUST NOW.

By Carrying Out the Improvement a Year Later Mr. Dumont Says That the City will be Able to Save Several Thousand Dollars.

Current rumor has it that the opposition in the Common Council against the immediate building of a City Hall will be led by Councilman John B. Dumont. In the preliminary questions relating to the subject that have come before the Council, Mr. Dumont has been very particular that his vote should not bind him to support the City Hall movement. He has been rather reticent about speaking on the subject heretofore. Now, however, that the advocates of a new City Hall have announced their intention of securing immediate action on the part of the Council, Mr. Dumont was interviewed by a Press reporter this morning concerning his stand and his reasons therefore.

Mr. Dumont was free to say that he did not believe that it would be wise for the city to erect a municipal building this year. The question of a City Hall has, he said, been a matter more or less of sentiment. The immediate need of better quarters for the police and the city jail than the old "rookery" no longer existed, he said. The new quarters in the Olympia were satisfactory and would answer the purpose for several years to come.

It would be the very opposite of economy, he explained, to build this year. Prices of building materials, he said, have been steadily going up for the past year until they are now higher than they have been for the past twenty-five years and higher than they are likely to be for ten years to come.

Mr. Dumont cited the fact that a number of builders right in this city have postponed proposed operations until the prices are somewhat reduced. If private individuals found the prices too high at present, Mr. Dumont believed that the city should not spend the people's money to pay such high prices when there was no really pressing need of a new City Hall.

By delaying the City Hall movement for twelve months or more, Mr. Dumont expressed his opinion that the city would be the gainer to the extent of several thousand dollars, brought about by the reduction in prices of building materials that is, in his opinion, bound to occur. A City Hall would undoubtedly be a nice thing for the city but he continued that it was by no means a necessity at present and that the erection of one this year would be contrary to the best interests of the city and its most economical management.

MORRIS COUNTY'S IRON BOOM

Report That a Steel Plant will be Established at Port Oram.

The iron industry in Morris county, which has been booming recently, is to be further augmented. There will be a renewal of operations at the old Stanhope furnaces next week, and it is also reported in iron circles that negotiations are in progress between the executors of the Couper-Lord estate and the Rockefellow syndicate for the establishment of a large steel plant at Port Oram. The proposed new works will be of an extensive character and will give employment to several thousand men.

The most welcome news to the iron ore miners now employed in several of the old mines is that after April 1st their wages are to be advanced twenty-five cents a day.

Thackery Evening.

Rev. A. C. Nickerson, the pastor of All Souls' church, entertained a good-sized audience at that edifice last evening, when he presented a paper on "The Newcomes." It was the third of the series of literary entertainments on Thackeray and like the previous one was much enjoyed. After the reading the paper was thoroughly discussed by those who are close students of the celebrated author's work.

SENATORS QUIT CUBA

Special Committee Finishes Its Inspection Tour.

WILL NOT TALK FOR PUBLICATION.

Natives Assure Them of the Absence of Agitation and Say No Desire Exists For Annexation—About Payment of Certain Bonds.

HAVANA, March 28.—The Dolphin left for the United States today carrying the members of the senate Cuban committee. The senators all said that they would not talk for publication until after they had presented their report, which they will do shortly. They asserted, however, that they came with certain well defined plans for gathering information and had carried these out wherever they had gone. They have seen in private most of the representative Cubans and have secured their views and opinions, very few of which have been published, as in most instances the consultations have been regarded as confidential.

One interview has been given out, that with General Monteagudo and Colonel Villuondas, who assured the members of the commission that the country was entirely free of bandits and cited the safety with which peddling Turks traversed all districts selling trinkets and also the fact that the owner of a sugar estate would no longer hesitate to drive alone with a large sum of money to pay his employees. They assured the committee that there was no agitation in the eastern provinces and that a desire for annexation to the United States did not exist in Cuba.

Senator Platt asked them whether the Cubans would be disposed to pay the bonds issued during the revolution. They replied that they were ready to pay those issued during the last rebellion, but not those issued in 1868. They expressed the opinion that the bonds issued would not reach a high total, adding that the Cuban government would certainly pay the Cuban army.

In reply to Senator Platt's inquiry as to whether the Cubans would pay the French bonds, they said they would not, as those bonds represented a Spanish loan.

Senator Platt—What would the Cubans do if France were to send a fleet and demand payment?

General Monteagudo—Either they would stand up for themselves and fight or the United States government would interfere, as it did in order to prevent Great Britain doing what she liked to Venezuela.

Senators Butler and Pettigrew have arrived here. They say they are merely paying a visit of personal curiosity. Congressman Hawley has also arrived and will remain a few days looking after his personal interests.

New Plans For the Philippines.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Secretary Root has taken a step long contemplated in the administration of the Philippines by directing the creation of an entirely new military division to be known as the "division of the Pacific," embracing all of the Philippine archipelago. The division in turn is to be divided into four military departments as follows: The department of northern Luzon, commanded by General MacArthur; the department of southern Luzon, commanded by General Bates; the department of the Viscayas, commanded by General Hughes, and the department of Mindanao and Jolo, commanded by General Kobbe. Major General Otis will retain the supreme command over these departments as division commander, occupying toward them a position corresponding closely to that occupied by General Miles toward the military departments in the United States.

Martinique Strikers Condemned.

FORT DE FRANCE, Martinique, March 28.—At Pointe a Pitre, Guadeloupe, work has been resumed at the Usines d'Arboussier with workmen from the country. The director of the works expects to continue without making concessions to the strikers. At St. Pierre, Martinique, a number of persons recently arrested in the northern part of the island for attacking the freedom of labor have been tried and condemned, two to six months' imprisonment, one to five months and many to four months. Two have been acquitted. Others who are in custody will be tried on Thursday.

Mosquito Chief In a Fix.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, March 28.—The affairs of Chief Clarence of the Mosquito territory, the pensioner of the British government who is being sued for debt, have assumed such an acute stage that he has appealed to the government for assistance. Bob Did It In One Round.

PHILADELPHIA, March 28.—What was scheduled to be a six round sparring match between Bob Fitzsimmons and Jim Daly at the First regiment armory last night came to an end in the first round. Fitzsimmons floored Daly three times, and the referee stopped the fight.

No Plague In Yucatan.

CITY OF MEXICO, March 28.—It is officially denied by the Mexican government, after making a full investigation, that the bubonic plague has appeared on the island of Cozumel, south of the Yucatan peninsula, nor has the plague appeared on the mainland of Yucatan.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The amount of bonds so far received at the treasury department for exchange for the new 2 per cents is $166,267,950, of which amount $15,993,500 was received from individuals and institutions other than national banks.

THE CLARK CASE.

Argument Postponed, but Briefs Have Been Given Out.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The argument in the case of Senator Clark of Montana, which was to have been made by the senate committee on privileges and elections today, has been postponed until Tuesday of next week on account of the enforced absence of some of the members of the committee.

The briefs on both sides of the case have been distributed among members of the committee. The brief of the memorialists covers 142 pages and is signed by ex-Senator Edmunds, Mr. Arthur A. Birney and ex-Congressman Hartman.

The brief of the defense, signed by Hon. Charles J. Faulkner and Mr. Roger Foster, covers 232 pages and is divided into a discussion of the facts and the law in the case from Senator Clark's standpoint. The document is throughout an arraignment of the prosecution. It begins with the assertion that "an examination of this testimony will confirm the most skeptical in the belief that those who seek to brand a majority of the representatives of a sovereign state as 'dishonest' and as 'bribe takers' are influenced by no lofty purpose of remedying an evil, nor is it entered upon from a desire to maintain the integrity of the membership of the senate of the United States. The facts shown in this record fully justify the assertion that those who originated this prosecution were controlled only by sentiments of the bitterest personal and political hostility."

It is then declared that no man who was a candidate for the senate in opposition to Mr. Clark has given encouragement or countenance to the contest, that 52 of the 56 newspapers in the state supported Mr. Clark and that the sentiment in the state of Montana is so universal for Mr. Clark that the "leading spirit of the protestants, whose wealth has supported and whose prejudice has animated this prosecution, has found it necessary to invest large sums of money in the purchase of the press of the state and in other cases by the establishment of newspapers with the hope of checking and dividing the sentiment of the people of Montana."

An Electric Railway In Geneva.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Henry E. Butters of San Francisco, who was prominently identified with the construction and exploitation of street railways in Cape Town, Africa, and in the City of Mexico, is now engaged in the construction of an electric street railway in Geneva, which will be completed within the next few months. This enterprise is the result of a casual visit to Geneva by Mr. Butters about two and a half years ago. At that time he found a congested population, badly served by old fashioned steam tramways and horse cars, and he secured control of the franchise of the principal companies and organized them for the operation of an electric street railway system on the American plan. French and English capitalists are largely interested in the enterprise with Mr. Butters.

Chicago Builders Seek Aid.

PHILADELPHIA, March 28.—The master builders of this city have received leading representatives of the local labor unions and discussed the neutral questions of the labor troubles in Chicago. A resolution was afterward adopted by the master builders expressing sympathy with the Builders and Trades' Exchange of Chicago. Victor Falkenan, who represented the contractors' council of Chicago, addressed the meeting and recited the history of the conditions which led to the present differences. He was severe in his sweeping indictment of the men who composed the unions and concluded by asking the Philadelphia builders to recognize the contractors of Chicago in their fight for their rights.

Clover Leaf Railroad Sold.

TOLEDO, March 28.—The Clover Leaf railroad was sold here yesterday for $12,200,000 to Messrs. Hartshorn & Peyton, representing the bondholders' reorganization committee. Samuel Ountermunder of New York bid $12,100,000. He represented William C. Taylor, who, it is said, is at the head of a syndicate of New York bankers. S. H. Kneeland, former president of the road, is said to have been in this syndicate. There was a spirited contest between the two bidders.

No More Sealed Packages.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The postal authorities have notified the German government that parcels coming through the mails to this country must be wrapped or packed so as to be easily inspected by customs officers. If these conditions are not complied with, the packages will be returned to the senders in accordance with the provisions of the parcels post convention with Germany. This order will go into effect after the arrival of the next mail from that country.

Gruber Defeats Austin.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Abraham Gruber won a very substantial victory at the Republican primaries in the Twenty-first assembly district yesterday after a prolonged and bitter campaign. More than 3,600 votes were cast.

BRIDGE WORK
in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. MR. GRASSHOPPER, JR.

How He Eats and Grows and Sheds His Skin—Some Interesting Information.

When the young locust hatches from the egg he creeps up out of the earth, where his mother has so carefully hidden her eggs months before, and looks about. He finds himself a real grasshopper, but such a lazy, big-headed baby, looking very much as if he were bewildered and sorry he came, and wished he could crawl back again. As he feels the warm sunlight on his little, tender back his courage increases. He tries his legs and finds that "he only has to steer them and they ride him everywhere." A grass blade tickles him under the chin, and all at once he is hungry and eats. His appetite grows and grows. It becomes his most prominent characteristic and goes with him through life.

As he eats he grows and his skin gets hard. Pretty soon he finds himself in what seems to be a sad predicament. His skin is too tight. When a boy's clothes are too small, he has a new suit and his little brother takes the old ones. There is no such exchange of courtesies and garments in the grasshopper world. We know how it feels to wear a coat that is much too small. It is uncomfortable. We want to hide away from the others and be miserable. So does the little grasshopper. He doesn't know where his next suit of clothes is to come from. He has been too busy eating to think of the future. He hides away under a grass blade, moping and uncomfortable. Suddenly he begins to feel freer, but weak. He can only squirm feebly, and blindly push this way and that. He lifts his head and it feels light and cool, as if he had his hair cut very, very short. Then the awful weakness comes again. Woe unto our little grasshopper if a toad or insect-eating bird comes along while he is in this sorry plight. After awhile he awakes and rubs his back gingerly with his hind legs, finds that he is all there, forgets everything else and falls to eating. On the grass blade where he clung so long and so helplessly there is a little bit of something, fragile and almost transparent, but hollow. There are the six legs, the large eyes and the little body, all empty. The grasshopper is away, leaping in the sunlight and running races with the dewdrops along grass blades, while his cast-off clothes are waiting in a forlorn little heap, which the first falling twig or dash of rain will scatter. Some thrifty ant may pick up a detached leg, but will abandon it when she finds it empty.

The young grasshopper does not know that he has moulted and passed into the second stage of his life.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

PENETRATED THE DISGUISE.

How a San Quentin Prison Guard Stopped the Movements of a Grass Plot.

Green Casey, a convict at San Quentin, won the admiration of all his fellow convicts at the prison for the novel contrivance he invented to escape from prison walls some time ago, and through Sheriff Langdon, of Santa Clara county, the story has leaked out.

Casey was a kind of trusty around the prison grounds, and while working in one of the grounds in the vicinity of the prison he took it into his head that he would like to escape, and was beginning to tax his mind as to the most advantageous way to suit his purpose. As he was strolling around on the green grass which grows in abundance around the prison an idea struck him that if he could imitate the grass by some means he could elude the watchful sentries and make good his escape.

Through the aid of his convict friends he procured some pieces of burlap, and with the aid of some rope made them into a long coat that would cover him completely when lying on the grass. He then secured some wheat from the prison stable and sowed it on the first layer of his coat. He cast it down carelessly at one end of the prison grounds and watered it daily. In a few weeks the grass grew up through the sack coat, and before a great while the piece of burlap was conformed into a grassy lawn.

He was now ready to carry out his plan and patiently waited an opportunity. At last he succeeded in getting his new contrivance across to the northwest of the prison, and in a few minutes was under his grassy coat.

Slowly he crept along with the cleverness of a worm, and from all appearances success would crown his efforts. But his progress was too rapid and very soon he heard footsteps coming in his direction. The moving grass plot which was slowly making its way up the hillside soon came to a sudden standstill as the eye of a guard had noticed the grass moving and came to investigate the phenomenon. A kick in the ribs apprised Casey that his plan had been discovered. The guard took Casey and a red shirt now covers his breast.—San Francisco Call.

Growth of Human Hair.

Authorities differ as to the rate of growth of the human hair, and it is said to be very dissimilar in different individuals. The most usually accepted calculation gives 6½ inches per annum. A man's hair, allowed to grow to its extreme length, rarely exceeds 12 inches or 14 inches, while that of a woman will grow in rare instances to 70 inches or 75 inches, though the average does not exceed 25 inches to 30 inches.—Chicago Chronicle.

DID CULTON CONFESS?

Startling Developments In the Goebel Assassination Case.

CONFERENCE WITH THE PROSECUTION

Another Arrest Made—Judge Moore Finds Good Reason For Holding Powers For the Grand Jury.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 28.—There were some startling developments in the Goebel assassination case yesterday. In the afternoon W. H. Culton, who waived examination and was held over to the circuit court, went to the Capitol hotel, where he was in conference with the attorneys for the prosecution for over two hours. He was accompanied by his brother-in-law, E. E. Hogg, who is also his attorney. It was reported at the time that Culton had made some kind of a confession, but later it developed that the information gained was not at all sweeping in character, as it was at first reported. Culton's friends who are in his confidence state that his statement was not in the nature of a confession, but they admit that he gave the prosecution such information as he had and which had heretofore not come out. The conference between Culton and the attorneys took place in the room of Colonel T. C. Campbell, commonwealth's attorney of Franklin county; Attorney Polsgrove, Rev. Mr. Culton, father of the prisoner, and E. E. Hogg.

While this was going on Henry E. Youtsey, the auditor's clerk who was arrested at noon and locked up in jail charged with being an accessory, sent for Colonel Campbell, and the latter visited him at the jail and was closeted with him for some time. Youtsey when he was arrested told the officers that the prosecution had promised not to arrest him, and he complained that that side had broken faith with him. It is not known what took place at the interview between Youtsey and Campbell, but it is reported that Youtsey announced that he was ready to make a public statement, which the prosecution evidently did not care to have made, at least for the present.

The fourth day of the examination of the Republican secretary of state, Caleb Powers, began with the courtroom cleared of all persons excepting attorneys, newspaper representatives and officers of the court. When Judge Moore called for order at 10 o'clock, the attorneys for the defense held a consultation and called County Attorney Polsgrove.

Immediately after the consultation Governor Brown, for the defense, announced that no testimony would be introduced for the defense and they would waive further examination. The pardon issued to Powers by Governor Taylor was tendered by ex-Governor Brown as a bar to the prosecution, and he asked that the defendant be dismissed. Colonel Campbell said the commonwealth denied Governor Taylor's right to issue a pardon at the time the pardon was granted. Governor Brown moved that the prisoner be dismissed upon the evidence. The motion was overruled. Bail was asked for. Judge Moore said: "It is not my belief that Powers fired the shot which killed Governor Goebel, but from the evidence it is my opinion that he was connected with the conspiracy to kill him. I shall therefore order the prisoner to be held over without bail to the Franklin county grand jury that the case may be further investigated."

Dr. Hillis Will Withdraw.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, pastor of Plymouth church, has sent what is practically his letter of resignation to the Chicago presbytery. Dr. Hillis takes the ground that it would be better on his part to sacrifice anything rather than stir up trouble in the Christian church. When seen at his home in Brooklyn, he said that he greatly regretted the discussion and agitation which had been precipitated by his sermon of Sunday last on the "Automatic Judgment Seat of Man." The general views expressed then, however, he had held for a long time, but in the interest of peace and harmony he believed it would be better for him to withdraw. The action taken by the presbytery was no more than might be expected.

NEW YORK, March 28.—The sale of Augustin Daly's collection of books, which was concluded yesterday at the American Art galleries, was marked by the receipt of the highest price yet paid in this country for a single volume, $8,100, which was paid by J. O. Wright for each of two volumes comprising an autographic collection of literary and pictorial remains and mementos of Thackeray, the main part of which was the Brookfield correspondence. For the aggregation of 3,787 catalogue lots of books in the collection the receipts approximated $166,035.65.

BOONVILLE, Mo., March 28.—Ellsworth Evans, alias "Jocko Jones," shot and instantly killed Assistant City Marshal William Hennecke while the latter was attempting to arrest Evans after he had robbed a cigar store. A posse started in pursuit, and Evans was captured ten miles west of here. Great excitement prevails and preparations have been made to lynch the prisoner.

Hoke Smith Sells Out.

ATLANTA, March 28.—Grover Cleveland's former secretary of the interior, Hoke Smith, weary of politics, has decided to devote himself exclusively to law. He has sold his newspaper property, The Journal, to a syndicate headed by T. Jefferson Coolidge of Boston. Sixteen years ago Mr. Smith bought control of The Journal, hoping to become a great political leader.

BOERS IN LUCK AGAIN

Commandant Olivier Makes a Brilliant Movement.

PUT HIS ARMY IN A STRONG POSITION

British Advance From Bloemfontein May Be Delayed For a Month. Boer Losses at Spion Kop Reported at 2,500.

LONDON, March 28.—The Boers are having a little good luck and are showing some boldness again, as a raiding party estimated at 400 is believed by the British forces at Warrenton to have crossed the Kimberley-Bloemfontein wagon road Monday and to have headed for Jacobsdal; with the intention of cutting the railway ten miles west.

Commandant Olivier appears to have gotten his 5,000 men and 25 miles of wagons into rugged country where he can make an easy rear guard defense. Mr. Charles Williams, the military expert, says:

"If this column gets through substantially, Commandant Olivier will have carried out the great feat of the war, seeing that he ran every chance of being ground between the upper millstone of Lord Roberts' army and the nether millstone of the broken Basuto frontier."

A dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from Bloemfontein, dated Monday, says:

"The Transvaalers have arrested Commandant Prinsloo, who had their permit, but had settled upon a farm 20 miles north of Bloemfontein, wishing to enjoy peace under British rule."

A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Mafeking, dated Friday, March 16, describes the humorous side of the siege. It appears that the colonials set up bottles, inviting the Boers to shoot at them and then chaff the enemy when the shots go wide. Another trick of the colonials is by persistent concetina playing to lure the Boers, excited by curiosity, to raise their heads from the trenches, when they are promptly sniped.

A dispatch to The Daily Chronicle from Kimberley, dated Monday, says:

"Four hundred Free Staters have taken possession of the road between Kimberley and Paardeberg. They have seized a farm near Pandamsfontein, where a number of army horses had been sent to rest and graze. It is rumored that their object is to raid the railway by way of Jacobsdal."

The Cape Town correspondent of The Daily News, telegraphing Tuesday, March 27, says:

"It is improbable that the advance from Bloemfontein will be made for another month. General Clements is advancing to Bloemfontein in four columns. When Lord Roberts begins the march northward, General Gatacre will be left in charge of Bloemfontein.

"The colonial government has ordered the Cape volunteers to withdraw south of the Orange river for fear of accentuating racial feeling."

The correspondent of The Daily News at Lourenco Marques, telegraphing Sunday, says:

"The Transvaal war office announces that the southern commandoes from Colesberg and Stormberg will join the man body within 48 hours. Some apprehension exists that Commandant Olivier and Commandant Grobelaur may be cut off."

A special to The Daily Telegraph from Ladysmith, dated Monday, says:

"There are about 20,000 Boers guarding the nine passes over the Drakensberg range. They are led by Commandant De Beer of Harrismith and consist of Free Staters.

"It is reported that the Boers have moved their big guns from Biggarsberg, as it is not intended to make a stand there."

A dispatch from Mafeking, dated March 14, says:

"The Boers recommenced the bombardment of this place March 12, a six inch gun which had been comparatively silent for a week firing the shrapnel used against troops in the open. The projectiles were ineffectual against cover, but were dangerous to pedestrians. One shell burst in the courthouse, killing several natives and wounding four persons. Several women were also slightly wounded. The steel plate of the shell passed through the hotel office and spent itself beneath a table, where it was scrambled for by the employees. Another shrapnel shell burst above the bombproof occupied by the Reuter Telegram company's correspondent and sprinkled the wall with bullets.

"There has been little development since the dispatch of March 10. A detachment of colonial natives, commanded by Mackenzie, advanced to Jackal Tree fort, the position originally occupied by the siege gun on the southwestern heights, but the Boers discovered the plans and evacuated it. Previously a detachment of Burralong natives had been dispatched against a new fort threatening our western position and succeeded in creeping up to within a few yards of the sleeping Boers outside and in the rear of the fort. They fired three volleys and then retreated, in accordance with their instructions."

A Ladysmith special says:

"Boer patrols endeavored to entrap a party of the Thirteenth hussars March 25 at Waschbank. A hot chase ensued. Several Boers were wounded."

The same dispatch says:

"A printed document has been found giving the Boer losses at Spion Kop at over 2,500, but this can scarcely be credited."

Boers Shell British Camp.

WARRENTON, March 28.—The movements of the Boers Saturday indicated that they were trying to find the range in order to shell the British camp, which moved during the night. The Boers keep up a steady smashing. The railway line is clear, and an armored train arrived here yesterday.

Franchise Tax Estimates.

ALBANY, March 28.—It is estimated from the value set on New York city franchises by the state tax commission that the bill will add to the real estate to be taxed for local purposes $300,000,000 worth of property. This will increase the state income at the present tax rate by about $800,000.

A Mad Dog Scare.

SUFFERN, N. Y., March 28.—A bird dog owned by a German named Schmidt of Spring Valley, N. Y., went mad on Sunday and bit a number of other dogs belonging to residents of that place. Several of the dogs had to be killed.

Miss Horlocker a Degenerate.

HASTINGS, Neb., March 28.—In the Horlocker poisoning case yesterday the time was entirely taken up with the testimony of medical experts. The witnesses were Drs. Cromwell and Norberg of Jacksonville, Ills. Dr. Cromwell testified that the defendant was a degenerate and that while at the Jacksonville sanitarium she had attempted to commit suicide. The witness denied the story that during her stay Miss Horlocker had gone out in society, asserting that she had never left the sanitarium unaccompanied. She also testified that defendant had been afflicted with fainting spells and terrible pains in her head. The pains were attributed to the nervous condition of defendant. Dr. Norberg gave it as his opinion that Miss Horlocker had inherited a diseased mind.

Italian Deputies In an Uproar.

ROME, March 28.—On the resumption of public business by the Italian chamber of deputies yesterday the president, Signor Colombo, made a short speech condemning the attitude of the Extreme Leftists and especially that of Signor Pantano, Radical, who had proposed the convocation of the constituent assembly for the reform of the constitution. Signor Pantano protested and refused to yield the floor of the house to a speaker who had been designated by the president. As he insisted upon continuing his speech of Saturday, the president, amid general uproar, was obliged again to adjourn the session.

Grosvenor Renominated.

ATHENS, O., March 28.—The Republican congressional convention met here yesterday and nominated Hon. C. H. Grosvenor for congress for the sixth time. William L. Stinson of Ross county was nominated for elector. Delegates were nominated to the national Republican convention. General Grosvenor made a strong speech favoring the renomination of McKinley. Resolutions were adopted applauding the conduct of the Spanish war and indorsing the acts of the administration in regard to the Philippines and Porto Rico.

Money For the Philippines.

NEW YORK, March 28.—A shipment of $1,303,000 for the payment of Uncle Sam's soldiers in the Philippines left the subtreasury yesterday. There was $600,000 in gold coin packed in wooden boxes, each containing $20,000; the same sum in bills packed in three iron safes, and the balance, consisting of minor coin, packed in cartridge boxes. The money was hauled down Broad street under a guard of 18 soldiers, commanded by Lieutenant Moore of the regular army.

LIMA, Peru, March 28.—Another illustration of the improving conditions in Peru was furnished yesterday, when in the course of a few hours the public subscribed 1,000,000 sols of capital stock of the Santa Rosa Electric Light company, which has a concession for lighting Lima. The new company recently purchased the plant and contracts of the Santa Catalina company for $350,000.

Dewey to Return.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 28.—On account of pressing engagements Admiral and Mrs. Dewey will abandon their trip down the Florida east coast and return to Washington Thursday evening. Tonight the admiral will be the guest of honor at a banquet to be given by General Schofield.

A MOB OF TEACHERS.

Mayor of New York Jeered and Hissed In His Office.

NEW YORK, March 28.—Nearly 2,000 teachers in the public schools crowded into the city hall yesterday in an effort to attend the hearing given by Mayor Van Wyck on the Davis school bill, which provides for substantial increases in salaries, takes the auditing and disbursing of all school funds out of the hands of the finance department and adds over $3,000,000 to the annual tax levy of the city.

Those who obtained admittance were so disorderly that the mayor felt it necessary to threaten to have every one ejected from the room. Every person who opposed the bill, with the exception of Comptroller Coler, was jeered, hooted and hissed until one woman principal who spoke against the bill, despite the fact that it would add largely to her income, publicly apologized for the actions of her colleagues. The mayor repeated his threats several times, but no heed was paid to him, and his remarks were received with hoots of derision.

RUSSIA MEANS WAR.

Tension Between St. Petersburg and the Sublime Porte Increases.

LONDON, March 28.—The Standard gives double leaded prominence to the following special dispatch from Odessa:

"There can no longer be any doubt as to the object of the warlike preparations now being completed in south Russia. Nearly 250,000 troops have already been mobilized for active service. The Black sea squadron, with transports, is held in instant readiness.

"The tension in the relations between St. Petersburg and the sublime porte becomes every day more acute. The position is looked upon with the gravest apprehension.

"If the Ottoman government, supported by Germany, should prove stubbornly intractable with regard to Russia's concessionary demands in Asia Minor, serious complications must inevitably ensue. The Russian garrisons in the Caucasus and along the Armenian frontier have been increased fourfold and equipped for active service."

The Open Door In China.

LONDON, March 28.—The Daily Mail, in an editorial dealing with the cabled extracts from the correspondence between the United States government and European powers upon the question of the "open door" policy in China, says: "America has forever renounced the policy of the hermit. She pledges herself to take a leading part in the greatest task of the coming century; the reform of the Chinese empire. The attitude of the United States has a cryptic but yet weighty warning for the merchants of Europe who have hitherto thought it desirable to bolster their trade by all manner of restrictions of competition. America in her foreign trade disregards competition, and some day she will learn the same lesson for her home trade. It is a triumph for President McKinley."

Marylanders Change Their Minds.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 28.—The house of delegates has reversed its action of Monday night and defeated by a decisive vote the proposition to substitute the name of John Eager Howard for that of John Hanson as one of the two distinguished Marylanders whose statues are to be placed in Statuary hall, Washington. The other Marylander to be so honored is Charles Carroll of Carrollton, and $24,000 was appropriated at the last session of the general assembly for the work, which was awarded to Brooks, the Brooklyn sculptor. This action probably terminates a bitter fight between the advocates of John Hanson, the first president of the Continental congress, and John Eager Howard, one of Maryland's most famous soldiers in the war of the Revolution.

Chicago Contractors Accused.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Before the federal industrial subcommission George P. Gubbins, president of the Chicago Bricklayers and Stonemasons' union, testified that the contractors were trying to incite union men to attack nonunion men that sympathy might be aroused for the latter. "Last Sunday," he said, "a man employed by the Master Masons' association came to me and tried to get me to incite my workmen to attack nonunion men and maim them. We don't do things of that kind, and he got no satisfaction from me." The commission was much surprised at this statement.

Charity Not Wanted.

No one will hardly take it upon themselves to question the loyalty and devotion of former Councilman Elliott T. Barrows to the Republican party. The following statement made by Mr. Barrows in connection with the discussion now going on about the attitude of the McKinley administration towards Porto Rico will therefore prove interesting:

Our present system of governing Porto Rico is demoralizing the inhabitants. We tax them with one hand and feed them in a way with the other, making paupers of them. No worse fate can befall a people than to be continually treated as objects of charity. Every dollar that a Porto Rican receives from this Government should be in return for some service rendered. That is the only way in which they can be made to feel that they are men and citizens.

They should have a civil government, of course. We cannot afford to run the entire island on the basis of an army garrison. Every American business man knows that he cannot deal directly with members of a garrison. He is compelled to carry on the transaction through the head of all garrisons in Washington. We don't want to deal with Washington whenever we do business with Porto Ricans. We want to meet them as men and citizens on an equal footing with ourselves.

I don't like all this talk about the relative merits of protection or free trade on Porto Rican products. It seems to me so unnecessary. The very idea of taxing imports from the island ought never to be discussed seriously. Alaska is a good deal further away than Porto Rico, yet no one advocates taxing anything that comes from Alaska.

It is urged that Porto Rico is on a different footing from other United States possession because it is conquered territory. That is all nonsense, because New Mexico and Arizona are conquered territory; yet did you ever hear of a man so insane as to want to put a duty on anything shipped from New Mexico to any other part of the Union?

Before another city election is held the Common Council will probably be placed in a curious position by the attitude it displayed towards the law passed by the Legislature increasing the pay of the drivers in the local fire department. Before the measure was acted upon by the Legislature the Common Council, by a unanimous vote, urged the defeat of the bill. But now that it has become a law the self-same Councilmen will undoubtedly be expected to order the submission of the proposition to a vote of the people, in order that they may either approve or reject the idea of fire department drivers receiving more pay. By officially antagonizing the measure before it became a law, the Councilmen will, in ordering its referendum clause carried out, be doing something which their previous action argued should not have been done.

The Bergen men are joyful in Elizabeth. In the primaries held by the Republicans of that city Monday night the fight in one of the wards resolved itself into a quasi-contest between candidates known to be henchmen of Congressman Fowler and those who are professed friends of Mr. Bergen in his aspirations to succeed the present Representative in the Eighth district. It was just a ripple on the surface of the political sea, but as a majority of 160 was rolled up for the Bergenites there is corresponding joy in the camp of the aggressive Elizabeth lawyer.

A Nebraska Congressman has introduced a bill in Congress proposing to pay one of his constituents the sum of $10,000 for having lost his scalp at the hands of a band of Indians out in New Mexico some thirty years ago while in the employ of Uncle Sam. The New York Sun opines that this is a pretty steep figure for the loss of a scalp, especially after thirty years, but we don't imagine that the gentlemen of the Sun would care to undergo the experience for several times the sum asked for by the Nebraskan.

If the temperance women of the Methodist church in Princeton have their way with the Town Council no students will be allowed on the streets after 9 o'clock at night. The ordinance is now before the City Fathers for consideration, and such are its chances of success that the Philadelphia Times says that large numbers of students are seeking to get on the night police force.

The fact that two business men on Somerset street have been compelled to make assignments within a short time, owing to the lack of trade, suggests that the proposed widening of that thoroughfare, in order that it will be traveled to a greater extent than at present, cannot be brought about too soon for the general prosperity of the "local Canada."

In an off-hand manner Editor Bunion yesterday referred to the location of Congressman Fowler's residence in Washington. Certainly Bunion knows exactly where the Congressman "puts up" in Washington. Wasn't he down there a year or so ago begging Mr. Fowler to recommend him for appointment to the postmastership of Plainfield?

The assurance that Duer street will now be extended to the city line to form a connection with Madison avenue, is good news. It will be one of the most important improvements made since Watchung avenue was treated in the same way.

Chief Moore, of the Washington Weather Bureau, has issued an order prohibiting his subordinates smoking cigarettes during office hours. If this is in the interest of better weather no one will complain.

The talk of a strike on the part of the painters in Newark indicate that there will be a brush between the employers and employes.

Now that Mr. Sheehan has been defeated by the Tammany leaders he will undoubtedly join the ranks of the striking machinists.

When a lawyer for the defense is summing up in a murder trial it may be said that he is talking for dear life.

They say the war is over in the Philippines, but the list of killed and wounded still keeps coming.

Did you ever notice how easy it is for the deaf and dumb to talk offhand?

The campaign leading up to the city election in Elizabeth will be a hot one.

Our English Cousins

Are peculiar in many ways.

They like to drink water without ice.

They would rather walk upstairs than take an elevator.

They use ordinary portable bath tubs in place of stationary porcelain or metal ones such as we have.

What seems to us the funniest thing of all is that they absolutely prefer chicory in their coffee.

It is easy enough for any one to get adulterated coffee in this country. But the good housewife watches carefully that she is not thus imposed upon.

Those who have learned by experience and wish to be absolutely sure that they are getting pure coffee and the best coffee, without a grain of adulteration, ask for and insist upon having Chase & Sanborn's Coffees.

There is none better on the market. Every bean has been carefully selected from plantations, famous for their coffee crops.

The fact that these coffees bear the seal of Chase & Sanborn is in itself a sufficient guarantee that they are full weight and in every way perfect.

Seal Brand Coffee comes in one and two-pound tin cans, and their other high grades in richly colored parchment-lined imported bags.

Literary Note from The Century Co

The famous "man-milliner," Worth, is brought to life again in Richard Whiteing's "Fashionable Paris," in the April Century. Mr. Whiteing once interviewed the great modiste on the subject of starting the fashions. Under the Republic, said M. Worth, "the fashions were not started at all; they simply occurred." But under the Empire, it was simple enough. "He hit upon an idea, and submitted it to two or three ladies of taste in the court of the Empress. They liked it, or did not like it, and taking counsel with him, they finally shaped it into something they might feel justified in laying before the throne. It was then further modified on its way to perfection. At length came the great day, say the opening of the spring races, when one or two of them imposed it on the mass of womankind as a sort of edict from above. With that it started on its travels round the world." c

WHAT TO WEAR.

Items Concerning the Wardrobe of the Immediate Future.

Velvet is a highly fashionable material, but is comparatively little used in the heavy, rich varieties. Thin, soft velvet, which lends itself well to draping, plaiting and other full arrangements, is preferred.

For modest wardrobes where a new gown is seldom added one of cloth is at present the most useful, cloth being a material which is worn upon elegant occasions as well as upon ordinary ones. A well made cloth gown may have two or three vests, cravats, etc., which, used interchangeably, will allow it to answer many purposes.

Bouquets of violets are still as much worn as ever. Often they are artificial, but are so skillfully made as to appear like nature. Natural flowers are, of course, the more elegant for the corsage, especially for the street. A new idea is to have the bodice bouquet of the same variety as the flowers which trim the hat.

The cut illustrates a gown of pastel blue satin cloth. The skirt has three graduated tunics, which are pointed in front and lose themselves at the back under a large box plait. The tunics are edged with stitching and a fold of yellow silk. The tight bodice is trimmed with tiny bands of yellow silk arranged in scallops, and the tops and wrists of the sleeves are decorated in the same way. The vest is of yellow silk laid in bias plaits, with metal buttons down the front. The cravat is of white tulle. The hat of pastel blue grosgrain silk is trimmed with yellow irises.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHIONABLE FABRICS.

New Materials Shown For Warm Weather Wear.

Broche bengaline in simple designs is much used for bridesmaids' costumes, and faille in garlanded patterns of the Louis Quinze order is also employed.

Blue is seen in many shades—pastel, periwinkle, sevres, sky, turquoise and tones of the vaguer order. Gray is also displayed in variety—grays which are almost white, others tinged with blue, green, yellow or pink, pearl grays and those of a more confirmed tone. Beige, green and violet are other fashionable colors.

A novelty appears in the guise of plaid cloth, the ground being a light mastic or beige, the bars of a variety of colors.

Embroidered batistes are in great force among summer materials. Many have striped effects. Others are embroidered in detached designs on a plain ground. Dotted muslins are shown and the same style of muslins in which tiny bowknots or other figures are substituted for duty.

An illustration is given which shows one of the new spring models for walking gowns. It is of iron gray cloth, and the skirt is quite tight and laid in corded plaits back and front. A pointed yoke of black velvet is bordered with a knotted fringe of black silk, and there is a valois of black velvet at the wrists, and the belt is of black velvet, with an ornamented buckle at the back and front. The hat of gray straw is trimmed with an ostrich plume, a bow of black velvet and a jeweled ornament. JUDIC CHOLLET.

SPRING MILLINERY.

New Ideas For Materials and Trimmings For Hats and Bonnets.

Tulle, silk net and lace compose a vast number of spring hats, with the addition of flowers, especially violets, primroses and roses. Toques entirely of flowers are seen and are of generous size, two kinds of flowers oftenest appearing in them, as forgetmenots and small pink rosebuds, violets and convolvuluses. Some toques are composed of grapes and foliage, and grapes are largely used also as part of the trimming of hats and bonnets, being one of the most noticeable novelties of the spring. Berries, foliage of all kinds, moss and twigs are among the most important millinery trimmings.

Hats of taffeta are simple, pretty and new. They are made with bias folds or are plaited or shirred and are trimmed with drapery and a cluster of flowers.

Among the daintiest of novelties is the toque of mousseline de soie of different colors delicately graded. Sometimes there are different shades of the same color, sometimes delicate tints of different colors. Choux of the mousseline and flowers are the decoration.

An illustration is given which shows a bodice of cream surah, tucked all over very closely and finely. It has a collar of turquoise grosgrain, which forms a plastron in front, and is finished with a bias edge of cream satin. Six crystal buttons fasten the plastron. The outer part of the sleeve is of turquoise grosgrain edged with satin and adorned with crystal buttons; the under part is of tucked surah. The collar is of turquoise grosgrain, trimmed like the sleeves.

ORNAMENTAL FABRICS.

Spangled and Beaded Goods, and How to Use Them.

Trimmings and materials which are beaded and spangled gain in favor instead of retiring from it. Entire gowns are composed of fabrics of this class as well as bodices, sleeves and yokes. As the material is always rather delicate, it requires to be carefully arranged, with a view to keeping it in good condition as long as possible. When it is to be used for transparent sleeves and yokes, it should be provided with a plain lining of strong mousseline de soie, white or flesh colored, which will not be perceived beneath it, but will keep it in shape and add to its strength.

In cutting embroidery or lace a flower or motif should never be divided, but should be cut around, and when the parts are sewed together this overlapping motif, fastened down, will aid in concealing the junction, which should always be kept as little apparent as possible. In the case of a spangled motif it is better to pick out the portion which is not required and carefully fasten the ends of thread, as otherwise the spangles will all loosen and fall off.

The attractive bodice illustrated today is of red surah. It is tight at the back, but the point is laid in fine, stitched plaits at the shoulders and waist, the shoulder plaits passing over and forming a V shaped yoke at the back. The collar and plastron are of pompadour silk, trimmed with black chenille, and there is a little vest of tucked cream surah. The upper half of the sleeve is tucked diagonally, and the wrists are trimmed to match the plastron. The belt is of gold ribbon, with an enameled buckle.

HORRORS OF BOER WAR

Young Medical Officer Depicts Them In a Private Letter.

RED CROSS WORK AT SPION KOP.

Pass Blocked With the Dead and Wounded—Remarkable Fortitude of an Old Colonial—Wounded and Dying Men Showed the Greatest Bravery—Description of Wounds.

For real ghastliness, for a glimpse into the gory realities of war and the horrors of the battlefield, the private letter of a young medical officer at Spion kop, printed in the London Daily Graphic, can scarcely be beaten. "I selected a pass," he writes, "overhung by steep clay banks, on the top of which I got up a Red Cross flag. Cases now began to pour down from Spion kop on stretchers. The Boers opened fire on us, and three bullets went into the fire, knocking the sticks about. The reason for this fire was not the Red Cross flag, but owing to some 'Tommies' who were strolling over to it, either to take cover there or to see what we were doing. I promptly ordered them away. A few minutes after the Boers let fire five shells in quick succession in my direction, but they fell short and did no harm. This sort of thing went on round me for the rest of the day, but I always kept well in the shelter of the bank. From this time to 10 o'clock next morning the wounded came through my dressing station, as the pass was the only exit from the hill. I saw every case, and some of them were mutilated beyond description.

"Fully 330 wounded and dead, who had died on the way, passed through my hands. The cheerfulness of the wounded struck me as remarkable—men with shattered wounds smoking their pipes, and, although starving, not a grumble did I hear. Many a poor chap shot in the morning in the front trenches who could not be reached lay in the blazing sun all day. One old colonial in Thornycroft's, with a gray beard, walked down, leaning on his rifle. He was a mass of wounds—one ear cut through by a bullet, his chin, neck and chest also shot through by others and his back and legs torn by shells. He came in and said he just dropped in to let me take his finger off, as it was so shattered he could not pull the trigger of his rifle, as it got in the way of the next finger which he could use, for he wanted to get back up the hill to lay the Dutchmen out. Of course I would not let him go back. The bullet wounds are beautifully clean, just a little round hole, and, as a rule, do not do much damage, as they often go through the bone without shattering it, and they don't bleed much. The shell wounds are hideous.

"It was frightfully dark, and I put one of the lanterns on a stick as a directing light to my pass. One of a group of soldiers returning to the hill tried to run away with it, and I would have lost it, only I snatched up a rifle from a wounded man and shouted that I would shoot him if he did not bring it back. He dropped it and ran away, and it went out, but I got it again. Shortly after this both lanterns went out, and I had a pretty bad time, as the pass often got blocked with wounded. Finally I could send no more wounded across the drift and had to stack them with the dead in rows on the grass. I collected all the wounded officers on stretchers around me and gave them brandy and a hypodermic of morphia.

"The morning light began to dawn about 4:30 o'clock and lighted up the ghastly faces of the patients around me. My men now got a fire ready and got some beef tea and coffee, and I had some myself, the first meal since my dinner the day before, and after giving the wounded some as well I sent them on the ambulances across the drift.

"Commandants Botha and Burgess, who were the Boer generals, now came on the scene. The former, who was the chief general, was a smallish, thin man, with yellowish beard and hair, and had a magnificent rifle, beautifully carved with his name and a text from the Bible. He had a couple of mounted Kaffirs, carrying his ammunition and water bottles, and an interpreter. He seemed, however, to understand English, though he refused to speak it, but now and then said, 'Certainly, certainly.' There were quite a number of German officers. I heard one of them had been killed. They let our men search the dead for their identification cards, letters and money. It was very sad to see the things we found in their pockets—love letters, Christmas cards, little pocketbooks with accounts and half written letters. Several of the Boers handed in little things they found—a check for 10 shillings, a purse with money, etc. Some of the officers had trinkets around their necks. One poor chap had a locket with a spray of white heather, and we had to cut his name off his shirt and pin it to the locket as a means of identification. I am sorry to say that a number had their fingers cut off to get their rings, but the Boers said that they did not see who did it and were indignant."

The Boer Gun Puzzle.

What do the Boers do with their guns? They never seem to surrender them even when defeated, and they cannot break them into little bits, says the London Spectator. Do they send them away before they surrender or do they bury them in the sand of their rivers? The plan of burial is the one adopted by the hostile races in India, and it is not so fatal to the guns as might be imagined.

AN ELECTRIC SWITCH.

Trial of a Novel Device by a Pittsburg Company.

One portion of the traction car service in Pittsburg promises to be revolutionized in the near future if the test that is going on now with a patent electric switch proves satisfactory. The tedious delays necessitated by conductors going ahead and throwing switches to turn their cars on to their respective lines from the main track lines is well known.

To avoid the necessity of a conductor leaving a car to throw switches has been the dream of traction men for a number of years. The only method that has been devised up to date is that of employing a large number of switchtenders, and this is an expensive operation. It took a Pittsburg man to produce an automatic switch that would abolish switchtenders and throw switches without requiring conductors to leave their cars. One of the new inventions was placed in operation recently at Millvale and Center avenues and was used by all cars on the lines running out Center avenue to the east end as well as by the Bloomfield line, says the Pittsburg Dispatch.

By a clever arrangement of electric magnets the motorman controls the switch from his position in the car. The power used for throwing the switch is taken from the trolley wire at a given point from the switch. The car is stopped about 30 feet from the switch, and this brings the trolley wheel at the top of the car's trolley pole in connection with a small wire that runs to the magnets that are inclosed in an iron box on one of the side poles on the curb line of the street. The movement of the magnets works the rods that run under the pavement to the switch and from the controller, and the motorman is able to throw the switch tongue in either direction.

AN EXCITING COMBAT.

British Soldier's Single Handed Fight With Five Boers.

Papers just received in London from South Africa relate an exciting single handed combat between Gunner Harvey, R. M. A., of Norbury, Staffordshire, nephew of the mayor of Newcastle, and five Boers. After the battle of Graspan Harvey left the British camp in company with a comrade to relieve a soldier who had been wounded. Five of the enemy suddenly appeared and halted about 80 yards from Harvey and his companion, leveled their rifles and fired. Harvey's companion fell dead. Upon this Harvey deliberately knelt down, took aim and fired, killing one of their number. The Boers then commenced running toward him, and as they did so Harvey fired again and stretched another out dead. He then drew his revolver and fired, wounding one of the Boers in the side. The remaining two closed upon him, clubbing their rifles.

Harvey then drew his sword and waited for the attack. One of the Boers dealt a crashing blow at his breast. Harvey sprang aside, avoiding the blow, and quickly recovering himself sprang at his opponent, dealing him a blow with his sword, which almost severed the man's head from his body. Simultaneously the remaining Boer raised his rifle and sent Harvey staggering to the earth. He was upon his feet in an instant, his sword whirling in the air, and before his foe could recover Harvey struck him dead.

SULTAN OF THE MOROS.

Soldier In Philippines Tells How His Royal Highness Travels.

William J. Hibarger of Sharpsburg, Md., received a letter from Corporal John H. Needs, Twenty-first regiment, United States volunteers, Camp Parang, Philippine Islands, dated Jan. 12, says the Hagerstown (Md.) Globe. Corporal Needs says, among other things:

"The sultan of the Moros has 70 wives, and the dato, or chief, has five or six; the others have from two to three. Their religion is the Mohammedan. They belong to the Malay race. Whatever the sultan or dato tells them they do. When they travel from one place to another, they go by water in canoes which are made from trunks of trees hollowed out.

"You ought to see the natives run their canoes. When the sultan travels, he goes in style. He has a large canoe with the stars and stripes and lots of streamers attached. It is 100 feet long, 15 feet wide and has 50 rowers. He takes with him 100 warriors as his bodyguard, who are in canoes all around him. Five or six of his wives go with him wherever he goes. He has the best looking of the women, mostly young girls 15 or 16 years old."

The Proper Canes.

Canes will be carried this spring as much as last year. The Wangee, or light bamboo, with silver mountings, will continue to be stylish. These may be extremely light—more like a switch than a cane. They may be straight or in the Prince of Wales hook, sometimes called the golf handle. The Penang cane will also be in order. An up to date effect is produced by a cane and umbrella with handles alike, says the New York Mail and Express. When traveling, these may be fastened together with small straps.

Woman's Broadening Field.

The novel spectacle of a woman conducting a baseball team may be seen this season, says the New York Herald. She was formerly the wife of the owner of the Detroit club, in the American league, and, having obtained a divorce from him, secured possession of the club's franchise and property at a sale to satisfy her claim for alimony. The field of woman's occupation is broadening with a vengeance!

INDIANS AS BOWLERS.

The Game as it Was Formerly Played in Alleys Built in the Open Fields.

The American Indians were great bowlers. Alleys of greater length than any in use to-day were built in the open fields. Balls hewn out of stone were rolled by genuine Indian muscle. In fact, there is scarcely a popular kind of game played in this country to-day but that its counterpart can be found in the age of the red man. They were gamblers, too, even to forfeiting the clothes upon their backs, their wives or their liberty. Strange to say, the average school history has abounded in a description of the Indian in nearly every point except the details of the games he played.

Relics of the Indian bowling alley are rare except in a few sections of the country, thus showing that the game was not a universal one, and of all the games which the Indian played bowling is undoubtedly the most remote. The western reserve of Ohio was one of the centers for the Indian bowlers. In several parts of Ashtabula county some of the older residents have these relics preserved, which they have picked up themselves in their early farming, usually in the open field.

The balls used, instead of being large wooden ones like those in use to-day, were made of light colored stone and range in size from an ordinary league ball down to the common small toy rubber ball. The alleys were built of wood carved out to make a reasonably smooth surface. The game was more to see how far one could roll rather than accuracy in striking the ten pins at the opposite end of the alley. The alleys were built so long that it is alleged it was a hard matter to roll one of these stone balls so that it would reach the end. The Indians, too, kept a score and, like in all other games, they gambled. Sockalexis is not the only Indian interested in the national game.

The Indians were inveterate ball players and excellent "rooters." Their game lasted usually from nine o'clock in the morning till sundown. It was participated in by from 600 to 1,000 young men divided into two sides, and the games were witnessed by from 3,000 to 5,000 men, women and children, who formed an immense ring around the entire field. The enthusiastic Indian yells were not altogether unlike the noises of the modern ball park. There was scarcely an intermission of five minutes during the entire day.

The game, however, resembled our football rather than baseball. When the ball was in the air there were kicks and struggles, maimed limbs and bruised bodies. A prescribed line divided the "rocters" of the two sides and across this line the gambling took place. Old men were selected as umpires. Women on both sides brought the crude household goods of the family to the ball park to be staked on the game. Stakeholders guarded the goods. The scene resembled two distinct camps, although there was not necessarily more than one tribe engaged in the game.

There was a feature in the Indian game which will be new to the ball players of the year 1900. Several medicine men, among the Choctaws, sat all night on the spot where the ball was to be started next day and smoked to the great spirit who was to witness the game. The night before there also occurred what was known among the Indians as the "ball play dance."

Prior to the game each Indian was provided with two instruments which resembled our tennis rackets of today. The judges threw the ball into the air and immediately hundreds of Indians started after it. One would finally succeed in catching it between the large ends of the two "tennis rackets" and throw it "home," or between two poles, the limit of one side or the other. This would count one point toward the game and the side getting 100 points first won. Often in the terrible struggle for the ball difficulties would rise between two slightly injured contestants and the game would stop until they settled the dispute. The women also played ball. When the men were tired they would announce a game among the women and prizes would be awarded their winning wives.

Among the popular amusements dear to the lighter side of the American, a parallel for which has been found among the Indians, are the following: Bowling, ball playing, horse racing, foot racing, dancing, wrestling, checkers, dominoes, quoits, sham fights.

Many things which some of us to-day may believe are contemporaneous only with the age in which we live by research may be found to have existed in the everyday life of the American Indian. Polygamy was practiced by certain Indian tribes long before Joseph Smith founded the Mormon belief. Vapor baths were enjoyed by the Indian before the first white man came to disturb his hunting ground.—Chicago Chronicle.

The Grenade Throwers.

The Grenadiers, the senior of the British regiments which compose the brigade of guards, got its name from the fact that toward the end of the last century the men were armed with hand grenades to throw among the enemy. They had to be in the front of the fighting line, hence they gained a reputation for bravery and the name of the Grenadiers. The badge of the regiment is still a hand grenade spouting flame, though that deadly engine of war has long since been superseded.—Scottish American.

Hard Up.

Gentleman—Are you really so hard up?

Tramp—Hard up? Why, sir, if suits of clothes wuz sellin' at a penny apiece, I wouldn't have money enough to buy the arm-hole of a vest.—Tit-Bits.

SHRINE OF UNAIKAH.

Sheltered from Curious Eyes by an Overhanging Rock.

Prof. James, the First White Man Who Ever Beheld It, Secures Two of Its Original Fifteen Figures.

[Special Phoenix (Ariz.) Letter.]

THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY years ago the Spaniards entered the heart of what are now the territories of Arizona and New Mexico and subjugated them for "God and the king of Spain." They found a number of strange peoples, the most interesting of whom lived in great houses, two, three, four, six and seven stories high. These houses served as residences for a whole village and are now generally known as community houses. One of the best known of these aboriginal peoples are known to us to-day as the Zuni, and still inhabit seven villages in New Mexico, not far from the boundary line of that territory and Arizona. Zuni is the name given to them by others; they called themselves the Ashuii — the people.

The chief village, or pueblo, is in the heart of a picturesque valley, which is suddenly revealed to the traveler from the top of a ridge on the sandy slopes of which his weary horses have slowly crawled, dragging the laden wagon along. A sandy valley, dotted here and there with weeds and brush, with a tiny stream meandering through its tawny and red-colored sand—yonder, a black mass of rugged, jagged lava which once flowed in liquid, fiery rock from a near-by crater. In the distance, three miles away, there rises from a tiny mound on the right bank of the little Zuni river the great seven-storied community house which denotes the presence of the largest of the seven "cities" of the Zuni people.

SHRINE OF UNAIKAH, THE WARRIOR GOD OF THE ZUNIS.

But to our left, near by, is a vast, imposing, rocky structure, known in local parlance as a "mesa." It is two or more miles long, and nearly 2,000 feet high, and, after several visits to the Zunis, I learned that this great mesa was inseparably connected with the mythology, religion, history, romance and tragedy of that simple-hearted people.

Here, long centuries before the Spaniards came, they had established religious and sacred shrines upon its summits. Here their maidens from time immemorial had come to petition "Those Above" (as they called their gods) to give them good, loving husbands, and the young men preferred their requests for home and child-loving wives. When they rebelled against the Spaniards and drove them from their homes, and by and by feared the vengeance of the warlike white men, they fled to the summit of this mesa, fortified the almost inaccessible trail and established their homes where they felt they would be more secure. But they were finally wheedled down, and again submitted to the yoke of Spain.

When Mexico freed herself from Spain, the Zunis became subject to the new power, and, finally, when Mexico, in 1849, ceded this region to the United States, the Zuni became a portion of the heterogeneous population which makes up the sum total of the members that form this great republic.

Interested in the Zuni and Tai-yo-al-a-ni (as this mesa is called), I have always been on the alert to hear all I could about its history and romance, and one day accidentally heard some Zunis speaking about the shrine of their warrior god, Unaikah, which was on Tai-yo-al-a-ni. I had seen one shrine there—that of the twin gods, the children of the sun, but had never seen nor heard of anyone who had been allowed to see Unaikah. So one day I prevailed upon Tsnehay, the former governor of Zuni, and an old friend of mine, to take me up a long-abandoned trail to the summit. He did not know the trail, but his son, a young man of 19 or so, with a companion, could be induced to go along, and they knew where the trail was.

And what a climb we had. Almost all day getting up. Here and there we had to creep on hands and knees over sliding rocks, which sloped off towards frightful yawning precipices, and now and again we had to be hauled by sheer main strength, and with ropes around our bodies, up cliffs where it was incredible that even the Indians could climb. At length we stood by the side of the ruined village, abandoned 200 years ago, when the Zunis and the Spaniards made peace, and soon looked on the comical wooden figures that represented the twin children of the sun, and where devout Zunis often come to worship.

Now I began my siege with Tsnehay about the shrine I was so desirous of finding. I asked him to take me to it.

"Me no sabe!" he replied.

"Nonsense!" I cried. "You know well enough where it is, and I want to see it before I go down."

"No! Me never see it," he answered, and no amount of persuasion or talk could get any other answer from him.

At length, somewhat out of patience, I declared: "I know Unaikah has a shrine up here and I'm going to find it, and you are not going down until I do."

Seeing that I was thoroughly determined he held a long and private consultation with the two young men, and then announced that "for a consideration" his son would take me to it, but that he himself had spoken only the truth when he said he did not know of its existence.

Slowly we wended our way across the mesa top. In the far-distant valley we could see the Zuni pueblo. Suddenly, on the very edge of a frightful precipice, the son stopped and said: "Here it is!" I looked about and could see nothing. While my attention was thus diverted the young man disappeared. Where had he gone? Had he committed suicide? I looked over the precipice, but could neither see his falling body nor his mangled remains at the foot of the cliff. Where was he? While I was thus puzzling I heard a voice:

"You come!"

But where? Again I looked down, and this time the young man's head appeared from a recess in the face of the cliff, and, pointing to a fringe of rock that stood out a little way from the dangerous precipice, he suggested that I step upon that. I don't think I am very cowardly at such places, but this was more than I dared to risk. That 2,000 feet drop seemed too far down, so, tying one of the stout ropes around me, I had the men above hang on to it while I was lowered to the rocky fringe. And there, sheltered under the overhanging rock, was the long-sought shrine. There may have been other white men who have seen it before me, but I never heard of them. Thirteen wooden figures, carved from cedar with the rude stone or flint knives of a primitive Indian people, stood in a line, reared against the wall in this cunningly hidden retreat. An army might seek for it in vain. I doubt whether I could myself find it again. Yet I had my photographer come and make a photograph of it, and then, though with much difficulty, I finally prevailed upon my guides to permit me to take away two of the figures, and, should any of my readers ever visit Pasadena, Cal., where my home is, I shall be glad to show them the first and fifth images (from the left) which I secured from the shrine of Unaikah, the warrior god of the Zunis.

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND.

Plans are now perfected for the most successful baseball season for many years at Mr. Leal's school. The boys have organized a strong team and have arranged a schedule for nearly every Saturday morning and several Wednesday afternoons this spring. Uniforms have been ordered, but owing to a delay in making them they will not be ready before April 7th.

Ralph B. Schoonmaker is the manager and he has arranged an excellent schedule. A number of season tickets have been sold that will admit the holders to all the games played in this city. Special arrangements were made with the management of the Plainfield and North Plainfield High School teams so that these tickets will be good at games played by the Leal School boys on the High School grounds.

The schedule is as follows:

Saturday, March 31, North Plainfield High School at Plainfield.

Saturday, April 7, Lincoln High School of Westfield at Plainfield.

Wednesday, April 11, Pingry's School at Elizabeth.

Saturday, April 14, North Plainfield High School at Plainfield.

Wednesday, April 18, Plainfield High School at Plainfield.

Saturday April 21, Arions of Plainfield at Plainfield.

Wednesday, April 25, Plainfield High School at Plainfield.

Saturday, April 28, Battin High School at Elizabeth.

Tuesday, May 15, Newark Academy, at Newark.

Saturday, May 19, Hasbrouck Institute, of Jersey City, at Plainfield.

Saturday, May 26, Rutgers Prep School at New Brunswick.

Wednesday, May 30, Pringry School of Elizabeth at Plainfield.

Saturday, June 2, St. Austin School at West New Brighton.

Saturday, June 9, East Orange High School at Plainfield.

Tilney is captain this year and he announces the following makeup of the team: Pitcher, Dupee, Crowe and R. B. Schoonmaker; catcher, Tilney; first base, Brown and Miller; second base, Churchill and Millar; thire base, R. B. Schoonmaker; left field, McGee; centre field, W. Schoonmaker; right field, Barcalow.

GOLF

Although winter seems to have departed and the golfers are beginning to renew their enthusiasm it will be some time before the ground will be fit for the playing of the ancient and royal game. Two enthusiasts visited one of the local courses one day last week with a view to visit it next day for play. The turf was in fair condition they found, but the hollows had all become small ponds, while the bare ground was so soft and muddy that progression over it was difficult. There were several narrow escapes from tumbles into the mud. Twice they were compelled to take to the fences to crawl by some particularly muddy spot. They reached home safely, but the thick coat of mud on their shoes did not encourage them to try again immediately. It will be nearly a month yet before the turf will be in fit condition and it will be even better to defer the opening of the season a little later so as to enable the turf to get a good start.

POOL.

Dowd stepped up among the leaders in the handicap pool tournament at Krewson's pool rooms by defeating DeNise last evening. It was a rather easy victory for Dowd, who played a 75 point game to DeNise's 100 points and scored 75 to DeNise's 70. Kingston and Alberts were scheduled to meet but neither side appeared and it was scored a defeat for both men. A special match between Sutterline and Walsh was played. Sutterline played a 150 point game and Walsh 120 point game. Sutterline won by a single point, 150 to 119.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

Workmen have been busy for some time making improvements about the grounds of the Gentlemen's Driving Park on Park avenue, and getting the place ready for the summer meetings. As soon as the weather permits work will be started on the track.

ROD AND GUN.

A big shoot was held at High Bridge yesterday when John Lindsey and D. E. Gavin, of the borough, won the honors by capturing several firsts in the sweepstakes. There were five hundred live birds and a number of fine scores were made. Mr. Gavin has been doing some good work of late and is sure to be up among the leaders in a short time.

FOWLER CANDIDATE TURNED DOWN.

Frank Bergen's Friends Win a Victory at Elizabeth Primaries.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, March 28—There was a warm contest Monday night at the Republican primary in the Eleventh ward, the banner stronghold of the party in this city. This is the ward where Congressman Fowler and Frank Bergen both live, and their supporters lined up for a test of strength over the nomination of an Assessor of Taxes.

W. W. Ackerman, the most pronounced champion of Mr. Fowler in the city, who is regarded as the Congressman's right bower, opposed the renomination of Assessor Caleb C. Pollard, who for a dozen years has held the place, and pitted against him Edward P. Edwards, president of the Elizabeth Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. All the Bergen men arrayed themselves under the Pollard banner, while the Fowlerites lined up in support of Mr. Ackerman's candidate. The result was the biggest vote ever cast at a primary in the ward—406 votes being polled in fifty minutes.

The outcome was an overwhelming victory for the Pollard ticket, which won by 160 majority. A telegram was sent late Monday night to Congressman Fowler at Washington, informing him of the defeat.

Ah Foon, Chinese magician and necromancer extraordinary, with his great company of specialty artists, will appear as previously announced, at Music Hall, Friday and Saturday nights and at a special matinee Saturday for ladies and children. As before remarked, the entertainment presented by Ah Foon is clever and novel, but equally attractive and novel are the acts, specialties, etc. of the vaudeville adjuncts. These include some of the best known people in the profession, and were selected for their general efficiency and reputation. All are what is termed "headliners" on the Keith and Proctor vaudeville circuit, and the fact that they are endorsed by the management of those model houses, is a guarantee of their standing and ability. The management desires to call particular attention to the prices for this engagement. Tickets for the entire lower floor will be 50 cents each, and for Friday night "ladies tickets" will be sold at 25 cents if purchased at box office before 7 p. m. that day. Balcony prices at night will be same as usual—25 and 35 cents. For the matinee Saturday, children's tickets—12 years and under—will be 10 cents, and adults 25 cents. There will be no reserved seats at matinee, except in boxes. Tickets on sale now.

Klaw & Erlanger's great production of "Ben Hur" continues to draw a phenominally large attendance at the Broadway Theatre, New York, where it will undoubtedly continue to be presented till the end of May, and perhaps till a later date. Capacity audiences at every performance, an advance sale of over $40,000, and at least $5,000 a week received in payment for seats ordered reserved by mail, after a run of four months, indicate a popular interest never before displayed in any theatrical production made in America. This interest is deserved, for no other play ever seen has presented so fascinating a theme or been so magnificently mounted. Thousands of people have read Gen. Wallace's beautiful story of "Ben Hur" and everyone who has read it desires to see its characters and scenes displayed in the more realistic atmosphere of dramatic portrayal. The integrity of a story translated to the stage has never been so faithfully maintained as in the play of "Ben Hur." Seats are now on sale for every performance from this time to May 1st, and may be ordered by mail or express, accompanied by remittance. Special attention is paid to the filling of all such orders for seats.

CONGRESSMEN WOULD STAY WHERE THEY ARE

All Are Candidates for Re-election, With Prospects of Three Contests.

WHAT THE CHANCES ARE.

IT IS NOT THOUGHT SENATOR REED WILL OPPOSE SEWELL.

In Washington It is Thought That Fowler's Friends Will Not Allow Him to be Beaten by Bergen—Early District Conventions.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington, March 29—Although eight months must elapse before the election of Representatives to succeed the present delegation of New Jersey in Congress will be held, there are already indications that an early campaign will be conducted throughout the eight districts of the State. This is due, in a measure, to the request of the Congressional campaign committee that all of the Republican members of the House of Representatives set in motion the party machinery earlier than usual this year, on account of the Presidential election.

There was a time in New Jersey when it was considered that a man who had been elected to two terms in Congress should be willing to step aside and permit someone else to enjoy that distinction. Now, however, there is a growing realization of the fact that the usefulness of a member, both to his State and district, is increased with every year he is sent to Congress. The people have begun to recognize the fact that it takes the average man a year or two to get in touch with his colleagues and attain a position in which he can expect recognition from the ruling element, and, therefore, every term that he is continued here only adds to his prestige and increases his value as a Representative. New Jersey has three chairmanships in the present Congress, but if any of the Representatives holding such appointments fail to be returned in the Fifty-seventh Congress the State will lose just that amount of prominence and influence in National affairs.

Thus far the only Representative to announce himself as a candidate is Mr. Gardner. The Congressional convention in the first district has been called for April 18, which is earlier than any Congressional convention has been held in the State of New Jersey for some years.

Although Mr. Howell is serving his third term from the Third district it is conceded that it is good fighting ground for the Democrats as well as the Republicans. With the prestige of never having been beaten Mr. Howell is a strong man, and his record in Congress has added to his strength rather than detracting from it. There has been some talk that State Senator Charles A. Reed, of Somerset county, would like the nomination, but with Monmouth and Middlesex counties solid for Howell it is believed that the Senator will be content to wait a couple of years, particularly as he has that time to serve in the State Senate.

It is believed that Mr. Stewart will have no opposition for the nomination in his district. In the Sixth district, it is understood that John S. Gibson, the Comptroller of Newark, may try conclusions with Mr. Parker for the nomination, and as he is known as an active and aggressive fighter he may make it somewhat interesting for the present Representative.

There is a fight on in the Eighth district where Frank Bergen, a prominent lawyer, of Elizabeth, has announced himself as a candidate to succeed Mr Fowler. What is true of the Sixth district is equally true in the Eighth, and since Mr. Fowler has proved such an acceptable Representative it is believed that he will be renominated, as it is understood his friends will make the hardest kind of a fight both in the primaries and at the Congressional convention.

It is conceded that, adhering to the usual custom, both Representatives Daly and Salmon will be renominated, and since the nomination in each district is little short of being equivalent to an election there seems little doubt about their return in the Fifty-seventh Congress. Despite the contests in Mr. Fowler's, Mr. Parker's and Mr. Howell's districts, yet there is a strong impression that these differences will be adjusted or outvoted at the conventions and that the candidates will be the eight men who are now serving as the Representatives, with probability that there will

WED AT HOPE CHAPEL.

MARRIAGE OF MISS HACKETT TO JAMES D. BROWN LAST NIGHT.

After Pretty Ceremony in Church, a Few Relatives and Friends Gathered at New Home on Lee Place.

Hope chapel was crowded last evening with the friends of the young couple who plighted their troth. The bride was Miss Elizabeth Hackett and the groom was James D. Brown, both of this city and members of Hope chapel. The ceremony took place at 7:30 o'clock and was performed by Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, pastor of the chapel.

Previous to the service the guests were seated by the ushers, John Cose and Alex. Muir. Owing to the fact that the young couple are popular in the chapel and have a host of other friends as well there were many who wished to witness the ceremony. The floral decorations were simple but pretty.

The bride was becomingly gowned and was attended by a single bridemaid, Miss Annie Clark. The best man was Thomas F. Brown, the brother of the groom.

After the service the couple were driven to their home, 208 Lee place, where they will reside hereafter. A few relatives and intimate friends were received there and all partook of a collation.

The groom is an employe at the Pond Machine Tool Works and stands high in the esteem of his employers.

STOPPED TWO WOMEN.

Stranger Roughly Seized One by the Arm on Third Street Tuesday Night — He Escaped.

While two young women who live on East Second street were returning home Tuesday evening along East Third street, a man sprang out from behind a tree and roughly seized one of the young women by the arm. He tried to drag her to one side but her screams frightened him away. Several men in the vicinity were attracted by the screams and pursued the stranger across lots but in vain. This incident happened near the chapel, where the street is particularly dark. The man is described as being tall and wearing a black slouch hat.

PNEUMONIA CAUSED DEATH.

Death of W. Lewis Brown, of Belvidere Avenue, at Atlantic City

W. Lewis Brown, of Belvidere avenue, died at Atlantic City last Tuesday evening after a short illness with pneumonia. He recently contracted a severe cold and decided to go to that city, where he hoped to recover speedily. His condition became worse Monday and Dr. Jenkins, the family physician, was summoned to his bedside. All that medical skill could accomplish failed to stop the dread disease, and Mr. Brown's family arrived at Atlantic City just in time to see him before he passed away. Mr. Brown was a merchant doing business on Worth street, New York, and his many friends will learn of his death with deep sorrow. The remains were brought to Plainfield for interment.

FIRST BAPTISTS ARE PROSPEROUS.

Annual Meeting of the Society Held in the Church Last Night.

OVER 400 IN THE SCHOOL.

TOTAL MEMBERSHIP OF THE CHURCH IS NOW 847.

Financial Reports From the Various Societies Show That Large Sums of Money Have Been Put to Most Worthy Uses.

The annual meeting of the First Baptist church was held last evening in the Sunday-school room. Rev. Dr D. J. Yerkes, pastor, presided, and there was a large attendance of the members to hear the encouraging reports read from the various departments of the church.

O. B. Leonard, the church clerk, was present and read some of the reports, the first of which was that of the beneficience committee. This showed the receipts to be $2,036 47, and a balance of $5.35 on hand. Out of these receipts there was the appropriation for foreign missions. The Ladies' Aid Society reported receipts to the amount of $115 01, and a balance of $34 01. The church contributed $304 to the Home for the Aged at Roseville last year, which goes toward the support of two of its members now in the home.

Superintendent George H. Batchelor presented the report for the Sunday school. This showed a total membership of over 400, with an average attendance in main school of 119; intermediate 43, and primary 40. The report of Frank Jones, treasurer, showed the receipts to be $1,274.36 with a balance of $406 99.

Miss Velma Oakley reported for the Christian Endeavor Society. During the year eight associate and four honorary members were added. The total membership is 113.

L. W. Randolph, superintendent of the East Third Street mission, presented one of the most encouraging reports, showing that over $1,600 had been raised during the year, thus enabling the members to clear a debt of $750 on the chapel. There is a membership of 125 in the Sunday-school with an average attendance of 80. A complete library of 300 volumns is also established. It is estimated that $350 is needed for the coming year for current expenses.

Superintendent M. C. Dobbins, of the Mt. Olive Baptist church Sunday-school, presented a verbal report showing that there had been thirty-two conversions during the year.

For the Woman's Home Missionary Society G. H. Batchelor presented the report for Mrs. Batchelor, who could not be present. It showed the receipts to be $413 51, and a balance of $551 12. The reports of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society and the Young Ladies' Missionary Society were presented by Miss Ida Yerkes and Miss Edith Cairns.

R. W. Barnes, for the Temple Builders, presented a report showing the receipts to be $144 72, and the disbursements $90 22. In the report of the poor committee it was shown that about $350 had been used during the year.

Mr. Leonard, the clerk, gave a review of the membership of the church. It shows that during the year five persons were received by letter from other churches and twenty-three on confession of faith. There were fifteen dismissed to join other Baptist churches elsewhere, and there have occurred fifteen deaths, leaving the total membership at present just two more than it was one year ago, which is 847.

Leave for Mt. St. Clements.

Mrs. Butler and her daughter, Miss Butler, of California, who have been stopping at the Park Avenue Hotel for several weeks, will leave next week for Mt. St. Clements, where they will remain until May. At that time they will go to Maine where they will join Mrs. E. W. Hedges and family, who expects to spend the summer months there. The whole party will return to Plainfield in the fall, when Mrs Butler and her daughter will again stop at the Park Avenue Hotel. They are delighted with the latter place and like the accommodations so well that they have already engaged rooms for next fall.

Court of Errors Winds Up.

The Court of Errors and Appeals has finished its labors so far as listening to arguments is concerned, for the March term, and will meet again in conference May 9th. A brief conference was held by the Court at the conclusion of the arguing of cases Tuesday, but no decisions were announced.

JAMES L. SLEVIN DEAD.

WAS A PARTNER OF EUGENE A. GROSS, WHO DIED TWO WEEKS AGO.

He Was a Life-long Democrat and had Resided in Plainfield for Past Twenty Years.

A second great sorrow has come to the family of James L Slevin, of 330 Franklin place. Two weeks ago Mrs. Slevin's brother, Eugene A. Gross, of West Seventh street, passed away after a brief illness. Today Mr. Slevin died after a lingering illness. Death was caused by consumption, from which he has been suffering for several months. For the last month he has been very ill and his family realized that the end was at hand. Yesterday he began to sink slowly and passed quietly away during this morning.

Mr. Slevin was the son of the late John Slevin, of Cincinnati, O. He was born in that city sixty years ago. He spent his boyhood there and began a merchantile career which was very successful. He married the sister of Eugene A. Gross and then moved to this city twenty years ago. Since his residence in Plainfield, he was in partnership with Mr. Gross in the manufacture of candles. The factory was at Jersey City but the firm's offices were in New York.

During his residence in Plainfield, Mr. Slevin made many friends. He had a pleasant greeting for all. He was a kind father and a loving husband and was particularly attached to his home life. He was a member and regular attendant at St. Mary's church.

Mr. Slevin was a lifelong Democrat and during several campaigns took an active part. He never held public office in this city, however.

He leaves a widow and two children, Miss Annie Slevin and John Slevin. His other son died several years ago.

The funeral will be held from St. Mary's church Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

GASOLINE BLAZED UP.

LIVELY FIRE IN THE HOUSE OF JOHN C. VANDYKE.

Stove was too Full of the Volatile Fluid—Kitchen Badly Damaged by Flames.

What might have proved a serious fire was narrowly averted this morning at the home of J. C. VanDyke, East Front street. Mrs. VanDyke was in the kitchen using a gasoline stove when, without a moment's warning, the stove exploded and the room was filled with flames shooting in every direction. Mrs. Van Dyke very fortunately was close to a door. She quickly escaped without injury. In the meantime the fire was getting in its work and in a short time the kitchen was completely ruined.

Mrs. VanDyke alarmed her daughter, Miss Maude VanDyke, who was confined to her bed with the grip, as she thought the house might burn up. Chas. Kiederling, a neighbor, was then notified and he sent in an alarm from Box 14, corner of East Front street and Watchung avenue. The department was soon at the scene of the fire and it was quickly extinguished.

Chief Doane was greatly surprised to find that the fire had not reached the upper part of the house, for the stove stood very close to a closet that runs to the ceiling. The cause assigned for the explosion is that the tank was filled too full with gasoline. The insurance is sufficient to cover the loss.

Mr. VanDyke feels very grateful to the fire department for their prompt response and very effective service.

STRANGE MALADY LAYS FAMILY LOW

Three of Farmer's Household Lie Dead and He and One Other Are Dangerously Ill.

TREATED FOR PNEUMONIA.

SOME BELIEVE THE FAMILY TO BE VICTIMS OF POISON.

First Illness Occurred After Eating Canned Tomatoes for Dinner Sunday—Authorities Will Investigate.

The family of Louis Burroughs, an aged and wealthy farmer of Washington Valley, has been almost completely wiped out by death during the past two days. Three members of the family are lying dead in the house, and the two remaining members are so dangerously ill that there is small hope of their recovery. Burroughs' wife and his sons, Frederick and Ferdinand, were all taken strangely and suddenly ill Sunday. A physician diagnosed the disease as acute typhoid pneumonia, and they were treated accordingly. They continued to grow worse and early Monday morning a married daughter, Mrs. Thompson, who but a few days before had become a mother, was also stricken. Mrs. Burroughs and the son Frederick both died in agony Tuesday, and Ferdinand passed away early yesterday. Mrs. Thompson is sinking rapidly, and her death is hourly expected. The father is in a precarious condition. When told of the deaths of his wife and two sons, he acted like a maniac.

Notwithstanding that the attending physician diagnosed the disease as typhoid pneumonia and gave death certificates accordingly, many of the neighbors believe that the members of the family have been the victims of some virulent poison. The condition of the stricken ones has been such that it was impossible to learn from them anything that might explain the strange attacks, but from one of the neighbors it was learned that the family partook of canned tomatoes for their Sunday noon meal, and that their illness followed within a short time.

Many other reports are in circulation, but none can be confirmed. Some neighbors say that the strange illness was due to eating pork taken from a hog butchered on the place, and which showed signs of disease shortly before it was killed. Others declare it was caused by drinking spring water that had been contaminated.

The fact that so many members of a family should be attacked at the same time and in such a peculiar manner has caused so much talk that it is probable the matter will be investigated by the authorities.

ELIZABETH CONVENTIONS.

Democrats and Republicans Will Make Nominations Tonight.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, March 29.—The Democrats and Republicans will hold their city conventions tonight to nominate a Mayor and City Councilmen, including an Alderman-at-Large and four chosen Freeholders. Mayor Mack, Republican, probably will be re nominated for a second term. Former Mayor John Rankin may be nominated by the Republicans for Alderman-at-Large. It is thought that former Sheriff Hicks will be nominated by the Democrats for Mayor, and Richard Frohwein for Alderman-at-Large.

It was announced yesterday that ex-Mayor Rankin is to be nominated for Alderman-at-Large by the Republicans at the city convention tonight. Mr. Rankin was Mayor for ten years.

Offers will be received up to Saturday noon of this week, and if a reasonable offer is not received it will probably be sold at public auction later on.

No Action Taken.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Plainfield High School Athletic Association was held yesterday. The advisability of further adding to the funds of the association by holding an entertainment was discussed, but no action was taken.

GOOD WORK IN MISSIONS

ANNUAL MEETINGS OF TWO BAPTIST MISSIONARY SOCIETIES.

Woman's Foreign Missionary Society United With Young Ladies' Missionary Society to Hold Interesting Session.

The twenty-seventh annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church, was held yesterday afternoon in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Young Ladies' Missionary Society. Owing to the absence of the president, Mrs. Reuben Knox, who was called to South Jersey to attend the funeral of her mother, Mrs. D. J. Yerkes, one of the vice-presidents presided over the meeting.

There was a large and gratifying attendance of members and friends, and all of the reports showed progress and earnest work. Mrs. B. J. Shreve, secretary, presented her report which showed that the society has 82 life members, two having been added during the year. The average attendance at each meeting was fourteen. Miss Ida Yerkes, treasurer, showed a grand total of $500 99 for receipts. The disbursements were $500. The report for the contingent fund showed the receipts to be $8 63 and the disbursements $3.30. After the reports were received a pleasing solo was rendered by Mrs. Samuel Case, accompanied by Miss Edith Cairns.

Reports were then received from the officers of the Young Ladies' Missionary Society. Miss Edith Cairns, secretary, reported a membership of 43, with an average attendance of 15. Miss Bertha Thorn, treasurer, reported the receipts to be $148.85 and the disbursements to be $146.50. Then followed the reading of several papers.

The first paper was prepared by Miss Whitney and read by Mrs. Harold Serrell. The subject was "Catholics and Mohammedans in China." This paper was followed by another on the "Opium Traffic in China," prepared and read by Miss Rafferty.

A third paper read by Miss Milne was in the form of a Chinese fairy story, and was very interesting. This was followed with a paper by Mrs. Milne containing facts concerning the general condition of China and showing the religious status. The meeting was brought to a close after Miss Pauline Denton read a delightful story entitled "The Tea-pickers Song."

THE PENNSYLVANIA DEFIED.

Aldermen in New Brunswick Declare Railroad Must Pay Track Elevation Damages.

Track elevation in New Brunswick has received its first knockout blow at the hands of the Aldermen of the city, and if the Pennsylvania Railroad Company wishes to spend $500,000 and elevate the tracks through the city it will have to pay all damages to the property involved. The citizens of New Brunswick enthusiastically support the stand taken by the Aldermen.

The Pennsylvania Company wished to close half a dozen important streets and compel the city to pay damages resulting therefrom. The Aldermen recently established a precedent by publishing in the local papers at New Brunswick the complete proposals made by the railroad. Protests began piling up against the closing of the streets, and the committee has now determined that only one street, an unused thoroughfare, shall be closed, and that the railroad company shall pay all damages.

Two Death Claims on One Man.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, March 29.—Death claims have been filed with two lodges of the Independent Order of Foresters by families who want $1,000 insurance on an unidentified man who was buried last July in potter's field here. One of the claimants is Mrs. John Mitchell, whose husband has been missing since June 26th. The other claimant is a Mrs. Luster, of Brooklyn. The body will be exhumed. The Foresters do not believe the man was the husband of either of the claimants.

Not Particular What They Steal.
(Special to The Daily Press).

Burlington, N. J., March 29.—Three strange colored men with a horse and open wagon have been going through Burlington county lately stealing everything they could lay their hands on. They carried off the iron cellar windows from the Shinn house and stole a plow from Benjamin Costill, near Hainesport. It is thought the thieves belong to Burlington.

PUBLIC HEARING FOR THE CITY HALL IDEA.

Common Council Will Try to Determine Public Sentiment About the Project.

FIVE AVAILABLE SITES NOW.

COMMITTEE WILL MAKE NO DEFINITE RECOMMENDATIONS.

Will Leave it to the Whole Common Council to Determine Which Property is Best for the Use of the City.

When it came to a decision on the subject of a City Hall last evening eight of the eleven members of the Common Council halted and decided to turn their information over to the Council without any recommendation at all. It was generally expected that the City Hall committee would prepare a majority and a minority report at their meeting last night, but they didn't.

All the members of the committee were present, but they had little to say. Councilman Dumont was frank in his opposition to the building of a City Hall this year. The other members were understood to favor the proposition. Regarding a site there was no unanimity.

After a little discussion regarding what action the committee should take, Councilman Dumont suggested that the committee make no recommendation at all but merely report back to the Council the most favorable sites out of those that had been offered. As the suggestion did not commit anybody for or against the City Hall scheme, it found favor and was immediately adopted. Councilman Buckle added the idea that the committee recommend a public hearing for the immediate future to learn if possible the sentiment of the people. He suggested as a date for the public meeting the Monday evening following the regular Council meeting. Mr. Buckle's recommendation was also adopted.

There were five sites that the committee decided to report back to the Council as available for the location of the City Hall. Four of these are located on East Front street and one on Park avenue. There were several other sites offered to the committee, but the members were unanimous in the opinion that the others were not available.

Taking the Front street sites in the order of their location there is the Durlack property on the northeast corner of Watchung avenue and East Front street. The Durlack property and the two adjoining lots, belonging to the Latimer and Neighbor estates, having a total frontage of 150 feet and a depth of over 200 feet, are offered to the city for $30,000.

Diagonally across the corner, on the south-west corner of Watchung avenue and East Front street, is the Fred MacDonald property. Including the Brown property next door, the lot has a frobtage of 130 feet and is valued at $25,000.

On the south side on East Front street, a short distance west of the last named property, is the Mrs. Thomas MacDonald property with a frontage of 135 feet. This property extends back to the city lot on Second street where the fire department headquarters is located. Its price to the city is $19,500.

The site which of any of the Front street sites has been most favorably commented on by the committee is usually known as the Gardner property and is located on the north side of Front steet, a short distance west of the Mrs. Thomas MacDonald property. It has a frontage of 112 feet and extends back to the brook. Its cost is placed at $15,000.

The proposed site on Park avenue includes a double proposition. The vacant lot on the southeast corner of Park avenue and East Fifth street is offered to the city for $9,000. The entire block on the east side of Park avenue from Fifth to Sixth street, is also offered for $20,000.

Need an Operator at Oak Tree.

Mrs. James Todd, who for sometime past has been the ticket agent at the Oak Tree station on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, has been relieved of her position. The company decided to place a telegraph operator there, and as Mrs. Todd could not fill that position she was obliged to retire. Her many friends will be sorry to learn of this.

Decided Property Claim.

A jury in Justice Nash's court yesterday afternoon decided that the property levied upon by William W. Connolly on an execution against Geo. W. Wrennick, belongs to Nettie L. Moore, the claimant.

THE ADVANCE BEGUN

Lord Roberts Sends Ten Thousand Men to Glen.

A LONG MARCH TO KROONSTADT.

Boers Said to Have Forty Thousand Men Under Arms—Heavy Bombardment Reported at Mafeking. Joubert Died of Peritonitis.

LONDON, March 29.—General French, who has arrived at Bloemfontein from Thaba Nchu, says that Commandant Olivier has 6,000 men and is north of Ladybrand.

Lord Roberts has sent 10,000 troops to Glen, ten miles north of Bloemfontein, on the railway. This is a preliminary to the general advance.

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Morning Post, telegraphing Tuesday, says:

"The First Coldstreams and the Third grenadiers are already at Glen. The Gordons and the cavalry brigade moved Sunday. The Fourteenth brigade followed today.

"The three span bridge at Glen was dynamited three hours before the guards reached it. The necessary repairing will delay further advance for a time. General Gatacre's forces are now arriving."

A dispatch from Warrenton, dated March 28, says:

"The Boers opened fire with artillery and rifles on the British camp today. The first shell burst while the fusileers were at breakfast. A hail of bullets poured into the village. Many cattle were killed. A hotel that is used as a hospital and over which the Red Cross flag was flying was fired upon."

Boer observation parties are hovering near Bloemfontein, but Lord Roberts has 135 miles to cover before reaching the great position which the Boers are preparing at Kroonstadt.

Moving ten miles a day is probably the best he can do with field transport. Therefore he can hardly engage the Boers in force for two weeks. The reconstruction of the railway behind him may even delay an invasion of the Transvaal until May.

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, in a dispatch dated Tuesday, March 27, says:

"It is a matter for regret that owing to the state of the roads and our horses Commandant Grovelarr's commando of 6,000 men from Colesberg and the southern districts got away north by traveling day and night close to the Basuto border before our force could hope to get near them.

"The latest news is that the Boers have 40,000 men still under arms, of whom 10,000 are in and around the Natal border. Although tents and stores are reaching here, a block on the railway is delaying arrivals from the south considerably. It is asserted that 20,000 Boers are massed at Kroonstadt."

A Pretoria dispatch to The Daily Mail, dated March 28, says:

"An official dispatch reports a heavy bombardment of Mafeking in progress on Monday, March 26, which was meeting with a 'spirited response.'

"Mr. Michael Davitt had an interview with President Kruger today."

A dispatch to The Daily Mail, from Lourenco Marques, dated Wednesday, says:

"The French Colonel Villebois de Marouil has been appointed to the command of the foreign legion, which is operating in the Free State.

"General Prinsloo, recently arrested, is charged by the Boers with high treason."

A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Pietermaritzburg, dated Wednesday, March 28, says:

"British scouts have thoroughly reconnoitered the passes of the Drakensberg range. The number of Boers holding them does not exceed 2,000, who are working halfheartedly in constructing intrenchments."

The Pretoria correspondent of The Daily Mail, telegraphing yesterday, says:

"General Joubert died of peritonitis. The funeral will take place tomorrow.

"The government is pleading with the widow to allow a temporary interment here, with a state funeral. Joubert always expressed a desire to be buried in a mausoleum built on his farm.

"His successor in the chief command will probably be General Louis Botha, now commanding in Natal."

Great Britain, according to the Berlin correspondent of The Daily Mail, has thanked Germany for the latter's warning of the Boer plans for attacking Walfisch bay, on the west African coast.

Boer Peace Envoys Coming to Berlin

BERLIN, March 29.—Special dispatches have been published here announcing that the Boer peace envoys, Messrs. Wolmarans, Fischer and Wessels, are coming to Berlin and will then go to St. Petersburg. A correspondent of the press when inquiring with reference to the matter at the foreign office last evening was informed that no information had been received regarding the intention of the Boer commissioners and that, in fact, even their coming had not been officially notified to the foreign office.

GENERAL JOUBERT DEAD.

Pretoria In Mourning For the Transvaal Leader.

PRETORIA, March 29.—General Joubert is dead. He had been suffering from a stomach complaint.

The town is plunged in mourning for the true patriot, gallant general and upright and honorable gentleman.

General Petrus Jacobus Joubert, commandant general of the Transvaal forces, better known as Piet Joubert, or "Slien Piet" (Slim Peter), was born about 68 years ago. He was descended from an old French Huguenot family, which settled in South Africa many years ago. He was born in Cape Colony, but was taken by his parents when 7 years old to the Orange Free State, where he was taught from early childhood to shoot straight and hate the British. He is described as having been utterly fearless. Of schooling he had but little, and he never saw a newspaper until he was 19 years old. In spite of this his ambition prompted him to read the few books he could obtain, and he succeeded in obtaining a fair knowledge of history and languages.

In consequence of the acquisition of Natal by the British he and his family moved from that part of South Africa and settled in the Transvaal. Soon afterward he became a burgher of the South African Republic and a daring fighter. It was claimed in his behalf that he could lead a body of men more successfully against hostile natives than any other man in the Transvaal. He was eventually so feared by the natives that the knowledge that he was at the head of a punitive expedition usually resulted in their surrender.

It was during these wars with the natives that Joubert became acquainted with Paul Kruger, and the two men became bosom friends. He was elected vice president of the Transvaal in 1896, defeated Sir George Colley at Majuba Hill in 1881 and acted as president of the republic in 1883-4, during Kruger's absence in Europe.

General Joubert was always in favor of the use of force instead of diplomacy, and President Kruger on several occasions had great difficulty in repressing his hot headed colleague, notably in 1879, when Joubert, with Kruger and Pretorius, was planning the rebellion to overthrow British rule in the Transvaal. The result was Majuba Hill and the practical independence of the Transvaal, though the suzerainty of Great Britain was maintained.

Although Joubert was known as "Slim Peter," he was nearly six feet in height and of stout build, his nickname being given him on account of his shrewd military tactics.

In November last it was reported that General Joubert had been killed in action, and later reports said he was dangerously wounded and had to use a cart in order to follow the operations in the field.

Kruger Will Take Command.

BRUSSELS, March 29.—A private dispatch has been received here from Pretoria which says that President Kruger will now take chief command of the Transvaal forces.

General White Sails.

CAPE TOWN, March 29.—General Sir George White has sailed for England.

Admiral Watson Leaves Manila.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The flagship Brooklyn, with Rear Admiral Watson on board, left Manila for Yokohama Tuesday, and it is not probable that Admiral Watson will return to the Philippines. The cruisers Baltimore and Newark will follow the Brooklyn to Yokohama, where the battleship Oregon now is, and the four vessels will await the arrival there of Rear Admiral G. C. Remey, Admiral Watson's successor. According to the present understanding Admiral Watson will transfer his flag from the Brooklyn to the Baltimore and Admiral Remey will raise his ensign on the Brooklyn. The Brooklyn, Oregon and Newark will then sail for Manila, and the Baltimore, with Admiral Watson, will start on her leisurely voyage home by the Suez canal route.

A Double Funeral.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., March 29.—There will be a double funeral at the residence of Mrs. Harriet S. Weeks in this city Friday afternoon. Yesterday morning at 4 o'clock Mrs. Albert Allonas died of pneumonia, and in the afternoon at the same hour the husband died of the same complaint. The wife was a niece of the late James H. Weeks, one of the most prominent lawyers in the state. Mr. and Mrs. Allonas were aged 60 and 40 respectively.

A Monte Carlo at Cape Nome.

NEW YORK, March 29.—A specially chartered steamer with 40 actors and actresses and a large quantity of gambling paraphernalia will leave Seattle, Wash., for Nome City, Alaska, today. The ship has been chartered by a syndicate formed by John Considine, the sporting man, known in this city as the partner of "Jim" Corbett, and James Considine, his brother, who is well known in theatrical circles in Seattle and Spokane Falls.

German Antarctic Expedition.

BERLIN, March 29.—The preparations for the German scientific antarctic expedition are nearly completed. Professor Drygalski will be accompanied by Professor Ernst Vanhoeffen, zoologist; Professor Hans Gazert, bacteriologist, and Professor Emil Philipps. The starting point will be Kerguelen, the "Island of Desolation," in the Indian ocean.

New Jersey's New Asylum.

BRIDGETON, N. J., March 29.—Cumberland county's new insane asylum has been formally accepted by the board of freeholders. It has cost $83,000 to date and has a capacity for 200 patients. One hundred insane patients will be brought from the state asylum at Trenton next week. David B. Elwell is the superintendent of the new institution.

Wheatley Named For Congress.

CHANUTE, Kan., March 29.—George W. Wheatley of Galena, an attorney, has been nominated for congress by the Republican convention of the Third district. R. N. Allen and J. L. Bradley were named as delegates to the national convention and instructed for McKinley, and A. P. Johnson was selected as elector.

Strikers Return to Work.

KNOXVILLE, March 29.—Over half of the 300 strikers who walked out of the Knoxville Woolen mills Tuesday have returned to work. Nonunion labor has been put in the place of the strikers still out.

FAIR EXCHANGE.

A New Back for An Old One—How It Is Done In Plainfield.

Sometimes the back aches with a dull indescribable feeling making you weary and restless; sometimes pain shoots across the region of the kidneys and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No use plastering the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. To exchange a bad back for a new and stronger one follow the example of this Plainfield citizen.

Mr. Charles Giese, cigar manufacturer of 25 Elm place says:—"I was subject to attacks of kidney complaint for 2 or 3 years. Most of the pain was in my back and hips and I could not stoop or straighten without feeling sharp, shooting twinges. When I sat for any length of time I grew stiff and sore and was compelled to get up and move about. I grew so bad I had to do something for it. I had read a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills being such good medicine for kidney troubles so I got a box of them at L. W. Randolph's drug store. I used them according to directions and after 2 or 3 days I felt better. I continued their use until the pain disappeared."

For sale by all dealers, price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

THE ASSASSINATION CASE.

Developments — Democrats Claim Culton Confessed.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 29.—There are no developments in the assassination case, though the air is filled with rumors of more arrests and other new phases. It was reported that a prominent man who was supposed to be at Winchester would be arrested, but dispatches from Winchester say that the suspected man is not there and that no arrest has been made at that point. It is claimed that the statement made by W. H. Culton to the attorneys for the prosecution involved this suspected man, he having been named by Sergeant Golden in his testimony last Saturday as one of the promoters of the movement which resulted in bringing the mountaineers here.

The visit of Culton to the attorneys for the commonwealth Tuesday has caused a great deal of talking on both sides, and while the Democrats claim that he made a confession the Republicans say that he told nothing whatever about the tragedy, as he knew nothing to tell beyond the importation of mountaineers to Frankfort. The attorneys decline to divulge what was brought out at the meeting beyond the fact that Culton was in conference with them for several hours. Twice yesterday Culton made short visits to the hotel to see the attorneys, but nothing new in the case has been announced.

H. D. Youtsey, who was arrested Tuesday, will be arraigned today. His attorneys will ask for an immediate examining trial.

Captain John Davis is still in jail, no one having appeared to execute a new bond. Judge Yost, who, it is said, has the power of attorney from wealthy citizens of Louisville to make bond for Davis, arrived late, but he could not be found to corroborate the rumor.

Stanley Milward of Lexington telegraphed here that he will be here today and execute a bond for Davis.

AN INSULAR TREASURY.

To Be Established In Cuba Soon. Few Spaniards Register.

HAVANA, March 29.—The order establishing the insular treasury will go into effect on April 15, when all funds collected in the various parts of the island are to be remitted, the banks putting up a cash bond to an amount equal to what will be permitted them in the way of government business. They will have the privilege of acting as subdepositories of insular funds for banking purposes. The North American Trust company, on account of services rendered, will also be a fiscal agent of the government and will have preference in those places where it now has branches—namely, Havana, Matanzas, Cienfuegos and Santiago.

Saturday next will be the last day for the Spaniards to register their nationality. During the week there has been a considerable addition to the names registered, the number averaging more than 500 daily; but, taking the island as a whole, only a very small percentage is thus far enrolled.

Three hundred immigrants have arrived at Cienfuegos from Colombia and Venezuela, which they left in consequence of the revolutionary movements.

Prominent Lawyer Dead.

MONTICELLO, N. Y., March 29.—Hon. Clinton Van Rensselaer Ludington, one of the most prominent men in Sullivan county, is dead. For 50 years he had been one of the leading lawyers of Sullivan county. He held many offices of political trust and was one of the delegates to nominate Abraham Lincoln in 1864 and Grant in 1868 and 1872. He was a delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1867. Among his personal friends were General Grant and Roscoe Conkling. He was born in Fallsburg, where his father, H. D. Ludington, was one of the first settlers. He was in his eightieth year.

Widows' Pensions Increased.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The house committee on pensions has recommended an increase to $40 a month in the pension of the widow of Colonel Egbert, killed in the Philippines; $40 to the widow of Colonel Haskell, who died from wounds received in Cuba; $35 to the widow of Colonel J. J. Van Horn, who died during the Spanish war; $30 to the widow of Captain C. W. Rowell, killed in Cuba; $35 to the widow of Commander Horace Elmer of the navy and $30 to the widow of Commodore O. C. Badger of the navy.

Farm Tools For Cubans.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, March 29.—A large quantity of plows, hoes and other farm implements has been received here for free distribution throughout the province, and hundreds of applicants have already been supplied. They say they can soon raise enough to support their families. The schooner Herod from Porto Rico, which has arrived here, brought 20 refugees, who say they came to obtain employment owing to the bad business conditions at home. All ablebodied men are immediately employed by the mines.

HERO OF THE HOUR.

Gen. French, the Man Who Raised the Siege of Kimberley.

His Mental Caliber Was Always Considered High by His Comrades, But Personally He Is Not Considered Attractive.

Maj. Gen. John D. P. French, who led the relief force into Kimberley, is 48 years old and first became prominent in the Nile expedition of 1884. At the opening of the Boer war he was designated commander of the cavalry in South Africa, but in the rearrangement of campaigns and the scattering of the cavalry he was given other duties. Sir George White gave him the command at the battle of Elandslaagte, which he won. Later he won the fight at Colesburg. His escape from Ladysmith just before the investment of the town was made in a train that was riddled with Boer bullets, French and others on board being compelled to get under the seats to escape.

Following is an estimate of Gen. French by Maj. Arthur Griffiths, of the British army, printed in the London Daily Mail six weeks ago:

"French has always been esteemed by those who pretend to have an insight into character as one of the best of all. His soldierly aptitudes and his sound qualifications for the military service were noted almost from the first.

"For a long time he was no more than a regimental adjutant, first with his own people, the Nineteenth hussars, and next with a yeomanry corps. He was always held in high esteem by all he served under. It was greatly to his advantage that his lot was cast with one of the best cavalry regiments in the service, the Nineteenth hussars, a splendidly trained regiment, perfect in demeanor and appearance. It accompanied Lord Wolseley in the Nile expedition in 1884-85, and won his unstinted approval on all occasions, especially when employed in outpost duties and reconnoissances.

GEN. JOHN D. P. FRENCH.
(The British Leader Who Raised the Siege of Kimberley.)

"French was its major and second in command, and he went with it on that momentous expedition of Herbert Stewart's, which was thrown across the Bayuda desert as a last forlorn hope to rescue Gordon in Khartoum. At the fierce conflict of Abu Klea, when Stewart was struck down with Burnaby, French with his regiment was engaged, and again they were at Metemmeh when Redvers Buller's opportune arrival was so happily instrumental in the extrication of the force.

"In appearance French is hardly an ideal cavalry officer. There is little of the 'beau sabreur' about him. He is short and thick, and of rather ungainly figure. Although he can stick on a horse as well as anyone, rides with a strong seat, and is indefatigable in the saddle, he is not at all a pretty horseman.

"His mental caliber is undoubtedly high; he is sound in judgment, clear-headed, patient, taking everything quietly, the rough with the smooth, willing to wait, and still more ready to act, when the opportunity comes, with tremendous effect."

The investment of Kimberley dates from October 12, two days following the dispatch of the Boer ultimatum to Great Britain, and the siege, therefore, had continued for 127 days when the cavalry and artillery of Gen. French's flying column brought relief to the garrison.

During the entire siege Cecil Rhodes, the diamond king, promoter and builder of the Cape to Cairo railway, was penned up in the beleaguered town, and the efforts of the Boers to capture the place are believed to have been caused by a desire to make prisoner the man who directed the Jameson raid and who openly advocates the overthrow of the two Dutch republics.

Cecil Rhodes arrived in Kimberley from the north but a few hours before Commandant Botha, with a force of 700 Boers, arrived, cut the railway and telegraph lines connecting Kimberley with the outside world, and prepared to carry the town by storm.

A Profitable Experiment.

A few years ago a western railroad planted 600 acres of land with trees, with the idea of growing timber for railway ties and telegraph poles. The trees have made good growth, but are not quite ready for use as poles, and some of the trees are now being cut out and made into fence posts in order to thin the forest.

Blasting with Steam.

A new way of blasting rock is to place a cartridge of water into a shot hole and convert it into steam instantly by electricity. This method is especially applicable in coal mines.

A BLOW FOR BOXERS

New York Senate Passes the Lewis Repeal Bill.

GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT SURE TO SIGN

The Assembly, Much to Its Surprise, Has No Trouble Over the State Fair Bill, but Passes It Easily.

ALBANY, March 29.—Under the notice given, Senator Ellsworth, the Republican leader, had the rules suspended in the senate yesterday, and Assemblyman Lewis' bill repealing the Horton boxing law was then placed upon its final passage.

Senator Grady at once offered a substitute bill which he had submitted to the senate codes committee when the hearing was had on the Lewis bill. The substitute allowed boxing contests to continue under many restrictions, which it is believed would make impossible the abuses growing out of boxing bouts as now carried on.

The Grady substitute was defeated by a viva voce vote without further amendment.

Senator Wagner (Dem.) of Brooklyn said he would support the bill if it should be amended to take effect Feb. 1 next. He offered such an amendment. It was rejected.

The roll call upon the final passage of the bill was then had without delay, and the bill was passed by a vote of 26 to 22. Twenty-six votes were required to pass the bill.

The bill now goes to Governor Roosevelt for his approval, and he has already announced he will sign it as soon as it reaches him.

At 5 o'clock Assemblyman O'Connell's bill to prohibit the issue of trading stamps was called up and passed after some debate by a vote of 40 to 7.

To the surprise of all, the amended state fair bill, providing for a special commission to assume control of the exhibition, passed the assembly practically unopposed. The committee on rules had prepared the most drastic measures to limit debate and prevent dilatory tactics and force the bill to a final vote. The Democratic senators in caucus had agreed to support the Ambler bill for control by the commissioner of agriculture, and it was believed that enough votes could be secured to overrule the report of the finance committee. This was done, and without a word of debate, the bill was passed, 38 to 8, those voting in the negative being Senators Ambler, Coggeshall, Feeter, Foley, Krum, Mackey, McCarren and Sullivan. Because of the many conflicting interests the Democrats had been released from their caucus pledge.

Miners Adopt the Altoona Scale.

DUBOIS, Pa., March 29.—At a meeting of the miners of the London, Sandy Lick and Rochester mines of the Rochester and Pittsburg and Jefferson and Clearfield Coal and Iron companies held here the Altoona scale was adopted. An agreement was also entered into by all the miners of the above mntioned mines to contribute $1 of their pay on each pay day to the support of the striking miners of the Berwind-White mines. This action has been taken by all of the miners of this field, excepting those of the Reynoldsville mines, and they will hold a meeting on Saturday at which the same step will be taken. The Berwind-White operators have posted notices at all of their workings in this district notifying the men of an advance to be granted them on April 1, but it seems to have no effect toward ending the strike.

Five Million People Being Fed.

CALCUTTA, March 29.—The viceroy, Lord Curzon of Kedleston, addressing the council on the budget, said that nearly 5,000,000 persons were in receipt of regular relief and that the cost for the ensuing year was estimated at 525 lacs of rupees. The loss on revenue for one year had been 121 lacs of rupees. The government, he said, hoped during the forthcoming year to spend 100 lacs of rupees in irrigation, but he could see no chance of cutting down the military estimate. "There are two duties of Indian statesmanship," said the viceroy. "One is to make these millions happy, and the other is to keep them safe. For the sake of the one we must not neglect the other."

Body of Missing Woman Found.

NORWICH, Conn., March 29.—The body of Miss Annie C. Lamb has been found floating in the Thames river about five miles below here. On Jan. 24 Miss Lamb and Frederick H. Moll, a tailor for whom she worked, disappeared, and their whereabouts was unknown until last Monday, when the body of Moll was found in the same place where the woman's body was discovered. Moll was about 53 years of age, and at the time of his disappearance he deserted his wife and four children, leaving them destitute. It is supposed that Moll and Miss Lamb walked down what is known as Draw bridge and jumped overboard

For a Buffalo Reserve.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The house committee on public lands has directed a favorable report of the bill for a "buffalo reserve" in New Mexico. The reserve is limited to 12,000 acres in the unoccupied and arid district, and its occupancy will be under a territory lease. The purpose is to recruit the fast disappearing herds of American bison. The committee also acted favorably on the bill establishing a national park of the petrified forests of Arizona. These forests cover 12 square miles of agate trees.

Tobacco Shops to Leave Detroit.

DETROIT, March 29.—Preparations are being made for the removal of the great Scotten tobacco manufactory from Detroit. All of the 1,000 employees have been notified that their services will not be required after May 1. The machinery and appliances will probably be distributed to other plants of the Continental Tobacco company, of which the Scotten company became a part two years ago.

Riley, representing the Perry bank, is in the city and has identified Clark.

Watch Your Kidneys!

They are Filters For the Blood. Impure Blood Causes Disease.

Few people understand the important part performed by the kidneys in filtering the blood. As the blood in its circulation through the body passes through the kidneys, its impurity is left in the kidneys, which in turn empties the secretions into the bladder in the form of urine.

If the kidneys are blocked and filtration of the blood from poisonous or diseased germs is prevented thereby, the result is one or all of the following: Sleeplessness, Nervous Prostration, Weak Back, Pains in the Back and Loins, Scalding Dark and Cloudy Urine, Dizziness, Rheumatism, Diabetes, Congestion of the Kidneys, Bright's Disease and Inflammation of the Bladder.

Unhealthy Kidneys Must Be Treated

A medicine is needed that will properly promote the filtration of the blood and check the over-secretion of urine.

AS SPANIARDS SEE IT.

They Think Their Insular Rule Was Better Than Ours.

CITY OF MEXICO, March 29.—The Correo Espanol, the organ of the resident Spaniards, which reflects Spanish sentiment accurately, says that the future of the peoples in the new possessions of the United States is very dark. "We acknowledge," says the Correo, "that our colonial system was not perfect, though the calumnies raised against it were much greater than its real shortcomings. But what system has given better results, taking into account the climatological and other conditions; what island of the West Indies, Danish, French, Dutch or English could be compared in population and wealth and in progress and true happiness with Cuba and Porto Rico?

"In what colony of the Pacific ocean did the native element become so prosperous and civilized as in the Philippines? But in spite of everything it became so much the fashion to calumniate our civilization that the natives by dint of hearing it so often repeated persuaded themselves into the belief that they were being tyrannized over, and so they began to long for unwarranted or at least premature emancipation, and in order to attain it they called in the aid of strangers. Well, they emancipated themselves from Spain, and what happened to them? They have fallen into the power of the boa constrictor, which, winding itself around their bodies, is squeezing life from them.

"Disappointment has been horrible, and the contrast has only served to bring out the kindness of the Spanish regime which formerly these callow aspirants for independence so much detested. Aguinaldo now declares that the Spanish regime was 100,000 times milder, more benevolent and sincere than that which began with the vile and infamous duplicity of Admiral Dewey and which is being continued by General Otis—a systematic assassination of the population of the islands, not excepting women and children.

"Porto Rico received the invader with open arms. Porto Rico, where once reigned happiness and plenty, suffers at present the terrible gnawings of hunger, caused by the lordliness of the new owners of the soil, and although this want could have been avoided altogether, the sorry remedy now attempted to be applied is a slap in the face in the shape of alms."

The old fashioned Mexican liberals, while not sharing in the Spanish organ's admiration for Spanish colonial rule and denying that Spain ever governed humanely, view with sincere regret the attitude and action of the American people toward Porto Rico and the Philippines.

SENATE NAMES DATE

Vote to Be Taken on Porto Rico Bill Next Tuesday.

SENATOR DAVIS OFFERS A PLAN.

Advocates Free Trade With the Island, and Would Raise Needed Funds by an Internal Revenue Tax on Rum and Tobacco.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The senate yesterday agreed to vote on the Porto Rico government and tariff bill Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. An important utterance was made later in the day on the bill by Mr. Davis of Minnesota, who advocated free trade between the United States and Porto Rico. Mr. Davis' speech was comparatively brief, but his reasoning was so close and cogent that he crowded into small space an immense amount of well digested information and careful thought. His principal proposition was that the necessary money to be raised by taxation should not be raised by a duty levied upon Porto Rican products, but by an internal revenue tax levied upon rum and tobacco produced on the island. This system, he thought, would better suit the people of the United States and those of Porto Rico than the proposed tariff and would be just, equitable and constitutional.

Mr. Davis said it was inconsistent to extend our laws relating to the coastwise trade to the island and not extend our tariff laws. As to the feeling in the country upon the question, he said: "I think I would be as firm as anybody under a sudden, transitory public manifestation of feeling, but when that sentiment speaks to us week after week in constantly swelling volume we must take heed of it. This question is well understood by the people. Supporters of this bill cannot lay the flattering unction to their souls that the editors of the great newspapers do not understand quite as well as we do. The people understand it, too, and understand it well.

"They understand well, too, that upon distilled spirits and tobacco there is not an imposition of a mill of taxation by this bill. The subjects of taxation upon which we place heavy burdens go scot free on the island of Porto Rico. And what do they propose as an exchange for that kind of taxation? Why, the imposition of a tariff. It is so easy to place a tax upon these articles that I shall be surprised if the proposition to do so does not meet the approval of congress and the people. What are the people going to say if this bill passes? They will say, 'Free rum and a tax on the flour the people eat.'"

Mr. Davis said that no man could tell how much the tariff would yield, and as no man could say that the export tax was constitutional it seemed to him that there ought to be no hesitation as to the course to be pursued.

In conclusion he said:

"What I say I say with the unalterable conviction that I am right,—right politically and right economically. In my judgment the only course for us is to abandon this pernicious mockery of a tariff between Porto Rico and the United States and return to the pathway of plain duty."

The house devoted practically the whole day to consideration of the army appropriation bill. Several minor amendments were adopted, and about half the bill was considered. There was a good deal of extemporaneous debate during the day, little of which was pertinent to the bill. Mr. Driggs of New York created a diversion by charging reckless extravagance in the fitting up of the transport Sumner and precipitated a lively tilt upon the subject. He gave notice that later he should ask the house to investigate the subject. The final conference reports on the pension appropriation bill and the urgent deficiency bill were agreed to.

Bynum's Nomination Not Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The senate yesterday failed to confirm the nomination of Hon. W. D. Bynum as general appraiser of the port at New York because of the absence of a quorum. The nomination was debated at some length and was attacked by Senators Jones of Arkansas, Berry and Money, while Senators Fairbanks and Spooner spoke in Mr. Bynum's behalf. The opponents of confirmation based their opposition upon the ground that Mr. Bynum is not a Democrat, although nominated as such.

Ships For the Cape Breton Trade.

BOSTON, March 29.—In order to meet the requirements of its growing trade between Cape Breton and this port the Dominion Coal company has decided to have three large steamers constructed for this service. Plans are now being drawn in the company's office in this city. It is understood that each vessel will have a capacity of 6,000 tons and a speed of 10 knots per hour. They will be constructed at Newcastle, England.

Court Will Hear Kentucky Contest.

LOUISVILLE, March 29.—The court of appeals has decided to take up the consolidated governorship cases on appeal next Monday. The court will sit in Louisville for this purpose. Don't Delay the City Hall.

The proposition of Councilman Dumont that the erection of a City Hall be delayed for another year is not one that will appeal to the majority of people in Plainfield. Mr. Dumont tacitly admits the need of such an improvement, but he argues that on account of the high price of building materials at the present time the project should be postponed to another year when the cost of construction will be made lower by the decrease in the charges that will prevail for the necessary material.

Admitting that the cost of construction is higher today than it has been for several years, there is no promise that there will be a falling off in rates in the future. On the other hand it is not at all impossible but that prices may even go higher, and in that case delay such as suggested by Mr. Dumont would be a costly policy to pursue. Inasmuch as the question of rates being higher or lower in the future is one which cannot be solved without considerable risk, and in view of the manifest sentiment in favor of a City Hall, as well as the desire that the city may be provided with it within a reasonable time, it hardly seems that Mr. Dumont's argument is a strong one.

In advocating that the project be laid over to a later date there is another very important matter to consider. That is the question of land values increasing. The available sites for the City Hall consists of properties that are increasing in worth every day, and the postponement of a purchase for a year—or perhaps a longer period if Mr. Dumont's hopes of lower prices of building material were not realized as quickly as he thinks—might mean a considerable rise in the prices that would be demanded for a proper site. In such a case nothing would be gained even if the cost of construction could be reduced somewhat from figures that prevail at present.

Looking at the project in a practical way, it seems to us that the time to go ahead and consummate it is at as early a date as the details now underway can be perfected.

The Governor at Work.

The personal manner and characteristics of Gov. Voorhees are so well known in this vicinity that the following pen-picture of his conduct in the executive chamber at Trenton, written by a Philadelphia newspaperwoman who had occasion to interview him a few days ago, will be read with relish by the friends of the Chief Executive of the State:

But it is his debonnair manners which are more winning even than a certain 1830 picturesqueness which will make his portrait an addition to the gallery of Governors hanging on the State House walls. He advances to meet the applicant for favor as though he meant to ask him out to dance and sends him away equally flattered, whether he has got what he wanted or not.

After all, the dignity of office is a silly, stupid, stiff and senseless thing! A man needs no more dignity in life than he brings with him into it. To see the Governor of New Jersey tripping from the Gubernatorial sanctum to greet a Senator—or, for the matter of that, a mere citizen—half-way, to hear him voicing his personal views and life-long convictions in the general reception room open to the public, to see him signing bills there, granting favors, denying petitions, dismissing the disappointed with a jest, the successful with a compliment—to watch the State's Chief Executive transacting thus the business of the State, under the nose of anybody who wants to sit in a corner and look—all this, I say, is a lesson in how to be happy, though Governor.

To those who know the Governor this description will appear strikingly true.

It Should be Refused.

A meeting of the license committee of the Common Council is to be held this evening to consider the application of John Mortimer for a wholesale license, to be operated on Park avenue. Strong political influences are working to induce the Council to grant this license, but the Council should assert its independence of such things.

It is generally understood that Mike Watson, who has violated the excise laws persistently and openly for several years past, was granted a license through the same influences that are working in Mortimer's case. Politicians who can be induced to advocate the granting of licenses to such men as Mike Watson are not to be trusted to give advice in other cases of applicants for licenses.

Except for the fact of this political influence, no one would consider for a moment that Mortimer stood any chance of having his application granted.

The members of the Common Council should refuse this application for a wholesale license in case it is recommended by the committee in charge of it, as it is likely to be.

In a police court in New York the other day nine out of ten policemen who were on hand to arraign prisoners charged with violating the excise laws, were unable to tell whether the liquid they had drunk was beer, weiss beer, root beer or ginger ale. If such a condition of affairs continues to grow it will be necessary for the city government, in order to secure competent testimony in cases of excise violations, to establish the office of "Municipal Taster of Intoxicants During Unlawful Hours." Such a job would undoubtedly find plenty of applicants.

There were many Plainfield people who favored a $40,000 City Hall, but they are not enthusiastic over one that will cost one hundred thousand.—The News.

With characteristic conduct the News misrepresents the question of a City Hall when it talks about $100,000 being spent for the building. If the present plans of the majority of the Council are carried out, the structure, including a site, will only cost $65 000 That is $35,000 less than what the News says is wanted, but what is a mere bagatelle of $35,000 when Bunion brings his massive intellect and "inflocence" to bear on such a project?

It may be a little late in the day to refer to it, but we are impelled to advise Eli Shaw to take Horace Greeley's advice and go west and grow up with the country. At the present time young Mr. Shaw is having a hard job to live down the odium of the charge which was brought against him by the murder of his mother and grandmother.

An Indian bearing the name of Hot Feet recently escaped from a western jail. He doubtless regarded taking leg bail as the proper thing for him to do.

Notwithstanding sundry kicks and punches we notice that Thomas C. Platt is still running the New York Legislature.

Plainfield doesn't need a $100,000 jail. Messrs. Councilmen.—News.

LITERARY.

In sureness and variety of attraction, it would be hard to surpass McClure's Magazine for April. The account of the interior of China, especially with reference to its rich promises as a market for America, written by W. B. Parsons, chief engineer of the American China Development Company; from observations made on his own journeys, and illustrated very fully from photographs taken by him; the account of Professor Huxley's life in London between his twenty-sixth and thirtieth year, when he was having a terrific struggle to maintain himself by purely scientific work, with its self revealing passages from his unpublished correspondence and its new portrait of him; and the account of the Russian ship Ermack, the marvelous new ice-breaker that gives promise of being able to cut a passage for herself to the Pole—these are all, in their several ways, articles of the strongest interest and the highest value.

A. D. Pope and family, of Somerset street, have moved to Duer street.

DOES COFFEE AGREE WITH YOU?

If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substance of pure grains. Get a package today from your grocer, follow the directions in making it and you will have a delicious and healthful table beverage for old and young. 15c. and 25c.

The experience of a resident of Brooklyn, a bookkeeper, 25 years old, is similar to that of thousands of others who have testified to the good Ripans Tabules have done them. "About a year ago (says this gentleman) I commenced being troubled with dyspepsia. I would go to a meal with a splendid appetite and very hungry, but after a few mouthfuls I would begin to notice a fullness and pain in my stomach. I tried a great many so-called dyspepsia cures, but no sooner did I stop using them than I noticed the old trouble returning. About two months ago Ripans Tabules was first brought to my attention by a friend of mine. Noticing a Ripans Tabule card in the car he informed me that it was the greatest thing for dyspepsia, as it had entirely cured him and insisted upon my giving them a trial. I did so, and was quite satisfied with the result. I used them steadily after that; one before my meals, and found that they were much better than any of the other remedies I had tried. I stopped their use about two weeks ago and believe I am thoroughly cured. I can now enjoy a meal again as well as when I took Ripans Tabules. I, however, always keep a small bottle with me in case I should find need for them."

WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS is for sale by druggists, or by mail at any drug store. SPRING WRAPS.

The Newest Models In Outside Garments.

The straight sack has undeniably obtained recognition during the winter and is appearing among the spring wraps with frequency. The idea of converting it into an elaborate dress wrap has been practically abandoned as impracticable, and it takes almost always the strict tailor made character, being made of cloth and finished with stitching and straps. It is not a graceful garment and is highly unbecoming to full figures, while it has the disadvantage of concealing a pretty one. It is chiefly appropriate for half grown girls and for too slender women, who are benefited by its amplitude.

The long redingote is still in vogue, the short coat and the bolero, and a few capes are seen. There are also a number of little nondescript wraps, half cape and half jacket, which are seen chiefly in silk or of material matching the rest of the costume.

For the carriage the long, straight wrap like a man's overcoat is preferred. This comes to the edge of the gown, has a double front and a high collar and is excellent for the purpose for which it is meant, but not by any means for walking.

Today's picture shows a single breasted jacket of mastic cloth. It is adorned with many rows of stitching which follow the edges, outline the pockets and revers, indicate the seams and form patterns on the sleeves. The collar, revers, top of the sleeves and cuffs have an application of white panne, with a brown design. The yoke is of finely tucked cloth. The jacket, which is lined with satin, is closed by three stitched straps and gold buckles. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE MODE.

Materials and Trimmings For the Coming Season.

Taffeta continues to be immensely worn and will be much used for elegant gowns during warm weather. Many fancy weaves are seen in which dots, stripes and checks appear with a brocade effect. For young women and girls this material is particularly liked, and in the case of the latter mousseline de soie composes almost the entire decoration. For others point de venise and guipure d'art are greatly employed as trimming.

Passementeries and rich embroideries are only seen on plain goods, such as bengaline and cloth, which alone can display them to their fullest advantage.

There are many attractive liberty fabrics in which vague forms appear in two tones of the same color. There are, likewise, plaids in which satin bars are shown on a taffeta ground.

A new material for bridal gowns is a luminous moire with silvery metallic reflections. It is made only in white. Satin, however, continues to be the material par excellence for the wedding costume.

The picture illustrates an attractive costume for a young woman. It is of pink crepe de chine, the skirt being sun plaited and having two sun plaited tunics, all bordered with narrow black velvet ribbon. The bodice is also plaited, and there is a wide corselet belt of black velvet ornamented with jeweled buttons. The plastron and collar are of black velvet, the revers of guipure bordered with black velvet. The cravat is of pink silk. The sleeves are plaited horizontally and have a black velvet band down the outside. The hat is of pink flowers, with foliage. JUDIC CHOLLET.

POPULAR AND WISE.

Congressman Hitt as a Statesman and Friend of Statesmen.

Began Life as a Chicago Newspaper Reporter—How He Came to Congress—Authority on All Diplomatic Matters.

If Representative Robert Roberts Hitt, of Illinois, were to compile his reminiscences, the result would be a volume of extraordinary interest. Not only has he figured prominently in national and international affairs for nearly a generation, but he has enjoyed personal relations of a peculiarly close character with more men of eminence perhaps than any other man of the day.

Away back before the war, says the Washington Star, when a mere boy, he was attached to Abraham Lincoln in a way that gave him enviable facilities for studying the processes of Lincoln's mind. He was a stenographer and a newspaper reporter for the Chicago Tribune, and throughout the memorable debate between Lincoln and Douglas, preceding the latter's election to the United States senate, young Hitt followed Lincoln, taking down in shorthand every word that publicly fell from his lips. These famous addresses which made Lincoln's national reputation, and which, more than anything else, contributed to his election as president, owe their permanent and enduring form to the youthful reporter's notes, the original of which the congressman still hoards among his literary treasures. Lincoln called him "Bob," and was fond of the boy.

After the war Mr. Hitt came to Washington as a clerk of a congressional committee and had an opportunity to become acquainted with the great statesmen of the reconstruction era.

His good luck sent him to Paris in 1874, just after the Franco-Prussian war, as secretary of legation and charge d'affaires ad interim. History was being made rapidly in the French capital in those days, and Mr. Hitt spent seven years in Paris, a period which was closely packed with important events. He returned to Washington in 1881 to become assistant secretary of state, and the next year was elected a member of the house of representatives. All through his career in congress he has been conspicuous in the discussion of international questions, and now, as chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs, he is regarded as a diplomatic authority without a peer.

ROBERT ROBERTS HITT.
(Chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs.)

Mr. Hitt has had the good fortune to cement friendship more firmly than almost any other man now in public life. He was Blaine's closest friend in Washington. In the concluding years of Blaine's life Hitt was the man in whom he confided most and was often to be found in the historic old mansion on Lafayette square. At the same time that he enjoyed these affectionate relations with the great secretary of state he was the best friend of Speaker Reed, Blaine's bitterest enemy in public life. And no finer tribute could be paid to the delicate tact of the Illinois representative than that he should have continued for years such a relationship with two such men without losing the confidence of either.

In Mr. Hitt's house in K street is a room which is devoted to the memory of Blaine. The walls are covered with pictures of the Maine leader, with autograph letters and all sorts of relics which bring Blaine to mind. Elsewhere in the house are Lincoln relics, and stored away somewhere in places where they will be found some time and brought to light are scores and hundreds of confidential letters from men whose names will figure in history.

Mr. Hitt is of medium height, of modest bearing and one of those in public life, not too numerous, who is a gentleman always. His voice is soft and modulated; his manner is frank and friendly, although he never forgets the diplomatic proprieties; his conversation is stored with information and anecdote, and yet he has never been known to reveal a thing which was to be kept in confidence. He makes no pretensions to oratory and is not much of a politician.

Where Lafayette Is Buried.

"We visited the convent du Sacre-Coeur, in the Rue de Picpus, where La Fayette is buried," writes "Edith" from Paris to the Ladies' Home Journal. "Here birds of passage, like ourselves, seldom come. At the end of a rose-grown garden is a little cemetery, where bearers of some of the oldest names in France lie buried. Now only descendants of those who died on the guillotine are eligible to a grave there, and in one corner, in the shadow of the great wall, are the graves of La Fayette and his wife. Beyond the first cemetery is a second, where the bodies of 1,300 aristocratic victims of the revolution were buried."

SCOUTING IN PHILIPPINES.

Chicago Boy Tells of Conditions Prevailing in the Campaign.

In a letter recently received by Mr. and Mrs. E. D. McArdle of Chicago from their son, J. A. McArdle, a member of Company K, Fourth United States infantry, the life of a soldier in the Philippines is described. The letter is dated Feb. 4 and was written at Imus, says the Chicago Record. In part it is as follows:

"I am on detached duty in what is known as 'Way's Invincible Fourth infantry scouts.' The life of a scout is hazardous. When we start out, we do not know where we are going or when we are coming back. We may be gone for two months or a few days. Clothing, blankets, haversacks, canteens and rations are all left behind. We carry nothing but a gun and 200 rounds of cartridges. We live on the country and sleep in the grass and have plenty of room and fresh air. This is the first time I have been in civilization since last September. We have been in at least 60 small battles and skirmishes; but, strange to say, only a few men have been killed or wounded.

"We arrived at Imus on the night of Jan. 6. On the following morning General Bates sent us south of the town to reconnoiter. We ran on the enemy all intrenched, about 800 all told. The 60 of us charged the trenches from the rear and put them utterly to rout. Just at daybreak we came back to town and reported our find to General Bates, who sent the Twenty-eighth, Thirty-eighth and Forty-fifth volunteers out. The scouts held the right of the line, and a third battalion of the Twenty-eighth volunteers came up on the front of the trenches. They almost refused to fight, and two companies dropped out of sight. The scouts swung around, executing their flank movement, and put the enemy to flight. So, you see, it took three regiments of volunteers who had never been under fire before to do what 60 veterans of the Fourth infantry had done only three hours before.

"For the last five months I have been living on raw chickens, raw hogs and native rice. As to the drinking water, sometimes it is mud and sometimes worse. Of course I shall be very glad when the day comes for us to be ordered aboard ship for the Golden Gate and for Chicago, the center of civilization, as we boys think it."

VOLUNTEERS FOR BOERS.

How They Reach South Africa Without Exciting Suspicion.

How do French and other volunteers contrive to reach South Africa en route for the Boer forces without exciting suspicion? The explanation is given in a telegram from Marseilles, which announces the departure from that port, in the Madagascar mail steamer on Feb. 25, of a goodly number of individuals who intend to fight the British. The friends of the two republics, it is set forth, seize every opportunity to dispatch assistance to them in vessels proceeding to Mozambique, says the Paris correspondent of the London Telegraph. In order to escape from indiscretions and political formalities the volunteers start without stating the object of their voyage. They style themselves commercial travelers or emigrants, and they embark incognito. The volunteers, it is added, have been warned that English spies teem in the steamers of the South African lines and have been told to beware of strangers who may put questions to them about the number and organization of the volunteers, the precise purpose of their journey and, above all, about the position of the people who have promoted the enrollment of combatants in the Boer cause. "We consider it useful," this telegram concludes, "to give publicity to this caution, so that the vulgar ruses of John Bull's spies may be thwarted."

So this is how the trick is played, and thus are well founded suspicions confirmed. Marseilles, as is frankly proclaimed, is sending off hosts of French volunteers for the Boer forces at reduced fares in steamers subventioned by the state. It cannot possibly be argued that these facts are unknown to the French government, which is kept so well informed about everything that goes on in this country.

Conquest of the World's Markets.

The sale of American steel in England for $2 a ton less than the English price has aroused the German steelmakers to the possibilities of American competition. There is no doubt, says the Cleveland Leader about our ability to capture the markets of the world.

Boer Prisoner's Hymn.

[A Boer prisoner in the British camp at De Aar has written a poem which a correspondent sends to a London paper. The poet's name is J. F. B. Schumann. He was a member of the Fordsburg command and was captured, with others, near Colesberg.]

1899—1900.

The year is ended. What a year!
Who could have prophesied its end—
Have prophesied the sorrow, fear,
The misery and distress that rend
The hearts of thousands of our land,
Of thousands more across the sea?
'Midst all our woe we kiss thy hand,
Submissive, Lord, to thy decree.

Thy ways are to our feeble sense
Incomprehensible, though just;
In thee, O Lord, is our defense,
Ourselves we humble in the dust,
And with contrition we confess
That we have sinned and gone astray,
But, Lord of Hosts, in our distress
We plead thy grace—hear when we pray.

The broken spirit and contrite heart
Thou never dost despise, O Lord!
Yea, just and merciful thou art
To such as hearken to thy word,
Who, suppliant, in thy presence creep
And bow themselves before thy throne—
So do we now, yea, Lord, we weep,
For we have sinn'd 'gainst thee alone.

Have mercy, then, O Lord, we pray,
And make an end to this dread war!
Oh, grant that soon may come the day
When peace shall reign and strife be o'er!
All enmity be buried deep!
As ends the year, so end this strife,
Oh, grant us soon that peaceful life
When we shall cease to mourn and weep!

POSTOFFICE MUSEUM.

Interesting Exhibit That Will Be Displayed at Paris Fair.

The postoffice museum will be one of the features of the postal exhibit at the Paris exposition. Ever since Postmaster General Smith decided to have a postal exhibit Curator Slack has been engaged in making up a list of the most interesting things found in the mails to exhibit at Paris.

Among some of the interesting things to be shown are models of postal cars in use in the United States, together with the various devices for catching and throwing off the mail bags at different stations as the mail express goes thundering by, says the Washington Star. There will also be shown a model of the United States mail steamer City of St. Louis. There will be a miniature pneumatic tube service set up and a full set of the different mail pouches in vogue in the United States displayed. Figures of our letter carriers in full uniform, as well as life sized models of the Indian letter carriers used in the far west and in Alaska. There will also be exhibited a life size model of a special delivery messenger boy mounted on a bicycle. The curio department will contain the following well known exhibits that have attracted the attention of thousands of visitors to the postoffice department:

Ten flags, section floor, Baltimore postoffice, letters on cuffs, collars and board, saw in bottle, cowboy's gourd, collar in glass jar, lot of burned coins, dog's head inkstand, tramp satchel, two nutmegs, candle in box, package of snuff, dice in box, horseshoe, penwiper, Indian arrowheads, three hickory nut dolls, circular saw, sewing machine, cowboy hat, musical instrument, Chinese shoes, two wire skeletons, two Indian beadwork, two clothespins, three Easter eggs, telegraph instrument, stirrup, hand saw, whip, one bit with chain, two railroad spikes, lamp, brick, parasol, shoe last, strainer, pulley, wooden shoe, dog muzzle, cartridge box, old bustle, doll, zither, ax handle, bridle, card dress, plume, leather shoes, old trunk and miscellaneous dead letter articles, one registered and ordinary mail lock, human ear, one bottle cologne, one flask whisky (wicker), mice, bottle chloride of gold, beaver hat and hat box (two caps), awl, shoemaker's knife, dividers, pinchers, circular saw, rule, diamond, eyelets, small tacks, brass head tacks, screw eyes (three sizes), small hammer, shoemaker's awl, eraser, crayon (blue), tools and overalls, carpenter's square, hoe, tambourine, baseball mask, carpenter's plane, six packages of snow, hammer, bottle whisky, bottle snakes, bottle centipeds, decoration cards, blue print floor space exposition, catalogue rural free delivery book, stagecoach cards, cleaning rags, gold headed cane, crucifix, gold neck chain and locket, two watch chains, one bead chain, dagger, ten gold rings, two thimbles, 16 lockets, charms and breastpins, one pair gold bracelets, two medallions, two cardcases, Roman gold coin, United States goldpiece, three curios, monkey, etc.; roller skates, coffeepot, sleighbells, log chain, ax handle and hatchet.

One would think from this list that the museum had been wrecked. But this is by no means the case. Curator Slack has left a very creditable exhibition, and few things are missed. It is not known exactly how long Mr. Slack will remain abroad, but it is expected he will continue with the exhibit until the exposition closes.

NEW COURSE AT YALE.

Sophomores No Longer Required to Study Classics and Mathematics.

Announcement is made of the revised curriculum for the sophomore class at Yale for the coming year, which is regarded as one of the greatest advance steps taken by the university in the last two decades. The main feature of the change, according to a New Haven dispatch to the New York World, is the sweeping aside of the tradition that the classics and mathematics are the most important parts of a student's education and the substitution for them of the modern languages and history.

Yale several years ago took the first step toward broadening the academic course by providing that the two upper classes should not be obliged to study the old curriculum. No change was made at that time in the regulation compelling students in the lower classes to study Greek, Latin and mathematics.

Sophomores up to this time have been obliged to take five out of six courses, choosing from Greek, Latin, mathematics, French or German, physics and English literature. In this way a student was forced to take at least one of the ancient languages, and he could not take both of the modern languages.

In the new course the sophomore is allowed to take both French and German, and he may take two courses in mathematics. Under the new arrangement a student may omit the classics and mathematics altogether in his second year.

International Sunshine Society.

Articles of incorporation of the International Sunshine society, with principal office in New York city, were filed recently with the secretary of state at Albany. The society is formed to incite its members to the performance of kind and helpful deeds and to thus bring sunshine of happiness into the greatest possible number of hearts and homes, says the New York Sun. The incorporators include Cynthia Westover Alden, Dr. Sara Williams-Vanderbeck, Mrs. Phœbe P. Knapp, Mrs. Bertha Roberts and others of New York city.

New and Mysterious Friendship of the L. A. W. and N. C. A.

WHAT is the cycling position now? What manner of miracle has been wrought that brings the former bitter enemies, the League of American Wheelmen members and the adherents of the National Cycling Association men, into the same camp? Why do they fraternize? The reason is not apparent to critics, unless they have made a study of the complete revolution that has just taken place in the bicycle world. The time came when the league had to yield to the inevitable, and it did so gracefully. At the recent national assembly it threw overboard the costly business of race control and its former enemy, the N. C. A.—always called an outlaw organization previous to this meeting—picked up full control of cycling. The N. C. A. had had a year of somewhat marked success with the "outlaws." Now there are no outlaws, there is no acrimonious debate—or even worse than that—and the spectacle will be seen in Milwaukee during the week of July 10 of the league leaders acting as officers at the national cycle meet of the former opposition body, while the N. C. A. people will be the loudest at the banquet to respond to the toast of "good highways and cycle paths." What is more, the N. C. A. will obtain from the council of the Cream city a permit to hold motor cycle races on Grand boulevard, and L. A. W. officials will act as judges. The bond of fraternity is a solid one. It has for its object the promotion of cycling sport and cycling as a racing business, and the promulgation of the propaganda of good roads among the agricultural masses. The national meet of the L. A. W. to be held simultaneously with the national race meet of the N. C. A. will abound in harmony. The L. A. W. will conduct the social features and the N. C. A. the racing events.

Conway W. Sams, of Baltimore, Md., the new president of the L. A. W., is a trained lawyer, and he is entitled to the credit of being enough of a politician to see the handwriting on the wall of the L. A. W., and to force the issue of the dropping of control of racing and the confining of the league's work to legislation for cyclists and for good roads and social features. He made his platform, ousted the administration from its trenches, and successfully stormed the redoubts at the national assembly. He was elected and all of his suggestions were carried out by the league.

John A. Blaurock, the new president of the N. C. A., is an old timer in eastern athletics. He is a member of the Atlantic Athletic association, and recently acted as the representative of cycling in America—or in the United States, to be more explicit—at the International Cycling association annual meeting in Paris, France. Mr. Blaurock has large ideas about the reorganization of cycling racing for this year. He is an optimist on the matter and thinks that the cycle trust will sell so many wheels this year that the owners cannot help expressing enthusiasm for racing. The scheme of reverting to the old plan of engaging crack riders to ride certain makes of wheels, he thinks, will give an impetus to cycle racing. Thousands of dollars were hung up in purses last season by the N. C. A. for the outlaw riders to race for, and the N. C. A. saw that nearly every purse offered was paid to the racers. The N. C. A. expects to have 1,400 professionals registered with its board of control, and sets no limit on the number of amateurs. The leaders would not be surprised if 3,000 racing amateurs were to be registered before the season is six months old. While in Paris—if I make no mistake Mr. Blaurock will not sail for home until late in April—the new president not only impressed the I. C. A. officials and delegates with the importance of the N. C. A. and its legal, moral and just right to succeed to the membership formerly held in the international body of the L. A. W., but he saw advocates of motor cycles and partially arranged for an invasion of the United States by the crack machine pilots of France.

JOHN A. BLAUROCK,
President of the National Cycling Association.

There is no more enthusiastic man about the prospects for cycle racing this year than George G. Greenburg, the N. C. A. man who will have exclusive charge of cycling in the western department. He acted as chairman of the annual meeting of the N. C. A. and might have been put into the office of chief executive had he wished the honor. He was at one time one of the hardest working L. A. W. leaders, and when his colleagues started a campaign of invective against the N. C. A. "outlaws" just beginning to make themselves prominent, he advised moderation. Mr. Greenburg saw the inevitable and knew that the L. A. W. would one day gracefully yield to its lusty rival. When he became the western leader of the N. C. A. he chose to use the L. A. W. as an aid rather than to fight it. Hence his power among the racing men is undimmed.

Chairman A. G. Batchelder, of the N. C. A., board of control, told me recently that he expected great good to come from the handling of cycling by one organization. "The L. A. W. has clarified the air," he continued. "The N. C. A. will use every opportunity to improve the sport and keep the wheat from the chaff—to keep the line of demarkation between the amateur and the professional as distinct as it can be—and be ready at all times to sit in adjudication between the cycling bodies or clubs that promote meets and the financial men who advance the funds necessary to equip parks and tracks with appliances for races.

"To insure an impartial administration and one that cannot be impeached, the N. C. A. has put a board of appeals above the board of control. The board of appeals shall be like a supreme court—a place of last resort, and its actions will be final. The rider, the club or the track will get justice with both bodies, and so cycle racing must prosper. The board of appeals for this year consists of G. A. Needham, chairman, the old Brooklyn cycling man; S. A. Miles, the veteran Chicagoan who once published two cycling papers simultaneously in London, England, and in Chicago; A. G. Frothingham, Boston; W. B. Curtis, New York, and Horace Fogel, Philadelphia. The L. A. W. racing board did not always carry with it the assurance that cycling men were given justice. The partiality and prejudice that crept into the board's deliberations often caused severe criticism and the wheel riders became rebellious. Had the national assembly of the league provided a final board of appeals that could sit in hearing at any time on matters of dispute, the troubles of the L. A. W. might never have caused the loss of the control of racing.

OTTO DORNER.

If the L. A. W. is to be successful in getting good roads and cycle paths, Otto Dorner, the veteran leader of the good roads movement, should become prominent. Much depends upon the enthusiasm which he can keep alive in the cause.

Every division of the L. A. W. in the United States, except that of south California, according to the report of Secretary Bassett, just sent to me, shows a loss in membership. In most cases the losses are about 30 per cent., but in some states, notably Indiana, with a shrinkage of over 81 per cent.; South Carolina, with 80; Louisiana, with 71; Delaware, with 47; Wisconsin, with 46; Illinois, with 56, etc., the diminishing of the workers was carried on so that it caused apprehension of final dissolution. The claim is now made for 40,000 members, but there will be further losses. Two years ago the league was booming with over 100,000 members.

POOL.

Dowd stepped to the front in the handicap pool tournament at Krewson's pool rooms last evening by defeating Sutterline in an exciting match. Both played a 75 point game and Dowd was victorious by a score of 75 to 67. DeNise defeated Scott by a score of 100 to 96. Both played a 100 point game. As a result of last night's game Sutterline, who had been leading with 16 wins and 2 defeats, fell back to third place. Dowd now leads with 16 victories and 2 defeats. Rushmore is second with one less victory. Maltby is fourth, having won 15 and lost 3. Tonight Rushmore and Dowd meet for one of the most important games of the tournament. Tomorrow night Rushmore meets Maltby in the last regularly scheduled game. If a tie results as is likely it will be necessary to play it off with several extra matches.

$10 FOR KILLING A DOG.

Warrenville Man Accused of Cruelty by Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

A case of considerable interest was tried this morning before Justice Mattison. It was that of the Somerset County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals against Peter Kirch, of Warrenville. William N. Pangborn, agent for the society, brought the case and Lawyer Walter L Hetfield appeared on behalf of the complainant and took charge of the case. Lawyer J. P. D. Kirch appeared for the defendant, who is his cousin.

The facts of the case as brought out at the trial are that on March 9th of the present year, the defendant killed a dog cruelly. First by shooting him, then stoning him and finally by jumping on him until he was dead. The defendant admitted the charges, and his only plea seemed to be that he was not very long doing the work. His defense was that the dog was trespassing on his land, but it was proven that the dog was killed on the property of someone else. Mr. Kirch did not consider that he had treated the dog cruelly. After hearing both sides of the case Justice Mattison fined the defendant $10 and the costs of the court. The dog in question belonged to Fred Dealman, of Warrenville. It was a beadle hound and very valuable.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Spring must certainly be here. The robins and blue bird are now to be seen every day while that unfailing sign of the approach of the spring season, the hurdy-gurdy, has been making a tour of the city streets. Meanwhile the small boys have been flying kites for several weeks and the tops have begun to make their appearance. Such signs are sure.

Saturday's illustrated magazine, supplementary to the New York Mail and Express, has illustrations of rare postal issues of Norway and Sweden belonging to a collection that has just been exhibited at the Philatelic Exhibition held in the Brooklyn Institute. The exhibition has carried off two medals, the highest of the class, and is pronounced the finest of its kind in the world. The exhibit contains over 2,000 unused specimens. This collection is now entered by its owner Ernest R. Ackerman, of Plainfield for competition with the world's greatest specialized collections of postage stamps, to be held at the forthcoming Paris Exposition. Two years ago America won the grand prize at the London Philatelic Exhibition, and it is quite possible that America may again carry off the grand prize for the particular class in which this collection is entered.

The inauguration of the underground rapid transit in New York brings to mind a fact that may not be generally known to Plainfielders—that New York's first step in the direction of a practical means of rapid transit started in Plainfield. Along in 1870 Dr. Gilbert, a resident of this city, and an engineer of repute, devised and constructed a model of brass some twenty feet in length, showing the very system of elevated railway afterwards constructed and now in successful operation in New York. Dr. Gilbert's model anticipated a system of tubes on the sides of the structure through which to carry mail and other express matter. The model was exhibited in Dr. Gilbert's office on Front street, and also in the City Hotel, which was then kept by George Miller. It was a most unique affair and caused much curiosity and interest. Unfortunately, in common with most inventors, though Dr. Gilbert's system was adopted, he failed to reap the fortune his efforts and genius deserved.

Miss Acly, of Paris, well-known in Plainfield a few years ago when she was secretary of the Relief Association and a member of Col. Mason W. Tyler's family, is supplementing the work of Mrs. Travers Lewis in discouraging the multitude of American girls who are saving small earnings with a view to taking advantage of exposition rates of travel to go over to Paris this year. Miss Acly is superintendent of a Parisian charity, established by Mrs. Whitelaw Reid—the American Students Club— and sends word by the press to this country to stop the American girls who threaten to throng Paris next summer. Already, says Miss Aclyn, there are more American students in the Latin quarter than she has ever known before, and by every mail, at every turn among acquaintances she gets scores and scores of inquiries from more to follow, "Tell them not to come; tell them not to come," says Miss Acly. "They are certain to run short of money and but one fate awaits them in this city which looks on vice and winks at it, which laughs at misery and forgets it."

A feature will be a debate between J. H. Saunders, Chas. Seldon, N. J. Pollard and John Scott, on a popular subject. The reception will be given in the vestry of the church, and the public is invited to be present.

Local and Metropolitan Performances That Will Please Those Who Delight in the Art of Thespis and Mimic World

Picture a little miss with round laughing face, framed in mass of brown curls, the "sassiest kind of a nose, eyes that simply dance with mischief, teeth like rows of pearls, and you have a picture of Italaine Thornton who is one of the main features with Ah Foon Company which appears at Music Hall tomorrow night and Saturday matinee and night. Miss Thornton's voice not strong, is remarkably sweet and she can certainly sing rag-time coon songs with the best of them. Besides Miss Thornton are Walker and Hoyt, the musical mokes; C. Stewart Johnson, the mimic tramp; Evans and Melrose, in their laughing sketch; Reba Kaufman, in her sensational dance; Emily Palmer, the sweet nightingale; Geo. L. Love and Minnie Dale, the two rubes from Maineville, surely make you laugh, and the great Ah Foon, the magical wonder of the nineteenth century. It will be a show worth seeing. Remember the matinee Saturday for the children and "ladies' tickets" for tomorrow night.

James B Mackie and big company, presenting "Grimes' Cellar Door," will be the attraction at Music Hall, Tuesday night of next week. This is Mackie's eighth year in the above play, but this season offers a much stronger organization than he has ever offered. It is many years since "Grimes' Cellar Door" has been seen here, and Hoyt's famous comedian will no doubt receive a hearty welcome upon his appearance. The comedy contains all the elements of popularity designed to please all classes of theatregoers. One feature of the attraction lies in the fact that Mr. Mackie has really secured very pretty girls, a matter so essential nowadays in farce comedy offerings.

PUBLIC SENTIMENT IN FAVOR OF CITY HALL.

Effort of the News to Delay the Improvement Will Probably Fail.

WILL NOT COST $100,000.

PRESIDENT OF COUNCIL SMITH MAKES AN EXPLANATION.

Majority of Councilmen Have Favored the Project From the Outset and Will Undoubtedly Continue to do so.

Is Plainfield to have a City Hall? That is the question that many citizens are asking today and have been wondering over for many days. According to the opinion of Frank H Smith, president of the Common Council, the question will be answered affirmatively and within the year. While the question has never come to a deliberate vote before the Council, a majority of the members of that body have expressed themselves in favor of the immediate erection of a municipal building.

In conversation on the subject with a Press reporter yesterday afternoon, Councilman Smith called attention to the course of the News and other opponents of the measure who were trying to defeat it by presenting the subject in an unfair light. There was a great cry on their part against the expenditure of $100,000 for a City Hall. The Council, Mr. Smith explained, had no intention of paying that amount as he has been told time after time. $65,000 was the amount set when the question first came up. The advocates of the plan have never intended to spend more.

Mr Smith went on to explain why $100,000 was the amount set forth in the bill that passed the Legislature at the request of the Council. The bill is not intended for the benefit of Plainfield alone. It applies to all cities of this class. Other cities might want to spend more for their City Hall than Plainfield does. Furthermore the Legislature would not pass a bill setting a limit at any such uneven figure. If the limit was placed at $65 000, why not make it $60,000 or $70,000 ? There was no special significance to the State in any such figure, while $100,000 or $200,000 set forth a limit of common use.

Despite this peculiar effort of the News to spread the general belief that public opinion does not favor the immediate erection of a City Hall, it is a fact that a great majority of the citizens and taxpayers of the city are strongly in favor of the measure. There have been a few who like Councilman Dumont have stated when the question was first agitated that they were opposed to it. They have stood fairly by their opinions. But the general trend of the conversation in the streets today shows a general sentiment for a City Hall.

The following letter was received from Councilman Dumont this morning:

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Referring to the editorial in The Press of yesterday I wish to state that I have not admitted tacitly or otherwise the need of a City Hall. The fact that a building contracted for this year will cost more than at any period for twenty-five years cannot be disputed, and the prediction that a building constructed this year will cost more than for any succeeding period for ten years, can only be verified by time A City Hall is not now an urgent necessity, and no one can successfully demonstrate that it is.

As to the probable advance in available property, that cannot be so easily determined. The parties who have offered properties for a City Hall would all be very glad to dispose of them at prices named to the city or to any other parties.

Unimproved properties are less saleable when building materials have had such a marked advance, than improved properties. A party who has an improved property has a good chance of realizing a profit on his investment, and a purchaser will be more inclined to consider an improved property if he needs it than an unimproved property requiring an additional outlay at present prices of materials.

I have no personal feeling in the matter and am simply exercising my business judgment in opposing the City Hall project, which I am in duty bound to do as a member of the Common Council.

The 2 cents a week pledge has yielded them about $10, the last dollar of which was recently appropriated toward the purchase of the new site for Muhlenberg Hospital.

The Children's Endeavor Society has an enrollment of 101, with an average attendance of 35.

The Young Men's Association, organized within a month, reported fifteen charter members.

In reporting for the building committee for the new chapel, Mr. Squires said that it had been planned to build the chapel for $7,000, and that the committee had actually expended for the completed structure $7,045. In addition to this sum $448 had been raised for furnishings by the classes of J. D. Miller, Mr. Yerkes, Mr. Travell, and by the Ladies' Aid Society.

The church treasurer, Mr. Leigh, said that $722 10 had been received in collections and applied toward the expenses of the church. A further sum of $122 had been received to apply to interest and principal of the $2,000 mortgage on the new chapel.

Rev. G. Kennedy Newell spoke briefly of the prosperous condition of the chapel. During the year thirty-five had been added to the church membership, with a net gain of twenty-nine. The present membership is 299.

Mr. Leigh was elected treasurer for the ensuing year, with Thos. Henry, John Young and William Hangliter as assistants.

In conclusion Dr. Richards spoke with enthusiasm of the splendid work of the chapel as shown by the various reports, and wished for its contiuance and increasing usefulness.

TO SELECT DELEGATES.

REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION APRIL 18TH.

It Will be Held in Belleville—Former Mayor Fisk Likely to be One of the District Delegates.

Mayor Charles B. Holmes, of Rahway, as chairman of the Eighth Congressional Republican committee, has issued a call for the convention, which is to be held at Belleville, Essex county, Wednesday, April 18th, at 3 p m., for the purpose of electing two delegates and two alternates to the National Republican convention, to be held at Philadelphia in June next. The basis of representation to the Belleville convention will be one delegate to every 100 votes cast at the last Congressional convention, and one delegate for every fraction thereof. Primaries to choose the delegates will be held at the call of the county chairmen.

The leaders of the Eighth district are looking around for two good men to send to the National Republican convention. It is thought that Union county will select Former Mayor Fisk, of this city, and the other man comes from that part of Essex county which is in the Eighth district. The Republicans in Jersey City want Supreme Court Clerk William Riker, to be their representative, and it is generally believed that Mr. Riker will accept the honor. Over in the Bayonne end of the district Colonel Charles W. Fuller is considered by a large number of his friends. He was an alternate at the St. Louis convention four years ago, and his friends think he is entitled to go as delegate this time.

Looks Like the Governor.

Frederick Spencer, the violinist who is to take part in the entertainment at Hope chapel this evening, strikingly resembles Governor Foster M. Voorhees. A number of photographs of the former have been exhibited in town in connection with the entertainment and lots of people have mistaken them for likenesses of the Chief Executive of the State and wondered how it was that the Governor was going to Hope chapel. Mr. Spencer is a musician of rare talent and his part in the programme is sure to be enjoyed.

Came Back After Twenty Years.

John DeCamp, son of Hiram DeCamp, who for many years was manager for I. W. Laing's hotel, where the Babcock building now stands, was in Plainfield for a few hours yesterday, calling on friends and acquaintances. Mr. DeCamp is a resident and business man at Seattle, Washington. He left Plainfield about twenty years ago. He thinks Plainfield is making rapid strides in the way of improvement, but still he is loud in his praise of that flourishing city, Seattle.

John Steiner, of the borough, has gone south on a business trip.

BY TROLLEY TO ROSELLE.

LINE FROM PLAINFIELD IS NOW IN OPERATION.

Made Possible by the Construction of of Grade Crossing of Lehigh Tracks at Aldene.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Roselle, March 30—The cars of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway are now running into the borough. They made their appearance yesterday morning and are now running regularly to Chestnut street and Second avenue, a block away from the station. The proposed bridge over the B. and O. tracks, east of Cranford, has not yet been built so it is necessary to transfer passengers at the crossing. The grade crossing over the tracks of the Lehigh Valley at Aldene has just been completed, however, allowing the cars to run into Roselle.

The first trip was made yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock, but without any formal opening. Col. Hine and Superintendent John Adelmann were on the car and invited a few Roselle men to join them. The formal opening will not take place until the line is open clear to Elizabeth. That will happen June 1st.

PASTOR'S BIRTHDAY.

Mt. Olive Baptist Church People Tendered a Reception to Rev. E. E. Jackson.

Rev. E. E. Jackson, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, has reason today to be proud of his popularity, which was demonstrated last evening on the occasion of the celebration of his birthday. Many of the members of his congregation were present to congratulate him on the good work he has been doing. A feature of the entertainment provided was the singing of "Black Hattie" who was received with liberal applause. Prof. J. H. Hamlin also sang two bass solos. Remarks were made by Nathan J. Pollard and Trustee John Scott in which they extolled the Christian spirit of the pastor and the excellent success he has had in building up the church. After the exercises a reception was tendered Pastor Jackson by the following committee of ladies: Mrs. P. Gordon, chairman; Mrs. B. Yetman, Mrs. Lulu Dempsy, Mrs. S. W. Fields, Mrs. H. Kingslow, Mrs. T. J. Banks, Mrs. Martha Yetman, Mrs. J. W. Reed, Mrs. Lulu Reed. The company was seated around a long table at the head of which presided Pastor Jackson, surrounded by his deacons and trustees. Deacon Albert Wilson invoked the divine blessing before the festivities began. In the centre of the table rested an immense bouquet, sent from Philadelphia by Miss Addie Ragsdale, one of the pastor's dear friends. From New York, Philadelphia and Connecticut were received envelopes containing various sums of money, an amount sufficient to gladden the heart of the beloved pastor.

"Black Hattie" has made arrangements to afford the members of Pastor Jackson's church another opportunity to hear her sing Easter Sunday evening.

PATROLMAN SHOT AT.

Officer Saffron a Target for a Man Who Was Driving Fast Last Night.

Patrolman Saffron was under fire last night. He wasn't hurt, however, and his unknown assailant escaped. Saffron is on duty at night in the extreme western end of the city. He was patroling West Front street near the Eight Row last night at 9:30 o'clock, when he heard a horse and buggy approaching from the direction of Plainfield. The horse was on the gallop.

The officer stepped out into the street to see what was the trouble. The buggy went whirling by, and as it passed a man leaned out of the vehicle pointed a revolver at the officer and fired. The bullet flew wide of its mark.

In the darkness Saffron was unable to see the man's face. He was accompanied by a small boy. It may have been that he did not see that Saffron was an officer and thought it an attempt at holdup. Saffron believes that the stranger was intoxicated and did not realize what he was doing.

A TECHNICAL MISTAKE.

MORTIMER'S APPLICATION FOR LICENSE NOT ACTED ON.

One of the Signers Does Not Live Within 1,000 Feet of the Proposed Location.

The application of John Mortimer for a license for a wholesale liquor establishment on Park avenue will not be granted at the meeting of the Common Council Monday evening. The appliction was considered at a meeting of the license committee of the Council last evening, and it was found that it did not conform with the legal requirements. The committee will therefore report to the Council that such is the case.

The technical trouble is that one of the signers of the application does not own property within 1,000 feet of the place, as is required by the city ordinance governing such applications.

Councilman Gluck and Buckle were present at the meeting of the committee last night, Councilman Clifton, the third member of the committee, being confined to his home with illness. There has been considerable talk about the circumstances relating to the application and the committee looked into the charges. Some of them proved to be utterly unfounded, they say. The discovery of the technical defect in the application did not make it necessary for further action.

The application will probably be withdrawn and a new one presented to the Council in time for Monday's meeting. It will then have to go through the usual course and be referred to the committee again.

END OF THE STAR COURSE.

Clever Entertainment by Mozart Comedy Quartette in Y. M. C. A. Hall Last Night.

The superb singing of the Mozart Comedy Quartette and the handsome pictures shown by means of the Edison projectoscope at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium last evening gave the best of satisfaction to a fair-sized audience. This was an extra event in the Star Course of the local association. It is safe to say that the entertainment was equal in many respects to those previously given. The voices of the quartette, Messrs. Thomsen, Henschel, Bennett and Cetti, blended finely, and their volume filled the cozy hall with a melody that was pleasing to the ear. The bass solos of Mr. Cetti, who rendered in excellent voice "Asleep in the Deep" and the "Holy City," were features of the musical portion of the programme much appreciated by the audience. Many of the moving pictures were very good, some interesting and some very amusing, particularly the humorous scenes of "Eating Dinner Under Difficulties" and the "Trip to the Moon, or the "Astronomer's Dream." One of the best of the pictures of recent events was the Dewey parade. Prof. Bennett's musical specialties on the crystal and Swiss chimes were also well received and not the least of the excellent features provided.

Death of Miss Howard.

The death of Miss Amelia E. M. Howard, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Howard, of 128 Central avenue, occurred last evening. The funeral services will be held from the house Sunday afternoon next at 1:15 o'clock and from Hope chapel at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

They will return home Monday and will go to housekeeping at once in a newly-furnished house, 126 Westervelt avenue. MARRIED TWENTY YEARS.

Pleasant Anniversary Clebrated by Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Pope.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Pope, of Duer street, celebrated the twentieth anniversary of their marriage last evening in a pleasant manner. There were about forty guests present from Newark, Plainfield, Somerville and other places nearby. Music for dancing, which was the feature, was furnished by the Ladies' Orchestra. During the evening several guests gave a cake walk, and the successful contestants were Miss Mamie Kohler and George Pope. Mr. and Mrs. Pope received a handsome collection of presents.

Among those present were many that attended Mr. and Mrs. Pope's wedding twenty years ago in the M. E. church, Dunellen, where Mrs. Pope was the organist for fourteen years.

Reception to Bishop Vincent.

For many years Bishop John Vincent made Plainfield his home. He is therefore well-known here among the older residents and a large turnout is expected for the reception in his honor at Vincent chapel this evening. The reception was arranged by the ladies of the First M. E. church and a general invitation was extended to all the congregation. Special invitations were sent to a number of the personal friends of the bishop who are not members of the congregation.

A Clever Violinist.

Lovers of the violin will be glad of the opportunity to hear Frederick Spencer, the violinist, at Hope chapel tonight. Mr. Spencer is an artist of high repute, possessing remarkable power over his instrument. His happy manner of interpreting the music before rendering adds greatly to the enjoyment of the audience. C. Maynard Evans, the whistler, and Judge Runyon will participate in the programme.

CITIZENS' LEAGUE FULL OF FIGHT.

Scotch Plains Reformers Issue a Letter Defining Their Present Attitude.

TO OPPOSE ALL LICENSES

SIGNERS OF APPLICANTS WILL BE CALLED IN COURT.

In Order to Avoid Such a Severe Ordeal the League Gives Notice of the Action That It Proposes to Take.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, March 30.—After remaining in the background for the last few months, the Citizens' League, headed by the aggressive Rev. Gideon M. Shott, pastor of the Baptist church, has again come to the front and announces it determination to oppose the granting of licenses for barrooms in Scotch Plains, Fanwood or vicinity. The first gun in renewing the campaign against the barrooms was fired yesterday when the following letter was issued to the freeholders of Fanwood township:

You are already aware of some of the work of the League in the suppression of the sale of intoxicating liquor. It is absolutely true teat if Sunday selling were prohibited most, if not all, now in the liquor business in this community would be obliged to re fre from it.

The influence of Sunday drinking is injurious to the good name, business and morals of the community. Law-abinding men seeking homes for their families will not purchase property where they and their families will be exposed to the impositions of drunken men who come here from other towns to drink. We trust that you will not sign an application for license and thus enable these dealers to break the law and ruin your fellow men.

We are persuaded that the better class of our citizens are made unconscious and thoughtless victims by the drink class, who are not only for the most part non-residents, but who do not care for the interests of the community, and only seek some place to gratify their appetites.

Many who sign license applications are non-residents, and by so doing injure those of us who live and own property here. For these and many other well known reasons, we ask you as fellow men and fellow citizens not to sign any application for a license to sell intoxication liquor at any place in or near Scotch Plains or Fanwood. The better class of citizens who have purchased property here and are earning their living in useful and honorable callings and who have been the victims of this unholy traffic which grows on the ruin of men in both body and soul, have come to a place where they will avail themselves of every agency of the law that will secure the removal of this curse from our community. We make an earnest and righteous request that you will not sign any of these applications.

So far as our work has gone we have secured evidence and indictments for Sunday selling, and we have many witnesses ready to prove beyond question that this law has been continually broken. If you sign any application and then the applicant sells on Sunday, you deliberately assist in the breaking of the law. We believe also that you are morally responsible for the sin and debauchery and other objectionable features of a business which could not exist without your signature.

Wherever possible, we shall require the applicant to have those who sign summoned into Court to prove the facts to which they swear in the application, and if the applicant does not, then the League will.

Not wishing to subject you to this severe ordeal, we kindly notify you beforehand so that there may be no misunderstanding.

On behalf of the Sabbath, morality, virtue and business we beg you not to sign, and thus involve the helpless victims any more.

Respectfully,
Executive Committee of the Citizens' League of Fanwood Township and Borough.

WILL HANG TAYLOR.

Chief Detective Says That Is the Plan.

GOVERNOR'S ARREST SEEMS CERTAIN

Culton, Whose Alleged Confession Caused a Sensation In Kentucky, Makes a Denial—Arrest of "Tallow Dick" Coombs.

LOUISVILLE, March 30.—"There is only one way for W. S. Taylor to escape from being hanged; that is, by committing suicide," was the remark made yesterday by Detective Dee Armstrong, who has been working on the Goebel murder case since the hour Goebel was shot and who came to Louisville, having finished his work. "My work is done," said he, "until I am subpoenaed to appear in court to give my testimony or to go before the Franklin county grand jury. The evidence is now all in the hands of the attorneys for the commonwealth. The next step is up to them, and it won't be long coming."

Further than this Armstrong refused to talk, but from other sources it is learned that Taylor's arrest will probably come in two or three days, probably before the grand jury meets, which is next week. Without going into any details the detectives say that the evidence which has been made public is insignificant compared to that which is in their possession and which is to come at the real trial. Only so much as was needed to hold the prisoners over was introduced at the examining trial.

Culton's alleged confession, the full nature of which has only been hinted at, has produced a profound impression all over the state and especially near his home in eastern Kentucky. He has been regarded as eminently truthful, and the meager hints as to what he told the commonwealth have caused a greater sensation among those who have scoffed at the idea of such a plot than did the whole story told by Wharton Golden. This feeling, however, will doubtless be arrested to some extent when it becomes generally known that Culton sent the following telegram to his father:

"I have made no confession. I had nothing to confess except what I told you and my attorneys."

This remark is said by Culton's father, the Rev. J. N. Culton of Richmond, to refer to his bringing the mountain witnesses to Frankfort. The feeling that perhaps the $100,000 reward is bearing fruit has not applied to Culton anything like as much as it did to Golden, and if it is proved that Culton really did make a damaging confession public sentiment will certainly undergo a material change.

A telegram from Beattyville late yesterday afternoon announced that "Tallow Dick" Combs has been arrested on a warrant from the Clark county circuit court and that he will be taken to Winchester and arrested on a warrant charging him with being accessory to the murder of Goebel. Combs is the mulatto who was named by Wharton Golden as the man who was selected to fire the fatal shot.

Sutton Was Poisoned.

NEW YORK, March 30.—The coroner's jury which heard the testimony in the inquest into the death of Charles Sutton, Jan. 21, at Netcong, near Dover, N. J., have brought in a verdict to the effect that Sutton was killed by the administration of a dose of strychnine and that his wife, Emma K. Sutton, gave the deceased the drug. Sutton was a brakeman on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, and Mrs. Sutton claims that her husband's relatives are responsible for the prosecution because she refused to give them half the money coming to her from a railroad beneficial society to which Sutton belonged.

An Oyster Combine.

NEW YORK, March 30.—D. C. Sanford of New Haven, engineer of the Connecticut shellfish commission, who is at present in this city organizing a combination of the oystermen of New York state, New Jersey, Connecticut and Rhode Island, states that he has secured options on 85 per cent of the oyster business in this territory and that a meeting of the oystermen interested will be held here soon to discuss plans for definite organization. At this meeting, he said, $4,000,000 worth of oyster property would be represented.

Engineer and Fireman Unconscious.

NEW YORK, March 30.—A new source of danger manifested itself yesterday in the Manunka Chunk tunnel on the Lackawanna railroad in New Jersey. When passenger train No. 4 was passing through the tunnel both the engineer and fireman were overcome by gas and dropped unconscious at their posts. When the train emerged, the conductor realized that something was wrong and found the men senseless in the cab. He acted as engineer until Oxford was reached. There the men revived after a short time.

A Daughter For General Wood.

HAVANA, March 30.—Mrs. Wood, wife of the governor general, gave birth to a ten pound girl at the palace at noon yesterday. Mother and child are doing well. The records of Havana do not show the birth here of any other governor general's child. Under the Spanish regime the wife of a governor general when expecting to be confined invariably left for Spain that the child might be born there.

Moving Force to Batavia.

LYONS, N. Y., March 30.—The action of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad in abolishing the West Shore road department takes away $12,200 annually in wages from the Newark division. Division Road Master Wittmer, with a clerical force, the blacksmith, carpenter, paint and repair shops, will go to Batavia. The repair gang also will go.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—The following fourth class postmasters have been appointed: New Jersey—Millstone, Sarah T. McDonald. New York—Ironsequoit, Frank E. Heffer; Vintonton, Frank Burnap.

Senator Sawyer Dead.

STATUE FOR NEW YORK.

Reproduction of Bartholdi's Washington-Lafayette Monument to Be Unveiled April 19.

A reproduction of the Washington-Lafayette monument, which stands in the Place Etas Unis at Paris, will soon be unveiled in New York. The work is by Bartholdi, from whom it was purchased by Charles Broadway Rouss for the purpose of adding it to New York's collection of patriotic memorials.

The place selected for the statue will be known as Washington-Lafayette square, at the junction of Manhattan and Morningside avenues and One Hundred and Fourteenth street. This spot is a short distance from the northwest end of Central park, and is overlooked by Morningside park, Columbia university, the Cathedral of St. John the Divine and St. Luke's hospital.

STATUE FOR NEW YORK.
(Washington-Lafayette Monument to Be Unveiled April 19.)

The monument is about 40 feet in height, and is considered by the sculptor one of his best works. The ceremony of unveiling the monument was to have taken place on February 22, but was postponed until Patriots' day, April 19, to meet the convenience of Senator Daniel, who will be the orator of the occasion. The ceremony at the time of the unveiling will be brief and simple, but further and more elaborate ceremonies will follow in the evening at Carnegie hall.

IS A GOOD PREACHER.

Mrs. Vandelia Varnum Thomas, Who Helps Fill Her Famous Husband's Chicago Pulpit.

Mrs. Vandelia Varnum Thomas is an ordained minister, and the assistant of her husband, Rev. Dr. H. W. Thomas, of the People's church, Chicago. Her ordination and marriage took place about the same time, last autumn. Mrs. Thomas often preaches, but she said to a correspondent for Leslie's Weekly that she dreaded her first sermon before her husband's congregation very much; that the dread was all the stronger in view of the fact that Dr. Thomas had not expressed an opinion regarding it after reading it, nor would he make any suggestions. "'You must give your own message in your own way.' As he seemed satisfied at its close, I was also." Mrs. Thomas acknowledges to a feeling of nervousness before speaking, but says that after she is on her feet she is all right. Even when preparing her work she can think better if she walks about. Mrs. Thomas was born near Buffalo. She took a post-graduate course at Cornell. She is a member of the Woman's Christian Temperance union, and has delivered many lectures on temperance and general topics. "Prisoners of Plenty" is one of her most successful efforts. "I look forward to my new work very humbly. I am more interested in life than machinery. By that I mean thought and work should be put first. The worker secondary."

Millions Spent for Peanuts.

The people of the United States consume 4,000,000 bushels of peanuts annually, at a cost of about $10,000,000. The growing of the peanut in this country is gradually increasing, but much of the product consumed is still brought from abroad, notably from Spain, Egypt and Japan. Yet the south Atlantic seaboard and the lower Mississippi valley, as well as other parts of the United States, have been shown to be abundantly responsive to the cultivation of this ground nut, the average yield being about 60 bushels per acre.

BRIDGE WORK
in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

DOINGS OF CONGRESS.

Senate Favors Tariff For Porto Rico. House Passes Army Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—A direct vote was taken by the senate yesterday on the proposition to strike from the Porto Rico measure the provision levying 15 per cent of the Dingley law duties on Porto Rico products. The proposition was defeated by a vote of 16 to 33. While the vote is regarded as presaging the passage of the pending measure, it is not regarded as indicating the final vote on the bill.

The feature of the debate was the speech of Mr. Beveridge of Indiana. He advocated reciprocity between the United States and Porto Rico, but announced that if all efforts to secure free trade should fail he would support the pending bill. The bill was under discussion throughout the session, several important amendments being agreed to.

After four days of stormy debate the house passed the army appropriation bill. As passed the bill is only slightly modified from the form in which it came from the committee. One of the last amendments adopted opens the soldiers' homes to the officers and men of the volunteer and regular armies incapacitated by services during or since the Spanish war. The chief incident of the day was a defense of the war department against the charge of reckless extravagance in the fitting up of the transport Sumner made by Mr. Driggs of New York. Mr. Parker of New Jersey produced the itemized expenses furnished by the war department to show that there had been no extravagance. Without opposition the house confirmed the title of Mr. Boreing of Kentucky to his seat. His seat was contested by Mr. White, another Republican, and the report of the committee that investigated the case was unanimously in favor of the sitting member.

KOREA IN TROUBLE.

Wants Outside Help Against Russian Encroachment.

LONDON, March 30.—The Evening News publishes a dispatch from Kobe, Japan, under today's date announcing that Russia has demanded leave to land troops near Masanpho.

Korea, the dispatch says, wants outside interference.

A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Kobe says:

"Renewed trouble between Russia and Japan in Korea is imminent. The movements of the Russian fleet indicate the probability of the seizure of a Korean port. The war office officials at Tokyo are holding conferences, and there has been considerable military and naval activity in Japan this month."

State Guardsmen Honored.

ALBANY, March 30.—In recognition of their service of over 25 years in the national guard of the state Governor Roosevelt, as commander in chief of the state forces, has issued brevet commissions to the following officers: Brigadier General James McLeer, commanding the second brigade, brevetted major general; Brigadier General G. Moore Smith, commanding the Fifth brigade, brevetted major general; Colonel Daniel Appleton, Seventh regiment, New York city, brevetted brigadier general; Major John B. Holland of the staff of Major General Roe, brevetted lieutenant colonel.

Miners Quit Work.

BLOSSBURG, Pa., March 30.—Seven hundred and fifty miners employed by the Blossburg Coal company at Arnot, this county, have quit work and declare they will stay out until Superintendent Lincoln guarantees that the agreement by which the men returned to work four weeks ago will be carried out. The men claim that the company has not taken back many of the old employees, but has hired inexperienced men to take their places. There are other grievances.

Mind Reading Collie Dead.

CHICAGO, March 30.—"Bozzie," the mind reading collie, valued at many thousands of dollars, is dead from accidental poisoning. "Bozzie" was the daughter of "Boz," a celebrated trick dog owned by Manager Harris of Barnum & Bailey's circus, and her feats of apparent mind reading, solving of arithmetical problems and her performance of tricks of all kinds made her famous. She was owned by George B. Clason, a retired railroad man of Chicago.

Heir to a Fortune.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., March 30.—By the death of a brother at Dawson City Mrs. Narcisse Tereaux, the wife of a poor laborer at Champlain, N. The news was communicated to her through the lady superior of a convent at Seattle, Wash., who wrote to a French priest in Three Rivers, Que., who in turn wrote to Father Chagnon, the French priest at Champlain.

DELAGOA BAY AWARD

Swiss Judges Favor Portugal In Their Decision.

SMALL PAY FOR FAMOUS RAILWAY.

The Award of Little More Than Three Millions Damages Is About One-half Less Than the Lowest Estimates.

BERN, Switzerland, March 30.—According to the Delagoa Bay railroad award, Portugal is condemned to pay 13,314,000 francs.

The arbitrators were long in session yesterday, and legal representatives of the claimants were on the ground awaiting the decision.

It was pretty well settled that the decision would be against Portugal, and the only issue was as to the amount of the judgment against that nation, the estimates ranging from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000.

The advice to the department came from the same source which a few days ago announced that the decision would be rendered about the middle of April, so it was concluded that the adverse criticism directed against the extraordinary prolongation of the arbitration had the effect to hasten the action of the arbitrators.

The following is the text of the decision, which is in six clauses:

"First.—The Portuguese government as the defending party is condemned to pay to the government of the United States and to Great Britain, the claimants, altogether, in addition to the £28,000 paid on account in 1890, the sum of 15,314,000 francs in legal Swiss money, with simple interest on this sum at the rate of 5 per cent per annum from June 25, 1889, up to the date of payment of said sum.

"Second.—This sum, after deducting what is necessary to defray the cost of arbitration falling on the claimants and in addition to the balance of £28,000 paid on account in 1890, shall be employed in the payment of bondholders and other creditors if there is need of the Delagoa Bay Railroad company, according to their standing. The claimants will draw up a scale of distribution for this purpose. The Portuguese government will have to pay into the hands of the government of the United States the sum which, according to said scale, shall accrue to McMurdo, represented by said government in her quality of bondholding creditor of the first and second degree. It will pay the surplus to the government of Great Britain for the benefit of all others having rights.

"Third.—The delay of six months fixed by the last line of clause 4 of the arbitration compromise shall run from this day forth.

"Fourth.—The costs of the arbitration, according to a scale to be drawn up in accordance with clause 5 of the arbitration compromise, will be borne in equal parts by the three parties to the suit—that is to say, a third party by each of them.

"Fifth.—The conclusions of the parties in so far as they differ from the above award are set aside.

"Sixth.—An authentic copy of the present award will be delivered through the intermediary of the Swiss federal council to each of the three parties to the case."

The award is unanimous.

How England Feels.

LONDON, March 30.—The Daily Mail, commenting upon the award at Bern, says:

"The boundless procrastination of the tribunal it is difficult to explain, for not the smallest trace of equity can be discovered in the award of the beggarly £600,000 awarded as compensation for a concession valued at £6,000,000. We fear the arbitrators allowed themselves to be prejudiced against British interests by the irrational Anglophobia which has seized upon the Swiss people. By their conduct the arbitrators have struck a deadly blow at arbitration"

The Daily News says:

"The sum awarded is as great a surprise as has been the unconscionable time taken by the arbitrators in arriving at a decision. It had been estimated that between £2,000,000 and £2,500,000 at least would be the amount of the award, and on the financial obligations thus to be laid upon Portugal a great deal of political speculation has recently turned. This speculation will probably have to undergo a good deal of modification."

To Try United States Coal.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Minister Bryan, at Petropolis, writes to the state department in regard to the demand for coal in Brazil that Dr. Argolia, the president of the San Francisco railroad in the state of Bahia, will make an experiment with 5,000 tons of bituminous coal, to be followed by regular yearly orders if the trial proves satisfactory. Dr. Argolia believes that structural iron for railroads and steel rails, if at once introduced by manufacturers in this country, would find an exclusive market in Brazil and therefore solicits catalogues and price lists.

Deerfoot's Remains Removed.

BUFFALO, March 30.—Through the efforts of the New York Athletic club the body of Deerfoot, the renowned Indian runner, now rests in the historic Indian plot in Forest Lawn cemetery beside the bodies of Colonel Parker, Red Jacket and other famous Indians of the Seneca Nation. The body was brought to Buffalo from the Cattaraugus reservation and was reinterred yesterday.

Persia to Be Represented Here.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—The shah of Persia has appointed Mofakham Ed Dowleh minister plenipotentiary of Persia to the United States. The Persian mission here has been vacant for some years past. United States Minister Bowen, at Teheran, in communicating the news of the appointment to the state department, strongly commends the shah's action.

New York Policeman Indicted.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Three indictments have been handed up by the grand jury against Police Captain Andrew J. Thomas of the Tenderloin district, charging him with neglect of duty. His alleged offense is his failure to close the Haymarket, Tivoli and Dore, notorious resorts in his district.

Sawed In Two.

GORHAM, Me., March 30.—Moses Stanley, 65 years of age, was cut in two through his breast last night by falling on a moving circular saw. He was superintendent of a steam sawmill.

CAUCASUS DISASTERS.

The Recent Earthquakes There Only Part of a Long Series of Upheavals.

The district of Alkhalkalaki in the government of Tiflis in the Transcaucacus, which has just been the scene of a disastrous earthquake, is like all that part of the world, subject to such visitations. It was only just a little more than ten years ago that a great landslide, the result of an earthquake, overwhelmed the village of Khorenzik, in the Tortum valley, about 18 miles from Erzeroum, and destroyed nearly 400 of its inhhabitants, only some 25 escaping. The circumstances of the disaster were very curious.

On several occasions before the catastrophe took place the rumblings in the mountain alarmed the inhabitants, who sent a delegation to the Kaimakam of the district to request him to visit the village to select a new site to which they might move. After the Turkish manner, he delayed going until their opportunity and their assurance that the village had paid all its taxes made him promise to meet the villagers on the spot after prayers in the mosque on a particular Friday. In the latter part of the afternoon on the day arranged, while the people were all assembled in the open space in front of the mosque, and some of the boys and girls had been sent to the pastures to drive in the cattle, the kaimakam and some other officials, with an escort of Zaptichs, coming from the district town, began to descend by the road into the valley. Then the face of the mountain overhanging the village began to move, and in a few minutes the village and everything in it had disappeared from view. Only the few children away in the pastures escaped.

When an examination of the ground took place afterward it was found that the village had been covered by the landslide to a depth of from 100 to 300 feet, and no attempt at rescue could be of any avail. At the beginning of the century a similar convulsion blocked the upper part of the Tortum valley, and formed a lake of considerable size, and there is hardly a year that some changes do not take place in the configuration of the country from earthquakes, landslides, and the giving away of the walls of the great reservoirs of water that exist in the mountain ranges in the Caucasus. Examinations made some years ago by Russian engineers to discover a practicable way for a tunnel to connect the railways north and south of the great Caucasus chain resulted in the location of several of these great natural reservoirs.

It is probable that the full extent of the Akhalkalaki catastrophe is not yet known, for the country is so broken and the mountains so precipitous that it will take some time to obtain all the details of the loss of life and destruction of villages.—N. Y. Sun.

MASSING FOR BATTLE

Boer and British Forces Gathering Near Bloemfontein.

TRANSVAALERS VERY AGGRESSIVE.

General Clements Occupies Fauresmith Without Opposition—Mafeking Garrison Hard Pressed. Foreign Re-enforcements.

LONDON, March 30.—The Boers are concentrating in force about 15 miles north of Bloemfontein in the rear of Glen, and Lord Roberts is sending forward troops to engage them. The Seventh infantry division and part of General French's cavalry have been sent up to join the Fourteenth brigade and the two cavalry regiments that are holding Glen and its environs.

It does not seem probable that the Boers will give serious battle in the fairly open country north of Glen. Still their evident strength indicates more than a corps of observation.

In small affairs the Boers are daringly aggressive in all parts of the field of war. The Johannesburg mounted police, esteemed by the Boers to be their best mounted command, are raiding the country near Bloemfontein, harassing the farmers who have given up their arms to the British and carrying off cattle.

There is a Boer report from Natal that a Russian soldier of fortune, Colonel Ganetzki, with 100 horsemen, is operating close to the British outposts on the western border.

The Boers have reoccupied Campbell and are in strength near Taungs and Barkly West.

The Duke of York has accepted from a resident of Cork 1,000 packets of shamrock seed, which will be sown upon the graves of Irish soldiers in South Africa.

A dispatch to The Daily Chronicle from Bloemfontein, dated March 28, says:

"The Boers are active north of Glen, about 15 miles from here. It is reported that they are concentrating in considerable force.

"Re-enforcements of all arms are being sent up from Bloemfontein, including the Seventh division and a portion of General French's cavalry.

"The Johannesburg mounted police are still raiding cattle and harassing the disarmed burghers who are returning to their farms."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Morning Post, telegraphing Wednesday, says:

"President Kruger boasts his intention to retake Bloemfontein within a week, and it appears probable that the Boers are advancing in force southward."

The war office has received the following dispatch from Lord Roberts, dated Bloemfontein, March 28:

"General Clements occupied Fauresmith today without opposition. One 9 pounder and one Martini-Maxim were discovered in a prospecting shaft of a mine, where a large quantity of ammunition was buried.

"Arms are being surrendered gradually, and the inhabitants are settling down.

"Colonel Pilcher visited Ladybrand on March 26. On leaving the town he was attacked by a party of the enemy, and one of his force was wounded and five are missing.

"During the skirmish north of the Modder river on March 25 five men were wounded. Three are reported to be missing. Captain Sloane-Stanley of the Sixteenth lancers and five men of that regiment were taken prisoners."

MAFEKING IN DANGER.

Boers Seem Bent on Its Capture. Large Foreign Re-enforcements.

CAPE TOWN, March 30.—The Boers have evidently begun a determined effort to capture Mafeking.

Through Boer sources comes news of the town being furiously bombarded and the garrison making what the Boers describe as a spirited resistance, but as week after week passes without the arrival of the long expected relief the length of the tether of the garrison's resistance must be steadily diminishing.

It is said that President Kruger has gone to the front and is now reported on the Boer firing line near Kroonstad.

It is reported that the Boers have lately received foreign re-enforcements of something like 150,000 men.

General Joubert's Illness.

PRETORIA, March 30.—General Joubert was taken ill Sunday morning. He was at his office the previous day. He suffered great pain, but became unconscious some time before death. The complaint was acute inflammation of the bowels. The body lay in state Thursday and was then taken by special train to the farm at Rustfontein, near Wakkerstroom, where it will be buried quietly, as Joubert often requested, and without military honors.

Lord Methuen's Return.

KIMBERLEY, March 30.—Lord Methuen has returned to Kimberley from the Barkly district. The mounted troops under him are expected today. They were at Likatlong when they received the order from Lord Roberts to return here. It is reported that the Boers have reoccupied Campbell and that they are in strong force near Warrenton, Barkly West and Taungs.

Fatal Case of Dynamite Thawing.

SAXTONS RIVER, Vt., March 30.—The attempt to thaw out dynamite in a stove resulted in a terrific explosion which caused the loss of one life, the serious injury of a little girl and the wrecking of a small house. The victims were Francis Farr, aged 50, dead; Gladys S. Stoodley, aged 7, may die. The explosion was in the house of E. H. Stoodley. Farr was terribly mangled, but not killed outright, death coming after several hours. Gladys, daughter of Mr. Stoodley, was terribly wounded about the head.

The Sale May Fail.

LONDON, March 30.—The Copenhagen correspondent of The Daily Mail says: "Owing to the difficulty of deciding whether the United States or Denmark shall bear the expense of the transfer of the Danish West Indies it is not improbable that the negotiations will shortly be broken off."

Electric Companies Combine.

TRENTON, March 30.—Articles have been filed with the secretary of state merging 12 electric light and power companies of Hudson and Essex counties into the People's Light and Power company, with an authorized capital of $20,000,000.

IT is significant that in homes of wealth where the very best is demanded, Ivory Soap is used in the nursery. At the same time, in hundreds of families where economy decides the choice, Ivory Soap is selected. Thus its purity attracts the rich; its economy attracts the poor. High quality and low cost: is there any better combination?

DESPERADO CAPTURED.

After Committing Various Crimes In Canada Is Halted In New York.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., March 30.—Melville Hall, a Canadian desperado, was brought here by J. W. Murray of Toronto, chief inspector of the criminal investigation department of the province of Ontario, and arraigned before United States Commissioner Gray under extradition papers charging him with various serious crimes.

Hall has been working for some years on the improvements being made to the St. Lawrence canals and leading a gang of desperadoes who have been terrorizing the country for miles around. He was finally, captured and served two years in Central prison at Toronto. He returned on completing his term, and the old time crimes were renewed.

The people of the township at once petitioned the provincial government for protection, and Chief Murray was ordered to take the case. By letters that were brought from Iroquois to Waddington and mailed to Hall by his brother the fugitive was located at Hailesboro, a mining hamlet above Gouverneur. The Canadian authorities at once asked and secured extradition papers from Washington. Murray arrived here and, with Deputy United States Marshal McCaffrey and two officers from Gouverneur, went to Hailesboro and at 1 o'clock yesterday morning surrounded the hotel kept by Mrs. Snyder, aroused the inmates and arrested Hall while in bed. His brother jumped through a window and is still at large. The prisoner is over six feet tall, weighs 200 pounds, is 38 years old and a desperate athlete.

COMPELLED TO VOTE.

Assemblyman Hyman Arrested—Antipoolroom Bill Passed.

ALBANY, March 30.—For the first time in ten years a member of the legislature who refused to vote on roll call was placed under arrest in the assembly yesterday afternoon and arraigned before the bar of the house and threatened with fine or imprisonment or both in case he persisted in the unparliamentary stand he had taken.

The offending legislator was Assemblyman Samuel J. Hyman (Dem.) of the Thirtieth New York city district. Mr. Hyman, after being brought before the bar of the house by the sergeant-at-arms, was persuaded by his Democratic colleagues to reconsider his determination and registered his vote in the negative on the adoption of the resolution which was under consideration.

By a vote of 79 to 40 the assembly adopted a resolution directing the sergeant-at-arms to proceed to Syracuse and arrest for contempt William H. Hammerle and Christian B. Snyder for refusing to answer questions put to them by the committee and arraign them before the bar of that body for punishment.

Mr. Trainor (Dem.), minority member of the investigating committee, opposed the resolution and was backed up by Mr. Green.

The assembly by a vote of 79 to 12 passed the Sanders bill to close up poolrooms. The bill is short and to the point. It forbids telegraph companies to furnish facilities. It takes effect Sept. 1.

A LONG VOYAGE.

Delayed Ship From Philippines With Costly Cargo Reaches Boston.

BOSTON, March 30.—After a voyage considered to have been the longest on record from Cebu, Philippine Islands, to this port the British steel four masted bark Ancona was towed across Massachusetts bay and was docked this morning. She is laden with 18,300 bales of hemp, the largest cargo of the kind shipped to this country. The Ancona sailed Aug. 5, and her long voyage occasioned anxiety and reinsurance at Lloyd's, London. The rate advanced until she was spoken near the equator in the Atlantic. She was next heard from at Barbados, where she put in to replenish her depleted stock of provisions, resuming her passage Feb. 23.

For the past week she has been off the coast endeavoring to reach here. Head winds prevented her from reaching her destination, and for the greater part of the time she was hove to off Seal island.

Since the Ancona left Cebu with her enormous cargo hemp has doubled in value and at present is quoted at 15½ cents per pound. This means a big profit for the owners. The total valuation of the vessel's cargo is placed at $800,000.

Two barks which sailed nearly three months after the Ancona have arrived here and are now loading outward cargoes.

Peacock's Fast Trip.

DENVER, March 30.—With a special train rushing across the continent the Santa Fe is trying to break its Nellie Bly and all other records in order that A. B. Peacock, one of the directors of the Carnegie Steel company, may arrive at Pittsburg in time to attend the annual meeting of the directors at noon on Saturday. The train left Los Angeles at 10 o'clock on Tuesday night and passed through La Junta at 11:30 Wednesday night, making the run of 1,256 miles in 24½ hours. The special stopped at La Junta just long enough to change engines, made the run to Dodge City, Kan., 203 miles, in 192 minutes, reaching that point at 3:12 o'clock yesterday. The actual running time between Dodge City and Emporia, Kan., 241 miles, deducting stops for water and fuel, was 242 minutes.

Bishop Anzer In Berlin.

BERLIN, March 30.—Bishop Anzer of Shangtung says that the unrest in China is largely attributable to the change of rulers, as the present disturbers of the peace have been incited by numerous edicts of the empress dowager to persecute foreigners and Christians. These edicts, however, were not intended primarily against foreigners, but, according to Bishop Anzer, their issuance was a tactical step on the part of the empress to gain the support of the mandarins and other leaders of the old China party. He considers her an extraordinarily gifted woman, with whom European powers must reckon, whereas it is far otherwise in the case of the deposed emperor.

French Steamer Sunk.

SANTO DOMINGO, March 30.—The French steamer Georges Croise, bound to Cuba with cattle and 80 passengers, is sunk outside this port. The steamer New York, which has just arrived here, rendered her assistance. Only four lives were lost by the sinking of the steamer. According to a report, the only boat on board the Georges Croise was used by her captain and officers to save themselves, the surviving passengers and crew being saved by the Clyde line steamer. It is said that the loss of the steamer was caused by her officers leaving her ports open, and, water entering the vessel, she sank.

"The Degenerates" Barred.

PITTSBURG, March 30.—Mrs. Lily Langtry, who is booked to appear at the Alvin theater in this city next Monday week, will not be permitted to produce her play, "The Degenerates." This was decided by Mayor William J. Diehl, who has received protests from the Presbyterian Ministers' association and numerous citizens against the production of the play on the ground that it is immoral.

Ship Named For Miss Gould.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., March 30.—The large fishing vessel the Helen Miller Gould, named after Miss Gould of New York, has been launched at the yard of John Bishop in this city. About 3,000 people witnessed the event. Ethel B. Jacobs, daughter of the owner of the new craft, Captain Solomon Jacobs, broke the bottle of wine over the bow.

Senator Smith's Views.

Former Senator Smith's view of the approaching Presidential campaign has a peculiar interest to the New Jersey Democrats, as well as Republicans, owing to the close relations of the Senator to the dominant organization forces. Mr. Smith is quoted in an interview as believing that the issue which will prove the greatest factor in the campaign will be the question of imperialism, the Democrats, of course, taking the anti side of the subject. As for the matter of the currency and the tariff, Mr. Smith considers them as dead beyond hope of reviving in the popular mind. However one may regard the currency question, it does not look at the present time, especially in view of the trouble over Porto Rican affairs, as though the tariff will remain in the background. In this respect Mr. Smith may have to readjust his views of the situation considerably before the campaign is very far gone. Incidentally, the former Senator says he does not expect to attend the Kansas City convention as a delegate from New Jersey.

The determination of the Council-manic committee, having in charge the preliminary details concerning the City Hall project, to have a puplic hearing on the matter, will undoubtedly stir the few opponents of the scheme to activity. From now until the date of the hearing, aided and abetted by Bunion, the obstructionists will do their best to make a show of forces against the immediate consummation of the improvement. It therefore behooves the public spirited advocates of the City Hall idea to be on hand also, and to urge their sympathetic friends to do the same, in order that their voices may be heard in favor of the undertaking being pushed to completion without unnecessary delay.

It is pointed out that another death traceable to the pernicious activity of the press in giving publicity to objectionable occurrences is to be found in the case of Frank Wilson, of Bloomfield. The hue and cry raised by the newspapers about Sabbath desecration resulted in a tight and genuine closing of the saloons Sunday. Wilson died suddenly Sunday afternoon of pneumonia, and his friends say it was because he had wandered all over the town from early morning until noon in an unsuccessful attempt to get a drink.

The Board of Trade is right in its demand that the Plainfield Street Railway Company shall show some consideration to the large number of people who patronize its various lines by establishing a waiting-room at the Watchung avenue switch. When a proper room for such a purpose can be rented at a rate that twelve street car fares will pay for every day, it is parsimony of the worst stripe for the trolley syndicate to decline to carry out the recommendation of the Board of Trade.

After the Bunion's flop on the City Hall question can any one doubt but what his classic features should be printed on the "little joker" in the pack of playing cards that are to contain the portraits of other American celebrities. In making the suggestion we argued that he was eminently fitted to represent the "little joker" because it is hard to tell which side he will turn up on. He verified our opinion with a promptitude that puts us in the front rank of prophets.

The gentlemen forming the Common Council of Plainfield are men, we believe, who will not knowingly commit a wrong or act in a way that will cast discredit upon the city. It was a blot on their record, however, when they granted that notorious violator of city ordinances, Mike Watson, a liquor license, and it will be a dangerous step for them to grant another application for a license that is backed by a political gang whose leader stood sponsor for the notorious Mike.

Here is a passing item of interest that contains a suggestion that many Jerseymen will appreciate without argument: "An ordinance recently enacted in Winchester, Va., requires that each property owner shall pour kerosene oil over pool, sink, or drain on his premises from time to time, and the police force is empowered to see that the ordinance is enforced. The theory is that the kerosene breaks up the breeding places of the mosquitoes."

In case of City Halls delay is dangerous.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

The Duty of the Common Caunell.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—The writer infers from occasional editorial comments in your valuable paper that there is a disposition on the part of Council to grant the pending application for a wholesale liquor license on Park avenue above Second street. The reason assinged for your belief is "political pressure." As newspaper men have a way of finding out things that are denied the ordinary citizen we have no doubt that your conclusion is correct.

It is to be hoped that our Common Council will resist this pressure and maintain an attitude of consistency on the subject of granting licenses. When at a previous meeting certain applications were refused on the ground that the number should not be increased and the system extended our Councilmen won the applause of all who have the moral welfare of the community at heart. It would be a thing to be deplored should they now recede from that position and do what a few weeks ago they said should not be done, and all, apparently, because of "political pressure."

Further, Mr. Editor, political "influence" should not blind our Councilmen to the fact that the liquor business in that particular vicinity is very much overdone, there being six licensed places within a short distance of each other.

The ways of the politician are very devious and his power exceeding subtle but nevertheless we are inclined to hope that more than a bare majority of our Council are honorable and high-minded men, and when this question comes to a vote will stand by their own previous action and stand for the highest interests of the people and so successfully resist the pressure of the politician.

Plain Citizen.

Wants Poll Taxes Paid.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—I would surjest to our worthy Counsilman, J. B. Dumont, to have a law passed that no citizen of this city be allowed to vote until his poll or all other taxes are paid. If a man is not willing to pay one dollar for the privilege of voting he is not worthy to be a citizen and it is a shame that those that always pay their taxes have to be taxed over again to make up for the delinquent.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, March 30—A German tea and musicale will be held at Apgar Hall Thursday evening, April 12th, from 6 to 9 o'clock, under the auspices of the Golden Cross. The committee of arrangements consists of H. C. Gaskell and Miss Annie Starer.

The entertainment at the M. E church last evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, was well attended. Barrels containing the savings of the ladies for the half-year were opened and found to contain $22. The ladies also told how they had earned the money. Some of their stories were as amusing as they were interesting. The block quilt exhibited at the recent fair was sold and it brought a good sum. A three-act dialogue was given during the evening after which the articles left over from the Epworth League fair were auctioned off by J. Emmons Henry, whose persuasive eloquence succeeded in coaxing good prices from the pockets of the bidders. The proceeds of the entertainment will amount to about $50, which is to be devoted towards paying the interest on the mortgage against the church.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Presbyterian church will have a home-made bread, cake and pie social tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock at the rooms of the W. C. T. U.

Miss Minnie and Lilly VanMiddlesworth, former residents of Dunellen, who have been visiting their friends in this place, have returned to their home in Newark.

Court Dunellen, I. O. F., have given up meeting in the Lincoln School building. Hereafter they will meet at Apgar Hall.

The Choral Union, which was to have met for practice Monday evening, has been postponed for one week.

Street Commissioner Staats is making some improvements to Prospect avenue by putting on crushed stone.

The annual meeting of the Dunellen Building and Loan Association will be held Thursday evening, April 12 h.

Charles H Henry has joined William G. Holton Council, Junior Order of United American Mechanics.

The dance held by the Orient Court at Apgar's Hall Wednesday night was a pleasant affair.

The Dunellen Banjo Club will meet this evening at the home of Mrs. W. E. Terry.

The goods of S. B. Merrell are being sold at auction today by Auctioneer Day.

The ladies of the Methodist church held a dime sociable at the church last evening.

Mr and Mrs. F. T. Dickerson entertained the Crokinole Club last evening.

The Board of Education will hold a regular meeting Tuesday evening.

The fire department held a regular meeting last night.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, March 30.—Anson Ryno, who died of pneumonia at his home, 287 Amsterdam avenue, New York, March 6th, was born in Scotch Plains Sept. 17th, 1822. He went to New York at an early age and learned the butcher's trade. In 1847 he married Nancy, daughter of Thomas and Mary (Clark) Lynch, of New York, and engaged in the meat business for himself. At the time of his death he was the second oldest man in the Fulton market. He resided for a good many years at 873 Lafayette avenue, Brooklyn, where his wife died Jan. 11th, 1895. He was always of a happy and cheerful disposition, a pleasant and genial companion, strictly temperate in his habits, punctual in business, a great lover of his home and family; politically a Republican, had been a member of that party since its organization; he was a zealous American, true and patriotic. He raised a family of nine children, seven of whom, with eleven grandchildren, survive him. His father was Charles Ryno, of Scotch Plains, who by his first wife Nancy, daughter of Jonathan Littell, had ten children, by his second wife, Mary Emma, daughter of Isaac Marsh, of Scotch Plains, he had twelve children (twenty-two in all), Anson being the fifteenth. Only two of his brothers and sisters survive him—Mrs. Amos Wilcox and Alvah Ryno, both residing in Scotch Plains. Charles was the son of Pack, of Short Hills, grandson of George, of "Dog Corners," now Alton, and descendant of John the Huguenot emigrant who settled in Elizabeth two hundred years ago. W. B.

The members of the Methodist church are anxiously awaiting the annual Methodist conference meeting which is to be held next week when it will be decided whether they are to lose their present pastor, Rev. Mr. Woodruff. Mr. Woodruff has served the church for three years. Under his guiding hand the membership has been increased and the church has risen from a struggle to a solid foundation. The young people have been drawn into the church work and the three years pastorate has been a very successful one for the church and a most creditable one for Mr. Woodruff. The many friends of pastor and church hope that the relationship of pastor and people will not be severed this year.

The News fake in last night's issue about the strange disappearance of George Leighton from Emery's Hotel was very amusing to the residents of the village. Leighton desired to make a change of employes and left Emery's Hotel. He was seen about Plainfield Wednesday afternoon by several who knew and there was no reason then to believe that he was of unsound mind. This is only one of the several fake strange disappearances from the Plains the News has been giving its readers of late and The Press correspondent simply calls Brother Bunion's attention to the fact that Scotch Plains readers will not support "yellow journalism," but desire the truth.

The revival meetings being held in the Baptist church by Rev. W. E. Needham are meeting with very encouraging success, both in attendance and interest in the meetings. Rev. Mr. Shott extends a cordial invitation to all to attend the meetings.

Mrs. Alfred McKeown, of Fanwood, who has been confined to her home for several weeks suffering from hemorrhages, is reported as being in a very critical condition, and grave hopes are entertained of her recovery.

Goodwill Lodge, K. of P. met in their rooms in Castle Hall last evening. Important business was transacted and a very interesting and enjoyable meeting was held.

Mrs. Mary Lee, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Billings, for several weeks, has returned to her home in Port Richmond, S. I.

The Epworth Literary Society of the Methodist church held an interesting reading in the class-rooms of the church last evening.

John R. Haskard visited friends in town last evening.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, March 30.—The Township Committe will hold a meeting at the town rooms this evening when it is expected they will appoint two policemen in accordance with the resolution voted for at the last election. The sum of $1,500 has been appropriated for the purpose of forming the police force.

The people of this town who use the trolley cars are kicking at the way in which the company allows such dirty and poorly ventilated cars to be used. The matter will probably be called to the attention of the Township Committee at an early date.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, March 30th—The railroad company have had a gang of carpenters at work on Harris & Ten-Eyck's coal sheds. They have been unable to use them since they were moved last fall to make room for the extra track, which was laid from the iron bridge near New Market to Potter's crossing.

The house on Park avenue formerly occupied by Peter Emmons, came very near being destroyed by fire one night this week. It was considerably damaged.

Miss Libbie Smith, who lost her pet dog several weeks ago, found him yesterday beyond New Brunswick.

Wm. Coulter made a business trip to New York yesterday.

There is no long waiting for help if Ripans Tabules are taken for dyspepsia and headache. Relief comes quickly. One Tabule (about the size of a small button) will relieve distress in the stomach within fifteen minutes and the headache will shortly disappear. There was an industrious, hard-working woman of Cooperstown, N. Y., some sixty years of age, who for a long time had suffered greatly from dyspepsia and dreadful headaches. Her stomach tormented her so that she could hardly work at all, and, although she had tried all sorts of things, she got no relief. A friend sent her some Ripans Tabules and she felt better as soon as she took the first one. She felt more like working. "I have continued with the Tabules ever since," she says, "and they always help me."

WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS, 10 for a quarter, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples, and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

FASHION NOTES.

Methods of Making and Keeping the Figure Slender.

The present style of dress demands a perfect figure, and, while thin forms may be padded out, overplump ones must be trained down by heroic measures. Swedish massage, gymnastics, exercise and vapor baths are all called into requisition, and where the excess of flesh is caused by any unwholesome condition of the system this sort of treatment is often highly beneficial to the general health.

The arrangement of the underwear is also altered so that it may take up as little room as possible. Many women adopt tights and abandon the petticoat altogether, the place of the latter being taken by many frills of silk placed on the inside of the lower half of the skirt. When the petticoat is retained, it is fitted closely at the top without plaits or a band, and all the decoration and fluffiness are confined to the part below the knee.

A pretty idea is to cover the entire lining of the skirt half way up with tiny pinked ruffles and shirrings or puffings of taffeta.

The cut shows a fine tailor made costume of nickel gray satin cloth. The skirt is so decorated as to simulate three crossed tunics, each edged with stitching and a band of white cloth. The tight bodice has a short basque and is adorned with stitching and bands of white cloth, which outline a plastron and trim the top of the sleeves and the wrists. Two rows of pearl buttons fasten the bodice, and there is a single revers of white cloth with applications of ecru guipure. The turned over collar is lined with white cloth. The hat of nickel gray straw is trimmed with a drapery of gray tulle, gray plumes and a pearl buckle. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE FASHION.

Skirts Continue to Cling Closely to the Figure.

The tight skirt is now generally accepted and is worn by almost everybody, but to how few is it really becoming! Too stout or too thin a figure appears at a great disadvantage in so little drapery, and all defects become obvious. To conceal too extreme slenderness there are all sorts of pads and similar contrivances for building out the form, but there is no way of disposing of superfluous flesh.

VISITING GOWN.

Full figures therefore strongly require a certain amplitude in the skirt and folds which prevent it from lying too closely.

A new idea for skirt decoration is an adaptation of the scarf which oriental women wear around the hips. This is extremely pretty for slender figures.

The illustration shows a costume having a skirt of violine peau de soie, which is laid in wide plaits fastened flat as far down as the knee, below which they are allowed to fall free. The bolero is of violet velvet bordered with applications of guipure. The fronts are connected by three satin tabs and steel buttons. The sleeves are of elbow length and are of plaited peau de soie, with applications of guipure and a deep lace frill. Beneath the bolero is a bodice of white satin with fine horizontal plaits. The cravat is of white lace, the belt of black satin with a steel buckle. The toque, composed entirely of violets, is trimmed with a bow of black satin and a steel buckle.

SIR ALFRED MILNER.

British High Commissioner for South Africa.

A Remarkably Able Man Who Has Unlimited Confidence in Himself —How He Forced Kruger to Go to War.

Sir Alfred Milner, governor of Cape Colony and the queen's high commissioner for South Africa, has occupied these two positions for only three years, yet he has endowed them—prominent as they have always been—with an importance which they have never had before. It was largely the vigorous policy of Sir Alfred which led President Kruger, step by step, up to that determination which precipitated the war with England. The British had been massing troops on the very borders of the Transvaal—and this had been the result of Milner's provision. The depot at Ladysmith had been enlarged to portentous dimensions. The forces of Great Britain had been regularly increased and the governor's reins of policy had been drawn more tightly as the Boer resentment to these acts of aggression grew accentuated. All vacillation on the part of President Kruger disappeared when Sir Alfred intimated broadly that the military activity of Great Britain in Natal was nothing less than preparation to use force against the Transvaal when the time arrived for decisive action. It was this hint of Milner's which drew from Kruger his ultimatum of last October and the subsequent declaration of war and invasion of British territory.

The governor of the Cape is a remarkably able man in a variety of ways. He was educated in Germany and Oxford and was once pronounced by the dean of St. Paul's to be "the finest flower of human culture which had been reared in the university in this generation." At 44 (he is now but 47) he had risen to high eminence in British politics. For five years he was the national taxgatherer of Great Britain, at the end of which time he was appointed to his present lofty post—an office to which is attached a salary very nearly as large as that which is paid to the president of the United States.

Sir Alfred can speak German and Dutch fluently. The latter language he acquired since his service as high commissioner began in South Africa. He has succeeded admirably with the native blacks, and his influence over the African chiefs has been greater than that of any other official.

Milner's political career began a few years ago when he was appointed to the position of private secretary to Mr. Goshen, who was then the chancellor of the exchequer. Before that time he had been engaged in journalism, notably with William T. Stead in the conduct of the Pall Mall Gazette. His fine, limpid literary style had not developed in this period of his life. As a writer he appears at his best in his book, "England and Egypt." This work has been criticised in terms of the highest praise by Mr. Stead, who has no superlative he cannot apply to the writer's English. In much of what he describes in the book—that is, concerning Egyptian progress—Sir Alfred was an important participant.

Some Old Wedding Customs.

The wedding cake is the remains of a custom whereby a Roman bride held in her left hand three wheat ears, and many centuries later, an English bride wore a chaplet of wheat. The bridemaids threw grains of corn or small bits of cake upon the heads of the newly married, and the guests picked up the pieces and ate them. The wedding cake did not come into general use until the last century, and was then composed of solid blocks laid together, iced all over, so that when the outer crust was broken over the bride's head, the cakes inside fell on the floor and were distributed among the guests. Bridal favors are of Danish origin. The true lover's knot was first designed by Danish hearts and derived its designation from the Danish truelofa—"I plight my troth."

Various Uses for Borax.

The washerwoman of Holland and Belgium, so proverbially clean, and who get up their linen so beautifully white, use refined borax as a washing powder, instead of soda, in the proportion of one large handful of borax powder to about ten gallons of boiling water; they save in soap nearly half. All the large washing establishments adopt the same mode. For laces, combrics, etc., an extra quantity of the powder is used and for crinoline (requiring to be made stiff) a strong solution is necessary. Borax being a neutral salt, does not in the slightest degree injure the texture of the linen; its effect is to soften the hardest water, and therefore, it should be kept on every toilet table.

GEM OF THE PACIFIC.

That Is What Our New Samoan Island Has Been Called.

Government Is Now Building a Wharf and Coal Sheds at Pango Pango —The Resources and Inhabitants of Tutuila.

Pango Pango harbor on the island of Tutuila, one of the Samoan group, is a possession of great value to a power like the United States with world-wide commerce and increasing interests and responsibilities so diversified. Though surpassed in extent by some of the harbors of Australia and China, there is not one whose advantages are greater and where the safety of a fleet from storms or attack is so assured or so easily provided for. The island itself is volcanic and the harbor originally a crater. The dimensions of Tutuila is about 13 miles in extreme length and is one vast range of mountains, some of them 3,500 feet high.

The harbor is an ideal one with a narrow and deep entrance about one-third of a mile in width. Its dimensions are one by one-fourth miles, and throughout its entire extent a depth of 40 fathoms is maintained. It is surrounded by high hills and the most violent storms of that latitude do not affect it.

The United States intrusted to a San Francisco firm the construction of a wharf 300 feet in length with a face of 400 feet, to be built of steel, which is now under way and will be completed in September. In addition coalsheds of corrugated steel capable of storing 6,000 tons are being erected and will be completed at the same time. The work is making rapid progress.

The inhabitants of Samoa are said to be delighted at the prospect of becoming attached to the United States. The more intelligent among them realizing the advantages of being protected by a powerful nation. They are all nominally Christians, though not all of one sect. Most of them follow the English missionaries, though a few are Catholics. A good many heathen superstitions and customs survive. The women are the most virtuous savages in the world, though their marriage customs seem to more civilized nations somewhat lax. The marriage relation endures only so long as mutually agreeable, when a separation is at once granted. Several of the workmen who are constructing the wharves have formed alliances with the natives, who make good wives and are extremely proud of their white husbands. They are industrious and make good housekeepers. There are many chiefs among the natives and they are accorded certain privileges and great deference, but the paramount chief over all is Mounga, a magnificent specimen of physical strength, who stands six feet two inches in his bare feet. His wife is considered a fair type of an island beauty.

The island is productive and yields ample supplies of bread fruit, taro and bananas, which constitute the principal articles of food consumption. The waters also abound in fish, and the natives are very expert in catching them.

Besides the natives raise quantities of pigs and fowls, which they sell to passing vessels. The community is a happy one, and quarrels are infrequent. The climate is very warm and enervating, though the workmen employed at wharf-building enjoy excellent health.

The distance from Apia to Pango Pango is 82 miles, though the two islands are only separated by a narrow strait.

Educated in Print Shops.

It is interesting to note the number of eminent men of the present day whose education began in a printing office. William Dean Howells learned the trade in Hamilton, O.; Amos J. Cummins has set type in nearly every state of the union; Congressman James M. Robinson worked on the Fort Wayne (Ind.) Daily News; Richard Watson Gilder, the poet-editor of the Century Magazine, once set type and did the press work on the St. Thomas Register at Flushing, L. I. William P. Hepburn, of Iowa, used to be a compositor, and a fast and accurate one. So were Charles B. Landis, of Indiana; William H. Hinrichsen, of Illinois; George D. Perkins, of Iowa, and a host of other prominent men in the country.

Rapid Time to the Orient.

From London to Bombay in 11 days is the remarkable programme laid out by the Peninsular & Oriental Steamship company. The journey will be made by the British route, and involves faster time than is usual on Italian railways. The chief item is the voyage from Suez to Bombay, which is made at the rate of 17 knots an hour.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For Week Beginning April 1. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Always ready.—Luke xxi, 29-36; xii, 35-40.

By several illustrations which can hardly be dignified with the titles of parables Christ in these passages from Luke discourses upon His second coming and emphasizes in particular the importance and necessity for being ready at all times for His advent, which practically may mean to us to be ready at all times for death.

1. The signs of His coming (Luke xxi, 29-31). As they knew from the shooting of the fig and other trees that summer was coming, so from certain signs Christ said His disciples were to discern His coming. Signs will precede the second advent and signs often precede the call of the angel of death. And we may well be on our guard and not so engrossed with the affairs of this life that we shall fail to see these signs should God manifest them unto us.

2. The uncertainty of Christ's coming. "If the good man of the house had known what hour the thief would come, he would have watched and not have suffered his house to be broken through. Be ye therefore ready also, for the Son of Man cometh at an hour when ye think not." While Christ spoke sometimes of signs preceding His coming, He more often emphasized the fact that His coming would be as a thief in the night. "No man knoweth the day nor the hour when the Son of Man cometh." God has revealed to no one the time when Christ shall come again. The apostles expected an immediate advent, but were disappointed. At various times in the past prophets have set appointed times for His coming, but their predictions have failed. The same is true of death. No one knows the day nor hour when he shall die who dies naturally. Suddenly, unexpectedly, without warning, death often comes. How necessary therefore that we should be "always ready." How important therefore that we should be constantly on our guard; that we should have our loins girded and our lights burning; that we should be like unto the servants who wait for the return of their master from the wedding feast—who never cease waiting and watching no matter how long his coming may be delayed, and who are always ready no matter at what watch of the night he may appear.

It will pay us to be ready and watching when Christ calls. "Blessed," He says, "are those servants whom the Lord, when He cometh, shall find watching. Verily I say unto you that He shall gird Himself and make them to sit down to meat and will come forth and serve them. And if He shall come in the second watch or come in the third watch and find them so, blessed are those servants." What more could we ask at the end of life than to have Christ pronounce us "blessed?"

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Let the leader begin the discussion on the topic and then throw the meeting open for voluntary participation.

Bible Readings.—Ps. xxiii, 1-3; lxxxviii, 15; xc, 12; Jer. xxvi, 12-15; Math. xxiv, 44-46; xxv, 1-13; John ix, 4; I Thess. v, 1-6; II Tim. iv, 1-8; II Pet. iii, 1-10; Rev. iii, 1-3; xvi, 15.

Education For the Ministry.

Though, on the whole, the movement both within and without the church is toward a higher standard of education for the ministry, the fatal ease with which a particular case is judged to be a legitimate exception to the general rule eventuates in altogether too long a list of men taking only a half course of study. We do not say that there are no legitimate exceptions, though we do maintain that exceptions are too readily discovered. Never was the need of the culture bestowed by university training more indispensable for the clergy than now, just because higher education is so rapidly increasing among the rank and file of the laity, to say nothing of the power of intellectual culture in the humblest work. Never was the need of a thorough Biblical, theological and historical course greater than now, just because of that tendency to generalize and speculate concerning sacred things which is characteristic of the hour. General education and special education are both necessary for this most responsible of all vocations, and the latter cannot fail to be ineffective if it has not the former for a foundation.—Churchman.

The Power of Prayer.

Show me a man who has been a power in prayer, and I will show you a man who has given himself up to do and to be what God wants him to do and be. If you would have this power in prayer, you, too, must make this complete surrender to the will of God. You may be praying for some special blessing, but God cannot give it to you until you are wholly His.—Francis E. Clark.

With God.

To talk with God—no breath is lost;
Talk on, talk on!
To walk with God—no strength is lost;
Walk on, walk on!
To wait on God—no time is lost;
Wait on, wait on!

To grind the ax—no work is lost;
Grind on, grind on!
The work is quicker, better done,
Not needing half the strength laid on;
Grind on, grind on!

Martha stood, but Mary sat;
Martha murmured much at that!
Martha cared, but Mary heard,
Listening to the Master's word,
And the Lord her choice preferred;
Sit on, hear on!
Work without God is labor lost;
Work on, work on!
Full soon you'll learn it to your cost;
Toil on, toil on!

Little is much when God is in it;
Man's busiest day's not worth God's minute.
Much is little everywhere
If God the labor do not share;
So work with God, and nothing's lost;
Who works with Him does best and most!
Work on, work on!

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning April 1, "Always Ready"—Text, Luke xxi, 29-36; xii, 35-40.

"Let your loins be girded about and your lights burning."

Nothing is more certain than the fact that most of us are soon to leave the things of this life and that none of us are to continue long here. However attractive the world and however great our enjoyment of its good things, they are but preparatory to another existence as yet untried. Jesus represents this present time as a waiting for the return of the bridegroom, who will make his home our place of reception and share his joy with us as his friends.

Carelessness, thoughtlessness, absorption in our own petty cares, intoxication with the good things of the present, will unfit us for any part in His future bounty.

Nothing is more common than the idea that future well being will somehow come of itself without much exertion on our part. We came here unconsulted. We go hence without power to prevent. The world yields much of good to us without our exertion. Sunshine and rain come without our care on all. So we can safely let things shape themselves. We cannot alter matters. They will be as they will be in spite of our thought or wish. So a multitude drift aimlessly along. They mistake the fact that their work is not to prepare the future world, but themselves, for it. The bridegroom will make ready the marriage feast and provide garments for the guests. Our work is to watch for His coming with lights burning and girded loins.

Unexpectedly the Master comes for many. The only safe way for us is to each day do the work of that day patiently and trustfully. No great tasks may be accomplished perhaps. That is not the test of our worthiness and preparedness. Has the daily routine work been done contentedly and with sweet and glad expectation?

Does it seem to you that He is coming for you? Are you waiting for Him as lover waits for lover and all through the hours of work cheers the toil and task with bright anticipations of his presence, preparing some simple surprise for him?

Oh, the joy of waiting! Pains are to be borne, heartaches, disappointments, sharp trials. Burdens are to be lifted from others' shoulders, sorrows are to be shared and gifts bestowed. We are to give good cheer to His loved ones here till He comes. This is His work He leaves for us to do.

Watch and sing and joyously praise the coming One. Be ready for Him by doing diligently the humblest service, by heart devotion and glad anticipation.

Narrowness.

One of the chief dangers earnest piety must meet is the temptation to narrowness of view and sympathy. In schooling ourselves to do service we must put restraints upon our acts and words and make rules for our conduct. If we want to grow in grace we must be exact in reading the Bible and praying. We must speak and pray in the meetings. If others stay away from preaching service, we cannot. We must grow in Christliness.

We are so convinced of the value and necessity of this course of conduct that we do not see how any one who neglects these things can be a real, live Christian. We find profit in our methods and come to take pleasure and sometimes pride in our exactness. Beware! Just here lies the danger of Phariseeism. Make your rules of holy living and keep them. But in it all keep sweet toward others and do not condemn them if they do not adopt all your schemes. Exhort, but do not censure them. Perhaps they are as true in heart as yourself.

Some will read no book but the Bible and can see no good in other literature. Other people find greater treasure in the Bible because of their wide acquaintance with other literature. Worship God and love your fellows. Make the safe path for your own feet, but do not expect every one to do just as you do or think exactly as you think. Be strict with yourself and charitable to others.

A Translated Worker.

Well known throughout New England as one of the ablest and most consecrated officers of the First district was Rev. F. M. Upham, the League editor of Zion's Herald. His death at Thanksgiving time was a shock to his host of friends. A frail body had honored his grand soul for 39 years. His personality was one of the frankest and most genuine. His spirituality was fervent, but not fanatical. He was at home in the pulpit in pastoral work and in the editor's chair. Educated, with scholarly tastes, he was never so happy as when leading souls to the Christ. His last sermon in his pulpit at Westfield, Mass., was of joyous "Thanksgiving In Heaven." It seemed to his hearers to be inspired. It seems to us to have been prophetic. How the ranks over yonder are gaining our brightest and dearest!

A Worker's Prayer.

Lord, speak to me, that I may speak
In living echoes of Thy tone!
As Thou hast sought, so let me seek
Thy erring children, lost and lone.

Oh, lead me, Lord, that I may lead
The wandering and the wavering feet!
Oh, feed me, Lord, that I may feed
Thy hungering ones with manna sweet!

Oh, strengthen me, that while I stand
Firm on the rock and strong in Thee
I may stretch out a loving hand
To wrestle with the troubled sea!

Oh, teach me, Lord, that I may teach
The precious things Thou dost impart,
And wing my words that they may reach
The hidden depth of many a heart!

The Rich First Ward and Some Other Things in CHICAGO

In political circles in Chicago the business district, that portion of the city bounded on the north and west by the river, on the east by Lake Michigan and on the south by the Twelfth street viaduct, is known as the First ward.

One of the First Ward Sights.

It is a comparatively small tract of the city, the smallest ward in all the 34 of which the city is composed, but it probably represents more wealth than any similar tract of land in the world. There is very close to $500,000,000 tied up in its valuable real estate, in its sky-scraping office buildings, in its magnificent hotels, in its palatial clubhouses, in its churches, in its stores, in its manufacturing institutions, in its homes, in its theaters, in its schools, in its stocks of merchandise, in its bank vaults, in its stocks and bonds, in its saloons and in its dens of vice of every kind.

All of these are there in picturesque array. The hovel stands beside the towering office building; the saloon door opens beside that of the church; the big department store and the cobbler shop stand side by side, and the bank and the pawnbroker occupy the same building.

It is a city within a city; it is the heart which both supplies and saps the life blood of the municipality. Its industries give employment to hundreds of thousands of people, and its dives wreck thousands of promising lives each year. In it are located the homes of both rich and poor, the just and the unjust. As its industries provide the work, so do its theaters and other places of amusement provide the play for the 2,000,000 people of Chicago. In many things the First ward is Chicago.

A Place of Residence.

When one looks at this vast aggregation of tall office buildings and hovels, of churches, of theaters, of stores, of banks, of everything that tends to make the business center, one thinks of it only as the business district of Chicago. One never looks upon such as the abiding place, but the workshop, the counting room and factory of a great city. But while it has all these, it has also homes. Homes of all classes, from the palatial residence of the millionaire to the rickety tenement of the toiler and the vagrant.

Another of the First Ward Sights.

There are enough people living in the square mile of Chicago known as the First ward to make a fair-sized city. The coming census will show not far from 50,000 human beings whose place of residence lies within the boundary lines of this ward, and of these people the registration lists of Chicago show that more than 10,000 are registered voters.

In the great hotels wealthy business and professional men have their permanent homes; along the lake front on Michigan avenue others of the same class reside in the beautiful homes. Young men about town find pleasant homes in the clubhouses, and the outcasts and the criminals live year after year in the filthy lodging houses of the levee district.

Foreigners from all the nations of Europe and Asia find in this ward a dwelling place. Clark street abounds in the dens of the Chinese, while among the railroad tracks but a block further west are hundreds of Italians, of Portuguese, of Hungarians, and others from southern Europe in particular.

In the First ward the police catch the pickpocket, and the detective looks for the absconding cashier. As the places of business in this ward give the life beats to Chicago, so its places of crime give the death blows.

First Ward Aldermen.

It is the First ward that sends to the Chicago city council as its representatives "Bathhouse" John Coughlin and "Hinkey Dink" Michael Kenna. Both men are characters in the city, where they have been born and raised. Both are natives of the ward in which they have won their fame. Both men made much of the money which they possess in the saloon business, and by the aid of the same business won the confidence of the class of voters upon whom they depend for their elections. Kenna is in the saloon business to-day and Coughlin but recently left it to engage in the more presentable calling of broker and banker.

The "Glad Hand" for All.

While the Civic Federation or the Municipal Voters' league will indorse neither of these two men, they are practically as sure of election to the Chicago council so long as they wish to hold the place as the elections are sure to come. Nor is it a question of party politics that keeps them there, but it is their firm hold upon the voters of the ward.

Both men know personally thousands of the voters upon whose suffrage they must depend. They made voters of the foreigners eligible to the privileges of citizenship by securing for them their naturalization papers. They see to it that these men are properly registered, and that they are present at the voting places on election day.

With this class of voters they are "good fellows." They sign their bail bonds when an offense against the law sends them to the police station; they secure positions for them when that is possible; they speak to them wherever they meet them; they treat them as equals, and in return they get their votes on election day.

The Snows of Winter.

The blinding blizzards of the winter season are practically over, and Chicago is glad of it.

Miss Chicago Thinks About It.

The people outside can hardly realize what a 12-inch fall of snow means to the people in a great city. Such a fall of "the beautiful" is a calamity that it takes thousands of dollars to remedy — more thousands than Chicago has ever spent for such a purpose.

The last heavy fall of snow in New York cost that city $180,000 to reopen traffic in the streets and remove the blockades. The last heavy fall in Chicago cost that city half as much and a little more to think about removing it, and then the sun and weather did such of the work as was done.

But though Chicago did little more than think about the removal of the snow, about 5,000 men were employed to assist in that process. True, an enormous quantity of snow was carted to the lake front and dumped into the water, but it was an infinitesimal quantity when compared with the great amount that fell, and much of that was removed by private firms around their own business houses.

But there are those in a great city to whom the snow was not an unmixed blessing. One such class were the cab drivers. Within the past year the automobile has cut seriously into "cabbie" business, but when a heavy snow comes those who would ride must do so in a cab, for the autos are as helpless in the heavy drifts as is a ship without a rudder, and the cab drivers were well aware of this and so made the most of the opportunity that was offered them.

But with the days of spring with us again cabbie may go fishing for the next six months and will hardly be missed by the riding public, for the auto is the popular vehicle of the day.

Sheldon's Paper in Chicago.

Chicago, like the rest of the country, raved more or less over the Sheldon edition of the Topeka Capital. There was a great demand for the preacher-editor's paper for the first day or two at least, and the newsboys of the city made the most of so golden an opportunity, and, while the editor might not have approved, sold hundreds of copies for several times the regular price. Something like 20,000 copies of the first issue reached Chicago on Tuesday evening after the business district had been deserted. Every enterprising newsboy in the city knew what train they were coming on, and each had accumulated all the capital available for the purchase of a supply. The boys are in a way close students of human nature, and they knew that they could readily dispose of every copy they could get at a good profit to themselves.

"Here's Yer 'Peka Capital.

Ten minutes after the arrival of the train bearing the papers they were being sold all over the downtown district, and it took but a few minutes longer for the boys to spread to the residence portions of the city.

But the newsboys were somewhat mixed as to the purposes of the paper. They had heard something of "What would Jesus do," and had gotten the Saviour entangled with Pastor Sheldon. For this reason the people of the city were much surprised to hear the clear, shrill voices of the little fellows calling:

"Here's yer 'Peka Capital by Jesus Christ!"

It may, or may not, have been the boys' announcement of their wares, but the papers sold easily at big prices.

FERTILIZERS.

LAST year we aimed to convince the Farmers and Gardeners that it was unnecessary when buying Fertilizers to pay from thirty to fifty per cent more than they are worth, simply because some "other fellow" forgets to pay his bills, and it has become the habit of the fertilizer trade to make the good pay for the bad.

If you pay your bills we want to sell you and you will not have to pay for other customers who don't pay, as we dont have that kind.

The laws of this State protect the purchaser of Fertilizers, and all that is necessary is to see that he gets what he pays for.

CLOVER SEED.

We have the cheapest in result, but not in price. The same is true of our Timothy Seed. Ask those who bought it last Fall.

SEED OATS.

Oats raised for seed, absolutely clean and as cheap as a good article can be sold for.

If you have money to throw away don't come to us, as we cannot accommodate you; our prices being the same to every one, naturally must be made to fit the close buyer.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Many wonderful things in the way of magic and legerdemain are credited to Ah Foon, the wonderful Chinese magician, who with his great company of specialists make their first appearance at Music Hall tonight. Chinese and Japanese acts are just now "fads" in the vaudeville world, and Ah Foon, the better to present his own work, surrounds himself with a company of artists of reputation to give an entertainment thoroughly refined, wholesome and amusing. The programme tonight will be one of novelty and it will be given entire at the matinee tomorrow afternoon Tomorrow night a change will be had, and from what has been said of the company, aside from the work of Ah Foon, we may expect a splendid show both nights. For this engagement the prices of seats on lower floor have been reduced to 50c. for the evening performance. The general admission and balcony reserved seats remain as usual, but for the matinee tomorrow afternoon there's quite a big reduction. All children of 12 and under will be charged only 10c., and adults will be called upon to pay 25c.

James B. Mackie and big farce comedy company in "Grimes' Cellar Door" will appear at Music Hall Tuesday of next week. Mr. Mackie will be remembered best as the original 'Grimesey" in Hoyt's "Bunch of Keys," and from the emphatic success made of the part attained the title of Hoyt's famous comedian. In the presentation of "Grimes' Cellar Door" Mr. Mackie finds plenty of scope to display his versatility as a comedian. His company includes Louise Sanford, comedienne, so long identified with Hoyt's attractions; the Grimes' Cellar Door Quartette; Kentucky Trio; Trixie Hamilton, formerly with Harrigan, and a host of pretty girls, combining to make the new music and special features of "Grimes' Cellar Door" more popular than ever. No better attraction could have been selected by Manager Maze Edwards.

NOAH RABY HAS SEEN 128 YEARS OF LIFE.

Famous New Jersey Pauper Will Tomorrow Celebrate the Anniversary of His Birth.

BLIND, BENT AND WITHERED.

HAS BEEN ILL, BUT STILL HOPES TO SEE TWO HUNDREDTH BIRTHDAY.

Has Been a Pauper for the Past Thirty-four Years—His Father was an Indian — Had a Romance in Youth.

In celebrating his 128th birthday tomorrow Noah Raby will go on record as the oldest pauper in the world. Raby has spent the last thirty-four years at the Middlesex county poor farm, in Piscataway. He is known from one end of New Jersey to the other, and in the summer time hundreds of persons stop at the low, rambling poorhouse to have a look at the man they have heard so much about. Raby enjoys being questioned by strangers, and, though sightless and toothless, he dispays childish enthusiasm when a visitor is announced to see him. There are hundreds of business men whose hair has turned gray who will remember that April 1 is the birthday anniversary of old Raby, who as boys they used to tease and torment. Raby five years ago said he was going to live to be two hundred years old, but during this winter every one expected that he would die, as he was affected with a serious cold and could not speak above a whisper.

When the old man was seen at the poor house a few days ago he was asked if he cared to say anything about his life, and he laughed in his peculiar way. As he has no teeth he emits a sharp whistling sound in talking.

"I guess I've told you boys about my birthday for fifty years," he said. "I'm sorry I cannot read the papers, but Mr. Hummer, who has charge, is very kind to me, and I always hear what they have to say. I have been here now about thirty-four years, and they have always taken good care of me. Dr. Whitford, of New Market, comes here now and then to see me. I was pretty ill a few months ago, and you all thought I was going to die, but I'm not dead yet. Well, I was born down in Eatontown, Gates county, N. C., on April 1st, 1772. My mother was Sarah Raby, of South Carolina. My father was Andrew Bass, an Indian. My mother was poor and lived with a farmer named Miles Field. I worked for him till I got to be twenty-one. Then I made up my mind to get out for myself.

"I found a job at Widow Parker's farm and went to work as her overseer. I got $200 a year. Then I fell in love with her daughter-in-law, Sarah Parker. Sarah was a widow and I went to work for her. I wanted to marry her, but I was afraid to ask her. Mingo, an old colored man, was going to charm her for me. While this was going on my half-brother came to the farm and he told me that I should go away, because Mrs. Parker would not marry me on account of my Indian blood. I believed him and shipped in the navy on the Consitution. I found out when my enlistment was out that my half-brother had married the widow. That made me sick of women, but as I never asked her I guess it is my own fault. She was a pretty woman.

"Yes, I saw Washington," said Raby, in answer to a question. "It was at Norfolk, Va., I saw him, and he made a talk to all of us. I was in the navy then.

"Then I came over to Stelton and worked for lots of farmers until Dr. Decker sent me here. Now you know it all."

Raby, the officials say, is the healthiest man on the poor farm. He bears up remarkably well under his old age Long, snowy locks cover his big head, and he has a bushy white beard. Years have to a certain extent cramped his body, until he has the appearance of a small humpbacked man.

His principal occupation is eating, though he eats very little at a time. He will not eat anything greasy and eats very slowly. His meals consist chiefly of bread and milk, cereals, and now and then, in the proper seasons, fruit and vegetables. He rises at 7 o'clock every morning and does not lie down until it is his bedtime, 8 o'clock. Of late he takes a nap in his chair. But this does not happen twice a week. He has a bowl of food by his chair constantly.

Raby has some warm friends, who always remember him, but his particular friend is Miss Tilda Scudder Denman, of New Brunswick. Raby

BOROUGH COUNCIL DECIDES TO DO THE WORK.

Somerset Street Widening Discussed by the Street Committee Last Night.

The street committee, together with Mayor Smalley and Borough Counsel Reed, held a meeting, when some important matters were considered. It was decided to purchase two water wagons for the purpose of sprinkling the streets. It is proposed to sprinkle for three hours in the evening and three hours after 12 o'clock noon. All macadamized streets, and the dirt ones on which their is an abundance of dust will be sprinkled. Of course, it will be impossible to reach the outskirts.

Another matter taken up was the widening of Somerset street. Mr. Reed stated that an amendment to the law was made before the close of the session of the Legislature which gives borough authorities the power to have commissioners appointed to assess benefits and damages in widening streets or sections of streets which are not crossed by other streets. This will make it possible for the Mayor and Council to secure the appointment of commissioners on the Somerset street widening, more especially for that part between Craig place and the bridge. It is proposed to widen the street and to have some of the buildings now on the bias or over the line put back on the line and straightened. By this action the borough authorities hope that the city authorities will take up the matter and decide to widen Somerset street on this side so that the street will be uniform.

COMMITTEES NAMED.

President McCutchen, of Board of Education, Names His Aids.

There will be three changes in the teaching department of the borough public schools this year. They will be announced later. The Board of Education will soon adopt new rules and regulations respecting the employment and promotion of teachers. These will be drafted to conform to the new State school law.

President McCutchen has announced the committees for the year as follows: Finance, Messrs. McGee, Hallock, Fountain; teachers and text books, Messrs. McCutchen, Honeyman, McGee; supplies, Messrs. Fountain, Overton, Cooley; grievances, Messrs. Cooley, VanWinkle, Honeyman; auditing, Messrs. Waring, Hallock; building and grounds, Messrs. Waring, Cooley, Overton.

WALTER LONG HOME.

He Enjoyed His Trip to the Pacific Coast Immensely.

Walter L. Long returned this morning from California where he went to accompany William Cosgrove, the unfortunate young man who became paralyzed from injuries sustained by falling fram a train on the Central railroad near Dunellen. Mr. Long reports a pleasant journey. He visited many places of interest enroute to his home in this city. Young Cosgrove stood the journey well and was none the worse for the trip. His parents were rejoiced to see him and were profuse in their thanks to Mr. Long and the citizens of Plainfield for their kindness in assisting their son to reach home.

Rahway Wants a Soldiers' Monument.

There has been a movement by many of Rahway's best citizens to see a soldiers' monument erected in Rahway, in keeping with the large number of the heroes who went to the front from there. Matters looking towards the accomplishment of the affair seem to be shaping themselves rapidly. Prominent residents of the city are taking up the idea in a business like way, and eligible sites are being sought. A committee, fully authorized and equipped, will probably soon be in the field, and the enterprise will be pushed rapidly forward to completion.

Old Conductor Now a Landlord.

"Billy" Clark, one of the oldest conductors on the Jersey Central Railroad, has resigned his position with the company to start in the hotel business at Somerville, where his home is. He has taken a lease for the Commercial Hotel there and will take charge Monday. Clark has been a conductor on the Central for over thirty years and is well known by many of the Plainfield commuters.

Death of a Boy.

David J. Ayers, aged 14 years, son of Ella and the late Alonzo T. Ayers, died this morning after a short illness. The funeral services will be held from the home 219 Grant avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Interment will be at Hillside cemetery.

VALUABLE PROPERTY UNDER THE HAMMER

Martin Act Sale Carried Out by the City Yesterday Afternoon.

SOME SPIRITED BIDDING.

TOTAL VALUE OF PROPERTY SOLD ESTIMATED AT $100,000.

About $12,000 Made in Bids, One-half of Which the City Took—Sale to be Continued in Three Weeks.

The city of Plainfield has gone into the real estate business. Under the provisions of the Martin Act, ninety-three properties were sold by the city for back taxes yesterday afternoon, the city proving itself its own best customer. The amount due the city for taxes, assessments and interest on the property disposed of will reach $8,000. The sales reached a total value of $10,000, while the actual value of the real estate involved must be well up to $100,000 if not more. There is still as much more to be disposed of but three weeks was allowed those who asked for it in which to clear away these financial troubles from around their property.

Several days have been set in the past for the sale but for various reasons it was adjourned until yesterday afternoon at the office of Tax Collector James Martin in the Coward building, Park avenue. The hour set for the sale was 2 o'clock, and at that hour a score or more citizens assembled. A few women were also present. The sale was conducted by Collector Martin to whom the role of auctioneer was somewhat new. A little coaching from the Corporation Counsel, however, soon started him right. Corporation Counsel C. A. March and City Treasurer W. F. Arnold were present in behalf of the city.

Since the Martin Act Commissioners completed their duties and the report was approved by the courts, a number of the owners of property affected by the report have settled the claims against them. Others asked for more time and the sale of the properties of the latter was adjourned for three weeks. The remainder, it was announced, would positively be sold to the lowest bidder. In each case, the city entered a bid for the amount of its claim and bought the property if no one else cared to go as high. In every case, however, the property was worth many times as much as the city's claim against it.

Out of the 93 disposed of, the city bid in 32 of them. The other principal bidders were R. D. Crocker, attorney for Thomas Crocker, a retired merchant living in South Orange, and who thought the opportunity a good one to make a profitable investment, and Elston M. French, of this city, who purchased in the interests of a number of his patrons. Crocker purchased 26 properties and French 21.

The sale began ten minutes later than the appointed time. Collector Martin read the terms of the sale. The purchasers were required to pay 20 per cent. cash and the remainder was to be paid by April 19, when certificates of sale would be issued. Six months later, the deeds would be given to the purchasers.

The first six properties on the printed list of those to be sold were not considered. The taxes had been paid or there was a prospect that they would be. The first property put up was No. 7 on the list, located in the First ward on East Front street and belonging to Geo. W. Ross. The city's claim amounted to $30 90. Crocker bid that amount. Nobody else had anything to say and so the property was sold to him.

Then came a rather dramatic interruption. "Count" John K. VanNess hurried into the Collector's office waving a handful of bills. He caught the eye of the Corporation Counsel just in time to prevent his property from being put up at auction. It was a narrow escape for the "Count."

The next property offered was also on East Front street, owner unknown. There wasn't a bid except that of the city to cover the claim of $34.11. The Franklin Wiley property on the same street went to the city in a like manner for $2,392.49. The property of Loomis & Rice on East Second street was sold to John R. Marsh for $615, a trifle better than the city's offer. The bidding was decidedly slack for a few moments, Crocker and the city being the only bidders.

When a property on North Front street, owned by M. F. Marsley, was offered, the city's bid of $47 21 was raised to $100 by Crocker and French. Crocker offered $100 and took the lot.

The bidding for the house and lot on Norwood avenue, owned by B. T. Barnes, was also lively. The city's offer of $31 67 was eventually raised to $110, R. H. Depew being the successful bidder. E. M. French bought the properties of Helen Brodrick, Aaron F. Carpenter and an unknown owner on Jackson avenue, while Crocker took one belonging to Selena E. Bond. The same bidders divided the Netherwood avenue properties of Selena E. Bond, Mary Winston and Thomas S. Fisher after a brisk contest. Properties on Watson and Leland avenues were not attractive to the bidders and the city gathered them in. Crocker took a property on Raymond avenue, part of the H. W. Smith estate, which ended the First ward group.

It was known that much of the property of the Martine estate in the Second ward was included, but when Collector Martin started to put the first of it up at auction, Mr. Marsh said its sale had been adjourned three weeks pending settlement.

The first of the Second ward properties to go was that of Elizabeth Mosher on East Fourth street. Crocker bid it in for $75 The city took some ownerless property on South avenue, after which W. M. Stillman was the only bidder for the East Sixth street property of Maggie Richardson. E. M. French took a fair lot on LaGrande avenue while the city acquired another on Putnam avenue, of which David Eastman was the owner.

Properties on Webster place, formerly J. P. Humble's; on Lake street formerly Jennere Martoine's; on Radcliffe place, formerly A. L. Smith's; and on Leland avenue, formerly W. W. Owens were divided between Crocker and French. French and the city took the four lots back of Belvidere avenue at the amount of the lien

The Third ward group opened with W. H. Manning's property on West Fourth street which went to Crocker for $95 after some hot bidding. The city stood for a lien of $1,299.38 on a West Fifth street property belonging to Mrs. Experience Moe. The next property of Walter S. Pound on the same street went to Crocker for $125, after a contest with French. French was high man next for the William Cortright property, bidding $250. Properties of a Taylor and Mrs. E. McLoughlin, also on Fifth street, went to Crocker.

The West Sixth street properties of Mrs. Michael O'Keefe, Sigmund T. Myer, Mr. Field and W. H. Wells were sold to French and Crocker.

The city bid in the property of Mrs. Caroline M. Hunter on West Seventh street for $218 89. That of S. A. B. Green on West Eighth street went to R. H. Depew after a contest. The city took a lot belonging Mrs. O. B. Leonard on Arlington avenue while an adjoining property of the estate of A. Bonnell was sold to F. E. Kinsman for $40. A lot on Central avenue, the owner of which is not known, was bid in by French. A. E. Hall's property on Plainfield avenue went to the city.

One of the largest properties to be sold was the Leonard farm bounded by Plainfield, Sherman and Grant avenues and East Ninth street. The city's lien amounted to $2 108 37. Wm. M. Stillman bought it for that price without opposition.

A group of small properties were disposed of at the first bid. French took two on Rose street, those of James Brennan and John H. C. Green. The city was the only bidder on the other Rose street property owned by Abram Smith. On Essex street, Crocker bid in a lot from the Home Building and Loan Association. Elizabeth street had several. The city took a property of the estate of E. W Runyon, Postmaster E. H. Bird another of the estate of A. V. Blake for $32 96, J. A. Hubbard two belonging to Mrs. C. J Ohl and French one owned by Jane Ann Bundy. Another of the Blake estate on Field avenue was bid in by French. A stray lot on Pemberton avenue was sold to F. E Kinsman for $27. A bid for E. B. M. Sprague of $48 19 took the last of the Third ward properties, one on Randolph road owned by W. H. Smith.

The sale of the Fourth ward properties did not develop much lively bidding. Most of them went at the price of the indebtedness on the property. A property belonging to Mrs. Elizabeth Leonard on West Front street was the first to go from that ward. The city was the only bidder. Crocker bought up a lot on the same street owned by Joseph C. Blimm. The city carried off another of which Timothy McCarthy was the owner. A. J. Brenjon was the only bidder for T. R. Cuthell's properties. The city took the last of the West Front street group, one of Wm. Madden's.

A part of the estate of E. F. Randolph, on West Second street, went to the city. Crocker captured two South Second street properties, those of Joseph Galbraith and Patrick Me-

$90,000 NEEDED.

Appeal for Funds for the Re-building of the Centenary Collegiate Institute.

Rev. Dr. George H. Whitney, of 828 First place, former president of the Centenary Collegiate Institute, has issued a circular letter to the students of the Institute from 1874 to 1900, in which he asks on behalf of the Institute subscriptions toward the rebuilding of the institution. The letter states that for the plans adopted the sum of $250,000 will be needed This will include furnishing and equipment. The trustees now have in hand $116,500 from the insurance. At a recent meeting of the trustees $51,650 was pleged, and the sum of $90,000 more is needed. This will permit the erection of such buildings that will be ample and a credit to the Methodist church. Dr. Whitney makes a strong appeal to raise a large "Alumni and Student Fund," and no doubt the responses will be most liberal. All remittances should be made to Dr. Whitney, 828 First place, Plainfield.

It is understood that the receivership proceedings were friendly and for the purpose of effecting a reorganization of the company. The factory, it is said, is making money, but the company is handicapped by past management.

WILL PROBABLY KILL HIM

JOHN REILLY DRANK COLUMBIAN SPIRITS FOR ALCOHOL.

He is Now in the Muhlenberg Hospital in a Critical Condition—Stuff Blinded Him.

John Reilly, aged about thirty-eight, of 127 New street, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital this forenoon suffering from an attack of acute gastritis, which was produced by taking a drink of Columbian spirits Tuesday last.

Reilly is 6 feet, 7 inches in height and has always enjoyed the best of health. He was a man of much strength and fine physique. He followed trucking for several years at his home, Atlantic Highlands, from which he and his wife came about two months ago.

Recently he was seized with the grip and for several days was detained from work at the Walter Scott Printing Machine Works. Tuesday last he was subjected to a distress in his stomach and he thought by taking a little alcohol it would relieve him. He sent to a drug store and secured the liquid.

The druggist did not have the alcohol and sent Columbian spirits in its place. Reilly paid little or no attention to the label on the bottle, but drank some of the contents. The effect was similar to that produced by carbolic acid. Instead of being relieved he grew worse, and Dr. Lufburrow, of West Front street, was called to treat the man. He did all in his power, giving heroic treatment to afford relief. As a result of taking the spirits the man gradually lost his eyesight and he is now totally blind. When he was received at the hospital he was in a critical condition and the chances of his recovery are very slight.

Among the properties sold at auction by Collector Martin under the provisions of the Martin Act yesterday afternoon was one located on Evona avenue and formerly owned by the minor heirs of Margaret T. When Mr. French learned that the only owners were several young children, he has made arrangements to transfer the property back to them without compensation.

There were also many employes of the firm of which Mr. Slevin was a member that were present. Rev. Father Smyth, pastor of the church officiated. Appropriate music was rendered by the church choir. HEARTY WELCOME TO BISHOP VINCENT.

Venerable Minister Received by His Former Methodist Parishoners Here.

HELD IN VINCENT CHAPEL.

SINCERE WORDS OF WELCOME GIVEN TO THE BISHOP.

An Interesting Feature Was the Part That the Little People Played in it—Appreciative Words Said by the Guest.

It was, indeed, a cordial welcome that the Methodists of this city, together with their many friends, extended to Bishop Vincent, of Topeka, Kan., in Vincent chapel, last evening. The occasion was marked by many pleasantries that made it an auspicious one. Bishop Vincent is to preside at the Newark Conference to be held at Paterson next week, and this afforded an opportunity for him to visit his former home, and meet his many friends.

The pretty chapel that bears the bishop's name, was lavishly decorated with potted plants, palms, smilax and roses. Seated on this platform was Bishop, and beside him were Rev. Dr. Snodgrass, pastor of the church, and J. W. Jackson, for many years superintendent of the Sunday-school. At the right of the platform was an orchestra in charge of George Rogers.

The chapel was well filled with parishoners and many people from other churches, as well as nearly all of the local pastors and those who have been pastors of the First M. E church, all of whom united in giving the Bishop a warm and hearty welcome. J. W. Jackson was in charge of the affair, and after a few remarks by way of explanation of the bishop's visit, he introduced Dr. Snodgrass, who welcomed the distinguished guest on behalf of the church. He related his experience when first he met Bishop Vincent in a far away western town, and told of the inspiration he received from him. He welcomed him back to his old home, and remarked that the chapel which bore his name would always be called Vincent chapel. He declared that Mr. Vincent was in very truth a bishop of the church of God, and that in Sunday-school work especially does the church owe much to him.

Dr. Snodgrass hailed the bishop as an apostle of the church and remarked the fact that many of his old friends were present to greet him. He regretted the fact that Mrs. Vincent could not be present, but desired her husband to convey to her the warmest expression of thought and love.

The bishop was then bid welcome on behalf of the Sunday-school, by May Doane, Clara Knight, Ethel VanNest, Edna Kennedy and Gertrude Geier, young girls dressed in white, who sang a pretty selection. Gertrude Geier then stepped forward and made a little speech, welcoming the bishop. She expressed the love of the children for him and said that they did not expect him to recognize them, for they were not yet born when he was in this city. She also referred tenderly to the bishop's picture in the chapel and of his great work in Sunday-school matters. She then prerented him with a handsome bouquet of flowers. The girls were in charge of Mrs. Meredith, and the little speech recited was composed by J. R. Joy.

This was the occasion for a speech from the Bishop, and he responded in a happy manner. He greeted all warmly and said that his remarks would be brief. He spoke of the length of time he spent in this city from 1866 to 1868. He referred to the group of earnest men that assisted him here in his work, and said that he loved Plainfield for her contribution to Sunday school work. He dwelt on the perfection of Christian unity found here, and as years go by all grow at the Spirit of God leads. He urged all to put on light and strength for the world beyond. He considered the development of personal character the chief aim in life, "that the Man of God may be furnished unto every good work." He said he cared less for organization, form and external movements, and more for personal motive as power for work. He then referred tenderly to his wife, and said she regretted that she could not be present, but the change in climate would not permit. In conclusion he urged all to cultivate more of the ideal church unity obtained through denominational loyalty, and to all he spoke a thousand thanks for the welcome ex ended.

An opportunity was then given all to meet the bishop and shake hands with him. During this reception the orchestra furnished pleasing music and refreshments were served under the direction of the Ladies' Aid Society. It was nearly 10 o'clock when the affair terminated and all bid Bishop Vincent an affectionate farewell and wished him Godspeed.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Major F. W Coleman, of this city, has received a valuable souvenir of the war in the Philippines from his son, F. W. Coleman, Jr., who is stationed there as lieutenant, commanding the Thirteenth Infantry. It is a large knife, familiarly called in that country a "bolo," and it was sent by mail. The "bolo" is 20 inches in length, the blade being 14 inches long and about 2 inches in width. It is in a leather scabbard with strap attached. Inscribed upon the scabbard in ink is this inscription: "Captured at Binmelay, Isle of Luson, December 26th, 1899, from General Pedro Ramos, commanding Ladrones in the Province of Lingayen by scouting detachment of Company L, Thirteenth Infantry." The "bolo" is a savage looking weapon that would prove dangerous in the hands of a savage.

The firemen on duty at the West End enginehouse on West Fourth street really have more trouble looking after the small boys than the fires. The small boys simply swarm the streets in that part of the city and the enginehouse possesses a great fasination for them. One of the rules of the department forbids them from entering the house and the firemen have their hands full enforcing it. Now that Fourth street is newly macadamized the small stones of the roadbed furnish an inexhaustable supply of ammunition to throw at anything and everything. The large doors of the enginehouse are a favorite mark and the brick drive way in front of the house is often covered with the missles. The firemen are compelled to keep a sharp lookout, for the stones get in the way of the swinging doors and wedge them fast when the doors are opened. In the time of an alarm such an accident would undoubtedly cause trouble perhaps of a serious nature.

The typewriter has proved itself to be a great institution in facilitating the writing of letters as well as making them legible. The signature is still added with pen and ink. There are many people who write their signature in a way that no one unacquainted can possibly tell what it was intended to be. Letters are often received by business men that the signature is positively unreadable. News papers suffer the same trouble with various items of news that reach the offices. And then the sender of the news is wroth because the name appears something entirely different from that which it was intended to be. The other day a Plainfielder received a letter that was of great importance and needed an immediate answer. On envelope or letter head there was no clue and the Plainfielder was at his wit's end to know what to do. An inspiration suddenly came to him. He cut the signature off the letter and pasted it on the envelope adding the rest of the address and left Uncle Sam's employes to solve the puzzle. The postal authorities in the city where the letter went were evidently acquainted with the signature for it reached its destination safely.

BRIDGE WORK
In Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

ROBERTS HAS A FIGHT

Boers Driven From Their Kopjes After a Sharp Struggle.

KITCHENER SEES END OF REBELLION

President Kruger's Warning—Clements' Column Advances Rapidly. Warlike Preparations at Gibraltar—Warships For Canaries.

LONDON, March 31.—The head of the army of Lord Roberts is now about 21 miles north of Bloemfontein. It occupies a cluster of hills won from the Boers after a stiff fight, in which the British lost seven officers and 100 men.

The Boers had been using these kopjes as a base for marauding bands that have been beating up the country adjacent to Bloemfontein for supplies, driving off cattle and forcing nonresistent Free Staters into their ranks again. The enemy must have been in considerable force, as Lord Roberts sent 8,000 infantry and 3,000 cavalry against them.

The war office has issued the following dispatch from Lord Roberts, dated Bloemfontein, March 30:

"Owing to the activity of the enemy on our immediate front and their hostile action toward the burghers who surrendered under the terms of my proclamation I found it necessary to drive them from some kopjes they had occupied near the Karee siding station, a few miles south of Brandfort. The operation was successfully carried out by the Seventh division, assisted by the First and Third cavalry brigades under French and Le Gallais' regiment of mounted infantry. The enemy retreated to Brandfort, and our troops now hold the kopjes.

"Our casualties were: Scottish borderers, killed, Captain Going; wounded, Captains Sellar, Luard, Peebles, Curgenven and Edwards, Lieutenants Coulson and French and about 100 rank and file."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Morning Post, telegraphing Thursday, says:

"Lord Kitchener and his staff crossed the temporary bridge at Norval's pont last night. He had 3,000 men under his command, and he left 700 at Prieska. He considers the rebellion crushed, although the fire may smolder for some time."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Daily Chronicle, telegraphing Thursday, March 29, says:

"President Kruger's latest proclamation warns the women and children to leave Bloemfontein within five days, as he intends to bombard and destroy the city and to shoot the burghers whom he captures there.

"Vigorous measures have been taken by the British to harass marauding bands of Transvaal Boers. The latter are resorting to guerrilla methods, chiefly against Free Staters who refuse to join Kruger."

A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Koffyfontein, dated Thursday, March 29, says:

"General Clements' flying column, after a forced march of 37 miles yesterday, arrived here unopposed."

Of General Louis Botha, who succeeds General Joubert, a correspondent says:

"The Boer hero of the first four months of the war is Louis Botha, the victor of Colenso and Spion kop and the youngest general in the republican army. The Boers are too stoical to have many popular heroes, but the name of Botha is on every tongue in the two republics, and already he is being mentioned as a possible candidate for the presidency.

"To show how successful General Botha was in combating the British forces it is only necessary to say that seven days after the battle there remained on the sides of Spion kop and in the valley below more than 700 bodies of English soldiers, while the total loss of the Boers was 50 killed and 123 wounded."

A dispatch to The Daily Chronicle from Ladysmith, dated March 30, says:

"Much interest is felt in the civil case of former United States Consul Macrum against the postmaster at Pietermaritzburg for an alleged breach of contract in handing over his private letters to the military authorities to open. Judgment is expected tomorrow."

The Madrid correspondent of The Daily Mail says:

"From Lisbon I hear that with the full authorization of Portugal stores for the British forces in Rhodesia have been passed over the Beira-Umtali railway.

"Very amicable relations exist between Portugal and Great Britain, and some political changes are expected to follow the announcement of the Delagoa Bay award."

The Sevastopol correspondent of The Daily Graphic says:

"War alarms fill the naval headquarters here. The whole Euxine squadron is fully equipped for instant service. Troops with full war kits are daily arriving from the interior. The garrison will soon be a powerful army corps.

"There is much excitement among the staffs of both services, and all the talk is of bringing Turkey to her senses by forcible measures."

The special service squadron has been ordered from Gibraltar to the Canary islands.

The ostensible purpose, as announced by the admiralty office, was to watch the Cape route, but of course no one credited the explanation.

Four of the swiftest and most powerful cruisers in the world comprise the special service squadron. The flagship is the Europa, a new and formidable armored cruiser, considered by experts to be the peer of any cruiser afloat.

Back of the special service squadron at Gibraltar is the Mediterranean squadron, under Sir John Hopkinson. He has under his command 42 battleships, cruisers and torpedo boats.

As many more are scattered through the Mediterranean in the channel squadron, under Vice Admiral Sir Henry Rawson.

Two-thirds of the best warships of the British navy are now making Gibraltar their base and have been since the war began.

FAILURES INCREASE.

First Quarter of 1900 Shows Liabilities Exceeding $93,000,000.

NEW YORK, March 31.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

During the first quarter of 1900 all failures of the kinds formerly included in these records and in other records yet included have exceeded in amount of liabilities $93,000,000. With steam railroads evidently street roads like the Third avenue must be separately reported, and with banks and other financial corporations should be separately reported industrial companies like the United States Flour Milling company, which controls many distinct works. The banking failures were 13, with $857,482 liabilities. A receiver was appointed for the Appleton Publishing house, not to wind up bankrupt business, but to give it larger life and value. But setting apart these, the commercial failures remaining were much larger than last year, liabilities amounting to about $34,385,308, according to reports thus far received.

Foreign indebtedness to this country will soon be heavy if to such investments are added merchandise reports like those of March thus far. Exports from New York alone for four weeks exceeded those of last year by $24,627,032 or 66.7 per cent, while the import here, a little smaller last week, showed a gain in four weeks of only 1.8 per cent. The New York reports included only about $1,000,000 gain in cotton, whereas cotton exports from other points indicate a gain of nearly $14,000,000 in value. With such gains the March exports may prove the largest in the history of the country. The exports of corn again prove the magnitude of foreign demand for cereals, as the extraordinary movement of last year is closely approached, 11,794,875 bushels having gone abroad in four weeks against 13,102,811 last year. The western receipts are nearly three times as large as in the same week last year, indicating an abundant supply on hand, but the price has risen 1½ cents.

Cotton has declined ¼ cent this week but supplies are so small and easily controlled that the future cannot well be predicted. Wool has declined fully 1 cent on the average of revised quotations, and more for fleece and fine or fine medium territory which sells at 55 cents clean, with medium clothing at 50 cents. The goods market is quiet, and orders are limited.

Iron is growing weaker except in Bessemer pig, which is held at $24.90 at Pittsburg in spite of small sales of eastern at lower figures. Anthracite No. 1 has sold little above $23 and basic at $22.50, with eastern forge offered at $22.50 at Pittsburg.

The expected stringency in money about April 1 does not appear, and the markets are easy, with little commercial demand."

Much Shooting, but No Fatalities.

CORTLAND, N. Y., March 31.—There was a good deal of shooting at officers of the law yesterday by a man believed to be crazy. This was preceded by his trying his marksmanship on a neighbor. William Bays of Virgil, Cortland county, Thursday night shot twice at his neighbor, Lewis Chrisman, for trying to get his own heifer out of Bays' barnyard, where Bays had shut her up. The first shot missed, the second lodged in the leg with little damage. Chrisman swore out a warrant for Bays' arrest. Two constables went there in the morning, tried to arrest, and more shooting resulted. They were fired on. They sent for aid, and two more officers arrived. The house was barricaded. The officers started to let the cattle out of the barn. This aroused Bays, who came out with a revolver and began firing at the officers, who returned the fire. Over 20 shots were exchanged. Bays' sister came out with a club to defend her brother. Both were finally arrested and landed in the county jail. Sheriff Brainard was wounded by a ball in the leg. It is believed that Bays and his sister are crazy.

Attempt to Poison a Family.

CINCINNATI, March 31.—An attempt to poison a family resulted in the serious illness of four persons, Mrs. F. A. Aiken, Miss Allie M. Galvin, Harold Winold, aged 6, and Francis Winold, aged 3. Mrs. C. O. Winold, a daughter of Mrs. Aiken, escaped. The persons poisoned had eaten oatmeal for breakfast. They were immediately and violently attacked. A physician was called, and all were gotten out of danger, though suffering severely. Suspicion pointed to the servant girl, Violet Foster. The police found that a half ounce of crude arsenic had been bought by a girl on Thursday afternoon at a drug store near by.

Mayor Vetoes Davis Bill.

NEW YORK, March 31.—Mayor Van Wyck has returned to the senate with a veto the Davis bill increasing the salaries of schoolteachers and providing for many changes in the city's educational system. The mayor in his message said that the additional burden of the bill would probably be between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000. He also objected to the measure because it "increased the taxpayers' burdens contrary to the deliberate action of those chosen to administer the city's affairs."

Sporting Editor Young Dead.

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—Norman B. Young, assistant sporting editor of The Inquirer, is dead of typhoid fever. "Brig" Young, as he was familiarly known, had for the past dozen years been a noted writer on college sports, more particularly football and aquatics, and was well known among the athletes of all the big eastern colleges. He was 35 years of age and a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania.

Expelled From Westphalia.

BERLIN, March 31.—The provincial president of Westphalia has expelled from Prussia Barons Diedrich and Wolfgang Boeselager, naturalized Englishmen and representatives of the oldest and richest Westphalian nobility, whose father renounced his Prussian citizenship during the kulturkampf, because they had made themselves troublesome.

German Emigration.

BERLIN, March 31.—German emigration last year was 23,790, an increase of 1,500. Of the total number 19,000 went to the United States.

THE SENATE LAUGHS

Funny Speech by Pettus Causes Much Mirth.

PROGRESS ON THE PORTO RICO BILL

Several Amendments Disposed of. Representatives Devote the Day to Consideration of War Claims. A Curious Coincidence.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Merriment swept the traditional dignity of the senate yesterday. Staid sticklers for senatorial decorum literally held their sides and shouted with laughter, while the crowded galleries joined in the laughing tumult which not the faintest effort was made to restrain. Had the effort been made it would have been futile. Senator Pettus of Alabama, the oldest member of the body, his age being only a few months short of four score years, delivered the funniest speech heard within the senate chamber in many years. It sparkled with wit and bubbled over with humor. Its sarcasm was keen, but not bitter, and even those who were the victims of it could not but enjoy its perfect good humor and its unalloyed fun. Throughout it all Mr. Pettus was as solemn as if he were delivering a funeral oration. Not a smile softened the deep lines of his strong and rugged countenance, and as he stopped occasionally to mop the perspiration from his face and head with a big silk bandanna he glanced about the senate as if in surprise at the laughter of his colleagues. Indeed, he apologized once for the lightness of the vein in which he was addressing the senate on so important a question as the Porto Rican bill. Mr. Proctor (Rep.) of Vermont had delivered a forceful argument in support of free trade with the island of Porto Rico. His speech was listened to attentively by senators on both sides of the chamber, and at its conclusion he was congratulated even by some senators who did not agree with him.

He was followed by Mr. Pettus, who devoted the first part of his remarks to the constitutional phases of the subject. Then quite unexpectedly came the fun as he sharpened his wit at the expense of Mr. Gallinger of New Hampshire and Mr. Beveridge of Indiana. "It was a gem," said one senator, commenting upon Mr. Pettus' speech, "and will long stand as one of the best examples of senatorial funmaking."

Senator Depew of New York was the first to congratulate Mr. Pettus, and the New Yorker's hearty hand clasp was followed by such an ovation as a man seldom receives in the senate.

Considerable progress was made with the Porto Rican measure during the day, most of the committee amendments and several offered by senators being disposed of.

The house devoted the day to war claims. The bill to remunerate the British Cable company for expenses incurred in repairing the Manila cable cut by Admiral Dewey, which was under consideration several weeks ago, was consigned to oblivion, as was the bill to refer to the court of claims the claims of citizens of certain border counties of Pennsylvania who suffered losses during the various incursions of rebel forces into that state during the civil war. This bill has been before congress for many years and involves about $3,450,000. Three bills were passed—to refer the claims of George W. Lawrence (involving $17,000) in connection with the construction of the monitor Wassue to the court of claims, to refer the claim of Hiram Johnson and others for cotton burned in east Tennessee by the Confederate forces to the court of claims and to pay Mathias Pederson of Spring Valley, Wis., $300. By a curious coincidence Mr. Cox of Tennessee, who commanded the Confederate forces which destroyed the cotton in east Tennessee for which the government is now to pay, occupied a seat on the floor when the bill was passed.

Postoffice Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The postoffice appropriation bill for the coming fiscal year will carry $750,000 for pneumatic tube service, which is an increase of $500,000 over that for the current year. It is in a lump sum, and will be distributed as the postoffice department shall determine. Work on the bill was completed by the committee yesterday, although it was not footed up. It will carry between $113,000,000 and $114,000,000. Representative Loud, chairman of the committee, said that although he had not been in congress very long he had seen the appropriations for the postal service increase from $70,000,000 per annum to almost $115,000,000, showing the wonderful growth of the country and of its business.

General O'Beirne In Washington.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—General James R. O'Beirne, who was appointed by President Kruger commissioner extraordinary of the Transvaal republic, had long interviews yesterday with the president and secretary of state concerning affairs connected with the Boer government. He was cordially received. While General O'Beirne discussed Transvaal matters with Secretary Hay, the latter is authority for the statement that it was in an informal and unofficial capacity entirely.

Thieves Get a Rich Haul.

NEW YORK, March 31.—It became known yesterday afternoon that burglars entered the jewelry store of Isidore Weinstein at 393 Grand street some time Thursday night and after cutting out the back plate of the huge safe got away with diamonds, jewelry and money to the value of $10,000.

A Snub For Taylor.

COLUMBUS, O., March 31.—Governor Nash yesterday refused to honor a requisition issued by Governor Taylor of Kentucky. Nash says he will not honor a requisition from either Beckham or Taylor, but if each issues a requisition for the same man he will issue the necessary papers.

Lisbon Will Not Borrow.

LISBON, March 31.—In the chamber of deputies the minister of foreign affairs, Senhor Veiga Beirao, announced that the government would soon pay the amount awarded by the Bern tribunal in the Delagoa Bay railway arbitration without having recourse to a loan.

Coal Rates Higher Than Usual.

RED CROSS WORK.

Good Results In South Africa—British Neglect Their Wounded.

NEW YORK, March 31.—Mr. John V. L. Pruyn, chairman of the American committee to aid Red Cross work in South Africa, has received a letter from Mr. Howard C. Hillegas, a member of the committee now in South Africa, dated at Pretoria, Feb. 7, in which he describes the work accomplished by the organization there. He urges that money raised in aid of the Red Cross work should be cabled to Durban, where all things needed are procurable and which would save much time. The letter says:

"I may say that the Boers have thus far suffered but slightly in the war. The British are allowing their wounded to remain in the field—evidently their Red Cross and medical service has broken down completely—and the Boer Red Cross has been caring for hundreds of them. The work in connection with the purchase of supplies will be great, but after the sights and scenes on the Spion kop battlefield, where hundreds of English wounded were allowed to die unattended, I am willing to do anything to assist in allaying human suffering. The Boers lost about 40 killed and 100 wounded in that battle, and the British losses must undoubtedly have been heavy. Ten days after the battle more than 700 bodies were counted lying on the battlefield unburied. The Boers buried them.

"I have had many kind expressions from the people here on account of the committee's work, and both President Kruger and President Steyn have asked me to express their thanks for the assistance."

The Delagoa Bay Award Disliked.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The dissatisfaction expressed in England at the findings of the Delagoa Bay arbitration is sharply reflected in Washington, and there are no lack of intimations that the decision is by no means the end of this celebrated case. The findings, as it is represented to the government, have simply resulted in a decree that, if observed, would plunge England and the United States into protracted litigation in the endeavor to satisfy the just claims of the claimants to the money out of a sum totally inadequate for the purpose. It has been pointed out that the arbitrators themselves have paved the way for a refusal of the principals to accept the verdict through their refusal to permit a reassessment of the damages sustained, as was contemplated in an original order, and there are believed to be other irregularities that would afford ample ground for a refusal by the two governments representing the claimants to accept the arbitration.

Brother and Sister Dead.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., March 31.—The death of two well known residents of this city, a brother and sister, occurred here late yesterday afternoon under somewhat peculiar circumstances. Mrs. John Haskell, the widow of a former prominent business man, died at her home on Court street after a long illness with paralysis, aged 66. Less than an hour later her brother, Frederick Wilcox, aged 70, entered the death chamber and fell to the floor by the side of the bed where the lifeless form of Mrs. Haskell was. He died almost instantly from heart disease.

A Premature Celebration.

ST. JOHN, N. B., March 31.—The hardware establishment of George F. Beverly was cleaned out by fire and explosion last night. A quantity of fireworks had been put in the store window in anticipation of a demand on the announcement of the relief of Mafeking. As the proprietor was lighting the gas a drop of burning wax fell from the taper among the crackers. The explosion was a heavy one, but there were no casualties.

THE FINAL MEETING.

Philippine Commission Ends Its Washington Conference.

ROOT'S INSTRUCTIONS KEPT SECRET

Chairman Taft Announces the Names of Officers Chosen—Secretary Not Yet Named—The President's Farewell Dinner.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The Philippine commission held its second meeting yesterday and spent some time in conference upon the work to be undertaken. In the afternoon the members called at the war department and were received by Secretary Root, who having discussed the subject at the cabinet meeting earlier in the day, had some additional verbal instructions for them. It was definitely decided by the secretary and the commissioners that nothing should be made public at this time indicative of the nature of the written instructions further than had been stated briefly by Secretary Root himself. This was the last meeting of the entire commission in Washington, as three of the members have already departed for their homes.

Chairman Taft announced the names of the officers of the commission with the exception of that of secretary, whose selection has not yet been definitely determined. Arthur F. Ferguson of Washington, who is about 44 years of age, is to be the Spanish secretary. At present Mr. Ferguson is chief translator of the bureau of the American republics, which brings him in close contact with the Latin races of South America.

During the sessions of the peace commission at Paris he was interpreter for the commission, and during Secretary Blaine's incumbency of the state department he accompanied the Pan-American congress on its trip through the United States.

Frank A. Branagan, a native of Ohio, is to be the disbursing officer and accountant of the commission. He acted in a similar capacity for the Paris peace commission and is now the chief of the bureau of accounts in the state department.

Rutherford Corbin, a son of Adjutant General Corbin of the army, has been chosen as assistant secretary of the commission. Mr. Corbin is about 25 years of age and has had considerable experience in this line of work, having filled positions of importance with the Paris peace commission and the Philippine commission.

Philippine Commission Dined.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—President McKinley gave a dinner at the White House last evening to the members of the newly appointed Philippine commission. The members of the cabinet and a few other guests were also invited. Those present included the following: Judge William H. Taft, Professor Dean C. Worcester, Hon. Luke E. Wright, Hon. Henry C. Ide, Professor Bernard Moses, Secretary Gage, Secretary Root, Attorney General Griggs, Postmaster General Emory Smith, Secretary Long, Secretary Hitchcock, Secretary Wilson, Senator Turley, Representatives Cannon and Henry A. Cooper, General Joseph Wheeler, Colonel Charles Denby, Colonel Thomas H. Barry and Mr. George W. Perkins of New York.

Lieutenant Batson Honored.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Lieutenant Batson, famous as the leader of the little band of native scouts which rendered such effective service in the campaign in Luzon, has been honored by Secretary Root by being selected as the organizer of a battalion of native Macabebes which is to serve as the nucleus of the force of native Filipinos to be raised hereafter. Lieutenant Batson is at present in Washington on leave of absence from Manila, having been severely wounded in the foot in one of the movements last winter. He will return to Manila with the rank of major and proceed at once to raise the new battalion.

HARTFORD, March 31.—United States Postoffice Inspector James Bulman has arrived in this city from New York for the purpose of looking up evidence to be used in the case of Francis Truth, the "divine healer," arrested in Boston recently on a charge of violating the United States postal laws. Peruvian Cabinet Crisis Passed.

Miss Horlocker Not Guilty.

HASTINGS, Neb., March 31.—The jury in the Horlocker poisoning case was charged and retired at half past 10 o'clock yesterday forenoon. At 20 minutes to 12 o'clock they returned with a verdict of not guilty. The trial was one of the most sensational in the history of poisoning cases.

Go on With the City Hall.

Councilman Dumont and the others who are opposed to the project of erecting a City Hall in Plainfield, which unquestionably a majority of the people of the city are heartily in favor of, lay great stress upon what they claim will be excessive cost of construction if it is undertaken in the immediate future, as has been calculated upon ever since the first of the year. Their reasons for delaying the consummation of the idea, however, will not stand the light of practical argument that comes from a simple rehearsal of the actual facts and conditions that surround the enterprise.

As to the cost of construction of the building, it must be remembered that the major portion of the structure will be composed of stone and brick. These materials are as low today as they have been at any period in recent years. It is also a fact that wages of mechanics who would be engaged in working upon the building are at a minimum point at the present time, and, taking the word of the Republicans themselves—of whom Mr. Dumont is a conspicious one—the present activity in the commercial and manufacturing world must of necessity soon be reflected in higher wages for the laboring man. With higher wages for the carpenters, stone masons, brick layers and other artisans who would be employed in the construction of the building, a considerable increase of cost in the future can safely be figured on in this connection.

We admit that the prices for lumber, nails, tin and some other materials that it might be necessary use in such a building are higher today than they have been, but, as we pointed out the other day, there is no prospect of their being lower, and as a matter of fact the chances are just about as good for their going higher. Giant corporations control the output of nearly all these articles, and unless their present proclivities are a mockery and deception the future is not going to bring a relief in reduced prices for the commodities that they control.

But, for the sake of argument, suppose there is a reduction in these present high-priced building materials. The question that arises, then, is—how much difference it is going to make in the aggregate sum that it is estimated will be spent if the enterprise is carried out at once or delayed for a year, two years or perhaps ten years. Men competent to figure on this question in an off hand manner say that it will range between $5,000 and $10,000.

Were it possible to save this sum of money—and it is by no means certain that it can be saved; it may even cost that much more by postponement—it does not seem good sense to quibble over such an amount when an improvement such as a City Hall is contemplated. It is parsimony of poor stripe to obstruct such a a worthy and creditable improvement as a City Hall by equivocating over such an uncertain feature of the work.

The bonds for a City Hall are to run fifty years, and even if the building should cost more at this time than at some future period indefinitely stated, the matter of $10,000 would scarcely be felt by taxpayers in the future.

Knowing the conditions of the present and looking at the future in a practical manner, the conviction grows upon us that now is the time to carry out the work of building a City Hall.

Let those members of the Common Council who have favored the City Hall project all along—and they are in a majority—go on in their good judgment, and the people will be with them.

Kruger's Words Are Touching.

The interview of President Kruger, printed in the New York World Thursday, could not but impress one with sympathy and admiration for the sturdy Dutch, who are combating the English in the Transvaal. The following utterance from Oom Paul is one full of homely feeling, that carries with it the conviction that the favorable sentiment manifested among the masses of the people in this country for the Boers is fully deserved by them:

My burghers are fighting for their wives, their children and their country. Those who are fighting against them are looking for medals. Victoria crosses and a shilling a day. My burghers are the best soldiers in the world, because they do not receive a penny for their services. They fight with their hearts, and an army of hearts is invincible.

The thought that this terrible war may be ended in the near future by the surrender of the Boers is hardly justified in face of the following expression from President Kruger in the same interview, in answer to a question how long it would be before the contest would close:

Never, if I must ask for peace without independence. It may be six months; it may be ten years. God only knows how long it will take the English people to see that they are engaged in an unholy struggle.

With the dogged determination manifest in Oom Paul's statement quoted above, and the attitude which the British Government has assumed—and from which they cannot recede without eating their own words—it is a gloomy future that looms up in relation to the final results in this war.

The fact that one of the signers to the application of John Mortimer for a wholesale license was unqualified to serve in that capacity has set at naught, from an official standpoint, the work already done in considering the application. The probabilities are that the application will be presented in new and legal form again at the Common Council Monday night, but it is also barely possible that those back of the applicant may decide that delay may not be dangerous to them. If another application is not made at once, the idea will be to keep the matter under cover till the opposition has dropped the agitation, and then the political influences will try to push it through the Council so as not to stir up antagonism again. It will be watched, however.

Rev. J. M. Holmes, pastor of a Methodist church in Baltimore, is making arrangements for the permanent publication there of a Christian daily paper to be called The Christian Citizen. It will exclude liquor and theatrical advertising, news of prize fights and Sabbath desecration from its columns and will have no political leaning. Evidently Rev. Mr. Holmes does not think his reverend brother, Mr. Sheldon, did not make a failure in Topeka.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, March 31—The following letter from Councilman Ellis, of the Borough Council in Fanwood, explains itself:

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—My attention has just been called to the communication in your issue of 24th from W. E. Collins, Fanwood Borough Clerk, relative to the refusal of the Council to confirm his appointment as his own successor. Allow me to say that his communication is a strong vindication of the Council's action in refusing to confirm his appointment, since it evinces an astonishing misconception of the facts of the case, of his duties, and ignorance of the law he refers to.

The Collector has nothing more to do with publishing or compiling the annual statement than the man in the moon. The law explicitly makes this the province of the Council This duty the Council by resolution placed in the hands of the auditing committee. This committee duly published the report and placed it in the hands of the Borough Clerk for distribution. The report as published was accepted by the Council as entirely satisfactory, there being not a single protest or objection to its acceptance, as Mr. Collins' communication implies. "Councilman Ellis" usurped nothing, took nothing upon himself. Being chairman of the auditing committee he but voiced the will of the committee and thus of the Council.

L. J. Ellis.

Rev. G. M. Shott's subject for Sunday morning will be "We Are Made a Spectacle," preceded by a prelude, "What Next." In the evening "What it Costs" will be the subject.

The annual parish meeting of the Baptist church will be held Monday night in the parlors of the church.

VALUABLE PROPERTY UNDER THE HAMMER.

Namara, after some lively bidding. Properties of Mrs. E. W. Runyon and Margaret Hoppock, both on that street, were bought by French. One of Patrick J. Flanagan's went to the city.

A little interest was aroused when 126 lots in block No. 462, on South Second street, belonging to Chapot & Sons, was put up at auction to cover $562 19 due the city. It passed into the hands of the city without opposition.

Crocker and the city divided the West Third street properties of Chas. McCann, Mrs. Bridget Burk, William H. Harding, Patrick Nugent and the estate of Jane Wyckoff. There was a sudden dearth of bids and the city gathered in a small bunch, including properties of the Jeremiah VanWinkle estate, Mary Muldoon and Charles McCarty.

Six lots on Liberty street, owned and occupied by the Mt. Olive Baptist church and parsonage, were auctioned off to cover a lien of $18.03. The city was the only bidder. Mrs. Kate A. Burke's property on Plainfield avenue and that of children of Margaret Odam on Evona avenue were sold to French. Crocker took a part of the William Sutton estate on North Clinton avenue, and J. A. Hubbard a lot on the same thoroughfare of the Darling estate.

The sale ended with the purchase of two properties of Edward E. Brown on Dunellen avenue by the city.

The borough of North Plainfield acquired some property at a delinquent tax sale and is now collecting rents. The city will now begin a similar course There will still be an opportunity, however, for the former owners of property bought in by the city to get possession once more by settling for the amount of the lien and interest and some of it is likely to be thus disposed of. Some will, however, undoubtedly remain in the hands of the city and the Tax Collector will have the pleasure of looking after its welfare until it can be disposed of at a figure profitable to the city.

A MASTER OF THE VIOLIN.

Frederick Spencer, an Artist, Who Gave Eminent Satisfaction to a Hope Chapel Audience.

Those who neglected to hear Frederick Spencer, of New York, the talented violinist, at Hope chapel last evening missed a rare musical treat. Mr. Spencer is truly the master of this most difficult of all instruments. His executions showed a delicacy of touch that drew forth a melody inspiring and thoroughly pleasing to the ear. Most of Mr. Spencer's playing was of a higher class than could be comprehended by those who listened to his almost faulty executions, though they showed appreciation by extending liberal applause. Mr. Spencer also gave evidence that he is a versatile musician by his clever manipulation of the guitar, upon which he played a few selections. Owing to illness C Maynard Evans, the whistler, was detained at home, much to the disappointment of many who had anticipated being entertained by his clever musical ability.

City Judge Runyon, however, kept the audience good natured by singing a couple of comic songs in his usual good voice. The entertainment was a pleasing one, though somewhat monotonous owing to an absence of greater variety.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

Wants City Hall on the Corner.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—To those who view the natural trend of Plainfield's growth, it must be quite apparent that the day is but a little way off when Plainfield and North Plainfield will be one municipality. Hence in the location of the proposed City Hall this should not be lost sight of. It should be located near the county line between Somerset and Union. Further, a public building should not be located in such a situation that it may be shut in by adjoining improvements. This being admitted, the site bounded by Watchung avenue, Front street and Bank place, seems to the writer to present more advantages than any other location thus far spoken of. The artistic features should not be lost sight of in a public building. Green brook and the water-fall in the rear of this plot might be made a most artistic feature. Even though it may not be deemed wise at this time to build, (which the writer believes), it would be wise to buy this site for this public purpose.

A Third Ward Resident.

Would Delay City Hall.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—I do not agree with you in regard to the building of a City Hall at present. The remarks of Councilman Dumont were very timely and wise, and I find a goodly number of taxpayers express themselves in the same manner There are a number of persons who have contemplated building this spring and summer who have postponed doing so in consequence of the high prices of building material of all sorts. Why, then, should not those whom the people have selected as almoners of our public funds, exercise a reasonable amount of caution in spending the funds intrusted to them. We are not suffering for a City Hall at present, and we have a much more respectable lock-up than ever before. Neither is it probable there will be a rise in the prices of property quoted for some time to come. Persons are most likely to ask good sized prices for property when it is for public purposes, and I quite agree with Councilman Dumont, and commend his practical good sense and judgment in this matter.

FAMOUS WOMAN COMING.

MRS. CATT WILL SPEAK HERE NEXT TUESDAY.

She is President of National Women's Suffrage Association—Her Subject is "The Ideal Republic."

The announcement that Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National Women Suffrage Association, would speak in Plainfield next week has aroused much interest. The fact that this lady, though still a young woman, was chosen with scarcely a dissenting voice to fill a position involving so much work and such great responsibility reminds people of the signal ability shown by her in the past. Mrs. Chapman Catt had a large share in carrying Colorado for Woman Suffrage, and has traveled many thousand miles and labored incessantly for the cause she has so deeply at heart.

She was recently heard in debate with Mrs. Cranneel before the famous Nineteenth Century Club in New York, and carried off the honors of the evening with her clear, cogent statement of plain facts.

Like all Suffragists Mrs. Chapman Catt welcomes discussion, for she believes strongly in the truth and justice of her cause, and is sure that truth must prevail sooner or later. Her husband is strongly in sympathy with her in her work.

She has been called a statesman, and is a woman of great executive ability as well as an excellent convincing speaker.

Her address on "The Ideal Republic" will be given at Mrs. Samuel Huntington's, 324 Franklin place, Tuesday afternoon, April 3d, at 3:30 o'clock, when it is expected a large audience will be present. Anyone interested in hearing Mrs. Catt can obtain a card of invitation to the meeting by applying to Mrs. Huntington, Mrs. I. L. Miller, 744 Watchung avenue, or Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, 910 Madison avenue.

A Famous Mineral Water.

S. Scheuer & Co., the West Front street grocers, are now the agents for the celebrated Saratoga Ariondack Water, that has such wonderful healing properties. The analysis of the water shows it to contain just what the system needs to build it up, and besides it is a most excellent water for many ills that the flesh is heir to. The sale of this water is unusually large in all parts of the country and its use is making many cures. Testimonials are constantly being received from people of note who have been helped and cured of long standing diseases. In fever cases, diseases of the blood, nervousness, jaundice, dyspepsia and indigestion it has a most beneficial effect that thousands can testify to. A trial of the water will convince anyone of its healing merits.

—The report that A. C. Vail had sold his milk route to his brother proves untrue.

—The celebration of the Lord's Supper will be observed at Warren chapel tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock.

As a nerve tonic Ripans Tabules have no equal. They invigorate the mind and strengthen the nerves, and more, they keep the stomach in good condition. A student of the University of Pennsylvania recently said: "Just prior to the closing examinations I was compelled to work exceedingly hard as the course is an exceptional one. I was up until two and three o'clock in the morning studying. This was something I was not used to, and as a result my system was upset. It became exceedingly difficult for me to concentrate my mind upon the work, and as for remembering, why, my head at times seemed a vacuum. I consulted a physician, but his prescription failed to bring relief. Then I was advised to try Ripans Tabules, and did so, and to my great delight was benefited immediately. After only a second dose I was restored to my wonted condition of good health and vigor of mind and passed my examinations successfully. I began graduated with honors. I gladly add my testimonial to that of thousands of others who assert that for strengthening the nerves and toning the system Ripans Tabules HAVE NO PEER."

WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the packages and accept no substitute. RIPANS, 10 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

OUT OF DOOR STYLES.

Something About the New Hats and Veils.

The crown of the new hats is high and narrow. Many of the brims are draped or twisted, and the contrast is rather pleasing. Hats in general are rather large than small and must be worn over a bouffant arrangement of the hair.

Spangled tulle and braided chenille still hold their own, but are not by any means novel. Something which is novel, however, is an imitation ostrich feather used for decorating toques of mousseline de soie. The plume is of mousseline de soie, and the fronds are of delicate fringe, curled to represent feathers and sustained by puffings of the mousseline underneath.

There is a decided change in veils. They have suddenly become small and are again worn like a mask, leaving the mouth uncovered. The fabric of the new veils is of the finest, the design very delicate. Of course, for large hats the ample veil is still necessary, as the short one is only in keeping with small headgear, such as toques and bonnets.

The picture shows a jacket of navy blue cloth. It has a short basque and is tight at the back and is cut in scallops at all the edges, which are applied with stitching upon a border of light blue cloth. Large revers are so arranged that they may be fastened back by gold buttons and loops or folded over for extra warmth. There are a pelerine collar and a high, flaring one, which, like the wrists of the sleeves, are scalloped and finished like the body of the jacket. The lining is of satin. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHION HINTS.

Favor Shown to Plain Skirts—Children's Styles.

The plain skirt promises to continue to hold the first place. The double skirts and those slightly draped ones which were introduced have not succeeded in shaking the general fidelity to long, sweeping, unbroken lines, which are so graceful. The fashion of plaiting and tucking skirts horizontally does not change this effect. Skirts are made longer and longer until the train is now usual.

The fashions for little girls follow those for women. Tight sleeves with epaulets or tucks at the top and close skirts flaring at the edge and plain or finished with a circular ruffle are the rule. A soft sash belt tying with long ends at the back or a surah scarf falling at the side is often seen.

Round, pointed and sailor collars of Irish guipure are greatly liked for children, both boys and girls.

A picture is given of an attractive spring walking costume. It has a skirt of nickel gray cloth, which is laid in panels, buttoning over with small steel buttons as far down as the knee. Below that there are plaits let in, and the skirt falls free. The double breasted vest is of the same material and has two rows of steel buttons and revers of broche pompadour silk. The plaited chemisette and the collar and cravat are of cream surah. The bolero, which has deep points in front, is of black cloth, with revers and a directoire collar trimmed with narrow black velvet. The hat is draped nickel gray grosgrain, with coques at the side and a cluster of pink primroses. JUDIC CHOLLET.

This Serious World.

HE IS EMBARRASSED.

Turkish Minister at Washington in a Peck of Trouble.

He Does Not Know What to Do with His Wife—Vulgar Curiosity Has Upset All of His Excellency's Domestic Plans.

Ali Ferrouh Bey, the Turkish minister, who has announced his intention of taking his wife out of Washington to the seclusion of a high-walled suburban home, is not the only Turk whose mission abroad has been rendered painful through the religious and social customs of Moslems concerning women. Sheriff Pasha, the porte's minister to Sweden, was unusually fortunate in that his wife was an Egyptian princess who was not bound by the inexorable laws of the harem. But Saaduliah Pasha, the Ottoman ambassador to Vienna, found the yoke of Moslem bitter indeed, for this poor man was driven to suicide by separation from his family; and a Mohammedan's family is his dearest possession in this earthly life.

Saaduliah Pasha had been the sultan's representative at the court of Vienna for 20 years. In all that time he had seen his wife and children only now and then. The prohibition of the sultan forbidding his diplomatic servants to take their wives with them was carried to excess in his case. The spouse of Saaduliah was taken ill and it was feared she would die. The husband asked for leave of absence to go to Constantinople. Permission was withheld and Saaduliah's heart was broken. He put an end to his life and his troubles at one blow.

This tragedy was not without effect on the heart of the sultan. Hence, when Ali Ferrouh Bey requested Abdul Hamid to permit the ministerial wife to come to Washington, the request was granted, but only after Ali Ferrouh

ALI FERROUH BEY.
(Minister of the Sublime Porte at Washington, D. C.)

Bey had registered a solemn promise that the change of residence would not in any way infringe the sanctity of the custom pertaining to the invisibility of the Turkish woman's face. Washington rejoiced over the prospect of having a real Turkish harem, especially as it was understood that the oriental lady would receive members of her own sex in the harem. The arrival of the harem was looked for with keen anticipation.

But with all his other troubles the polished Turkish diplomat did not count on vulgar American curiosity. He found that if his wife was to live at all under the restrictions of her home custom every blind in the house would have to be drawn. This was particularly unfortunate, because the lady is not in the best of health and positively requires a little air and sunshine. But there was found to be no hope of these without risk of the camera fiend and of being stared at by the rude eyes of the vulgar.

Such are the causes which have moved the minister to try to secure some quiet suburban home, around whose grounds he can erect a high wall, behind which his wife can take a garden walk and catch a glimpse of the blue sky. He is having an exceedingly difficult time of it, however, as people who have houses to lease are averse to high walls being built around them. It will be fortunate for Ali Ferrouh Bey if the sultan does not hear of his quandary and order him to return the madame to her comfortable and secluded home in Stamboul.

Fruit for Brain Power.

According to a recent health report, blanched almonds give the brain the muscle food, and the man who wishes to keep his mental power up would do well to include them in his daily bill of fare. Juicy fruits develop more or less the higher nerve or brain, and are eaten by all men whose living depends on their clearheadedness. Apples supply the brain with rest. Prunes afford proof against nervousness, but are not muscle feeding. At the same time it has been proved that fruits do not have the same effect on everybody. Some people have never been able to eat apples without suffering the agony of indigestion; to others strawberries are like poison.

Wonderful German Enterprise.

German is the business language of the Balkans. Russian diplomacy complains that Constantinople is becoming as German as Berlin. Asia Minor is slowly being converted into a German colony; and now the Bagdad railway will carry the same influence 2,000 miles onward to the Persian gulf, placing the greatest military power of the world upon the most direct of all roads to India. Even the old English scheme of a Euphrates railway is at last in German hands.

Five Men to Take One.

The military rule is that five times the number of an intrenched enemy are required to dislodge the latter.

AFRICAN WAR INCIDENTS

Account of an Escape From Ladysmith.

EXPERIENCES OF AN ENGLISHMAN.

One of Reuter's Correspondents Tells of His Adventures on the Way to Durban—How He Swam the Tugela. Sad Incident of the Attack on Spion Kop.

Mr. Hutton, one of Reuter's war correspondents, has arrived here, having escaped from Ladysmith, which he left on the 10th inst., writes the London Times correspondent at Durban under date of Feb. 14. He gives the following account of his experiences:

"After the failure of General Buller's third attempt to reach Ladysmith I determined to endeavor to effect my escape. Having got the necessary permission from General White, I set out on foot at half past 7 in the evening of Feb. 10, accompanied by a native guide, bound for Chieveley. We got along without difficulty until we reached a point two miles east of the base of Cæsar's camp, where we came across a Boer picket, to which we got too near. They challenged, and we promptly fell on our stomachs behind some big rocks. Three bullets immediately came whistling through the air, but fortunately above our heads. We lay quiet for 30 minutes and then cautiously crawled on our hands and knees for over half a mile, expecting every moment to be followed by a volley of Mauser bullets. But all was quiet save for the distant hum of conversation, which could be heard in the stillness of the night proceeding from the direction of the enemy's lines. At last we rose and made for Pieter's station over most terrible country, up and down tremendously steep hills covered with stones. We kept closely to the Kaffir paths. Our progress was naturally slow. At 2 o'clock we reached Pieter's station, where there were two Boer camps. Here we had a most anxious time. We were again challenged and again had to crawl over rocks and stones for more than a mile until we were quite clear of the enemy.

"We had now reached slightly better country, though thickly studded with thorn bushes, and made good progress. At 6 o'clock we arrived at a friendly Kaffir's hut, two miles from the Tugela, completely exhausted, having crawled and walked a distance of 22 miles. Here I lay hidden inside the hut the whole of Sunday, as the Boers could be seen in small bodies patrolling the plain through which I had passed the previous night. I left the hut at 7 o'clock on Sunday evening and arrived at a friendly kraal on the banks of the Tugela, where I was told that it was not safe to go on, as the Dutchmen had been inquiring farther up the river for the Englishman who had left Ladysmith. I remained concealed inside a Kaffir hut for 24 hours. By peeping through the door I could see the enemy shooting buck on an adjacent hill. To make matters still worse, three of them rode straight for the kraal where I was hiding. My native guide rushed into the hut and covered me up with blankets, and there I lay expecting every moment to hear the Boers asking for me. They stopped outside the hut and demanded milk, which they got. They then rode quietly away.

"At 7 o'clock on Monday night I crept silently down to the Tugela, and, with the help of a small bundle of rushes twisted together into a shape somewhat resembling that of a torpedo, swam across the river. After dressing, I again moved on through swampy ground swarming with snakes and other reptiles until a big hill overlooking the Tugela was reached. Once on the top I could see in the bright moonlight, away in the distance, a hill overlooking our destination. From kraal to kraal we traveled, continually having to take long circuitous routes to avoid the enemy. When day broke, it was a great relief to see the guide point to a hill and say: 'There is Chieveley. Shall be there in three hours.' I arrived at Chieveley at 7 o'clock on the morning of the 13th. After reporting myself to Colonel Sandbach and Major Jones of the intelligence department, I took the 10 o'clock train for Durban."

Winston Churchill relates the following incident in the London Morning Post:

"The day before the attack on Spion kop I chanced to ride across the pontoon bridge. I heard my name called and saw the cheery face of a boy I had known at Harrow, a smart, clean looking young gentleman, quite the right material for irregular horse. He had just arrived and pushed his way to the front and hoped, so he said, to get a job. This morning they told me that an unauthorized press correspondent had been found among the killed on the summit. At least they thought at first it was a press correspondent, for no one seemed to know him. A man had been found leaning forward on his rifle, dead. A broken pair of fieldglasses, shattered by the same shell that had killed their owner, bore the name of 'McCorquodale.' The name and the fact flew together in my mind. It was the last joined subaltern of Thorneycroft's mounted infantry—joined in the evening, shot at dawn.

"Poor, gallant young Englishman! He had soon 'got his job.' The great sacrifice had been required of the queen's latest recruit."

LEAVING CUBA.

Steamers Crowded Because of Early Quarantine Regulations.

HAVANA, March 31.—Every steamer leaving here today is crowded. Every stateroom and every available cot was engaged on all the three vessels bound for American ports. The local papers bewail the early quarantine, laying stress upon the fact that there has been no case of yellow fever reported during the last five weeks and that April is invariably one of the most healthful months of the year in Havana.

On the other hand, many old residents say that, owing to the lack of rain during the rainy season last year, the yellow fever did not start in until late, while this year there will probably be a heavy rain fall and an exceptionally bad yellow fever season.

The electrozone plant, of which so much was expected, has been virtually condemned by the highest medical authorities, who say that it is of no more value than ordinary salt water, which is itself a mild disinfectant. All precautions that were taken last year will be taken again this season by the authorities, and it is hoped that these efforts will prevent the fulfillment of some very dismal predictions.

Governor General Wood says he hopes by May to have reduced Havana's municipal budget to $100,000 per month. When he came here last December he found the figures exceeding $200,000.

THE GOEBEL REWARD FUND.

Chairman Lewis Says Not a Dollar Will Be Spent For Confessions.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 31.—Ex-Chief Justice James H. Lewis, chairman of the committee selected by the legislature to have charge of the Goebel reward fund, has made the following statement concerning the story sent out from Winchester Thursday that Attorney James Andrew Scott had proposed to the relatives of H. E. Youtsey to give him a portion of the reward money for a confession of the details of the conspiracy to assassinate Governor Goebel:

"The money appropriated by the legislature to be used in running down the assassins of Governor Goebel and bringing them to justice will be distributed as provided at the first meeting of the reward commission, so much for the assassin and so much for the conviction of each accessory.

"The preliminary work is in the hands of Commonwealth's Attorney Franklin, and no private citizen has authority from Mr. Franklin or from the commission to offer rewards for confessions or alleged accessories. Not a cent of the $100,000 has yet been spent, and I think you can safely say that not a dollar of it will be paid for confessions."

Valuation Commission Act Null.

RICHMOND, March 31.—The supreme court of appeals of Virginia in a unanimous opinion has declared unconstitutional, null and void the commissioner of valuation act passed by the general assembly at its last session. The act created 130 new officers and gave them inquisitorial powers in the matter of reaching personal property subject to taxation. The opinion is brief, and the ground taken by the court is that the bill did not receive the constitutional vote necessary to pass a measure that makes an appropriation.

Influenced by Treating.

GREENFIELD, Mass., March 31.—The American habit of "treating" has been brought to the attention of the Massachusetts court as the alleged sufficient ground to annul a verdict given by a jury, and in this instance the specific allegation is that some of the jurors who were trying the issue were the ones who were "treated." The contention is a novel one, but is brought under a statute that is deemed to fit the case.

Heavy Snow In Austria.

VIENNA, March 31.—The severest snowstorm known here in many years is in progress. The streets have been impassable, and the tramways suspended traffic. In many parts of Austria railway service ceased entirely. Many trains are long overdue, and quite a number have had to be dug out.

Harvard Debaters Win.

NEW HAVEN, March 31.—Harvard won the annual debate with Yale last night, the question being, "Resolved, That Porto Rico should be included in the customs boundaries of the United States." Harvard had the affirmative side of the question.

Chicago Theater Burned.

CHICAGO, March 31.—The Columbia theater, one of the oldest places of amusement in Chicago, was destroyed last night by fire. The theater had before the beginning of the season been refurnished at heavy cost, and the damage will reach $200,000.

Capital Stock Increased.

ALBANY, March 31.—The Niagara Falls Power company of Buffalo has filed with the secretary of state a certificate showing an increase of capital stock from $3,500,000 to $6,500,000. The increase of $3,000,000 is to consist of 30,000 shares.

AFFAIRS OF WEIGHT.

To Be Discussed by the Methodist General Conference.

This Distinguished Religious Body Will Convene in Quadrennial Session at Chicago, May 2— Topics to Be Discussed.

[Special New York Letter.]

EVERYTHING which in any vital manner affects Methodism becomes at once of intense personal interest to millions scattered over the entire surface of the globe. There is no known locality where the untiring representatives of this progressive religious denomination have not toiled. The names of 2,875,000 members may be found enrolled upon its books. If with these are included those of their families who consider the Methodist Episcopal church of the world their spiritual home, the number will be swelled to about 8,000,000. The policy of this church has from its conception been an aggressive one, but it is feared by many that this spirit is dying out. In a recent number of the Christian Advocate Dr. James M. Buckley made a stirring appeal to all departments of the church, asserting that none can escape responsibility. That there has been a diminution of the number of probationers during the past year, he believes is due to spiritual debility. He exhorts the bishops "whose office, in public opinion, transcends all others," and the presiding elders, who mingle with the people and hold frequent interviews with the ministers. He says: "Can the pastors excuse themselves? Not if it be true that there is no organized church where a man to whom God has given the spirit of 'love and power and of a sound mind' can preach, pray, visit and converse of the things of the kingdom without conversions and without keeping steadfast many who, in the absence of labors such as his, would fall away."

It is not generally believed that this church is suffering more than others from a spirit of indifference. The present seems to be a general resting time in nearly all religious denominations. However, it is generally conceded that there seems to be less than the usual amount of interest displayed in the meeting of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church of the north this year. This is the supreme governing body of Methodism and meets once in four years. Its sessions are to be held at the Studebaker theater in Chicago beginning May 2 and continuing through the entire month. It last met at Cleveland and already San Francisco and Denver are inviting its presence in 1904. This body brings to a city not only the bishops and 700 elected delegates, but thousands of visitors from every portion of the country. Representatives are coming from Japan, China, Germany, Italy, Switzerland, India, South America, Mexico, Africa and Scandinavia.

Outside of the bishops', official terms expire in four years, although successful candidates may be reelected indefinitely. The general conference elects superintendents of the publishing interests of the church, 12 editors and 9 benevolent board secretaries.

The subject of greatest importance to not a few members of this august body is the election of bishops, who are chosen for life. None were elected at the session held in Omaha eight years ago. Many believe that none should be chosen this year, as it is the opinion of some that the time of the present episcopal board has not been fully occupied.

But it is generally thought that the advanced age of many now in office renders it more than possible that vacancies may occur before another general meeting. The ages of the bishops now in office range from 59 to 74.

Among those mentioned as probable candidates is James M. Buckley, D. D., of New York, regarded as one of the most brilliant and influential men in the Methodist Episcopal church. It was considered desirable to have him on the board of bishops at the last election, but he refused to allow his name to be mentioned, as he preferred his powerful position, which he has held for 16 years, at the head of the greatest Methodist publication. Dr. Buckley speaks oftener than any other man on the general conference floor. His voice rings out in every debate and all listening know that something of value is coming. He is accompanied by a trunkful of books on all subjects which are to be debated and is armed with arguments at all points. He is seldom outmatched.

John N. Hamilton, D. D., secretary of the Freedman's Aid society of Cincinnati, has many supporters. He is a strong, natural leader. Although by birth a Virginian he is always identified with the New England Methodists because of his long and brilliant career as pastor in Boston. He was at one time candidate for governor of Massachusetts on the prohibition ticket. Joseph Berry, D. D., of Chicago, is a good speaker and debater, and the youngest of the church leaders, being but 44 years old. Charles J. Little, D. D., of Evanston, Ill., always receives marked attention when he speaks. Dr. A. B. Leonard, from Ohio, but for 12 years secretary of the Missionary society, with headquarters in New York, often crosses swords with Dr. Buckley in debate and is mentioned favorably as a candidate. There are many others, perhaps equally prominent. Among these are Henry Spellmeyer, D. D., of Newark; J. F. Goucher, D. D., of Baltimore; D. H. Moore, D. D., of Cincinnati, editor of Western Christian Advocate; James W. Bashford, D. D., of Delaware, O., president of the Ohio Wesleyan university, and A. J. Palmer, of New York.

There are two leaders of the colored race whose names are prominent—M. C. B. Mason, of Cincinnati, secretary of the Freedman's Aid society, and J. W. E. Bowen, D. D., of Atlanta, the representative scholar of the colored people.

FAMOUS METHODIST DIVINES WHO MAY BE MADE BISHOPS.

One of the important questions to be considered will be the time limit of pastorates. Since 1888 this has been fixed at five years. Many of the city ministers wish this limit removed, that they may be appointed from year to year indefinitely. Some prefer a three-year limit. Many remain with their charges less than this time, and feel that it is a reflection upon their ability if they fail to retain them the entire length of their limit. For various reasons nearly all seem dissatisfied with the five-year term. A leading Methodist paper recently stated that five years is too long for an evangelist pastorate and too short for an educational one. An effort seems likely to be made to change the method of electing local church officers. They are now nominated by the pastor and confirmed by the quarterly conference. It is claimed that a church board chosen in this manner becomes the tool of the pastor. It is desired that a vote of the congregation elect church officers.

It also would seem better to have the missionary society separated into two branches, home and foreign. Thus a contributor will have the dictation of the destination of his money.

The church owns two large publishing plants, one in Cincinnati and one in New York, and issues twelve weekly papers. It has large bookstores in eight different cities. Profits are derived from some of these enterprises, while others are run at a loss. Hence the publishing interests of the church will receive considerable attention. While those on one hand believe that these should be conducted on strictly business principles there are others who regard them as educational and evangelizing enterprises to which profit should be of secondary importance. More aggressive missionary work in the cities is likely to be demanded. Again will arise the question of eliminating from the church discipline rules adverse to card-playing, theater-going, dancing and horse racing. The stand to be taken is not that these things are desirable amusements, but that they are no worse than others not specified, and that the tendency is to make the doing or not doing of these things a test of a person's spiritual standing, which would be most unfortunate. There is likely to be a sharp debate on the subject. Most of the members of the general conference are elderly men and they deliberate in a cautious and conservative manner.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The Ah Foon Company appeared in Music Hall last night and gave a fair performance of vaudeville acts. The company included a number of clever artists in their line. The company will be seen again this evening.

James B. Mackie assisted by Louise Sanford, Fred Darcy, Trixie Hamilton, Tot Ducrow, Edith Rice, May Harnish, Maud Sawtell, Wm. McIntire, Joseph Graham, Burt Johnson and ten clever specialty artists and farce-comedy comedians, will appear at Music Hall Tuesday night. Mackie is known the country over as Hoyt's greatest comedian, having played "Grimsey" in "A Bunch of Keys," for six years, and making a National reputation as a successful low comedian. Mackie is a good entertainer, a sort of a "flexible" comedian, one who can make you laugh with his facial contortions without a sound. "Grimes' Cellar Door" is a funny piece full of situations that would make a horse laugh. There is plenty of tuneful music in the piece, the costumes are attractive and the girls pretty and good singers. Director Craig, who was for years musical director for Munroe and Rice, has furnished some elegant music for the play. Seats are now on sale at the box office.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. James Carty, of West Fourth street, was brightened by the arrival of a baby boy Thursday.

Among those who attended the reception to Bishop Vincent last evening were Rev. Dr. Huribut, of Brooklyn, and Rev. C. R. Barnes, of Washington, N. J., both former pastors of the church.

Rowland Story, who is attached to the United States Navy and at present connected with the ordnance department at Washington, D. C., spent today with his brother, Frank Story, of East Second street.

—The members of All Souls' church are preparing for an elaborate celebration at Easter-tide.

The birds tell you to don your Spring Garment, even tho' Hillier hints HAVE missed fire.

We're ready to dye a faded skirt, or cleanse a waist, give a tone of natty newness to a spring jacket, or if 'tis only a modest order to cleanse your gloves—we're your faithful servitors.

—Laing & Stout, the Sunday newsdealers, have purchased James Wagner's Sunday paper route and combined it with their own.

—The celebration of the Lord's Supper will be observed at Warren chapel tomorrow morning. There are a number to join the church.

—The Lord's Supper will be observed at the First Baptist church tomorrow morning, and the right-hand-of-fellowship will be given to fourteen new members.

—Many Plainfield women were interested today in the demonstration of Mrs. VanDeusen's cake molds, which are being exhibited at Woodhull & Martin's. Two expert cooks have given practical knowledge of the scientific methods of cake making and baking. Samples of delicious cake were distributed. The molds are something new and are apparently superior to the old-fashioned cake tins. The gentlemen who are giving the exhibit thoroughly explain in detail the intricacies of their art, much to the astonishment and interest of the ladies.
